FAMOUS WRITER OF NEW ENGLAND STORIES COMING

Margaret Deland Will Lecture On December 8, As Next University Number

FOREMOST AMERICAN AUTHOR

Profesor Hunt Speaks of Her Work With Highest Praise—Married at Age of Twenty-nine to Writer on Commerce—Miss Deland Very Prolific Author

Margaret Deland, well-known American novelist and short story writer, will speak at the next University lecture, Wednesday, December 8, according to the telegram received yesterday by Prof. Benjamin F. Shambaugh, chairman of the University lecture committee.

"Mrs. Deland stands out," said Prof. Percival G. Hunt of the English department, "as the foremost writer of short stories in America today. She always has something to say, and she says it with ease and sympathy. Her books show a keen insight into human nature, and a sense of the psychology of the present. Mrs. Deland's short stories, such as the 'Old Chester Tales', are very appealing, for in them she has created real characters, and she presents them with the truth of the Realist."

Born in Pennsylvania

Margaret Campbell Deland was born in Pennsylvania in 1857. She was educated at private schools of Pennsylvania and New York. In 1880, she was married to Lorin F. Deland of Boston, who has written several essays dealing with commercial subjects.

After her marriage, Mrs. Deland turned her attention to story writing, producing her first book, "The Old Garden", in 1886. Since that time she has produced a steady stream of short stories and novels. Among her well-known novels are: "The Awakening of Helena Richie," which has been dramatized, and "The Iron Woman" published in 1911.

Chester Tales Most Popular

Some of Mrs. Deland's most popular short stories are: "Old Chester Tales," published in 1898; "J. R.'s Mother and Some Other People," published in 1915; and "The Lie", an Old Chester Story, now being published in Harper's Magazine. Mrs. Deland now lives in Boston.

The subject on which Mrs. Deland will speak is not yet known, but will be announced later, according to Professor Shambaugh.

DEBATERS ARE CHALLENGED BY PRINCETON TEAM

Princeton University has extended to the University of Iowa an invitation to debate their team at Des Moines during the Christmas holidays, according to a report of the forensic council.

The forensic council is taking up the matter, and if satisfactory arrangements can be made, Iowa's debating team will accept the invitation. The proposition for debate has not yet been chosen. It is not known whether the debate will be decided by judges or will be one of the open forum type.

The Princeton debaters have invited other Universities to debate them on their trip across the United States. They will debate the University of California at Los Angeles the day before the East and West football classic to be held on New Year's day providing the Princeton eleven meets the California eleven in the clash for national honors at Pasadena.

The Princeton team will uphold the affirmative while the California team will uphold the negative of the question: Resolved, That Congress should pass laws prohibiting strikes in the essential industries, constitutionality granted.

LOU TELLEGEN A ROMANTIC ACTOR

Lou Tellegen in Blind Youth Lives In His Part — Supporting Cast is Good

By Bruce Gould

A few minutes before leaving for the theater to see "Blind Youth," my friend came in from the street and laughingly told me of seeing Lou Tellegen standing disconsolately in front of the telegraph office looking vaguely about in the gathering twilight and sadly watching the blinking lights. When he was returning from the barber shop, Mr. Tellegen was just moving off in the direction of the hotel. His huge black cap, monstrous yellow coat, and dark gunny sack trousers etched out his figure sharply against the bizarre background of Washington street. Finally in desperation of seeing anyone or anything he plunged into the doors of the hotel.

For lack of proper company, Lou Tellegen, who played at the Englert Friday, seems to be barred from the romance which his personality creates. A modern Alcibiades, whom even the wisdom of Socrates could not benefit!

On the stage, without drawing aside from the supporting cast, nor ruining the unity of the play, Mr. Tellegen is one apart, a figure of color and dramatic values. An artist from the moment he enters the stage door, he carries his characters off the stage out of hearing of the audience until it is a life he is living instead of a character he is portraying.

George Deneuberg as Louis Delmas, Marcelle Bauger as "Bobo" were excellent in the realization of their parts. A sprightliness and naivete and a certain zest of life carved these two out from the rest.

Lorna Ambler, as Frances Granger the girl in whom Mr. Tellegen finds which he had theoretically endowed the only girl, did a lovely bit of work as the beautiful and constant innocent. Schuyler White, as the brother of Maurice was excellently cast. Juliette Crosby played the part of the somewhat dense "Connie" with a commendable sense of reserve.

