CORNELL WINS CROSS COUNTRY ON BAD COURSE

Smaller Total for First Five Men Wins Hill and Dale Run at Mount Vernon

RISTINE IN FIRST PLACE

Iowa Runner Covers Four and One-Half Mile Course in 25-31 1-5 Minutes — Time is Six Seconds Behind Cornell Record — Freight Train Holds Five Runners

Cornell won the dual cross country meet at Mt. Vernon yesterday. The points scored were Iowa 33, Cornell 24. The rank of the first five men on each team was added together, and the team having the smaller total score was declared winner.

The weather was very disagreeable and the course was in poor condition. In spite of these unfavorable conditions Ristine took first place for Iowa. He made the four and one-half miles in 25-31 1-5, which is within six seconds of the Cornell record for that course. About a quarter of a mile from the start, the course crosses the North Western tracks and five men were delayed by a freight train. Since they were the last in the race it is not thought that the delay had any effect on the final score.

The men came in at the finish in the following order: Ristine of Iowa, Schell of Cornell, Peterman, Day of Cornell, Cole of Cornell, Carlett of Cornell, Erritt Cornell, Benjegerdes, Temple of Cornell, Miller, Murry and Brandenburg of Iowa. Captain Kruse and Mabee went with the team but did not run. They made the trip by automobile yesterday morning and returned at 1:30, in time for the Northwestern game.

Next Saturday, the men will run against Minnesota here. It is expected that they will be in much better shape for that race. Peterman's injured foot, which handicapped him greatly yesterday, will be in good shape by that time.

WEST INDIAN GOVERNOR IS VISITOR HERE

Capt. Jacob Vander Zee, who has been assisting aide-de-camp of the Governor of Dutch Guiana in South America, since 1916 is visiting his cousin Prof. Jacob Vander Zee of the department of political science.

Capt. Vander Zee before his services in Dutch Guiana was a captain in the Dutch East Indian army. He has also seen service in the Island of Samatra. "This island is full of possibilities," said Capt. Vander Zee, "but they lack the capital and the supervision which it takes to succeed with any enterprise, with only the native population as laborers."

He has been six weeks on the trip from Dutch Guiana to the United States, during that time he visited Venezuela, Cuba, Trinidad, and the Dutch Island of Curacao. This is the first visit that the captain has made to the United States and his impression has evidently been good for he is leaving his son here to be educated. "The people of this country are very pleasing and congenial, always ready to help anyone who, like myself, is not acquainted with your ways," said Capt. Vander Zee.

The captain with his wife and small daughter will soon leave for the Windward Islands in the West Indies where he is to be governor.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

The Political Science club will meet tomorrow night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Arner. A paper will be read by Prof. H. F. Knight on "Ethics and Materialistic Interpretations."

300 MAY PLAN TO DECORATE

Meeting Expected This Week To Consider Clean Up Day and Field Stunts

No definite arrangements have been made by the Howling 300 in regard to the decoration of Iowa field for the Homecoming game next Saturday, it was announced by John F. Dondore, president of the 300, yesterday, although the field will be decorated before the big game. It is thought that the campus also will be decorated in honor of the alumni.

A meeting of the Howling 300 will probably be held early this week to decide upon the decorations, and to complete plans for the stunts which will be used during the game. It has been suggested that there shall be one day next week set aside as "clean the campus day" in which the members of the Howling 300, with the co-operation of the rest of the student body, will devote at least one hour between classes in cleaning up the campus. Long sticks for the purpose of picking up paper on the campus may be provided by J. M. Fisk, superintendent of grounds and buildings. As this will be impossible for the Howling 300 to carry on alone, the co-operation of all the men in the University who have an hour between classes on that day will be expected if the plan is carried out, it was announced.

CHORUS REHEARSALS SET FOR CHRISTMAS CANTATA

The new university and community chorus met under the direction of Prof. Philip G. Clapp and Prof. William E. Hays, Thursday evening for regular rehearsal. It is planned to have Thursday evening as the usual rehearsal night, but members are asked to notice that next week, on account of Armistice Day, the rehearsal will be on Wednesday, November 10, at 7:15 p. m. The following week the rehearsal will be on Thursday as usual, but the week after that rehearsal will be on Tuesday, November 23, because of Thanksgiving falling on Thursday. The week following Thanksgiving the regular Thursday evening rehearsals will be resumed.

At present the chorus is working on a program which it expects to give at the Christmas vesper service. This program will consist of a cantata entitled "The Righteous Branch" by Clough-Leighter.

Members are requested to notice that hereafter the rehearsals will be in the liberal arts auditorium, beginning with the rehearsal next Wednesday evening. It is very important for the members to arrive before 7:15 p. m. so that they will be in their places ready to sing promptly at 7:15. If all members arrive promptly the rehearsal will be dismissed promptly at 8:15 p. m. Now that the chorus has a larger hall for rehearsals and conditions are better for singing they will be very glad to receive any new members who are interested.

