LOCAL CAMPUS ORGANIZATIONS NATIONALIZED

Numerous Social Organizations Being Founded on Campus in Line With Larger Social Life

IVRE CLUB FOUNDED IN 1918

Former Ivre Club Receives Charter Of Phi Epsilon Pi, National Jewish Fraternity — Lamba Theta Local Women's Educational Society Becomes Pi Lambda Theta

Leading social events of the week include the securing of the national charter of Phi Epsilon Pi by the former "Ivre" club, and the installation next Friday night of Pi Lambda Theta women's educational organization.

A great many new social groups have been organized on the campus since the opening of the University year, in line with the administrative policy of the encouragement of group life. The chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi, is the first of its kind which has appeared on the local campus.

A charter for a chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi, national Jewish fraternity has been approved by the faculty according to information from the office of Robert E. Rienow dean of men. The fraternity is composed of members of the "Ivre" club, which was organized January 27, 1918, and is an outgrowth of a feeling of the necessity of a Jewish fraternity at Iowa.

The names of the charter members which appear on the petition are Max Kadesky D2 of Dubuque, Louis J. Urdanger A3 of Muscatine, Sam H. Shulkin of Sioux City, Philip H. Sherman M1 of Des Moines, Abe J. Myers L1 of Des Moines, Ralph L. Hillman D4 of West Liberty, Isadore Bernstein A4 of Centerville, Charles Greenblatt A3 of Muscatine, Morton A. Blum A1 of Des Moines, and Archie Urdanger S1 of Muscatine.

Lamba Theta, women's educational organization, will be installed as a national chapter of Phi Lambda Theta next Friday night. Pi Lambda Theta is a honorary scholastic sorority to which students majoring in education and women instructors, are elected. It is the sister organization to the men's honorary literary society, Phi Delta Kappa.

Initiation and installation will be in the liberal arts drawing room Friday evening. At the ceremony four representatives from the national chapter will be present. After installation a banquet will be given at the Jefferson hotel, at which Mable I. Shedaer, president, will be toast mistress.

FRITZI SCHEFF BETRAYS MANY OPEN SECRETS.

Fritzi Scheff strutted into the Hotel Jefferson with the air of State street. She was swathed from head to foot in an immense light brown fur coat. A small dark hat was tilted at a chivangle over her penciled right eyebrow. A blue chenille dotted veil was arranged over her cosmetic face and hair and caught up tightly at the back of her hat. Her manager, W. R. Williams met her at the desk. "I want to eat. I am nearly starved," she exclaimed.

Immediately, Madame and her party disappeared into the elevator. The show was over. The actors burst out of the theater and rushed to the interurban station to catch the 11 o'clock car.

Fritz Schneff murmured laughingly, "My face." As she raised both gloved palms upward, "I have to catch the 11 o'clock car."

Her face was a white mask accented by her red cheeks, her carmine lips, the blue lines drawn under her eyes, and her arched penciled eyebrows. She radiated a fragrance—some kind of a redolent toilet water.

ALPHA OMICRON IS NAME OF NEW LOCAL SORORITY

Alpha Omicron, a local sorority, received recognition by the University social committee at their meeting Friday.

The officers of the organization as announced yesterday are: president, Dollie G. Dulgar A3 of Muscatine, vice president, Genevra F. Kloopping A3 of Newton, treasurer, Irene E. Woodrow A3 of Newton, corresponding secretary, Mary Q. Mathewson A3 of Muscatine, and secretary, Ruth Meyers A3 of Newton.

Besides the officers, seven women are announced as charter members. They are, Helen Nicholson A4 of Iowa City, Carol Henning A2 of Scranton, Marvel M. Belknap A1 of Hopkinton, Matilda K. Ravell A3 of Odebolt, Effie I. Page A1 of Scranton, Marguerite E. Krampe A2 of Baxter, and Irene M. Kessler A2 of Odebolt.

GEORGE MEADER WILL SING HERE

Music Association Arranges For A Concert at Natural Science Tuesday, December 7

George Meader, American tenor, will appear in concert at the natural science auditorium, Tuesday evening, December 7, at 8:15 o'clock, according to Mrs. Phillip G. Clapp in charge of the concert. Admission will be one dollar and tickets will go on sale the first of next week at the book and music stores and at Whetstone's. These tickets may be later exchanged for reserved seats at the office of the department of music in the Dey building, is the plan of Mrs. Clapp.

