MEN PLAY HARD FOR BERTH WITH BASKET TOSSERS

Coaches Still Urge Men With Basketball Ability to Come Out and Try For Places

CALL FOR FROSH NEXT WEEK

Dyke, Postman, and Tiede Are Competing for Center Position—Sixteen Are Working Out for Guards—Fifteen For Forwards—Jenkins To Coach Freshmen

After Coach Ashmore gets a line on the varsity players, a call will be sent out for freshmen basketball material. The call will probably come next week. Jenkins, who was assistant to Jones during the football season, will take charge of the yearlings. One of the doubtful varsity positions to be filled is center. Dyke, Postman, and Tiede have had the edge on the job so far. All present the necessary height for that position.

Seven Try at Center

Kaufmann, Frohwein, G. Devine, Prentiss, Barnes, Klatt, Ty Smith, Voltmer, Smith, Griffith, Lee, Zell, Newcomb, Herman, Murray, and Hicks are working out for guard.

A. Devine, Shimek, Ehresman, Burgitt, Lindsay, Lohman, Anderson, Kepler, Emmert, McGovney, Thomas, Hurlburt, Gernerding, Reimer, and Greene are working for the forward positions, and Postman, Dyke, Tiede, Jebens, Leo, Matthey, and Olsor are competing for center.

Varsity Workout Twice

Teamwork practice, basket shooting and regular scrimmage are the program for nightly basketball workouts. An average of forty aspirants are out nightly, which includes nearly all last year's squad and a number of sophomores.

The varsity squad which is still in the formative state was given two workouts last night. Kaufmann and A. Devine played at guard and forward with Postma at center, Frohwein, the other guard, and Burgitt at forward with Aubrey.

Team Improves

The varsity positions with the exception of the three last year's regulars have been round-robin berths with everyone getting a chance at them so far. A tentative varsity squad will probably be picked before the freshmen are called out.

The team shows gradual improvement as practice continues although there is no reason to expect any brilliant delivery from the present showing. Coaches urge anyone of basketball ability to come out although the season has been under way for several weeks.

QUAD MEN HEAR PROF. LAUER

First Lecture of Lyceum Course Held Sunday Afternoon

Prof. Edward H. Lauer gave the first talk of the lyceum course at the Quadrangle, Sunday afternoon, on the subject, "The Effect of Betting on School Spirit." He outlined very clearly the injurious effect betting has had on the spirit of the participants, and mentioned several instances in eastern universities, where the captains of teams had requested that there be no betting on the games. This is a much-debated subject at the present time, in many of the schools, both eastern and western, and Professor Lauer urged that the men come to some decision on the matter. Ben W. Robinson, president of the Quadrangle association, outlined the plan for discussion groups at the close of the lecture. These groups will meet Wednesday evenings, following a Sunday lecture of the lyceum course.

WEATHER FORECAST

Thursday, December 2—Generally fair. Colder in east portions.

HOP COMMITTEE TO BE CHOSEN BY PRESIDENTS

Hoffman A4 of Ida Grove. Hoffman, according to the constitution of the senior class is temporary chairman of the organization until a president is elected.

The appointing of all senior committees, including the senior hop committee will be considered at this meeting. The senior hop committee is to be appointed by the organization and not by any one individual, according to the constitution and is to consist of six representatives from the college of liberal arts and two representatives from each of the other colleges on the campus.

Nelson A4 of Boone on the social committee.

Membership in this sorority requires a B average and A major in the school of commerce. Only juniors and seniors are eligible. The members are also chosen from representative women who are interested in activities outside of their own department. The meetings are held regularly every other Tuesday.

COUNCIL TO ASK FOR EXTENSION OF JURISDICTION

Committee Appointed Last Night Will Attempt to Define Limit of Authority

WANT POWER TO EXPEL

Permission to Act in Matters Now Under Control of Social Committee Will Also Be Asked—Nye, Baldrige, and Doolittle on Committee—To Consult Faculty

Authority to expel students from the University, and jurisdiction of all matters now handled by the social committee, will be asked of the faculty by a committee appointed by Clarence E. Baldrige M4 of Strawberry Point, president of the student council, at its meeting held last evening in the office of President Walter A. Jessup.

