PREACHER TO HARVARD WILL LECTURE HERE

Rev. Samuel McChord Crothers to Be University Lecturer January 26

SUBJECT NOT YET CHOSEN

Rev. Mr. Crothers is Graduate of Princeton and Harvard — He Has Written Many Magazine Articles — Is Now Pastor at Cambridge and Preacher to Harvard

Rev. Samuel McChord Crothers will be the next University lecturer, it was announced yesterday afternoon from the office of Prof. Benjamin F. Shambaugh, chairman of the University lectures committee. Rev. M. Crothers will speak in the natural science auditorium at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, January 26.

Rev. Mr. Crothers is a graduate of Princeton and Harvard, where he studied theology. He also followed his studies in Wittenberg college and the Union Theological Seminary. In 1877 he was ordained to the ministry and since that time has had extensive ministerial work with important charges in different parts of the United States among which are Santa Barbara, Cal., and Brattleboro, Vt. Since 1894 he has been pastor of First Church at Cambridge, Mass., where he is now preacher to Harvard University.

Rev. Mr. Crothers has written many articles for magazines in recent years, especially for the Atlantic Monthly. Among the better known of his works are, "The Understanding Heart," "Three Lords of Destiny," and "Oliver Wendell Holmes and His Fellow Boarders." The most recent of his better writing is "Pleasures of an Absentee Landlord."

The subject which Rev. Mr. Crothers will speak upon before the University is not yet known, but will be announced as soon as possible. The committee feels confident that, with the great wealth of material which he has gathered in his famous work as clergyman, and in his writing, he will have something of vital interest and importance to university students.

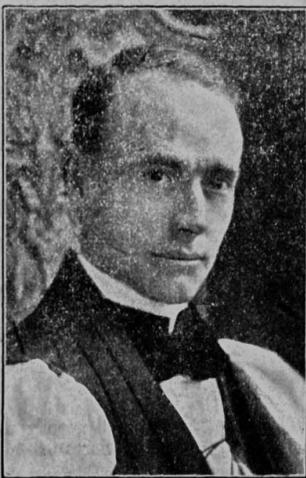

LUE PRENTISS ANNOUNCED WINNER OF "TYPICAL IOWA GIRL" CONTEST BY IOWAN'S COMMITTEE

Lue Prentiss, known as "Biddy" to friends on the campus, a junior in the college of liberal arts, and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry J. Prentiss, is announced as winner of the "Typical Iowa Girl" contest by the Daily Iowan's contest committee. The decision gives Miss Prentiss the distinction of a full page of pictures in the rotogravure section of the Des Moines Sunday Register, as representing the University of Iowa women.

Miss Prentiss was selected from a list of names handed in by students who submitted names of women they thought best filling the prize winning essay on the Iowa girl which was printed in the Iowan on December 13. The winning essay by Marion V. Chase A1 of Clinton emphasized the fact that the outstanding characteristic of the typical Iowa girl is naturalness.—"She does not adopt the blue-stocking, tailor-made pose of her eastern sister, nor does she cultivate the excessive athletic 'line' of her Wisconsin friend. Unlike the Grinnell girl, she does not hold herself up as a model of domestic ability. You gather that she can cook, but might occasionally burn the pie."

Miss Prentiss is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, Erodolphian literary society, Women's Forensic Council, O. I. C., the women's pep club, Women's Athletic As-

SOUTH DAKOTA BISHOP

The Right Rev. William P. Remington, D. D., of Rapid City, S. D., who will speak in the natural science auditorium next Sunday, January 16.

BISHOP REMINGTON WILL SPEAK HERE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

The Right Rev. William P. Remington, D. D., of Rapid City, S. Dak. will address the students of the University in the natural science auditorium next Sunday, January 16 at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Bishop Remington comes under the auspices of the interdenominational board of Iowa City. His chosen topic is "Christianity and Modern Lift."

Doctor Remington is the Suffragan Bishop of South Dakota. Though a young man he is known as one of the most brilliant speakers and ablest executives in the Episcopal church. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania where for four years he was on the track team of the University. In 1900 he represented the United States in the high hurdles at the Olympic meet held in Paris.

The Bishop is planning to be in Iowa City during the week of January 16th to 23d inclusive. During that time he will hold several services in the Trinity Episcopal church.

