COMPETITION IN BASKETBALL IS GROWING KEENER

Longer Scrimmage Given to the Seven Teams at Work Last Night

SQUAD TO BE CUT DOWN SOON

Kadesky Enters Race for Guard Position—Dyke, Postma, and Tiede Running Close For Center—Freshmen May Be Called out Next Tuesday—Team Work Grows

Competition for positions on the basketball team gets keener each evening as the players get in condition, although the workouts are still characteristic of the first of the season. Seven teams were out last night and each set was given a little longer period of scrimmage than usual as the players' wind grew better. A cutting down of the squad will not take place for two weeks yet; at least not before Coach Ashmore has given each candidate a chance to show his speed.

The call for freshmen will be made next week, probably Tuesday night, according to arrangements that are made for the use of the gymnasium. Announcement will be made Tuesday morning as to where the first year men are expected to report.

Kadesky appeared in suit again last night and added to the race for the vacant guard position. Froheim worked with Capt. Kaufmann at the open guard and Dyke played center. The hardest battle of the early part of the season will be at center, and there are only a few candidates who possess the qualities necessary. Dyke has the size and the most experience of the three likely candidates. Postma is a sophomore and who has plenty of length and speed while Tiede is a hard fighter.

A similar battle will go on for the open guard. Froheim has had the edge on the place this week but he has some keen competition in Prentiss, Klatt, Voltmer, Ty Smith, and G. Devine.

There is plenty of mediocre ability out but so far none has shown any particular individual traits or marked brilliancy. Teamwork is developing slowly as is basket shooting, but floor-work is far below the average.

Ehresman playing on the red sweater squad, flashed out last night and pulled off six baskets in rapid succession. The red sweater squad is the second string, as red jerseys have been issued to distinguish the players. The squad will workout at 2 this afternoon.

GALOSHES AND OXFORDS ARE IN FAVOR AT IOWA

Oxfords are selling two to one in comparison with shoes this winter according to the average sales made to University women by the Iowa City shoe dealers.

The wearing of oxfords during the winter may be a fad or it may be a time saving proposition. A young woman can sleep five minutes longer each morning, and she need not worry about being late to class following gym if she wears oxfords.

The snow will bring the galoshes clumping over the campus regardless of the increase of the price to $4.75.

Two models of galoshes are shown this season, the three buckled and the buttoned. Either of these may be worn unfastened; however, the buckled will undoubtedly be the most popular as it will flop to the best advantage. One shoe dealer said, "If I see a University woman going past with her galoshes unfastened this winter, I am going to tell her to come in and I will fasten them for her."

WEATHER FORECAST

Saturday December 4—Generally fair. Southwest portion slightly colder.

HAWKEYE SALES CAMPAIGN OPEN UNTIL NEXT WEEK

The subscription campaign for the 1922 Hawkeye will be continued until next week, according to Dwight G. Rider L1 of Waterloo, business manager of the annual. The sales campaign has progressed slowly, especially in the professional colleges.

Mr. Rider announced that few extra copies will be ordered this year due to the rise in prices and that many students who do not order their book now will be disappointed when they are ready for delivery in the spring.

REGISTER SEEKS TYPICAL WOMAN

All-round Iowa and Ames Women to Be Selected For Rotogravure Section

Who is the typical Iowa woman? A woman who dances, dates, takes part in athletics, and extra-curricular activities and still finds time to be a student? . . . a woman who epitomizes all the impressions that come to mind when we hear, "She's a University of Iowa woman?" If there is, the Des Moines Register wants to find her.

They want to make her happy by printing her picture, along with that of her counterpart from Ames, in the rotogravure section of the Sunday Register under the title "The Typical Iowa Woman."

In order to find her they have arranged for a contest to be carried out as follows: First, a five dollar prize is to be given to the Iowa student writing the best short essay, or poem describing the Iowa woman, the winning essay or poem to be selected by a committee chosen by the Daily Iowan.

Second, the winning article is to be printed in the Iowan and the names of the women whom the student body thinks are best fitted to the description, are handed into the Iowan committee. These names are to be counted and the winning woman's picture is to appear in the Des Moines Register.

The idea of a general student vote on the candidates was rejected by the Register because of experience in the past when cliques have voted together and defeated the real purpose of the vote.