Baldrige said further that an attempt will be made by the committee to find out the attitude of the faculty toward the council, and to gain an idea of the limits of the authority of the student council, by asking the faculty to recognize the authority.

"The council is only existing as an organization without definite work at the present time. About all the power we now have is to take charge of University elections," was the statement made by Edmund J. Harrington D3 of Sioux City.

The committee appointed was William E. Nye D4 of Ida Grove, Clarence E. Baldrige, and Clyde H. Doolittle L3 of Delhi.

At this meeting it was also decided not to hold a football banquet this year, because the banquet was not believed a success last year.

SEALS AND EELS ARE GUESTS OF AQUATIC ARTIST

Miss Annette Kellerman, world champion woman swimmer, was elected to honorary membership in the Seals club at their meeting last night.

The Eels and the Seals clubs, the honorary men's and women's swimming organizations, were the guests of Miss Kellerman at a box party at her first performance in Iowa City last evening.

Miss Kellerman wired the invitation from Chicago to the manager of the theater yesterday noon. The tickets were sent to Helen Hayes A3 of Iowa City, president of the Seal club.

The two aquatic clubs sent an invitation to Miss Kellerman to entertain her during her stay in Iowa City. The time and manner of the party has not been decided as yet. Members of both clubs met Miss Kellerman after her performance and presented her with flowers.

800 SUBSCRIBE FOR 1922 HAWKEYES ON FIRST DRIVE

Dwight G. Rider L1 of Waterloo, business manager of the 1922 Hawkeye, estimated last night that 800 subscriptions to the 1922 annual had been sold in the first day of the four days' campaign began yesterday. "This estimate is based on the sales in all the colleges, but does not include those in the various organizations and groups," said Rider. This figure is good for the opening day, but it is not as high as I had wished for, and renewed efforts will be made tomorrow so that the goal of 2,500 subscriptions can be reached by Saturday night.

Raymond Peterson A2 of Council Bluffs, who has charge of the campaign in the liberal arts college, placed the sales in his department at 300 for the first day.

CHEEK TO CHEEK DANCES ARE TO BE ABOLISHED

Plans for carrying out the action by the Women's council against cheek to cheek dancing at Saturday afternoon varsity are being made by Mrs. Nellie S. Arner, dean of women, and the student council.

The chaperons will take the names of those who dance cheek to cheek and they will be called before Dean Arner. Upon the second offense they will have to appear before the student council and will not be admitted again to Saturday afternoon varsity, according to the plans of the Women's council.

Up to this time the offending couples were reprimanded by the chaperons and asked to leave the floor. More drastic means are being taken and be continued until cheek to cheek dancing is abolished, Dean Arner said.

DEBATE PLANS ARE COMPLETE

Iowa Affirmative Team to Debate Here—Negative Team to Meet Illinois at Urbana

Final arrangements have been made for the annual triangular debates to be held December 10, among the universities of Iowa, Minnesota, and Illinois. The Iowa affirmative team composed of Max A. Conrad L2 of Burlington, James H. Van Law A3 of Marshalltown and Carl B. Kreiner A2 of Ottumwa will debate the Minnesota negative here. The Iowa negative team composed of Abram DeVaul L1 of Albert City, DeWitt H. Smith L1 of Clarence, and William P. Berghuis A3 of Sioux Center will debate the Illinois affirmative at Urbana. The Minnesota affirmative team will debate the Illinois negative team at Minneapolis.

The question for discussion will be Resolved: That the Japanese Should be Excluded From the United States by an Act of Congress Similar in Essential Details to the Chinese Exclusion Act. Prof. Edward C. Mabie will coach the teams.

The Iowa-Minnesota debate will be held at 7:45 in the natural science auditorium. This debate and all of the other debates this year will be judgeless. After the debate an open forum discussion will be held in which anyone present may take part. Previous to this year the debates have been judged, but due to the inconveniences and dissatisfactions met with in the judges contest it was voted by the three universities concerned to hold open forum debates. The Iowa-Nebraska debate of last year was of the open forum type.

All members of the debating teams will be eligible to Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity. They will also be awarded the Lowden prize of $50.00 for taking part in intercollegiate debate. Max A. Conrad and William P. Berghuis have had one year's experience in intercollegiate debating and are members of Delta Sigma Rho.