During the week the Bishop's schedule will be open for private conferences with such students of the University as may desire to meet him personally.

sociation, and the Y. W. cabinet. Prof. William S. Maulsby, Warren L. Bassett A4 of Des Moines, and Charles B. Gould A3 of Des Moines were the members of the committee who were in charge of the contest Pictures of Miss Prentiss will probably appear in the Des Moines Register within the next two or three weeks, Bassett announced last night.

COMMERCE CLUB NOT TO MEET TOMORROW

The meeting of the commerce club scheduled to be held tomorrow night has been postponed one week, according to Clarence W. Griebing, president of the club. The change in the time of the meeting is made on account of the annual farm exhibit being held at the Commercial Club rooms.

Ralph G. Grassfield, director of the Iowa Memorial Union, will give an address on "Advertising", and an open discussion on "What A Commerce School Should Include", will be held. Refreshments will also be served.

KLINGAMAN IN DES MOINES

Prof. O. E. Klingaman, head of the extension division, left Monday morning for Des Moines to meet the legislative committee there and will return Wednesday evening.

IOWA FIVE WINS FROM CORNELL; BIG TEN SEASON GETS STARTED

IOWA TO PLAY ON MINNESOTA FLOOR, JAN. 15

All Conference Teams Will Have One Game Out of Way This Week

A CHANCE AGAINST GOPHERS

Dr. Cook's Men Had Trouble in Winning from North Dakota—Indiana and Michigan Look Good—Chicago Probably Strongest Now — Illinois Might Have Rally

By M F. Carpenter
Scores of Conference games played in the week ending January 8: January 3, Northwestern 13, Wisconsin 12.

January 8, Indiana 29, Ohio 21; Wisconsin 27, Michigan 24.

Conference games scheduled for the week ending January 15:

January 10—Indiana at Michigan.

January 15—Iowa at Minnesota; Northwestern at Purdue; Ohio at Michigan; Wisconsin at Chicago.

As will be seen from the record of the games played during the past week and those scheduled for the coming week, the Conference basketball season is getting started. By the end of the current week all of the teams in the "Big Ten," with the single exception of Illinois, will have played at least one championship game. By that time it should be possible to get a line on the early season strength of the various contenders for the championship.

Chance Against Gophers

Judged by its work against Coe and Cornell, which although rather uneven, was fast and promising, Iowa should live up to the hopes that have been expressed for it. In all the years that Iowa has played Conference basketball, the team has never finished with a better record than .500. Last year was the first time that this was done when a full Conference schedule was played. In 1910 and 1911 Iowa won two out of four Conference games, meeting but two teams. The records in these two years and hardly be placed in comparison with that of last year, when twelve Conference games were on the schedule.

Iowa starts the season against Minnesota at Minneapolis. Minnesota is one of the two Conference teams that has not yet lost a game this year in its practice season or against a Conference five. This record came within an inch of being lost Saturday night when North Dakota held Minnesota to a 19 to 18 score. The victors were eight points behind with ten minutes left to play. A wonderful spurt put Minnesota ahead, but it took all the playing that was in the team to win. The result of this game should indicate that Iowa has a good strong chance to win, though Minnesota has been talked of as a championship possibility.

Ohio Looks Weak

Northwestern is stronger than it was last year, and Purdue is weaker. This is all that is certain about the game at Lafayette. Northwestern probably had luck with it when it won from Wisconsin. At any rate, the losers managed to give that impression to the newspaper men who saw the game. Wisconsin could not shoot and gained nothing from having a great many more chances at the basket than Northwestern had. Purdue

MORE PORTRAITS TO HANG IN GALLERY OF THE ABSENT-MINDED

Eclipse of the traditional absent-mindedness of older campus dignitaries whose names are followed by "Ph. D." and preceded by "Prof." is threatened by a lapse which sent the stands into howls at the basketball game between Iowa and Cornell on the armory floor last night.

Forgetting, under the pressure of the moment, that change of halves in a basketball game calls for a subsequent change of baskets, Aubrey Devine and Frohwein, Iowa left forward and center, worked an incomparable combination of a long pass and a dribble from an out-of-bounds ball, Devine finishing by dropping the ball neatly into the Cornell basket.