In speaking of the contest Gladys Denny Schultz, Sunday editor of the Register said, "I was up to Ames a short time ago and overheard one or two Ames women laughing about the 'Ames girl stride', occasioned by the fact that the women have so much ground to cover between classes. It occurred to me that it would be interesting to find the typical Iowa woman and the typical Ames woman—not the prettiest necessarily, or the smartest, but the one who would most nearly epitomize the spirit of the school."

In further remarks she emphasized that in no way was there any contest between the two schools.

Since high speed is necessary to get the contest completed by Christmas, the essays and verse characterizing the Iowa woman should be left in the Iowan office at once, care of the feature editor. A time limit will be set later.

In the meantime Iowa women can be practicing their smiles, athletic poses, and intimate evening gown effects.

HOWLING 300 ARE GUESTS OF MCKENZIE AT ENGLERT

All members of the Howling 300 were the guests of William McKenzie, manager of the Englert theater at the Annette Kellerman performances on Wednesday and Thursday nights. "The members of the club certainly enjoyed the performances," said John J. Dondore A3 of Iowa City, president of the organization, "and wish to express their thanks to Mr. McKenzie for the courtesy."

VARSITY HEAD IS ADVERSE TO CHEEK DANCES

Guy C. Ogle, Manager of Varsity, Wants to Cooperate in Stopping Fad

SAYS JAZZ MUSIC IS GOING

Manager Announces that Orchestra Has Quit Using Jazz Effects—Disliked Cheek to Cheek From the First—Commends Stand of Women's Council

Desire to cooperate with the women's association and the dean of women in putting a stop to cheek to cheek dancing in the University, was expressed by Guy Ogle, Varsity dance manager last night.

"We have always disliked the cheek to cheek dance," Mr. Ogle said, "and are glad of an opportunity to help put it down. Our chaperones have been instructed to caution and report all offenders on the floor."

Mr. Ogle says that jazz music is a thing of the past. "We have not played jazz for some time," he said. "It is going. The modern dance music is lively but is not jazz."

Commendation of the start made by the women's council in ridding local dances of the cheek to cheek was expressed by Mr. Ogle. "The women's stand on Saturday afternoon dances had had a good influence," he said.

"Those who use the cheek to cheek dance are decidedly in the minority," he said, and added, "We want them cautioned and reported if it seems necessary, and this type of dancing done away with."

MEADER TO GIVE VARIED PROGRAM

Songs from Italian, German, English, and French Schools Will Be Sung

The program of Mr. George Meader's concert in the natural science auditorium Tuesday evening, December 7, at 8:15, promises to be an enjoyable evening to lovers of good music. Mr. Meader's voice and intelligence fit him to interpret artistically both classical and modern songs.

His program begins with two arias in the Italian style, includes representative songs of the French and German schools, and a group of English songs. The program is as follows: "Aria, Odel mio dolce ardor"—Gluck; "Aria, Il miosero intento" (Don Giovanni)—Mozart; "Hidden Tcars"—Schumann; "Farewell"—Franz; "The Message"—Brahms; "Serenade"—Strauss.

"La Procession"—Franck; "Extase"—Duparc; "Vilanelle"—Berlioz; "Pale Moon"—Logan; "Tears of God" (first time and dedicated to Mr. Meader)—Dent Mowry; "The Blind Plowman"—Clarke; "My Dreams"—Trosti; "Ah! Moon of My Delight" (in a Persian garden)—Lehmann.

Tickets for the concert are on sale now at the bookstores, music stores, and Whetstone's. The price is $1.00 and reservations may be made at the office of the school of music in the Dey building next Monday, December 6.

"CHINA" IS WESLEY PROGRAM

Wesley club will meet at the home of Rev. L. G. Rohrbaugh, 120 N. Clinton St. this evening at 7 o'clock. The meeting will last one hour. The program of study has to do with China. Mr. Liu, Mr. Kiang, and Miss Fong will give short talks on the political, educational and religious life of China. The Chinese girls will sing several Chinese songs. The meeting is open to all students.

SEALS AND EELS WILL SWIM TODAY FOR MISS KELLERMAN

The Seals and Eels, the women's and men's aquatic clubs will give a swimming exhibition this afternoon at 3 o'clock in the men's swimming pool in honor of Miss Annette Kellerman. The clubs will put on the same program which includes fancy diving, stunts and races for the general public December 8. After the exhibition, the clubs will give a dinner in honor of Miss Kellerman at the Pagoda Tea Shop.