Kampmer, supervisor of the orthopedic operating room and Edith Sale of the University hospital staff.

PRODUCTION AT CEDAR RAPIDS IS CANCELLED

"Her Husband's Wife" Lacks Adequate Backing For First Engagement Scheduled

BOONE AND NEWTON ARE SURE

Union Managers Report Promise of Success in Both of Other Out of Town Presentations—Seat Sale Not Pushed at Cedar Rapids—Grassfield Did Not Want Deficit

Failure of some Cedar Rapids representatives to push the sale of tickets for "Her Husband's Wife," scheduled for production by The University players at Greene's theater, Cedar Rapids, last night, resulted in a cancellation of the engagement yesterday morning.

A report to Ralph G. Grassfield, director of the Iowa Memorial Union, who is arranging out of town appearances of the Players, showed that only about forty seats had been sold yesterday morning, and rather than incur a possibility of deficit on the trip, he decided to suspend all arrangements for the production.

Ruth Rogers field secretary of the Memorial Union reports that plans are under way at Boone for the presentation of "Her Husband's Wife," on the night of Friday, December 3, and Mr. Grassfield promises productions both at Boone and at Newton. The Newton date is December 9. Mr. Grassfield has been making arrangements in person for that engagement and says that support of the play is assured.

Under present arrangements, net proceeds from the two productions are to be divided between the University Players, and the Memorial Union, under whose direction the routing of the Players is made.

CHEEK TO CHEEK AND SOCIAL TACT

Roughly speaking, everyone over twenty-five years of age in the University community is scandalized at the prevailing mode of dancing. The cheek to cheek hold is a burning question. Now it may be that cheek to cheek dancing as many of its followers insist is merely the same sort of development over the 1918 and the 1919 styles as practised hereabouts as was the waltz over the quadrille. If so, a truly King Canutish task confronts the abolitioners thereof.

On the other hand, the critics of this latest young man's delight may be absolutely right. In that case, what is to be done? One thing is evident and that is that no young man can dance cheek to cheek with a young woman against that young woman's will. And, in the same way, any mother is safe in letting her son go to Varsity if said son is determined that no sweet young thing is going to cuddle her face up against his while the crowd surges around him and the jazzing of the saxophone is heard throughout the hall.

It seems to follow, then, that the best way to stop cheek to cheek dancing would be to kill the desire for same—if a low grade business expression may be pardoned—in the minds of all or at least half the University's dancing population. This process of slaying the desire seems to be well on its way toward accomplishment among the minds of our fair co-eds. Almost any young woman will tell you, if asked, that she does not care for cheek to cheek dancing.

Here is where the real point of the question lies. For, all these young women who do not care for cheek to cheek dancing dance cheek to cheek two nights a week with any dashing dater who will invite them to step out. The reason the aforesaid young woman allows the also aforesaid dashing dater to indulge his passion for the cheek to cheek stuff is because she does not know how to stop him without losing to some rather marked degree his affections or at any rate his attentions.

If all this is true so far the answer lies plain. Teach the young women how to rebuff an incipient cheek to cheeker in so tactful a manner that the little man will still be just as eager for a date the next week. All it takes is social tact on the part of the young women.

A DAY IN THE YEAR

Trouble enough! A little white bed on Christmas. Other boys and other girls, straight-limbed, red-faced, teasing, obtuse, nervous, wholesome, looking to the holidays, harboring notions of sleds, skates, guns, and hockey sticks.

But, trouble enough! A little white bed, hospital walls, a plaster cast, crutches, straps, braces, doctors, nurses—what is Christmas, anyway? Christmas—one day in the year, unselfishness, charity, sympathy, happiness, real happiness, happiness of service, love, magnanimity.

A Christmas box for a little fellow in a little white bed—fruit, a book, a jumping jack—a little money, a little trouble—no trouble enough!

I read finance reports with glee And note that each commodity Is dropping off consistently And ponder what the end will be.

The economic artists claim That marts an even keel manitain; When down goes cotton, down comes grain And money value climbs again.

However market prices rate, One two-gun unregenerate Is reaping profits from my pate; The barber, darn him, thinks I'm bait.