The two players had been in the game in the first half, and, up to the time of their substitution had been in the dressing room.

WATSON MAY GO TO AMES

Rumors Point to Possibility of Former Trainer Signing With Ames

Frequently occurring rumors were present on the campus yesterday to the effect that Jack Watson, former University track coach and trainer, would go to Ames provided he could obtain a release from Dartmouth with whom he recently signed.

Sports fans here and others closely connected with the University athletics were inclined to take some stock in the rumors, especially in view of the fact that Watson stated when he handed in his resignation that he had been negotiating with Iowa State College officials.

It was also learned that Watson had been at Ames since signing his contract with Dartmouth, but the extent of his arrangements there was not known. Contrary to his previous statement that he would probably be at the eastern college before this time the former Hawkeye trainer has not yet left, which some sport fans were inclined to take as significant of the possible truth of the Ames rumor.

Members of the athletic board declined to be quoted on the matter, saying that Mr. Watson was no more in the employ of the University and they had no strings on him.

That the rumor is assuming form in sport circles throughout the state is assured from the the following quotation from the Des Moines Register:

"According to a report here late yesterday, Jack Watson, athletic trainer and track coach at Iowa University for the last seven years, will go to Iowa State College at Ames in a similar capacity, providing he can obtain his release from Dartmouth with whom he has signed recently. The Ames Athletic council is said to have agreed to terms with Watson."

COACH PARCAUT TO MEET MASKED MARVEL TONIGHT

Coach Ralph Parcaut of the University wrestling team will meet the masked marvel, a wrestler who bills himself out of Chicago, at Spencer tonight in a finish match, best two of three falls.

The masked marvel is reputed to have met and defeated such men as Paul Prehn, Heinie Engel, Waino Ketonen and Bill Schober. Parcaut holds the middleweight championship of the world. The masked marvel does not disclose his identity unless defeated.

FINGER'S MEN ARE NO MATCH FOR HAWKEYES

Ashmore's Team Piles Up a 44 to 13 Score After Cornell Blow-Up

IOWA'S DEFENSE BEST POINT

Cornell Gets First Score and Game Starts With Thrills, But Visitors Slump After First Ten Minutes—Frohwein Gets Seven Baskets — H. Dee Star of Purple Team

Iowa's defense braced beautifully after the first five minutes of play in the basketball game at the men's gymnasium last night and was the greatest instrument in the 44 to 13 victory over Cornell.

The game was full of thrills for a few minutes while the score was even. Cornell scored first on a triple pass from the tipoff before Iowa had a chance to handle the ball. Captain Kaufmann made the first basket for Iowa.

The game was considerably better than the meeting with Coe, taking all points into consideration. Iowa's main weakness was inaccurate passing on the floor although this point improved somewhat during the second period. Teamwork started out about equal, first one team carrying the ball down for a shot and then the other. Iowa gradually assumed the leadership of the game as the score began to come their way, and Cornell was forced to take the defense.

Cornell's entire system seemed to blow up after the first ten minutes of play. The opening part of the first period gave promise for a closely contested game but play was considerably slowed during the last three quarters, so slow that the crowd began to look for personal plays and amusing incidents.

Iowa's defense showed up at its best in the second period, forcing Cornell to use the long pass system of teamwork and take long shots at the basket. Iowa at no time was obliged to open up for long passes or shots. Cornell was quite often forced to pass backward to keep the ball in play, advance being impossible.

Frohwein was high scorer for Iowa with seven field goals, and Shimek second with three field goals and five out of ten free throws. The honors of the evening go to Frohwein.

The first half ended with the score 22 to 9. Cornell made four points in the second period, two of which were scored by Devine's play for the wrong basket. Baskets are counted according to the basket made in, regardless of the thrower. H. Dee at center for Cornell was high scorer for the Purple and White and carried the honors for the visitors. He made two field goals and four free throws out of five tries, and played a fair defensive game although Frohwein bested him considerably on points.

The gymnasium was packed to more than capacity crowd. There will be no more home games until January 31 when Chicago plays here. Iowa meets Minnesota at Minneapolis next Saturday night.

RED LEMONADE

Demand for strict economy in state expenditures made by Governor Miller of New York in his inaugural address has a ring of good common sense. At last someone has offered to clamp down. Governor Miller attributes a large part of the present economic tension to personal and public extravagance.

