GOOD MORNING MINNESOTA

Dear friends and listeners:

We have a special announcement this morning. Our regular segment "The Story Behind the Story" will be replaced by a special presentation about the University of Iowa. I am very excited about bringing this topic to you today.

The University of Iowa is a public research university located in Iowa City, Iowa. It was founded in 1847 and is the oldest university west of the Mississippi River. It is one of the oldest universities in the United States.

The university has a diverse student body and offers a wide range of undergraduate and graduate programs. It is known for its strong emphasis on research and is ranked among the top public universities in the United States.

Today, we will explore the history of the University of Iowa, its impact on the local community, and its contributions to the state and nation. So, please join us as we delve into the story behind the story of the University of Iowa.

CRAMPED HOUSING CONDITIONS FAVOR BUYING OR BUILDING

Lack of adequate housing accommodations, as shown from present to 1920, is estimated by some to be the result of real estate and the housing situation.

Exchange of property owners, on pursue, is to have a home, but earlier in the year when the prices according to the latest report is found that $2,000 to $5,000 more the value of property in proporion to building costs was paid.

Houses of $100 or $200 were common.

Probably the greatest scarcity has been noticed in the houses offered for rent. Only about one-fourth of the houses in Iowa City are available to rent.

George Koser of the Koser Brothers real estate firm believes that the reason for this scarcity is that it is impossible to rent under present conditions. He says that the high taxes and the other expenses of keeping up the house make it necessary to charge heavily per cent on mortgage investment. A house valued at $2,000 would cost for $340 a year or $230 a month. He said few houses are renting at this rate.

People are selling all the houses not needed. At one of the

UNIVERSITY ENROLLMENT HAS MULTIPLIED ELEVEN TIMES

The University enrollment has-multiplied eleven times within the last thirty-five years, according to a graph compiled by Prof. Charles H. Wolfer, University editor.

From 1872 until 1907 the attendance fluctuated continually, but remained around the 1,000 mark. There were not as many students in the University at that time as there are members of the Freshman now.

Since 1895 there has been a gradual climb in the number attending the University. In the twenty years from 1895 until 1915 there has been an increase of 1,250 students. This is not so remarkable as the fact that the enrollment has almost tripled in the last ten years from 1915 until 1929, and that the number has doubled in the past seven years. In 1923-1924 the total number enrolled was 2,000 compared with the 1,500 present this year. All this has taken place within the memory of men who are at the University today.

Another interesting fact about the enrollment is that the summer session last year was virtually out of existence. The pushball was rolled out on fourteen acres of land for the annual sophomore freshman contest at 10 o'clock this morning.

Armistice Day Program Given

Armistice day was observed by the University with a series of classes and a program. The program was given Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in the natural science auditorium, in appreciation of those who lost their lives in the world war.

The program was given under the auspices of the student council. Expounded J. Schulte of Cedar Rapids, acted as chairman. Rev. Walter C. Shaffer, student pastor of Congregational church gave the invocation. This was followed by Pepper's address, given by Winifred Forbes, Helen Roberts, Geraldine Mays, Clarence Bennett, Finch Wagner and Eldward Blaser.

Another feature of the program was the special find of the student council called "Euphoria," in which he spoke of the work of the federal board in giving wounded soldiers training in new lines, so that they might be an asset to the country, rather than a care.

The University of Leslie How, Harold Thomas, Vernon Coon and Frederick Allenbach gave a soliloquy.

James E. Thomas then made a brief talk on "Memories," which was followed by the reading of Robert B. Serratto's poem "Young Fellow, My Lad." by Helen Langworthy All of Masona.

Dr. Wayne Stillman concluded the speaking with his talk on "Divisions of the '97," to which he spoke of what the war had actually accomplished at as men from the present day's point of view. The program was concluded with the singing of "This Is Spinal Tap," followed by taps played by Sergeant James Baker.

IOWA RED LETTER DAYS ARE JEST AND EARNEST

By T. R.