For every time he trims my crown, I pay this cutting, clipping clown, A sum to make old Croesus frown, My six bits barberward is flown.

A Note on Cheek to Cheek Dancing Since Dean Aurner has said that it shall not be done, of course it shan't and the only thing for us to do now is to strike a nice undergraduate philosophical attitude and tell ourselves that after all the harm resultant from such a mode of intimacy is too great a price in payment for so little pleasure. For instance every girl knows that nothing is so unpleasant as a rough face; and it is obvious that immediate contact with an unshaven cheek is disastrous to a skin that "he has always loved to touch."... Indeed we believe that if a young woman could be persuaded that cheek-to-cheek dancing endangers the perfection of her facial beauty the authorities would have no more trouble.

By dancing the cheek method with any degree of regularity, a young woman will ultimately wear away the natural aspect of her face until it bears absolutely no similarity to the other side. What could be more horrible than the girl whose profile made her appear two distinct and separate individuals?

in sunday's paper you published the same identical paragraph twice once in your column and once under an editorial i object to this once is enough sincerely ray Helas!

'Twas the Shifter's club that brought all this criticism from Dean

Aurner upon us. They encouraged "closer relations between the men and the women."

The girl who is ten inches shorter than her dancing partner will never be reprimanded for cheek-to-cheek dancing.

How high do you stand with your girl?

H. A.

WHILE AT HOME

The proposition of an Iowa Memorial Union building meets with favor everywhere. Students and friends of the University all over the state understand that the building will be one to house campus organizations; that it will have rooms for the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A., for the literary societies and clubs, and that it will be a community center for dancing parties and good times.

This is all true, but it is only a part of the truth. The fundamental aims of the Union, its ideals, are more far-reaching than that. Among other things, it has in view Americanization and training for citizenship and will foster an educational program along these lines. The college man often becomes a leader in his community and the Memorial Union proposes to train the students of the University to introduce the proper type of leadership for the communities in which they will work.

The Christmas holidays are approaching and Iowa students will return for vacation to practically every town in the state. This should be an admirable opportunity to tell the folks and friends of the University at home what we propose to do here. The men's glee club and the University Players will appear in other cities over the state to bring the matter before the people, but they cannot reach every town. It is left for the individual student to arouse greater interests in all parts of the state and to explain its aim and scope in a way that will lead every person to realize his responsibility for its success.

TAKING AN INTEREST

The social committee election last Friday is a grand example of that old adage "united we stand, divided we fall". The election was one of the biggest failures that has taken place in the history of University elections. The failure seems mostly due to the fact that one college was determined to poll as few votes as possible in the other colleges and thus get their candidates elected, without a thought as to the purpose or efficiency of the committee after it was elected.

The social committee is supposed to be a representative group of students with the ability to intelligently regulate the social affairs of the University. The present committee is anything but a representative committee. What group of men is competent to say just what social rules the women of the University shall adhere to when the women are not allowed a chance to present their case?

The object of the University officials in establishing a social committee was to get the cooperation of the students in enforcing the social regulations of the University. This object is being defeated and the efficiency of the committee diminished by the lack of interest shown by the students in elections of this kind. Why not forget college lines and work for the good of the student body in the future?

NUMBER TAKING FRENCH AND SPANISH DOUBLE IN TWO YEARS

During the past three years there has been a remarkable growth in the number of students majoring in the department of Romance languages, according to Prof. Stephen H. Bush, head of the department. Nearly 1525 students are now registered in Romance language courses. Of this number 1000 are taking French and more than 500 are in the Spanish classes.

Advanced classes have grown with great rapidity, Professor Bush said. There are 85 students taking a seminar in French literature of the sixteenth century, and a large class is enrolled in the Spanish ballad. Novel and drama are also studied in advanced Spanish courses.

The French House, which was organized for students who major in French, was a great success last summer, and it will be instituted again this time as a permanent plan running throughout the year. A Spanish House will also be started in the same plan next summer, according to Professor Bush.

In 1905, 176 students were taking French or Spanish. In 1914 the number increased to 432 and in 1918 there were 831, and at the present time there are about seven hundred more than in 1918 showing nearly a doubling in two years.