George Meader is an American tenor who is touring America for the first time this year under the management of National Concerts inc. and is being brought to Iowa City by the University music association. Prior to last spring his career was limited to Europe.

The program has not been definitely announced but it will include the interpretation of American, Italian, French, and German groups of songs.

The first American concert of Meader was given in Aeolian hall, New York last spring.

SOPH PARTY DATE ANNOUNCED

The Sophomore cotillion will be the twenty-eighth of January. The number of couples will probably be limited to 200. The orchestra will consist of at least ten pieces and will be brought from out of town.

PLAYERS WILL SHOW AT CEDAR RAPIDS-BOONE

Production at Other Towns Are Contemplated, Notably Clinton and Davenport

MEMORIAL UNION TO BENEFIT

"Her Husband's Wife" Will be Carried About State in Cooperation With Memorial Union Drive — Alumni Dinners in Conjunction — Director and Coach to Travel With Cast

Out-of-town production of the play, "Her Husband's Wife," by the University Players has been postponed until next week, Ralph G. Grassfield, director of the Iowa Memorial Union campaign announced yesterday.

Complete arrangements have been made for giving the play at Green's theater in Cedar Rapids, Wednesday night, December 1, and at the Virginia theater in Boone, Friday night, December 3.

It is probable that the players will also play at Clinton and Davenport although complete arrangements have not yet been made in these cities.

These presentations will be given under the auspices of the Iowa Memorial Union and the proceeds will be split equally between the Union and the University.

Preceding the play in both Cedar Rapids and Boone, the Players will give a dinner to the alumni and friends of the University at which speeches will be made in the interests of the Memorial Union.

The students who will participate in these presentations are: Eleanor F. Talley A4 of Sigourney, Marion H. Smith A3 of Independence, Anna F. Rummelhart A3 of Iowa City, Robert L. Block, A3 of Davenport, Lauren M. Smith A2 of Cherokee, Charles B. Gould A3 of Des Moines, Margaret S. Sherman of the public speaking department is coaching the players. Beginning Friday the players will all put in a period of intensive practice in order to have their production up to the highest possible standard when they present it in the other cities.

"This is not a money making proposition for the Players," Charles C. Bowie A4 of San Benito, Texas, business manager for the play, said yesterday, "and we are producing the play in these towns only to aid and arouse interest in the Memorial Union campaign throughout the state." The alumni of the University in these towns are very enthusiastic over the plan and have signified their willingness to help in making it a success.

Arrangements are being made whereby Margaret S. Sherman, instructor in the public speaking department who is coaching the play, and Mr. Grassfield, can serve as chaperones of the cast in their absence from the University. It is probable that the play will be given in other towns of the state before the Christmas holidays but no definite plans have yet been made.

DISCUSSIONAL GROUPS WILL COMBINE WITH LECTURES

Prof. C. W. Wassam will speak on the subject, "What is Success?" at the Quadrangle, Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. This is the first number on the Quadrangle Lyceum course. The plan according to Ben W. Robinson, pres. of the Quadrangle, is to have a talk every Sunday during the winter months upon which there is no espVer service. A list of speakers and subjects is now being prepared. The talks will be given by University professors.

In addition to the talks on Sunday afternoons, Mr. Robinson announces that there will be discussion groups every Wednesday evening.

DECEMBER 1 TO START SALE OF 1922 HAWKEYE

Twenty-five hundred subscriptions have been set as the goal for the sales campaign of the 1922 Hawkeye to start Monday, December 1, according to A. Carlton Ernstene of Nebraska City, Nebr., editor-in-chief of the annual. The sales force will be announced within a few days. The present plan is to close the campaign on December 4.

Five dollars is the price of the Hawkeye and a deposit of two dollars will be made at the time the subscription is taken. Books will be ordered for only those who subscribe for them as the high cost of printing makes it impossible to print extra copies, according to Dwight G. Rider L1 of Waterloo, business manager of the Hawkeye. Last year a number of students failed to order their copies and were unable to obtain them in the spring.

According to Ernstene, a large part of the work on the annual will be completed by the first of the year. All but fifty of the 550 juniors have had their pictures taken for the junior section, and the entire class will have had their sittings by tomorrow, the last day for such pictures.