It does not seem as though a play so sketchy as "Blind Youth" quite fits an artist of Mr. Tellegen's worth. Probably the easiest way to

STAGE IS NO BAR TO AILMENT; LOU TELLEGEN HAS BAD COLD

Lou Tellegen stepped out of the Hotel Jefferson elevator into the main lobby yesterday morning. He wore a campaign colored Ulsterette over a dark suit. In his necktie was a large pearl scarf pin. His brown wavy hair was brushed back from his slightly lined forehead.

"I don't feel any better than I did last night," he said. "I have an awful cold," he shook his head as he touched his forehead with his slender white fingers. "I still have a temperature." He leaned one elbow on the desk, took a puff of his cigarette and continued, "I was in bed all afternoon yesterday, but my illness never affects my voice. I have played when I had a temperature of 104 degrees. I have been ill for the last three days," he said. "Four days ago when were in Kenton, Missouri I went duck hunting. Somehow, I caught cold."

MILITARY BALL WILL BE FIRST FORMAL OF 1921

The date of the annual Military Ball has been set for January 7, 1921, according to Carl H. Meyrick, A4, cadet colonel. The party will be given as in former years in the University armory and will be the first of all-University formals of the year. Plans have been already started by the committee consisting of cadet officers to present a very unique and entirely new array of decorations. On account of the limited space for so large a party, tickets will be limited to about 200 couples, but the balcony will be used by spectators as in years past. Music, most likely, will be furnished by an out of town orchestra although this is not settled as yet, according to committee members.

The final appointment of commissions in the cadet regiment has not been approved by Lieut. Col. Morton C. Mumma with the exception of cadet colonel. When these appointments are approved the committee for the military formal will be announced, said Meyrick.

account for his choice of it as a vehicle lies in the fact that he wrote a great part of it. Next time it is hoped that he will have chosen a more graceful and truthful bit of dramatic fiction for the background of his rare personality.

WOMEN BATTLE IN FIELDBALL ON NEW FIELD

The sophomore women's fieldball team will play the upperclass team Wednesday, November 24, at 4 o'clock on the women's athletic field. The game will be the last one of the year and will decide the winning team. The sophomores defeated the freshman team 18 to 7 at the homecoming game.

The upperclass team is composed of Grace Emery, A4 captain, Jean M. Spiers A3, Jean Hicklin A4 Margaret Starbck A3, Helen Hayes A3 Claribel Wright A4, Anna Carmody A3, Lorena M. Bowen A3, Cecelia M. Bowen A3, Mary E. Freeman A3 and Lorna Ludwick A3.

The sophomore team is composed of Pauline Spencer A2, captain, Ruth Zorn A2, Mildred N. Cotman A2, Helen L. Opeland A2, Callie M. Buser A2, Eleanor H. Huntley A2, Josephine L. Daug A2, Beatrice McGarvey A2, Ruth Vanlaw A2, Ruth E. Wallace A2, Lillian R. Clave, A2.

He laughed and looked at Harry R. Rankin, company manager. "It was worth it wasn't it?" Then he added, "We brought the ducks home and had them cooked for dinner."

"I am very fond of out door sports—especially hunting, fishing and golf. I always carry my guns, fishing tackle, and golf sticks with me."

"Yes, I like the screen, but I prefer the stage of course," he added as he brushed the ash from his cigarette.

"I came from Athens but I have forgotten most of the Greek language; however I speak five or six languages other than English." My home is in New York City. Formerly, Miss Farrar, my wife, and I lived in California. Last night she made her first appearance for this season at the Metropolitan theater in New York City."

COUNCIL BEGUN FOR ENGINEERS

College of Applied Science Has Self Government to Work With The A. S. of A. S.

The student council of the associated students of applied science is the name of the new organization of the engineers which is to act in an advisory capacity and to assist such plans as may be decided upon by the A. S. of A. S. for self government in the college of engineering. This new form of self government was adopted by the students of the engineering college at a meeting of the A. S. of A. S. held Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the students room of the engineering building. Dean William G. Raymond read and explained the articles of the constitution which was drawn up jointly by the officers of the A. S. of A. S. and the members of the faculty.

Members of the council are to be the officers of the A. S. of A. S. and representative of the study rooms in the engineering college. Representatives from the study rooms are to be elected by the members of their respective rooms not later than three weeks after the opening of each school year. All members of the council are to hold office for one year. Officers of the council are to be the regular officers of the A. S. of A. S.