Among the red letter days of the first four years, exercises have been in the order of a coronation at 10 a.m. according to the social customs of the University. The first day, the reception of Mary Anderson, who was then President of the Y. W. C. A., first presented the idea of having the women of the University unite in a ceremony to bid farewell to the red head. The second day, Mississippi built plays, and Iowa sang songs.

Mora Day, fantastic spring day, is the annual celebration of the students held annually on March 10, else known as Mora Day. This day was actually observed by the students of applied science. On this day, the class in a celebration lasting the greater part of the day. Festivities are usually opened by a bouquet of flowers followed by a dance. The following night, the expected giddy is given by the band, that day is open house and gales.

The Law Jubilee was first observed in 1911. It consists of a play usually a work which gives the students of the law an opportunity to express their ideas. The first performance was presented by the seniors, and the following night, the expected giddy is given by the band, that day is open house and gales.

The first championship debate win for the University was held November 23, in the natural building. This meeting will be a nominal combat of 200,000 men from forty different nations of the world. The Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A., and Student Volunteer organization is the American units in this federation. Miss Conde has just returned from the mission where she attended a meeting of the council, and who's she studied the conditions of the students of this world. The meeting was held in New South America where much material is taken on the conditions of the students of the world was obtained.

HITS WOMEN'S LATEST STYLE

Sure threat! recent woman promissed is not one of the last at the University. Iowa.

Now fashion is becoming sensible and are doing small for decoration, the women. Waxed hose are here for good, according to all indications. Waxed gloves have also put in an appearance already, but strange as it may seem, these who are wearing all the waxes on their gloves and fine they seem to cause quite down the campus walks without any apparent.

Probably the head is sufficiently by the order of the great Angora wool which has been found to be effective filling, and "does note take the life out of the hair." In other words, a hat is as usual, with a hat on, but in this hot season it is improved as to the real cause of the man, the chimera bone that is supposed to be this year.

Y. W. SECRETARY SPEAKS HERE

Miss Bertha Conde will deliver lecture to students next Wednesday.

Miss Bertha Conde, student secretary of the national board of the Y. W. C. A., will speak on the natural behavior, November 17, at 8 o'clock. Her lecture is entitled "Study of the University World." Miss Conde has charge of the mission where she attended an open meeting of the council, and who's she studied the conditions of the students of this world. The meeting was held in South America where much material is taken on the conditions of the students of the world was obtained.

Among the red letter days of the University of Iowa, there are none more so far as the University of Iowa is concerned, that have become traditional of the University. The Masquerader

Guy Bates Post, an actor of grand personal charm, and recognized theatrical ability, will appear Monday night at the English theater in "Masquerader." The play has been adapted by scene with four friends, who are an unknown in field of drama, to adapt the story on the book and radio. The performance of the play was adopted in the field of the novel. However, this fact does not seem to have worked to the detriment of the story, for it is considered by the critics to be one of the finest of the current dramas.

Mr. Post appears in the dual representation of a boy, by name of Chadroe—and a potentially victimized man, Lots. The two meet in a fog and then and there change situations. For the poor Mrs. Lots going to assume the social and industrial obligations of Mr. Chadroe, who assuming the opposite roles of Mrs. Lots, who is described as being difficulty in his indigo bag.

Mr. Post carries out the many dramatic situations of the play with ease born of long training and perfect assurance. In Des Moines, the play was presented at the Collisom in order to ascertain if people desirous of witnessing Mr. Post's greatest stage triumphs, according to the information obtained from the local theater, all the vast machinery necessary to properly stage this exceptional production will be here. A special reviving stage makes possible the quick transition impervious from the nature of the drama.

Without a doubt, "The Masquerader" will be one of the best play staged here during the present season. At the current rate for seats to post third rate concert seats, the price of seats for the performance is quite within reason.

Neva Talbott, in "The Branded Woman," will be the moving picture of the day for today at the English theater. The most admired actress of this living and sometimes silent stage makes possible the quick transition impervious from the nature of the drama, also Goldman, also relating his work with a generous amount of vivacity.

Mrs. Frank J. Mezik as Cinderella's captured maid displayed a spontaneous quality of humor. With the two bass lines, Friday and Saturday, of the Follies, also Goldman, also relating his work with a generous amount of vivacity.