The book will have 464 pages and no display advertising. Novel art work, an Iowa girl section, and a snappy humorous section will be special features of this year's Hawkeye.

ACQUATIC STARS LOOM UP DAILY

Coach Armbruster's Amphibians Put In Hard Work For Coming Water Meets

During the past three weeks several water stars have come into notice on Coach David A. Armbruster's tank squad. The team has been swimming a quarter mile every night since the beginning of the season and is now rounding into form for speed work. The long swim has developed a number of point winners. Competition is strong in every event except in the 150 yard back stroke race which still has room for more competitors. The 40 yard dash and the 440 yards swim are the two most popular events among the swimmers.

Bob Brown A3 of Des Moines, who was individual point winner on last year's team, is back in school but has not reported for the team up to the present time. If he fails to appear his loss will be greatly felt in the dashes and the back stroke.

Roy K. Forney A3 of Tabor has been plunging the full length of the pool every night and will probably have his own way in this event although Stuart W. Short A2 of Council Bluffs, and Pearce Newport M2 of Adair are showing up in good form.

In the distance swims, Captain Walter Anneberg, Douglas Boynton and William Goodell are leading the field. The relay team will probably be composed largely from last year's team. Anneberg, Shepherd, Weidlein, Bond, Brown, Rademacher, and Clark seem to have the edge in the dashes. In the dives, Illif Shepherd and Ivan Weidlein both veterans of last year's squad have the advantage.

Rockwell Proctor, breast stroke man, is showing up in stellar form. In the tryouts held recently under the auspices of the Eel club, Proctor swam the 440 yard swim breast stroke and finished two laps ahead of the crawl stroke men who were started at the same time. Phillip Mills and P. O. Vedova are also strong contenders for places in the breast stroke swim.

The water basketball team is reporting Monday and Wednesday nights. It is impossible to predict now what success it will have against the other conference teams. Northwestern, especially has a strong water basketball team.

BASKET TOSSERS BREAK OUT FOR WINTER BATTLES

First Conference Game Will Be the Minnesota Mix, January 15 Other Practice Games

THREE OF LAST YEAR'S SQUAD

Shimek, Kaufmann and Devine Are Only Regulars Out — Chances For Championship Quintet Not Dazzling — Small Number of Last Year's Yearlings to Pick From

Coach Jimmie Ashmore put his squad through a few preliminary paces last night, although real work with the entire squad out will not start in all earnestness until next week.

Last night's practice included Capt. Luafman and Atbrey Devine, regulars of last year's team, who did not take a rest between the two major sports. Shimek has been out all season but Finlayson is not able to play on account of the effects of an operation for appendicitis. His return to the game is not certain.

Fundamentals have been the main part of the evening workouts so far this season, such as basket shooting and practice teamwork, although the coach inclines his men up for a session at regular scrimmage each night.

So far there has been no teams picked or any men placed for tryouts in certain positions. As far as prospects go, it can be said that there are indications of an average team, but no reason to expect a conference championship quintet nor is there any reason for gloom. There is plenty of good material out which should develop. The practice tilts with minor teams and the early conference games will tell part of the story.

Finlayson's uncertain return to the game leaves but three who were regulars last year, Capt. Kaufman, Devine and Shimek. Other members of last year's team who have been out so far are Lohman, Barnes, Frohwein, Newcomb, Dyke, Klatt, Olson, Prentiss and Ehresman.

Members of last year's yearling squad who have shown up are Ty Smith, Kedesky, Vollmer, Burgitt, Postman, Collis, Carlyle, McGovney, and Zell. A freshman squad will be formed under the direction of Coach Jenkins and the first call for this squad will probably be made next week.

Little will be done for at least a few days toward picking a permanent team. Coach Ashmore will put thorough some preliminary workouts until he gets the teams lined up on some data on individuals as there are a number of new men out. There were 35 out last night but with the opening of the real season a larger number is expected.

Practice games will be held before the Christmas holidays and there are three games scheduled during the holidays. The first conference game will be at Minnesota, anuary 15.