JONES' MEN PILE UP 20 TO 0 SCORE ON PURPLE ELEVEN IN GAME IN RAIN AND MUD

STRAIGHT PLAY WINS TILT FOR HAWKEYE TEAM

Locke Scores First on 33 Yard Run—Jaqua and Rich Plunge for Other Two

MUD AND RAIN SLOW GAME

First Half Largely Punting Duel in Center of Field — Slater Opens a Hole for Second Touchdown — Few Sensational Plays — Iowa Backfield Strong

Straight football through the entire game won for Iowa against Northwestern on Iowa field yesterday afternoon with a score of 20 to 0.

A muddy field and a drizzling rain through the entire four periods slowed things up considerably and caused many fumbles on both teams. Open play was impossible.

The first counter came early in the first quarter when Locke smashed through center, dodged through the secondary defense, and sprinted the remaining part of the 33 yards for the touchdown.

Slater Changed Play

Locke's score was the only one in the first half, the rest of the time being devoted to a punting duel in the center of the field, except in the last minute of play, when the Hawkeyes drove up to within 10 yards of the scoring territory.

A. Devine made the plunge necessary for the second score. Devine considered an end run here but Slater came back and whispered that an avenue would be open so the quarter changed tactics and followed the negro giant through.

Rich Made Long Gain

The third score came in the fourth quarter after a series of bitter plunges Jaqua dived through and under for the lacking yard.

There were few sensational long runs although long gains were ripped off.

The end running of Lane of the Purple featured Northwestern's offensive battle. Fighting Hathaway and Minick played a hot even-breaking battle at the center of the line.

A. Devine playing through the entire game for the Hawkeyes probably copped the big honors. Locke starred when he went through the line for 33 yards and a touchdown, repeatedly hitting the line for yardage in subsequent plays. Rich made the longest run of the day on his return of the Purple booter's punt and Shuttleworth and Jaqua both made themselves well known by their plunging.

Iowa team came on the field at 2 o'clock, Northwestern team on the field at 2:05, Iowa team ran signals; Purple team ran signals. Northwestern won the toss. Northwestern received. Iowa defended south goal. Lane received A. Devine's kick on the 5-yard line, and returned to the 20-yard line. Palmer went 9 yards around left end Patterson went 1 yard through center. Patterson fumbled but recovered. Grausnick made 3 yards around Belding. Lane kicked out of bounds on Iowa 40-yard line. A. Devine fumbled but recovered for a 2-yard loss, poor pass. Belding kicked to Purple 15-yard line, Palmer fumbled, Lane recovered at 12-yard line. Lane failed to gain off tackle. Grausnick made 5 yards around Beld-

PEP UNCLOUDED CROWD WATCHES IN STEADY RAIN

Standing in Water, Onlookers See Victory On Hazy, Slippery Field of Mud

UMBRELLAS FILL THE STANDS

Band Plays Between Halves—Most of Watchers Stand Up—Muddy Ball And Rain Make Fumbles Prevalent —Moisture Fails to Dampen Interest—Crowd Stays.

Wet!

Shiny umbrellas, and wet yellow newspapers filled the dripping stands yesterday afternoon as the twenty-two mud-coated, steaming, men of Iowa and Northwestern fought and wallowed out a conference victory for Old Gold.

Almost everybody stood up. Here and there a pair of young people, equipped with blankets and slickers huddled under a protecting parasol. The bleachers were largely filled with pools of water.

A grey haze hung over the oval. After the first few minutes of play the turf of the field was plowed in spots, jerseys were an indiscriminate hue, mud covered the numbers of the men, and slips and fumbles became more prevalent. Time and again the dripping crowd held its breath until the clay coated men unpled to disclose a purple or a black-shirted player nursing the slippery pigskin.

The crowd stayed. Occasionally a dampened debutante or an unprepared young man with soaked top coat and wilted collar gave up the fight and crowded down the stands and off the field. But most of the crowd stayed.

Between halves the band with half covered and rain spattered instruments played a march or two and "On Iowa," while the onlookers jiggled restlessly on the wet concrete.

And the crowd stayed, and cheered and shook the water from its dripping hat-brims.

Wet!

QUADRANGLE TO ENTERTAIN 120 GUESTS AT HOMECOMING

Arrangements have been made to accommodate 120 guests at the Quadrangle during Homecoming, according to advice received yesterday afternoon from Ben W. Robinson G of Cedar Falls, president of the Quadrangle association. Military cots to accommodate guests will be placed in the recreation rooms. The cots were secured through the aid of Lieutenant-Colonel Morton C. Mumma, head of the military department.

The Quadrangle will be open to visitors from 10 to 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning at which time souvenir folders will be given to visitors. The folders contain the words of On Iowa, the personnel of the general council of the Quadrangle association, and an aerial picture of the Quadrangle.

BETTING

What Professor Lauer said at the pep meeting about betting on football games hits a real issue. Two sides appear to be involved in the question: a personal side and a University side.