FORTY PRACTICE FOR ORCHESTRA

Dr. Van Doren Will Name Positions After Holidays—Musicians To Give Concert

Positions in the University orchestra for the current school year have not yet been named, but a selection will be made in order to keep the parts of the orchestra well-balanced and to maintain a high standard of ability in the organization, according to Dr. Orie E. Van Doren, conductor of the orchestra.

"A selection will be made," said Dr. Van Doren yesterday, "but it is probable that it will not take place until after the holidays." According to present plans, the orchestra will give a concert early next spring before the Music Study club which is made up of all those in both the University and city, who are especially interested in music. The program will consist entirely of Scandinavian music.

Dr. Van Doren says that the orchestra is very well-balanced at the present time and that about forty are reporting for the regular rehearsals on Thursday nights.

Those who are in the orchestra as it now stands are: Charles A. Nicoll A1 of Clinton; Sidney C. Barrows A3 of Lamoni; Wilma G. Stone A3 of Anita; Clarence E. Bennett A3 of Reinbeck; Harry F. Larson Au of Sioux City; Russel L. Austin P2 of Wilton; Jilma Walker A2 of Newton; Mary J. Forbes A2 of Pine River, Minn.; Helen Roberts A2 of Perry.

Leora A. Ashbacher A1 of Waukon; Eugene R. Zacker A2 of Clinton; Theodore Hartman S3 of Cedar Rapids; Hezel N. Chapman Asp of Bagley; Flinch I. Wagner A1 of Faulkner; Myrtle A. Sellman A2 of Sibley; Hiram A. Coffee A2 of Decorah; Esther G. Heffner D4 of Dubuque; Thelma B. Graves A4 of Clarksburg, W. Va.; Frances Smith A2 of Montezuma; Virgil Manes S1 of Quincy, Ill.

Dewey L. Smith A4 of Columbus Junction; Pearl Zimmer of Iowa City; Chester E. Leese A3 of Clinton; William H. Warner S2 of Tripoli; Louis P. Kock A4 of Fort Madison; Elsie M. Katz A4 of Dubuque; H. Russel Seairight A1 of Odebolt; Edward D. Risser G. of Des Moines; Erwin C. Hardwig A1 of Waverly; Harry E. Stinson A4 of Winfield; Charles L. Moon A2 of Des Moines; Marguerite E. Krampe A2 of Nora Springs; Lloyd W. Swords Au of Iowa City; and L. A. Smith S1 of Spencer.

LIBRARY DISPLAYS PUPPETS

Dolls From Java Are Given to Museum by Student

The two wooden puppets which were presented to the museum of art and archaeology by K. Teck Lee A3 of Batavia, Java, are on exhibit in the University library trophy case which is near the general desk.

These puppets represent heroes in ancient legends. Their heads are elaborately carved and painted in a grotesque manner. The bodies are jointed, and are dressed in bright colored cotton material. These puppets were used in Java.

K. Teck Lee left the University last week to spend six months with his parents in Java. He has been in the States for the last five years.

VALUABLE TUSKS OF IVORY TAKEN OUT OF MUSEUM

Attorney Miller Says Theft Is Five or Ten Year Penitentiary Offense

THREE WALRUSES ROBBED

Exhibit Brought to The University From the North by Peary—Mounted by Professor Dill—No Trace of Culprit—Tusks to be Replaced by Plaster of Paris

The worst case of museum destruction in the history of the University occurred within the last two days when the tusks of the mounted walruses in the exhibit in Mammal hall were discovered mutilated and missing by one of the University janitors yesterday morning.

The tusks of the smallest specimen were discovered to have been completely torn out and were unable to be found. The tusks of the female specimen were torn out and thrown upon the floor nearby, while the tusks of the male walrus were broken off halfway from the base.

The walrus tusks are ivory and are extremely valuable since it is impossible to replace them," said Prof. Homer R. Dill of the zoology department. "We shall try to replace them by imitation tusks made of paster of paris, but the cost of making the imitation tusks will amount to at least $50 or $60," said Professor Dill.

No trace has yet been found of the person or persons guilty of the offense according to Professor Dill, and no definite action has yet been taken to find the culprit.

The offense of taking the tusks warrants a penitentiary sentence, according to Country Attorney C.M. Miller, who expressed his willingness in running down the culprit. "The person found guilty of taking the tusks from the museum," said Mr. Miller, "is subject to a penitentiary sentence of ten years if the value of the tusks exceeds $25. The person guilty of the theft is subject to a sentence of five years at the least."