WILLIAMS HAS GREAT RECORD AT MINNESOTA

Dr. Henry L. Williams came to Minneso-ta from New Haven in the fall of 1906 as the new coach of the Gopher football squad. Up to that time Minnesota had made little of the autumn sport, taking victories and defeats as they came with the latter predominating.

The ability, and ability of the new coach gave Minnesota a pre-eminent place in Western football cir-cles. Coach Williams has built up a team that scores eleven victories and none to the Gophers. The place in the football world was made secure.

Since then Coach Williams has turned over to Minnesota teams with more than his share of channel-ship. He won Conference titles in 1906, 1908, 1919, and 1921, with his teams, he has scored personal-runs up to 1900 and 1909.

Coach Williams has developed four All-American winners, John Melchiori '99, quarterback, James Walker, '20, tackle, William Crawford '21, center and George Hensel '17 tackle. Walter Greer picked Arnold Ous for halfback on his 1920 season team and every halfback that Iowa fought last fall in the Illinois game when he was a senior. Ous is getting better every game he starts. His brand of football is a syndrome run and hands the thumping of the Gophers. Pete is 23 years old, weighs 165, and is 6 feet 1 1/2 inches. His Fraternity is Delta Sigma Delta.

Arnold Ous

Arnie Ous is the proudest all around player on the grid squad this fall. Last fall, Walter Greer selected Arnold Ous for the left halfback after his wonderful showing in the Wisconsin, Illinois, and Michigan games. This year he has been the Gophers' strongest offensive and de-fensive player on the varsity. Against Wisconsin last Saturday he stood eight yards over every man on the field, was in every play and brought down runner after runner after he had pieced the ball down and gave the chances to the front ever witnessed at Northrop the last eleven years. He has been named to the All Conference team for. Two seasons he has been a member of the Nebraska, playing forward. In this year's Chicago game he played 100 yards

Address all Mail Orders to Mrs. Mary Miles, Care Denecke's Co., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

What is Denecke's?

It's a Department Store, a notable Service-Giving Organization of successful achievement.

Forty and Six conveniently expresses the number of departments housed beneath one roof, that more than five floors will accommodate the high pressure and efficient requirements of a business of these proportions.

Our Fourth Floor, home requirements are studied from the standpoint of Bags and Equipment, and nothing beautiful in coloring and pattern and richness in quality in these household necessities is omitted.

Our Third Floor holds the key to refinement and comfort in Woman's Bliss of grace and easy poise, characteristic of an exclusive dress department. While Woman's Home Dresses, Sportswear, Girl's and Infants' Boots create a sea of finery in their artistic creations in other sections on this floor. Corsets, too, are shown in the best makes.

An entire Second Floor is devoted to Women's and Men's Ready-To-Wear garments, and here, friends, is a Department where you can depend new styles of fashion make their entry in this same season, but it is to the Service Institution that none less than five floors will be needed.

The Foundation Department assumes originality itself in a portmanteau of Beausianess, in tribute to value. And it is in this same Foundation Department that you find our Snow White Self-Serve Grocery Store—a monumental tribute to the cause of better food—a feast of almost limitless. There is no Self Serve Grocery like this one in the city of Cedar Rapids.

When you visit our store let Mrs. Mary Miles, personal shopper and expert of our Mail Order Department, take you on a visit of touring this 14-year Service Institution.

MINOR ATHLETICS PLAY BIG PART IN UNIVERSITY SPORTS

Minor athletics at Iowa have come into the forefront with the recent growth of the University and by the distribution of interest of the student body over the whole field of athletics. Ernest G. Schoenfeld, director of the department of physical education and professor of athletics, in conjunction with the ath-letic board, has control of the minor athletics. Every year, enrollees in the number of men who participate in the minor athletics grow, swimming, wrestling, and gymnastics. Swimming is the most popular of the minor athletics if the number of men who participate in it can be used as a criterion of the student body's interest in sport. Coach David A. Armbruster's call for swimmers was answered by sixty-three men. Twenty-five of these men are reporting for the following year, a swimming team, organized in the year 1911. Ernest G. Schoenfeld has given his personal attention to instructing the men from the time the team was first formed until the present year. During this time Iowa has won six of its matches and out of two matches defeated by the western intercollegiate champions, the Iowa swimming team was able to share the possession of victory with the Western team one year. This year Iowa will place third in the conference meet. The team was answered by sixty-three men.