PARTIES MAY BE HELD AT EITHER GYM THIS YEAR

Fraternities, literary societies, and clubs will be given the use of one of the two gymnasium floors for their parties and dances this year, it was announced today by Robert E. Rienow, dean of men. FROM BOTH SIDES

No lasting good can come from an illogical optimism about things general or particular. Thanksgiving challenges an inventory of corrent affairs, hints at running through the tangle of existng conditions, facing the issue squarely and thanking God that things are as they are, or at least that they are no worse than they are.

So meof our chroniclers and commentators intimate that things could not be much worse than they are Sislye Hudleston in an article in the November Atlantic Monthly, draws a rather gloomy picture of the present moral condition of Europe. He says "For the present, Europe is in greater peril of conflict than it ever was in the ante-war years. The spirit of man has been tortured and twisted."

In an address in Boston on the subject, "Is the Human Race Making Any Progress," Prof. Kirsopp Lake of the Harvard Divinity School is reported by the Boston Transcript to have said "We are not merely making no progress in most branches of life, but we are rapidly going backward because we are content to fool ourselves into the belief that desire is stronger than knowledge." There are numerous comments of a similar tenor by public men.

Of course that is one side, and it is fair to see all sides of the situation Governor W. L. Harding, in his proclamation of Thanksgiving, recount some of the material and spiritual advantages for which we may justly be grateful: "Homes and firesides, the call of tenderest heart love, are vouchsafed in peculiar sanctity. Culture in music, art and literature, is the heritage of the most humble and obscure. Our fields are fertile, for sunshine and rain come, a free gift and at most helpful times."

It would be frankly morbid to overlook these gifts from the almighty, but it seems that Thanksgiving ought to be more than a foolish harping on our well-filled cribs and coal bins. These other men strike at a moral condition. They suggest another great war if the present mess of political intrigue is not straightened out. Hudleston says:

"...the general example of egotism is set by the big nations, must make of the present so-called European peace a mere truce, a truce in which to take breath; the hush—a troubled hush, but still an hour of relative quietude—before the last phase of Armageddon: that final battle, in which diabolical contrivances of a potency even now hardly dreamed of will make a desert of a continent, will destroy the cities, the wealth, the life of the Old World."

This is getting closer to home. The Old World is not at hand, Geneva, and the League seem at times like myths, but this talk of war has a very intimate tang. Just as now every one is about to pause for a moment to give thanks it seems that we ought to think rather seriously of doing something. If it is a moral condition that is making us might take stock of our own souls. We might inquire if we are content to fool ourselves in belief that desire is stronger than knowledge." We might turn to the scriptures and ask if we have those qualities that the writer mentions, "the sloth, the vindictiveness, the submissiveness, the cynicism, the insensibility, the cruelty, the egotism of the past-war."

MERELY DECENCY

Consider for a moment simply the natural, ordinary standards of decency and modest behavior which should be a part of the moral backbone of any who lay claim to the slightest culture of the gentleman. Without insisting on a standard higher than the normal elevation of the average human being, is it possible for the University public to be misled into patronizing and approving such a theatrical exhibition as is heralded by an advertising display of the most obvious and wanton vulgarity?

There exists no specimen of the human race toward whom most people feel less liking than the reformer; but when a display of ugly, suggestive partial female torsos appears in a local newspaper, with the leering information that the reader may see more of the so-called beauties at the show, it becomes almost imperative for some show of resentment on the part of the insulted reader.

Information has led us to believe that the show itself, happily, does not live down to the incredible depths of filth promised by the vile advertisements. But if any press agent thinks that by appealing to the entirely sensuous, he can pack the house like so many pigs in a sty, the fact that he is absolutely and clearly in the dark as to the desires and actions of decent men should be impressed upon him. Some sort of impression upon the theater catering to such bawdiness might also not be amiss.

The editor tells us that our space is limited and besides this is our day "off." We are forced to resort to the gentle razz, as a rule, when we have nothing else to write about. The thing that comes into our head is the rumor that a local sorority devoted one entire evening to the more risque pages of the last issue of the Green Gander. But the rumor is unfounded and we can't razz that. Anyway, up to date we have made forty-eight appearances and have thereby incurred the enmity of forty-eight individuals on the campus. Although this is not particularly pleasant to us, still we cannot afford to worry. At the rate of one enemy per day we can last until spring, since there are about five thousand of us here... On the other hand when one individual is razzed unmercifully the other four-hundred and ninety-nine, enjoy reading about it.

CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

CAN COLLEGES BE CIVILIZED? Under the above caption Frederick J. Haskin, a Washington correspondent of the Davenport Democrat and Leader made some very interesting revelations in a recent article published by him. Not the existing conditions found in the modern institutions of higher learning.

"A college or university," says Mr. Haskin, "is theoretically a place to study... but it is decidedly not the way the majority of undergraduates look at the matter. They go to college for a good time. They regard it as an escape from parental supervision, and a chance to spend a little of dad's money without his direct advice or assistance. In a word, the average unedrgraduate regards college as an opportunity to assert his individuality which is essentially a barbaric individuality."

With numerous rhetorical embellishments Mr. Haskin goes on to explain the "lamentable conflict between the professors and the students and the fact that we are in what Gideon would describe as the lowest stage of barbarism. Mr. Haskin completes his extoliation by stating that college boys are like Indians" but he admonishes the reader that it should not be concluded that colleges are absolutely useless. After rereading the article we came to the conclusion that Mr. Haskin would by no means have us get to ehide athat college "boys" would develop into baby killers or associates in the destruction of the aged.

Mr. Haskin bases all these panegyrics on the heinous crime that Annapolis has recently committed by hazing a half dozen of its freshmen. It is thi swich has undone us and which will probably lead to the abolition of our institutions by the hostility of public opinion. But why not look at the bright tside of things and think that perchance Mr. Haskin is not entirely right in his conclusions?

P. O. V.

In reading the publicity matter concerning the proposed Memorial Union I am impressed more than ever with the truth of the statement often made, that the Iowa student does not know what giving is.

I have in mind Cornell university at this time. It so happens that my room-mate here in Cleveland is a Cornell man. In conversation with him the other evening, he told me that every member of his graduating class last June pledged $500 towards an endowment fund for their Alma Mater. And he says, as you suggested, that the students contributed this sum almost entirely as a matter of course, feeling that they could do no less. And he himself uses the same arguments that you used there so many times, that the $500 was only a part of what the state of New York has given to the students at Cornell.

How different that is from the attitude of the average student at the University of Iowa!

I am not offering any remedy for this condition of student thought. Perhaps the only thing that can change it is Time, in her slow but certain process. But of one thing I am positive, the students of mid-western universities, at least the students at the University of Iowa, do not have the reverence, respect and feeling of gratitude for their institutions that the students of the eastern universities and colleges do.

The difficulties that are in the way notwithstanding, I surely hope that the day will come when those in charge of the Iowa Memorial Union project can announce to the State and to the nation that they have raised a million dollars, or whatever sum they may deem necessary."

BRITISH UNIVERSITIES HAVE AN ATMOSPHERE OF CULTURE

Note: This is the second of a series of articles by Mr. Bose to appear in The Daily Iowan. The writer was an instructor in the department of political science in the University last year, and is now on an extended tour of the world.

By Sudhindra Bose

(Special to the Daily Iowan)

London: "What is it that impresses you most about Cambridge University?" I asked a friend of mine who had been connected with the University for several years. "Atmosphere," was his reply. After having spent a few days with this same friend, in driving and walking about the streets, seeing beautiful old college buildings, and visiting lecture rooms, I put the same question to him, and again I received the same reply: "Atmosphere."

Wherever I went I was impressed by a distinct university atmosphere—and refinement. To a visitor, one of the prime objects of education at Oxford and Cambridge seems to be not to produce bread-winners, but to turn out polished gentlemen with polished manners. Here professors and students seem to live in a world all by themselves—a world little affected by the great currents of every day practical life. Several of the students boasted to me that they had not seen a newspaper for a whole week; while an amiable Oxford professor gravely declared that the less the college students read newspapers the better.

Education at these ancient seats of British learning is a very costly pursuit. None but the sons of rich can afford to be here. It is, therefore, next to impossible to make an English student understand what working one's way through college means.

Though there may be a few loafers, those who go to Oxford and Cambridge are for the most part serious-minded people. I was especially pleased to hear everywhere good reports of our American Rhodes scholars. They have made a name for themselves for their industry, keenness, and alertness. They are among the most popular of foreign students.