Whether or not this is altogether true, economy seems a logical relief. No one is benefitted by the sort of reckless, red-lemonade spending that leaves nothing to show for it but a lank purse.

Dealers in non-essentials of more or less popular consumption which contribute nothing to human needs might, by a general turn to Governor Miller's recommendation, be released and find a more legitimate position in the world of production and distribution.

Merchants who deal in ordinary commodities would, it seems plausible, welcome the application of the safety valve to spending. Economy would make buying safer and cut down depreciation of excess stock. A lot of haberdashers are now rueing the day of the jazz-bo neckwear, and red-striped silk shirts. Fads in buying bring uncertain markets, and for the dealer, frequent necessity of unloading at depreciated profits.

There is no virtue to ostrich-like blindness to a situation. This is a time when every individual is put to it to think a little beyond his immediate four walls if he is to make sure a normal future. One can regulate his own expenditures and figure in his small way in those of the organizations in which he holds membership. Strict economy seems a good program.

CONTRIBUTORS COLUMN

TO "A SOPHOMORE"

An exceptionally sophisticated, wise and intelligent "Sophomore" and a "feeble-minded Senior" have come to a sane and sound misunderstanding concerning the facts regarding the desires and ambitions of the sophomore cotillion committee.

It is neither an unknown nor secret fact that one of the members of the cotillion committee appeared before the social committee a few days ago requesting that the committee be allowed to raise the price of tickets to $4.00 in order that the party be made more exclusive and select than the military ball. It was also requested that the tickets be distributed through the members of the committee. The ultimate aim of these proposals being to make the party more exclusive. Another request of the committee was that they be allowed to limit the number that might attend.

In this connection let it be understood that the social committee of the University rejected all the above requests, and as a result the disappointed sophomores were forced to be contented with the proverbial grapes. The wise "sophomore" who prophesied that "a feeble-minded senior is going to receive the thoroughly merited horse laugh of the student body at large" was caught at his own game, and now desires to be clearly understood that more than half of the cotillion tickets are to be placed on sale and that the usual price of University parties ($3.50) is to be maintained.

The facts speak for themselves, and it might be of interest to a certain sophomore to know it.

SIDE LINES

Argument For Dating With Only One Girl!

I sat in the gallery and watched the throng, Of dancers down below; And I thought of the money they certainly spent, Of the coin it cost to go.

But I saw no couples who were engaged In all that whirling crowd; And I wondered if Cupid were losing ground, Or if diamonds were never allowed.

Then I wandered away and I found the engaged Were drinking "Green River" at Whets; And I pitied the girl who wears a pin, For a davenport date is all she gets! —PAN

The above dreadful poem is the third verse that Pan has landed in this Column, and in order to nip any of Pan's feelings to the effect that he is getting good, the Column wishes to set down a few sword of "Damascus" phrases for his sole benefit. As the Column has intimated the above verse is rotten. Don't think we ran it because we could get nothing else. The Column can always talk about himself. But we earnestly desire contributors to this Abacus of Asteism and our sole purpose in running the above line of "rot" is to move a few of the poets on the campus to activity, etc.

The Column has especially prepared insults on hand for all grades of intelligence. What's yours?

Advice to Pan and other verse-mongers: A VERSE A DAY KEEPS POETRY AWAY!

But Would She Be Typical?

The Column is conscience stricken. We cast the vote which decided the Typical Iowa woman and confess that we never saw her in our whole life nor did we ever hear of her. In order to soothe the Column upon this matter we suggest that the Typical Iowa woman say, "I beg your pardon" should she ever accidentally step on our feet or run against us at a public dance.

Every dog and every Columnist has his day. Time was when the editor of this paper "threw out" many of the gems of The Column, and now we take great pleasure in announcing that we have been turning down contributions from his purient pen all week.

We Win! A needle a pin, a needle a pin! Our friend who swore off 'is smokin' again!

Contrary to a prevailing opinion the typical Iowa woman's popularity was not determined by the number of times daily that her telephone rings.

How many resolutions have you left to break. H. A.

has dropped a game to Earlham by a close score, but it has shown great scoring strength in several games against minor colleges. The chances probably favor the home team against Northwestern, but both teams are still unknown quantities.