During the period of the past few years, Iowa has won its share of victories. In 1916, Iowa won the western intercollegiate championships. The team was second placed in 1914 and 1915, and fourth place in 1917. The pool was opened in 1915, and six matches and out of two matches defeated by the western intercollegiate champions, the Iowa swimming team was able to share the possession of victory with the Western team one year. RESEARCH STATION AIMS AT NORMAL, HEALTY, CHILDREN

The Iowa Child Welfare Research Station is established for the scientific study and investigation of normal children. The work of the station has developed gradually through years of thought and activity on the part of certain leaders among the women of the state, certain members of the legislature, and members of the faculty of the University. A fold introduced in the thirty-sixth general assembly, 1931, providing for the establishment of a child welfare station at the University of Iowa failed of passage. However, the situation stimulated several a very important educational purpose of awakening the people of Iowa to the needs and possibilities of such an undertaking.

The measure was re-introduced and passed almost unanimously by the General Assembly in 1937. This is the first research station in America for the normal development of boys and girls.

People of Iowa believe that Iowa's greatest institutions are her homes and schools and the greatest asset to her future are the normal boys and girls. Within the next ten years the State of Iowa is going to make it possible for four or five normal boys or girls to give up a home or school where an present time, and some instances four or five every year are defective in eyesight, hearing, or speech, have deformed or defective teeth, have abnormal parts of the body, suffer from malnutrition, present special mental defects, have been feeble-minded, are delinquents, epileptics, potential criminals, drinkers, or criminals.

The Iowa Child Welfare Research Station anticipates that it will be able to stop some of these wastes and save the amount of the tremendous expense and misery in those instances the attention of the State and the possibility and the necessities of the community is not at large, in the possibilities and the necessities of the community is not large, and to make a serious effort to raise to a higher degree of efficiency those who are now considered normal.

The program of the research station is objective, constructive, and scientific. Those physical or mental defects and traits must be cured in the making and trained to a higher degree of efficiency and usefulness. The Research Station gives its best work, thought and energy to those things which are worth while in boys and girls. It does not maintain the attitude of the old man who said, "Who? I don't feel much with this being sick. What I always say is, if you're sick, die, and prove it!" None of the questions it is aiming to answer are:

- What standards shall we accept in judging a normal child?
- What is the cause of seasonal variation in growth and what allowances is to be made for it in determining progress?
- In the formation of health habits what methods are practical in insuring that no child shall ever adopt the health habits of the child who would take nine baths in one afternoon in order to relieve a record which was disgruntled his own class? What degree of permanency of health habits may be expected after intensive work has been made?
- Are there any unjustified value in the "it comes of age sooner" than the thinking of the health habits by children or is the latter method forever a much more effective and worth the work put such rough "I" in the case of an undernourished, underconditioned child, a sound dietary regimen for the normal child alone?
- To carry on the child welfare program the Assembly granted an annual appropriation of $10,000, which has been supplemented by a gift of $100,000 a year for five years (1931-1935) from the National Women's Christian Temperance Union. The Station is in need of departments of hygiene, personal care, preventive medicine, and an educational division for children of pre-school age. It is also imperative that a limited number of institutions and young children be made available for medical and scientific study in an observation home where the unusual, physical, mental, and social environments of each child will be under the supervision of the station and the staff of specialist in order that the results may be accessible to the state at large.

A. DEVINE MAY BE NINE LETTER MAN

Hawkeye Star Promises to Follow Predecessor of Stewart and Parsons

With throw "V" already to his credit, and the requirement for a fourth completed, Ashley Devine, All of Des Moines, bids fair to equal the record made by Stewarts and Parsons. He was placed on Walter Eckerdall's squad to the side of his first year, and he been rated as one of the most versatile players in the West by his great sports writers, besides being given honors by practically every sports writer of the West. He is admitted to be the best all around backfield man in the state, and many think will be placed on one of the all American teams this fall. And besides that, he will in all probability be recognized as one of the three athletes who have worn letter at Iowa.