The more I study the British universities the more I am impressed with the fact that American students in the United States have many privileges which are unknown to the British. For instance, no Oxford or Cambridge man can take a book from the university library unless he has been at the University for at least two years. Again, an Oxford or Cambridge student must not be seen at night on the street with a young lady unless she happens to be his "sister" or "cousin." He must be in his room by ten o'clock. To be caught without cap and gown at night by the university police (known as the "bull dog") is a very serious matter.

These British universities have many regulations which appear to me a bit puzzling. One of their rules is that students must not frequent saloons, or "public houses" as they are called over here. Does this mean that they are expected to be teetotalers? Not at all. Students can not only have as much liquor shipped into their rooms as their pocket-books will allow, but even the university dining halls, presided over by professors and tutors, they can drink to their heart's content anything they like.

I found a sprinkling of women students at Cambridge and Oxford. At Oxford the university degrees are now sometimes conferred upon successful women students. But at Cambridge degrees are still withheld from women. The idea seems to be to discourage women from entering. Said an outraged Cambridge undergraduate to me: "There should be in England at least one university where the men would be free from feminine invasion."

Close of Football Season Releases
Captain White, G. Devine
Hunter and Smith

Iowa wrestling stock took a considerable jump forward with the closing of the 1920 football season. Hunter, G. Devine, Smith, and Captain White all likely material as mat contestants have been added to the squad. Sweeney who has been absent for the past week on a trip to Des Moines has returned and took another priming up last night with members of the freshman squad. Bob Smith, Vana, Prince, Scott, Vedova, Thompson, Cahill, are also fast shaping into condition, Coach Parcaut is elated with the outlook and is looking forward to the development of some real wrestlers. The team will be picked some time after Christmas, the choosing being done by competitive elimination.

Coach Parcaut together with members of the squad gave an interesting exhibition of various holds and wrestling tricks last night before a group of fans at the Jefferson hotel. "Other exhibitions of this sort will be given from time to time," said Coach Parcaut, "in order to popularize the art and impart a knowledge of the common holds and allow the public to judge wrestling bouts intelligently." Last night's exhibition was arranged by Ernest G. Schroeder, director of physical education for men.

"BUMADIER" CLUB FORMED AT KANSAS TO BOOST PEW

A "Bumadier" club was recently organized by about 700 men in the University of Kansas, to attend football games in other cities, and to boost their school. Overalls and old army shirts is the official uniform, and riding the rails is the method of transportation used by the "bums."

The organization is not a rough-neck bunch, but, as one of the leaders stated, "it is a publicity organization to uplift K. U. We do not expect to make it all that the name implies, but simply to show that there is boosting spirit back of the team."

The slogan adopted at the first regular meeting is "my last cent for eats, but not one cent for car fare." The official emblem is an opened tin can. The officers are two Grand Bums and a Grand Knight of the Charcoal Cinders.

Five hundred of the Bums "rode the rods" for two hours last Saturday to be on hand for a football game and they added zest to the contest by parading about the streets and down the field, each armed with a cow bell and a placard bearing a greeting to their opponents.

QUAD RESIDENTS HAVE TO SUBMIT TO VACCINATION

All students living at the Quad-rangle were requested to report to the Student Health department yesterday afternoon for a small pox vaccination. Those who did not do so will be hunted up and required to take it, according to Dr. William J.

McDonald, director of student health. Victor Tracha of Cedar Rapids, one of the residents of the quad-rangle, was taken sick with the disease a short time ago and has been removed to the University Hospital. In order to prevent any spread of the disease, it was thought wise to order the vaccination of the men.

SOCIAL MEMBERS CHOSEN FRIDAY

Seven Names Have Been Submitted To Election Committee—Only Three of Four Juniors to Be Elected

The election for student members of the University social committee will be held Friday. Ballot boxes will be placed in the corridors of all colleges, and voting will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. All University students are qualified to vote for three senior and three junior representatives.

There will be no contest for the three places as senior representatives, as only three candidates are in the field. Four juniors will contest for the three junior places.

The election is in charge of an election committee composed of one senior from each college of the University. The member from each college will conduct the election in his own college. The candidates will appear on the ballot in the following order: for senior representative, William G. Teegan D4 of Davenport, Robert W. Dethlefs S4 of Iowa City, and Clarence E. Hamilton L3 of Winterset. The junior candidates are, Florence V. Bierring A3 of Des Moines, Fred E. Egan 2 of Missouri Valley, Edwin A. Nixon B3 of Burlington, and Joseph M. Dean of Sioux City.