The personal side is obvious. The game is the most fascinating thing in the world. It is often contended that gambling is the hardest of all habits to get away from. It means risk, and risk means a little excitement and perhaps a little gain, and, win or lose, the little bird sits on one's shoulder and chirps, "try, try again."

The University side is somewhat more clouded. From early generations, a bet on a team has been regarded in numerous circles as final evidence of interest in the fortunes of that group of men. But putting money on a team does not seem to mean greater interest in it. It means interest in whatever effect the team can have on one's dollars and cents, and sometimes a hearty if repressed condemnation of that team if it plays away one's little wager.

That, from the view of supporting the team, seems to be the worst aspect of it: that the losing gambler entertains a rankling feeling of dislike for the men who lost his money, the same men who have to play more games, and who deserve the good will of the loser and every other individual on the campus.

Of course, there is the usual consideration of morals. Perhaps a university student body is in troubled waters when it looks with casual eye on gambling. But the other thing is certain. No student can back a team that is losing him money, and that doesn't mean a losing team for there are point bets and all that. Professor Lauer is right. A taboo on betting is worth a try.

FOR FRESHMEN WOMEN

The freshmen women have started something. Organization of a club for first year women looks like the opening of a rather promising period and a possible change in some of the atmosphere of co-education, at least at Iowa.

It is reported that in Eastern states where girl's schools and men's schools are more the vogue, it is reported in an article by Katherine Fullerton Gerould in a recent magazine, that the average student at a young women's college is not working at her studies in the style that her sisters did a few years ago.

Evidently the co-educational system is the solution of the problems of dispensing learning institutions. Until now, perhaps, in colleges where men and women are students, some of the advantages of association of men with men and women with women, have been lost.

Out in California senior women have instituted a weekly "Hello" day. That appears to be a fine thing for campus spirit. But they are seniors. If the new club for first year women will establish anything like a universal acquaintance and sympathy of feeling among women of the class, if it will make every day "Hello" day for them, it seems it should be a rather significant thing in student spirit. Now, the men.

SIDE LINES

Little Bits of Human Nature
When two friends came into the office yesterday one wearing a brand new hat, and the other a new pair of Brogues, and we remarked that they looked "Very becoming," they both replied in a very casual manner: "Oh! I've had these a long time!"

After he had verified P. T. Barnum's statement that a fool was born every minute, Henry Ford began manufacturing automobiles, and today's Tribune says that 60 Fords are turned out at the Detroit plant every hour.

Known Nationally!

Yesterday was an occasion of great wassail among the Frivol editors. The momentum of that publication's popularity has increased to the extent that Life, after long years, has seen fit to place Frivol on its exchange list, and the editors are in receipt of an advance copy of the Thanksgiving number.

Good advice always sounds like an alarm clock at six-thirty in the morning when you have been to a dance the night before and didn't get to bed until two-thirty.

Now and then the columns of the world's newspapers carry a story about some infant prodigy who can speak a dozen or more languages. You have also noticed probably that these stories never quote the prodigy as saying anything!

Joy!

Prices are coming down. Of course they are not coming down in parachutes but still they are coming down and that is really what matters. For instance five dollars will buy a three-dollar shirt that sold for ten shekels six months ago.

Naughty! Naughty!

Dear editor: Speaking of vulgarity what do you make of the publicity which one of America's greatest singers is getting? A story in a Des Moines paper said among other things that Anna Case is the most loved soprano in America. That might have been true during her college days, but I don't believe a word of it now. Besides she is married isn't she?

How Large is an Atom?

ATOMS are so infinitesimal that to be seen under the most powerful microscope one hundred million must be grouped. The atom used to be the smallest indivisible unit of matter. When the X-Rays and radium were discovered physicists found that they were dealing with smaller things than atoms—with particles they call "electrons."

Atoms are built up of electrons, just as the solar system is built up of sun and planets. Magnify the hydrogen atom, says Sir Oliver Lodge, to the size of a cathedral, and an electron, in comparison, will be no bigger than a bird-shot.

Not much substantial progress can be made in chemical and electrical industries unless the action of electrons is studied. For that reason the chemists and physicists in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are as much concerned with the very constitution of matter as they are with the development of new inventions. They use the X-Ray tube as if it were a machine-gun; for by its means electrons are shot at targets in new ways so as to reveal more about the structure of matter.

As the result of such experiments, the X-Ray tube has been greatly improved and the vacuum tube, now so indispensable in radio communication, has been developed into a kind of trigger device for guiding electrons by radio waves.

Years may thus be spent in what seems to be merely a purely "theoretical" investigation. Yet nothing is so practical as a good theory. The whole structure of modern mechanical engineering is reared on Newton's laws of gravitation and motion—theories stated in the form of immutable propositions.

In the past the theories that resulted from purely scientific research usually came from the university laboratories, whereupon the industries applied them. The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company conceive it as part of their task to explore the unknown in the same spirit, even though there may be no immediate commercial goal in view. Sooner or later the world profits by such research in pure science. Wireless communication, for example, was accomplished largely as the result of Herz's brilliant series of purely scientific experiments demonstrating the existence of wireless waves.