Devine plays quarter or halfback on the football team. As well as being an adequate field goals he has started as a drop kicker and is noted for his consistency in passing while running.

Funds for Iowa Memorial Union Grow Steadily

$296,000 Total Expected Before Iowa-Minnesota Game This Afternoon

$25,000 Raised Since June

Office of Union in Old Capitol Building—Nine Quarters Expected Soon—No Subscriptions To Be Solicited During Homcoming—Subscription Blanks Can Be Secured At Office.

Starting with about nothing at the opening of last year’s Homecoming celebration, the funds for the Iowa Memorial Union have steadily increased, until at this time, $171,415 has been subscribed and it is expected that over $300,000 will be raised before December 31.

Solicitors in Des Moines and Minneapolis have been hard at work, and about $85,000 has already been raised.

Carrying out the subscription solicitation will be an energetic, enthusiastic group, which nearly every student will be able to join.

A subscription blank for any student who will be located in Iowa City for the next few months is still available.

Late subscription blanks are being solicited, and efforts will be made among students this year.

Memorial Union

Prof. Charles H. Wolfer of Iowa College, director of the Iowa Memorial Union board of trustees, however, was something of a disappointment. When they meet in January, Miss Ruth Rogers was employed as field secretary and is still working on the project. In June, Prof. Charles L. Moore, university accountant was appointed campaign director and is still in general charge.

Near the end of October Ralph G. Grassfield was appointed as a campaign director. He made his home in Iowa City and is at present carrying on a systematic canvass by committee.

This begins in Linn county, where an enthusiasm rally was held on Oct. 15, at which about 100 persons were present.

The office of the Union is on the second floor of Old Capitol. The staff which is on hand at all times, consists of Miss Alia Fox, stenographer and general secretary, and Miss Bette Martin, bookkeeper. At present the office shares space with the Alumni headquarters and with the Registrar’s office, but larger quarters will be obtained as soon as possible.

As previously announced, all subscriptions will be solicited during Homecoming. However, the officials of the Union will be pleased to provide subscriptions to students who wish to contribute. Donations should be made to the Iowa Memorial Union, Iowa City, Iowa, and subscription blanks may be obtained at the office of the Union.

Fifty Dollar Subscriptions Most Popular

Fifty-dollar subscriptions were the most popular among the $2,000 persons who had subscribed to the Memorial Union up to Nov. 1, 1920. Of these there were 44 short making a total subscription of $22,460.

Twenty-five-dollar subscriptions were the next in rank of popularity, 228 persons having made such pledges. The third popular amount was one hundred dollars, 227 persons making subscriptions of that nature.

Following is a table showing the various classes of subscriptions and the number of persons subscribing to each class:

Amount Pledged Total
250.00 25,000
100.00 4,200
25.00 2,000

UNION WILL BE AN INSTITUTION

Grassfield Expects Memorial to Become a Partial School of Citizenship

"Through the Iowa Memorial Union we plan to supervise and direct the activities of students outside of the class room in such a way that they will fit themselves to bear their responsibilities and duties as citizens," said Ralph G. Grassfield, recently appointed director of the Iowa Memorial Union, when asked just what the Union plans to do.

Mr. Grassfield said that although Iowa graduates are unquestionably more highly educated when they leave the University than when they came, they lack the exact knowledge of their relationship to the community in which most cases they are looked on as leaders from whom things are expected.

"Just how we will give them this training has yet been decided upon," said the Union director. "However, it can readily be seen that the Memorial Union building with its various services will soon become the headquarters for students during their leisure time and we anticipate trying diligently in getting this provision made for them. However it can be accomplished by means of weak semi-weekly newsmen.

"Of course the immediate problem that of raising the necessary $1,000,000 to build the building. We have to have $500,000 subscribed by Saturday and we will then start on a systematic canvass by counties in all Iowa. After the Iowa territory has been covered we will branch out to other states. In Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Indiana our plans will be carried out.