Meetings of the council are to be held at the call of the acting president or upon the written request of three members. It is hoped that this new form of self-government will be very effective in producing cooperation among the students of the engineering college in as much as it has a direct bearing on all of the students. Under this system each student will be responsible for a section of his own study room.

PAINES' TEAM HOLDS HAWKS TO LOW SCORE

Aggies Play Surprising Game Against Jones' Machine — Entire Game Close

CYCLONES GET FIRST SCORE

Byers' Place Kick from 30 Yard Line Is First Count — Second on Pass— Old Gold Machine is Running and Plunging Type — Devine and Belding Score for Iowa

Springing something of a surprise yesterday the Cyclones scored first on the Hawkeye eleven and were only beaten by four points in a game that ended 14 to 10.

The first score came early in the second quarter. A bad pass which resulted in A. Devine's being downed for a big loss on his own 23 yard line put the Hawks in a hole. Devine punted but Ames returned to Iowa's 38 yard line and a moment later Byers punted a goal from placement from Iowa 30 yard line.

Iowa scored in the second quarter after taking the ball on their own 44 yard line, most of the distance being covered by end runs and plunges. Belding made 8 yards of the distance by nabbing a pass.

Rich Intercepts Pass

In the third quarter A. Devine returned a punt to the Ames 38 yard line, then made a 15 yard run following which a pass which Belding jumped high for, from the center of a group of Ames men, carried the ball over for the Old Gold's second counter.

Ames failed to score on four beautiful chances in the second half. The first time that Shuttleworth intercepted a pass, the second time when they failed to make downs on the Iowa 10 yard line, again when a penalty spoiled the opportunity and the fourth time when Eddie Rich caught Hibbs flip on his own 2 yard line.

Iowa Passes Better

The Cyclone's lone touchdown came after Devine had punted to Ames on the Iowa 30 yard line. Hibbs passed to White who ran for the score with a clear field, Ty Smith having been drawn in.

It was neither team's game until the whistle blew and Iowa was in serious danger all through the second half. Doc Paine's team furiously tried passes but it was unable to gain consistently through the Hawkeye's forward pass wall. Iowa tried fewer passes but worked them to better advantage at critical moments when yardage meant victory.

Hawk Line Superior

Kadesky played a brilliant defensive game as did Block, Kaufmann and Slater. The Iowa line outplayed the Aggies forward wall throughout with the exception of Wallace at center. Slater came out in old time form, mopping up several Ames plays and opening avenues for the Iowa backs. Jaqua coming in late in the game, made a name for himself by his brilliant smashing and A. Devine starred throughout, with clever end runs and interception of three Cyclone passes. Vanderloo took the honors on punts for the Aggies and White and Hibbs did the starring on passes.

Ames, 2 p. m. The stands are already filled and it is estimated that there is between 10,000 and 12,000 persons out. Football weather is perfect, partly cloudy with a slight northwest wind. The Iowa stands

ON TIME

It seems to be a hard matter to anybody when he makes appointments. No one believes even himself. If he says that he will be there at 6, he knows that he will not be there at 6 and wonders if it will be 6:15 or 6:30 and if the other fellow will come at all.

Now that things are worked out with an eye to efficiency, and the passing of time is accorded some value in the general scheme, that element may be discussed from the standpoint of profit and loss. A great amount of time is lost in the common failure to regard an appointment with seriousness. Sometimes the other fellow takes it rather seriously. He comes to the appointed place only a few minutes late, tugs at his watch chain, walks about nervously, fumbles with a newspaper, swears, and goes away, and squares himself with society by failing to keep his next.

All this is very annoying to methodical persons. These people of method seem to think that it is incumbent upon righteous folk in general to regard their word as something fit to live up to. They cling to the notion that if one says he will be there he should be there or make himself out little better than a liar, and waste a lot of the time of the individual who foolishly took the appointment at face value.

Giving this practice a chance to grow with the developing age, some years from now may see dinner party hostesses calling their affairs for 8 a. m. or even omitting the hour in the trust that some cosmic impulse will bring their guests together at their own sweet wills for that is when they come anyway, and classes will meet at the thirty-nine minute hour or not meet at all, and how will one assemble a league of nations?

YOUNG MEN

When the young man starts out on his career, there is nothing more essential than a good banking connection—unless it be ability, stick-to-it-iveness and a capacity for hard work.

With these essentials backed by the counsel and advice of experienced bank officers, young men today are progressing faster than ever before.

Make this bank your bank, young man, and you will have as your business partners men who like yourself are progressive alive and looking forward to development of bigger things for Iowa City and the surrounding community.