The walruses in this exhibit were collected by Lieut. Robert Peary in one of his expeditions to the north and were mounted by Professor Dill ten years ago. They are among the most valuable specimens in the entire exhibit.

ORIENTAL TOUCH ADDED NOVELTY TO CHINESE TEA

A touch of the Orient, embodied in Chinese music, handiwork, and refreshments, and the appearance of young men and young women of that country in their native garb, featured the Chinese tea and entertainment in the liberal arts drawing room from 4 to 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

According to Chiang Liu of the Chinese club, 350 guests were present. Money from single admissions of 50 cents is to be devoted to the relief of famine conditions in districts of China which have been devastated by drought or flood.

A display of decorative fans, embroidered shawls, kimonos, brocades, and curiosities attracted the attention of both men and women.

The program opened with a talk by Chiang Liu on famine conditions in China. This was followed by a flute solo by Tan Kwen Tsen, a stunt and Ngai-Chen Kih, Wen-Ying Kwan, Teh-Fang Djou, and Willa Pang. Chung Chi Han sang and Tan Kwen Sen presented some more numbers on a Chinese flute.

Refreshments were Chinese tea, cakes, and Lichees. The entertainment was in two programs, one at 4 and another at 5, the drawing room being inadequate for the crowd on one time.

A CHANCE FOR MORE

While reformers are holding up their hands in dismay over the present more or less threatening wave of disrespect for law and property, a few factors remain in our battering, dollar-mark civilization that have a hopeful angle. The man who said, "Let me write the songs of a people and I care not who makes its laws," was more than a clever paragrapher.

Plodding time seems to have marked the height of man's achievement by his production of and appreciation for good music, good art, good literature, and good religion.

Even the prevalent prominence of cow bells and moans has not eclipsed good music altogether, and although it may be true that music has been on the decline since the days of Beethoven, enough of the art remains to fill the life of a normal individual a number of times over.

George Meader will sing here Tuesday night, and a number of other artists of unquestioned merit are scheduled for appearance during the current year. Unfortunately or not, concerts and recitals at the University hang on more or less hand to mouth arrangements. With the presentation of each entertainment, the music council takes the bit in its teeth and trusts to popular favor to prevent a financial loss in the outcome.

Popular favor is a matter of cultivation. No one can dodge music. As Carlyle nicely suggests, "... even the commonest speech has something of song in it: not a parish in the world but has its parish-accent; — the rhythm or tune to which the people there sing what they have to say." Why not give this latent sense of rhythm an opportunity for appreciation of the best in musical art?

It seems reasonable to entertain a mild hope that good music would help to solve at least some of our less violent social problems. The University and Iowa City can have what they want. Patronage of concerts means more of them. Whatever good or enjoyment comes from good music deserves a chance for further development.

The Daily Iowan is glad to print its readers' opinions on affairs of current interest. It asks that all contributions be signed with full name and address, and is willing to withhold the name upon request. The Daily Iowan does not necessarily concur with all opinions expressed in this column.

THE COMMITTEE AGAIN

It is amusing to note the stormy attack on the recently elected student members of the social committee by a disgruntled student in the college of liberal arts. The committee in charge of the election also came in for their share of the blame.

Until recently student political leaders in the L. A. college have had their own way about student organizations and activities in general without opposition from other sources. Now, the professional students have become more interested in all-University activities, as was proved at the recent election, and they aspire to do the right thing. Other students had the same opportunity to become candidates but evidently they waited in vain for the honor to be presented to them on the proverbial golden platter.

It is to be regretted that these same students who display undue anger at the outcome of elections will not apply their energy toward attainment of the desired result before the election, instead of brewing trouble afterwards.

I think it was Mark Twain who championed the contention that there were but seven jokes in the whole world, and that all humor was but a variation of one or more of these seven. Anyway, from the sort of jokes that are "pulled" around more than one of our fraternity houses, one reflects that six of these seven jokes must have been rather risqué....

A favorite hokum with some of us is, that a man becomes brilliant and funny and a witty talker just as soon as a little alcohol prevades his system. If that is true, the "talk" one occasionally hears some weekend "stew" hand out to the public leads one to believe that he "never tasted a drop."

SCHOOL WEEK TO BE HELD

Special Observation of Education Will Begin December 5

December 5 to 11 has been set aside as "school week", according to a letter sent out by the bureau of education of the department of the interior at Washington, D. C. During this week all schools, churches, clubs and other institutions and organizations are encouraged to give particular attention to educational topics.