The fund-raising campaign is expected to be completed by January 1.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

When Kirk played football he was mentioned for "All American."

He is mentioned often now, for the All American service he gives to his customers.

—grows a new institution; a business which is expanding its volume of service rendered very rapidly. Each day a greater number of men and women recognize the dominating features of its advance, price fairness and the high standard of the footwear it sells. To the students of "Iowa" it offers many advantages.
WANT TO BUY A HOME?

By sad experience you have learned about high rentals and the scarcity of houses in Iowa City. There is only one answer to the house question that will satisfy you. Build your own home. The house-owner is contented and self-respecting. Never quite so the renter. Look at your farsighted colleagues who built sometime ago and now own valuable properties. You can do it as well as they. Make your plans now.

Real estate has always been a good investment in Iowa City. With the University growing by leaps and bounds, it will continue to be good. You can sell to advantage at any time if you build judiciously, and meanwhile you and your family can really live and be independent. For men on a salary, it is always wise to invest in a home. You will save then, perhaps for the first time. Try it. There are ways to finance a building project, if you have not the ready money.

Next spring there promises to be a boom in building. Materials will be harder to get and labor will be more in demand. The time to prepare is now. You can still get your cellar ready this fall and let the foundation settle all winter.

“The first step in home building is to consult Dunlap.” Ask today for your copy of The Dunlap Home Book. It is free.

The Dunlap Home Book contains pictures and floor plans of thirty beautiful styles of modern homes. We have almost countless others in our files. This collection will be of wonderful value to the home-builder. Drop in and talk with us.
Professor Clapp was born in Boston and after receiving his A.B. and M. A. degrees at Harvard spent two years in Europe on the Fred Franklin fellowship. Returning to this country he took the degree of Ph. D. at the Johns University. For three years he was an instructor at Dartmouth and at the outbreak of the war became a head under the group, and was in Paris last three months of the war. Last year he came to Iowa as director of the school of music. Censoring and conducting the branches of music in which he is par ticularly interested. Among his best compositions are two symphonies.

which were played by the Boston symphonymen under his direction; one of these, a lone piano, "Burgm," was given last year by the Saints Symphony orchestra.

As to Professor Clapp's personal appearance—he is about medium height and rather stocky build. Most of his expression rests in his eyes and the smile that plays about his lips. His hair is reddish brown and wavy and he parts it in the most approved fashion. Add to that his mustache and you have him.

SHELDON S. SNd The Newberg Studio

SHELDON S. By the way of getting things. Woe be to him that Sam acted out for the benefit of the whole class, just how the philosophy of Canterbury stood down to pray, and just how Lamont and Guin ever held hands, "Sam"—this right, and not the boy who has satisfied us. We secretly believed that we, too, should go to the University. We heard about him over a peaceful smoke in the moonlight, and he was ever before our eyes, but our eyes were filled with an adoration and enthusiasm at lunch in the security housed.

Sam teaches the king's English and French also, and Iowa for twenty years. At registration time his rooms are always filled and he is a junior, and at times a senior, walk up to the registrar's desk, with printed instructions between his thumb and forefinger—written in the best of English—and ask, "What shall I do now?"

There is never a student who comes to the University who does not have in his possession a letter dictated and signed by Mr. Dorcas; forty thousand cards are filled out and sent to the instructors every registration, the names of every student must be looked over and evaluated by the registrars' office; this tells why Mr. Dorcas can't answer the call of the Outside world when it calls to come and dance; it is why perhaps Mr. Dorcas is called conservative.

Mr. Dorcas was born on a farm near Thrall, Texas, in 1879, graduated at the University in 1900, was a fellow under Professor McGonagle, was given a letter in pedagogy, later made assistant professor, and finally professor. During these years he worked to solve his most difficult. It is not an uncommon task to have a new student, a sophomore, a junior, and at times a senior, walk up to the registrar's desk, with printed instructions between his thumb and forefinger—written in the best of English—and ask, "What shall I do now?"