Indiana looks about as strong as Michigan, which has hopes of finishing high up in the race. Its five was regarded by Wisconsin as one of the hardest that it had to meet. Michigan won several games very easily on a holiday trip but could not stop Wisconsin. Ohio is weak at present, though it may gain strength in the next few weeks. Michigan is likely to win from Ohio, but the Indiana game is a toss-up as far as paper strength is concerned.

Wisconsin does not look as strong as Chicago, which defeated Millikin by a 37 to 7 score Saturday. Chicago has a number of veterans in its lineup and has yet to lose a game. It is probably the strongest five in the Conference at present, but it is not apt to gain strength as the season progresses. Certainly it can not hope to improve as much as Wisconsin and Illinois are bound to do. For Wisconsin to win Saturday night would be an upset.

Illinois has been strengthened by the appearance of Carney who was out for practice last week. He will hardly be able to play in last season's form much before the first of February, at the very earliest, and before that time

Illinois will have to play Chicago, Wisconsin, and Minnesota. If Illinois can win two of these games, and if Carney can then play as he played last winter, Illinois will look as good as any team for the championship, but these are two fairly difficult conditions to realize.

FRATS ATHLETIC PLANS COMPLETE

Nine Fraternities Will Soon Clash in Basketball And Baseball

Plans for fraternity athletics are practically complete, according to H. H. Rieneke LI of Strawberry Point, and member of the inter-fraternity and pan-hellenic councils. The basketball and baseball schedules will include only the nine fraternities in the panhellenic group, because it would be impossible to play off a series in which the full twenty-seven interfraternity organizations participated during such a short season. Therefore the basketball and baseball tournaments will be fought among the following fraternities: Beta Theta Pi, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Chi, Delta Phi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Alpha Tau Omega.

In the baseball and basketball tournaments a large silver loving cup is given to the winner. Each of the Panhellenic fraternities is required to donate for the purchase of these cups. No definite arrangements have been made about the track-meet trophies but cups will probably be given to the winner of the meet and to the winner of the feature event which will probably be a half mile relay. Ribbons or medals will be given to the winners of the individual events.

Last year the basketball tournament was played in two sections, the North and South, but this plan may have to be changed this year because of the fact that the Delta Tau Delta's and the Beta Theta Pi's have moved from the south into the north end. Last year the cup in basketball was won by the Beta Theta Pi team which won the south-end championship and defeated the fast Sigma Alpha Epsilon team, north-end champions, 11 to 0

CARE OF COLDS IS ADVISED BY DR. MCDONALD

At this season of the year the most frequent condition encountered at the student health department is the common cold. Because of the complications which might result, Dr. William J. McDonald, director of student health, has issued some information regarding the common cold and the proper measures to be taken.

The term common cold is applied to infections of the mucous membrane of the nose, pharynx, tonsils, trachea and larynx. Tonsillitis, laryngitis and bronchitis are the most common of the different types.

Being of bacterial origin, these infections are contagious. Colds are contracted from other persons having colds and the contagion may spread rapidly, especially in groups of people living together.

While never fatal in themselves, colds cause discomfort and their complications are often serious. Doctor McDonald mentions some of the most frequent consequences of colds as rheumatic fever, inflammation of the ear which may cause mastoid, and a disease which may cause leaky heart valves. In addition, the cold lowers resistance and opens the way for the severe infections, especially pneumonia.

The prevention of colds consists in avoiding infection and in guarding against the predisposing causes. Persons with colds should be avoided, as should objects contaminated by infected persons, such as the common drinking cup, the roller towel, pipes, toys, and dishes.

The predisposing causes of colds include a number of conditions that depress vitality and so diminish resistance to disease. Among these are vitiated air, dust, drafts, exposure to cold and wet, overwork and improper food.

Adenoids and enlarged tonsils are also important predisposing causes. So Doctor McDonald emphatically advises that students follow the following simple precautions:

- (1) Avoid contact with persons suffering with colds. Also avoid the objects contaminated by them.
- (2) Keep the hands, mouth and teeth clean. Obey the simple rules of hygiene.

NEW SYSTEM AT QUAD

Dining Room at Quad is Open to Anyone in University

Anyone in the University can take advantage of the twenty per cent drop in prices at the men's Quadrangle, according to reports from the office. Much better meals are now obtained for the sum of thirty, thirty-five and forty cents under the management of C. M. Gordon.