The week is to be especially observed in high schools where special programs are to be given and students are to be informed of the different educational institutions in their own state and the steps that are being taken to improve them.

PHI DELTA KAPPA ENTERTAIN

Russell is Honored by Banquet Before Vacation

Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary educational organization for men, banqueted last night at the Jefferson hotel in honor of Dean William F. Russell, head of the college of education, who is soon to leave for the Southwest for his annual vacation.

Superintendent Opstad of the Iowa City schools served as toastmaster. The responses to toasts were as follows: "From the Aeroplane", President Walter A. Jessup; "From the Ranks, Dr. G. H. Alderman, superintendent of the schools at Newton; "From the Submarine", Dr. Frederick B. Knight, of the college of education; "From the Recruits", Ralph Noyer (G) of Kearney, Neb.; "From the Outside," O. E. Klingman, director of the extension department; and "The Dean from the Inside," Dean Russell.

After the banquet, three men were initiated into the organization, C. H. Trowbridge (G) of Brenard, North Carolina; Paul McKee (G) of Canton, Ill.; and Don Rogers, (G) of Lincoln, Iowa.

All graduate students in education are candidates for degrees this year and Mr. Trowbridge for his doctorate.

Three weeks ago the organization was entertained at a six o'clock dinner at the home of Prof. Forest C. Ensign. At this time William Lloyd Peterson, of Corning, and Wayne Beck of the Iowa City schools were initiated.

"Never the less—I would rather eat at the Jefferson Coffee Room where I can see what I'm getting before it's stewed."

PRICES REMAIN AT NORMALCY SAY BARBERS

The prices of barber work in Iowa City will not be raised, according to local tonsorial artists. When Chicago barbers declared their intentions to raise the price to a dollar and thirty-five cents for a shave and haircut the notion seemed prevalent that prices would go up here also.

New Years day sees the new prices in effect in the windy city, "due to the higher price of materials", they say. Men returning to Iowa City after the holiday vacation will not be greeted by the six bits haircut and thirty-five cent shave, and the usual visit to the barbers may still be a part of the customary preparation in anticipation of that New Year's date, "after we get back".

Students at Iowa are not spending as much money in barber shops now as they did last year, according to certain local artists of the shaving-mug craft. The men don't come in with the "do-it-all" order as they were accustomed to do last year, more of them do their own shaving, shampooing and massaging.

Jack Monahan of the Jefferson shop claims that the men are spending as much and in many instances, more than here-to-fore. "No one can claim that the boys aren't spending money in the shops," said Mr. Monahan. The average student is paying more attention to his barber work than ever before, thinks Mr. Monahan.

"Tell 'em that our prices are not going up," said Mr. Monahan, "all first class shops will continue the same prices."

MEN'S LIT SOCIETIES MEET

Professor Craig Speaks to Philos-Irvings and Zets Debate

The Irving literary society held its regular meeting in Close hall last Thursday evening. The program consisted of a talk by Robert Block A3, a stunt by Irving Weber A3, and a debate upon the question, Resolved that a Big Ben is a better eye opener than a roster. The affirmative side was upheld by Lawrence Jongelward A1 and Irving Brindestine A3. The negative side was upheld by Max Rehwoldt A2 and Reidar Casperson A2. The Big Ben won.

The Philomathean literary society held its regular meeting at Close hall Friday evening. Prof. Hardin Craig of the English department gave a talk to the members of the society. Y. W. C. A. and W. A. A. Sell Tickets for Films on Walking

Tickets for the Y. W. C. A. and W. A. A. moving pictures showing the proper way of walking are to be sold on the campus today by members of the committee in charge.

The shows will begin Monday, December 6, and will continue four days at the Strand theater. The price is 30 cents and the proceeds of the sale will be equally divided between the Y. W. C. A. and W. A. A. to defray current expenses.

Monday and Tuesday "The Forbidden Thing", the regular show will appear with the humorous foot films.

Wednesday and Thursday Ethel Clayton will play in "A Ladder of Lies," and the foot films will be shown also. The shows will start at the regular times.

Esther E. Sharpe A3 of Hampton, is Y. W. C. A. chairman, and Ethel M. Spencer A1 of Olathe, Colo., is W. A. A. chairman of the movie committees.

STYLE SHOW GIVEN BY GIRLS

Under the supervision of Miss Agnes Brady and Jean Richmond G the girls of the University High School held a style show Thursday afternoon. The show was held in the Little Theater. About fifty relatives and friends of the girls attended.
