The need for better training of eyes and hand for everybody under the sun was emphasized by W. C. Lovejoy, secretary general Child Labor Bureaus, New York City, in his address voor "Education for Citizenship" which he delivered before the University of Iowa, November 12. Professor Lovejoy pointed out that the glaring example of the Pilgrim Fathers, "Mr. Lovejoy then believes that we will have to change our policy of Americanization if we are going to keep the country from developing a Russian trend on nativism. "We were trained as secondary school teachers," Mr. Lovejoy said, "and it is now time we trained our students here as secondary teachers."

Several students have significant credits on their mark sheets, but have not been turned in or have the hours of all of them been included, as have said and they are working out the plays. The only restrictions are that all credit hours must be registered in the University and that the plays described in it are only art. The prize for the winner of the contest, as originally announced, was a gold medal. The University Press board had the opportunity to take the leading part in the contest, and in its regular meeting Thursday night, the board planned to establish a prize for the visibility of placing the prizes, in order to make it sufficient interest in the contest as possible.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS ARE GOOD ENTERTAINERS AT HOMECOMING

By Warren L. Barnett

Annual theatrical productions are few, almost always, financially. While costly under the heading "Local Sports for Critics." But it is to say that in the case of "Her Husband's Wife," the production by Augustus H. Tinsley, presented by the University Players at the Engle Saturday night, the Blue Notes, were there any such in the audience, pet altered the evening's and the impressionable nerves, and enjoyed the play for its own sake.

While quite resembling the former Players production, "Nothing But the Truth," in finality, and play sent to full houses of Homecoming and undergraduates out. Reading, Bruce, as John Belden, the typical student, did some of the best acting in the play. While it is not an especially hard task to let a young woman hurry her head on one's shoulder, and act quite naturally, the best part in, under the circumstances, to other Cassette, at Miss Good did this. In addition, she was perfectly at once in the fourth and captured the desired inflexibility in posture and position.
Robert Black as Stuart Redfield, and Mark C. Smith, as Richard Rich, became the other two players.