The six students elected will take their seats in the committee immediately, and will hold office until their successors are elected next year. The social committee, composed of six faculty members and six students has charge of all social regulations for the University. So far this year the faculty members have met without the student representatives. Vern M. Myers L3 of Fort Dodge, chairman

EASTERN PAPER CHOOSES FIRST GHOST ELEVEN

Since the football season is practically over in Big Ten circles mythical all-American, all-Weestern, and all-Conference eleven are now the vogue of sport departments.

The first ghost team choice of 1920 appears in the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin as follows: First team: ends, Weston, Wisconsin and Urban, Boston College; tackles, Keck, Princetown and Sonnenberg, Dartmouth; guards, Dune, Michigan, and Depler, Illinois; center, Havemeyer, Harvard; halfbacks, Gipp, Notre Dame and Davies, Pittsburg; quarter, Lourie, Princeton; and French, Army fullback.

The second team: ends, Robertson, Syracuse and Carroll, Washington and Jefferson; tackles, Fincher, Georgia Tech and King, Navy; guards, Griffiths, Penn State, and Woods, Harvard, center, Alexander, Syracuse; halfbacks, Oss, Minnesota, and Way, Penn State; quarterback, McMillan, Center; and Crangle, Illinois, fullback.

This puts three conference players in the All-American honors. Depler, captain and center of Illinois is shifted to guard on the first team and Oss, Minnesota, and Crangle, Illinois, are placed at half and fullback on the second team.

Slater of Iowa received a complimentary mention as being a powerful tackle and A. Devine is mentioned high among a legion of quarterbacks. Other conference men mentioned honorably are Hoffman of Ohio State as a lineman, Bob Fletcher of Illinois, Workman of Ohio State as quarterbacks, Stinchomb of Ohio State as halfback, and Crangle of Illinois as fullback.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ORGANIZATIONS TO AID KIDDIES

The inter-denominational crippled kiddies' Sunday school, which has been organized for the last four years, has extended its scope of service to all the crippled children in all the state hospitals in Iowa City. The Sunday school is divided into three main divisions: one at the Perkins hospital, one at the Convalescent home, and one at the main University hospital. More than 165 crippled children are attending these Sunday schools according to an announcement made by the student organizations in the churches which are in charge of the Sunday school.

At present the teaching staff is composed of Thomas Roche S3 of Iowa City, Esther Mackintosh A4 of Iowa City, Esther E. Sharpe A3 of Hampton, Dorothy Brooks A2 of Tiffin, Lester Heckman S1 of Anita, Josephine Bockwoldt A1 of Galva, Ruth Wolcott M1 of Hawarden, Mable Trueblood A2 of Belle Plaine, Fersis Carney A1 of Greene, Myrtle Cheadle A2 West Side, Verna Van Dorne A1 of Grimes, Irene Lewis of Iowa City, Daniel Sinclair A3 of Alton, Dwight Kinsey A1 of Grimes, and John E. Adams A3 of Cedar Rapids. It is planned to increase the staff to twenty-five.

Officers of the Sunday school organization will be elected next Sunday. A constitution will also be adopted. It is planned to give entertainments for the crippled children at different times during the year. The aim of the Sunday school is to educate the crippled children along religious and moral lines, so that when they return home they will have the desire to continue their religious education. The work of the organization is conducted through the student pastors and the young peoples' organizations in the different churches.

STUDENT HEALTH CALLS AVERAGE THIRTY-TWO A DAY

"University students examined so far this year seem to be in better physical condition than those examined in previous years," said Dr. W. J. McDonald, director of student health, when asked how the general health of the new students compared with the condition of the incoming students in former years.

"Not only are they in slightly better physical condition, but they are also making more use of the department," continued the doctor. "More people are coming to the department for advice than did last year, and the department is fully able to handle them." The doctor then pointed out that only students taking physical training and military training are given an examination, but said that the department would eventually like to give physical examinations to all students of the University. There are seven persons employed in the student health department and it is believed that this number would be sufficient to carry on such examinations if the policy was adopted.

So far this year there have been 592 men examined and 776 women. This leaves only one small group yet to be examined. This number will be taken care of this week according to Dr. McDonald.