The meals consist of meat, of which four or five varieties are offered daily, potatoes and gravy, three slices of bread and butter, free when meat is ordered; and your choice between pickles, desserts, fruits, pastry, and other side dishes such as peas, beans, and corn.

The cafeteria is managed by a salaried chef, and is run by the University at very small margin of profit.

NUTTING'S BOOK REVIEWED

An extended review of a book entitled the "Barbados Antique Expedition" by Prof. Charles C. Nutting, head of the zoology department, was recently published in the Agricultural News.

not only
the greatest MORAL LESSON in the world but
'one of the UNEXAMPLED WONDERS of the 20th century'

Over three hundred clergymen already have recommended this great story. Scores of sermons have been preached on it, and more than one minister has said, "IT IS THE GREATEST OF ALL SERMONS." And now the exclusive Boston Herald, in a leading editorial, finds reason on Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 25th, to say: "No thoughtful person can sit through the play to its very end without concluding that he has been in contact with ONE OF THE UNEXAMPLED WONDERS OF THE 20TH CENTURY."

Rev. Lincoln H Caswell

Pastor Crawford Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, New York

"It is the greatest moral lesson in the world! You have surpassed all words! Your picture has out-Heroded Herod—out-spoken all spoken language and put a climax to all superlatives. Our ordained divines thunder away at empty pews, but 'Way Down East' is divinely ordained to speak its silent message to the myriads that throng the theatre. It is an eloquent sermon."

Rev. John T. Wilds

Pastor, Seventh Presbyterian Church of Jesus Christ, 134 Broome Street, New York City.

"A perfect play, perfectly played and perfectly presented. I am truly grateful to the dear Lord that HE has so called you in your work that you are doing great good."

Rev. Howard Preston McHenry, Ph.D.

Mariners' Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia

"As a religious teacher I want to say I was profoundly impressed. It is a real preaching of the Gospel. It must succeed because it is true."

Rev. J. Henry Harms

Lutheran Church of the Holy Communion, Philadelphia.

"It carries a great message of warning to the unwary, and of retribution for the guilty. If all motion pictures could be as wholesome as this one is, I can't see why the most scrupulous could object."

NOTE—Rev. Henry R. Rose, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer, Newark, N. J., is preaching a series of sermons on "Way Down East," showing colored scenes from the big D. W. Griffith production. Rev. Lincoln H. Caswell, of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, New York City, has preached two sermons on "Way Down East," and shown to his congregation more than seventy scenes from the play.

TANK TRYOUTS ARE TOMORROW

Little Competition in Back and Breast Stroke Events; Any Student May Tryout

The first of the preliminary tryouts for places on the swimming team will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. This will be the first of three tryouts to determine the personnel of the tank team which will represent Iowa at the dual swimming meet at Minnesota, January 23.

All events seem to be fairly represented although there is little competition in the back and breast stroke swims. Coach David A. Armbruster is especially desirous of getting more men out for these two events.

Practically every member of last year's tank squad will try for places tomorrow and these veterans will probably compose the team which will meet Minnesota. Douglas Boynton, Rothwell Proctor, Ross Clark, and Phillip Mills look to be the best men among this year's possibilities.

The tryouts may be witnessed from the balcony of the natatorium free of charge. Any student, eligible to compete in intercollegiate athletics, may compete for positions on the team whether he is out for swimming at the present or not. This method has been adopted to find if any good material has not yet reported for the team.

The men who will compete in the various events are; 40 yard dash, Bond, Clark, Boynton, Shepherd, Rademacher, Anneberg, Ward, and Weidlein, 200 yard breast stroke; Vedova, Proctor, Mills, Saunderson, L. Smith, and Tilgner, 220 yard swim; Shepherd, Goodell, Boynton, Weidlein, Anneberg, and M. Smith, 440 yard swim; Goodell, Anneberg, Weidlein, Gallup, Boynton, and Rademacher, Plunge for distance; Forney, Short, Hallbach, Adams, Cannon, and Weidlein; 150 yard back stroke; L. Smith, Weber, Ashton, nad Mills, 100 yard dash; Shepherd, Clark, Boynton, and Weidlein.