There has been during the past three years a sudden growth in the number of students majoring in Romance languages during the past three years is probably due to the fact that there is a great demand for teachers of French and Spanish, not only in Iowa, but all over the country. Professor Bush said. In fact French classes have had to be taught by teachers who have had practically no French at all. All students who majored in Romance languages during these past years have secured good positions in high schools and colleges, without difficulty. For the same reason graduate work has developed with equal rapidity.

STUDENTS IN SOCIAL SCIENCES ORGANIZE NEW STUDY CLUB

AMERICAN WOMEN ARE BEST SWIMMERS, SAYS KELLERMAN

"American women are the greatest swimmers in the world," said Annette Kellerman last evening. "When I came to America I was astonished to find the way they dressed for swimming—how could they expect to swim in those skirts and bloomers? American women take more interest and they have more persistency than other women. Any woman can learn to swim. Those who say they can not suffer from mental timidity. I was timid. I had to have seventeen to eighteen lessons while my sister," she pointed to the woman seated beside her, "had only four, and my two brothers had three or four."

"Gymnastics of all kinds are good for women. Every woman should take some form of gymnastic work regularly."

Her black English pug-dog leaped up into her lap. Miss Kellerman cuddled him up to her.

"My ambition in life is to play mixed doubles with Brooks when I go home in March. I have never been home since I came to America. Tennis is very popular in Australia. I used to play golf, but when I was in California everybody kidded me along saying tennis was everything—and I threw golf over just that quick. I played with all the champions which was excellent coaching. I even have a board put up against that tank so I can practice serving when I am on the road," she pointed at the $5000 diving tank on the stage which is made of imported Belgian plate glass and weighs thirty tons.

"I like all kinds of out door sports. I like singing. I would have liked to have been a great singer. I have studied voice and play a little—but not like I would like to," she concluded quietly.

"What do you think of cheek-to-cheek adncing?" "Cheek-to-cheek dancing? What do you mean?" Miss Kellerman looked puzzled and rubbed her cheek. "Like this—a girl dancing with her cheek against a man's? Why I never heard of it. Why don't they just go out in the lobby and spoon!" she exclaimed in amazement.

Annette Kellerman was born at Sydney, New South Wales, Australia, of Austrian-French parents. Her limbs became deformed from standing on her feet too early and she had to wear iron braces. When she was five years old she began to take swimming lessons and exercise in calisthenics. Eight years later her legs were practically straight. As Australia offered no possibilities in sports her father took her to England. Finally a chance to swim the English Channel was offered by the sporting editor of the "Daily Mirror." Of the seven that started to swim the Channel she swam the farthest. Today Miss Kellerman has the woman's record of swimming three quarters of the way across.

After making a record for herself in long distance swimming she spent the winter at the London Hippodrome. The following spring she and her father came to America where she made a reputation as a water-feat artist at White City Park in Chicago. Beginning with this contract she began to make good money steadily.

Miss Kellerman next appeared in vaudeville for two years and a half. When the attraction for the diving feat slumped she turned to the movies. Her first screen appearance was in "Neptune's Daughter"; the second "A Daughter of the Gods." From 1917-18 she appeared at the New York Hippodrome. Then she went into the movies again starring in the "Queen of the Sea." Then from vaudeville back to the screen in the production, "What Women Love." Miss Kellerman has been touring the Orpheum according to Mr. James R. Sullivan, manager.

Miss Kellerman was married to Mr. Sullivan in 1912. Their home is in Long Island.

There are no cases of influenza at present, but there is no certainty that the epidemic will not recur. It is prevalent in the East, but there are as yet no indications of a country wide spread.

WOMEN IN PRIVATE HOUSES TO HAVE HOUSE PRESIDENTS

That every house in which there are five or more women adopt house rules and elect a president, was decided at the meeting of the district captains of the Women's council Tuesday night. These presidents will be the connecting link between the women of the University and council and will have as their duty the calling of house meetings. "If this method proves successful it will mean one more step toward student government," said Margaret Holmes A4 of Whiting, president of the Women's council.

Plans for class parties will be made soon by the council. These parties will be big social events but will in no way interfere with present class parties. Attendance at these parties will be limited to members of the class only.