Calls at the office for medical attention average thirty-two per day except on Sundays when only four or five people report. "A large number of those are coming of their own accord, however," said Dr. McDonald. The ailments for which these students are being treated are numerous with no certain trouble prevailing. Those who are required to report are troubled with diseases of the skin, heart, tonsils, eyes and a few infectious disturbances.

During the month of October there was a total of twenty-eight, University men and women in the hospital. This number included patients in the isolation hospital.

"UNDER COVER" TO BE PLAYED

Philo-Thonet Society To Stage Comedy March 2.

Philomathean and Octave Thanet literary societies will present "Under Cover," by R Cooper Megrue for their annual play, according to Norman V. Sherwin, chairman of the play committee. The date set for presentation is March 2.

Plans for the tryouts will be worked out this week, with Romola H. Latchem of the University elementary school in charge of the coaching.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM CLOSES 1920 SEASON

Cross country came to an abrupt close last week with the failure of the athletic board to appropriate any money for sending the team to Urbana at the conference cross country meet. The action of the board was due primarily to the lack of interest shown in the sport during the present season, and not to the showing that the team has made.

"While the season has not been particularly bright from the points gained," said Coach M. F. Carpenter, "we have reasons to feel proud of the accomplishment when we take into consideration the dearth of competition under which the team had to work."

With the possible exception of Ristine who has broken the Iowa cross country record, letters will not be awarded the team, as one of the requirements is that it must win at least one meet. Iowa was nosed out by both Cornell and Minnesota meets by three or four points.

The men who compose the Iowa squad are as follows: Arthur G. Kruse (captain) A4 of Dysart, Lester V. Peterman A3 of Iowa City, Leonard P. Ristine M1 of Maquoketa, Theodore D. Berjegerdes A2 of Manly, Frederick M. Miller L2 of Des Moines, and Harold H. Murray D2 of Buffalo Center. No arrangements have yet been made toward the election of a captain for the 1921 season.

CHRISTMAS SEALS TO BE SOLD

The annual Christmas seal sale of the Iowa Tuberculosis Association will start about the first week in December. The following committee will have charge of the University sales: R. W. Chaney, chairman, Mrs. R. B. Wiley and Dr. Mary K. Heard. The proceeds from this sale will be used in fighting tuberculosis in the state of Iowa.

THOMPSON TO READ PAPER

Humanist Society To Meet Nov. 29 at Malsby Home

Professor E. N. S. Thompson, of the English department, will read a paper on "Some Phases of the Mysticism in the Poetry of the Seventeenth Century" at the next meeting of the Humanist society to be held November 29 at the home of Prof. William S. Malsby.

"The Humanist society is composed of members of the faculty who are interested in the study of language, literature and the fine arts. Only faculty members who are voted in are active members, but their wives and husbands may attend the meetings. At each meeting a member reads a paper upon the subject in which he is most interested, after which the paper is open to discussion, according to Professor Thompson.

The society has fifty members this year. Prof. B. L. Ullman, head of the latin department, is president and Miss Olive Kay Martin of the French department, is secretary. Some of the charter members of the society which was formed in 1897 as the Whitney society were: the late Dean A. N. Currier, Prof. Charles B. Wilson, head of the German department and Prof. F.

H. Potter of the Latin department. In 1907 the present name, Humanist society, was adopted.

DOCTOR AURNER PUBLISHES NEW BOOK ON IOWA

The State Historical Society of Iowa has just distributed the fifth volume of the "History of Education in Iowa," by C. R. Aurner. Prof. Aurner is an alumnus of Iowa State Teachers College and holds three degrees, one of which is the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Iowa. This volume which is now being distributed includes brief accounts of the history of five types of state educational or semi-educational institutions in Iowa: the College for the Blind, the School for the Deaf, the Soldiers Orphans Home, the Reform Schools, and the Institution for the Feeble-Minded. The author dwells mainly upon the educational and social phases of the history of these institutions.

The four previous volumes of this monumental work deal with the following aspects of education: volumes I and II, the common schools of Iowa; Volume III, the history of secondary education in Iowa; Volume IV the history of the three state institutions of higher learning in Iowa, viz, the University of Iowa, the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, and the Iowa State Teachers College at Cedar Falls.
