CULTIVATING THE EGO

In a recently published article, Frederic J. Haskin, journalist and owner of the largest free information bureau in existence, attacks courses in higher liberal education for turning out, at regular periods armies of mediocrities. His attack is rather drastic and seems unsustainable in points, but there appear to be some things about it that may well be taken to heart.

Among other things Mr. Haskin blames colleges for not developing individual mentalities. Of the student he says:

"His college life is pleasant and successful just in so far as he develops an aptitude for following and aping leaders, for accepting a ready-made point of view, for being a mental and moral chameleon."

Of course the student who allows himself to become a "chameleon" or to become nothing better, has himself to blame to a large extent. There is a danger, however, in all of our system of advisors and sponsors, commendable and indispensable as they are, that the student may lose the moral strength and mental independence which comes from meeting one's own problems, and working through them.

Something of this notion of the value of maintaining the individual mentality is found in the words of the old philosopher in "The Yellow Jacket,"—"Every man must enter the garden of his own soul alone."

It is the business of the individual to get out of education a developed, clear-thinking, independently working mind. It is the apes who are the cause of this much-talked-of unrest and vice. No one wants to be a chameleon.

Now that two of the baloonists whose names have been filling front pages of metropolitan dailies have made a little anti-climax by getting into a squabble one can begin to excuse Messrs. Peary and Cook for the contentious inclinations they acquired on their trips north.

Newton Baker, the Secretary of War, says that ex-soldiers must not wear their army overcoats except on "special occasions" which is to be determined we infer by the thickness of the frost on one's window, or the attitude of the thermometer towards the weather.

Nothing goes so well and looks so charming when worn with galoshes as a pretty bare neck when exposed to the icy breath of winter.

If you will compare the finished picture of your face with the first proofs of it you will realize that the greatest flatterer in the City is none other than the well known photographer.

After a moocher gets so he is a nuisance to his friends, there are times when it seems to him that the entire world has sworn off smoking.

Horatius Hootch says his idea of a tight wad is the man who refuses to buy Frivol because he can read all its good jokes on the screen at the movies without any extra expense.

Horatius also adds that an egotist can no more live up to his own opinion of himself than a daily newspaper can live up to its head-lines.

SIDE LINES

ODE TO PAN

I'm not much of a "verse" man,
More a "shuffler" of feet than of rhyme
But I do feel sorry for our old friend Pan
I think he's behind his time.

He talks of pins and davenportes,
And on a million other themes,
But he don't quite seem to remember
Just what a hung pin means.

Some would say an enagement,
Others the right to "spoon."
Still some for the "heart of college,"
But as for that—question the moon.

One thing is almost certain,
One thing is positively true,
That before the "final curtain"
The "pin hanger has a lot to do.

Candy, a number of batallions,
Flowers and "Green River" brew,
Whets and Reich's and the Cotillions,
Jeff, Pagoda, and Varsity, too.

So Pan, old dear, don't be fretful,
That the girl on the davenport's lost,
For it's merely a respite between "bat-tles"

And, God, what they cost!
A PIN HANGER. . .

These answers to Pan's verse came from a Pin-Wearer, and a Pin-Hanger. Yesterday we printed the Pin-Wearer's answer and today we are publishing the verse of the bird who hung the jewelry. Both of these poems came in the same letter and were lovingly pinned together.

Many a house-wife failed to realize that her husband's old corn-cob was a veritable peace pipe until she had induced him to resolve to give up smoking.

A report comes to this office that five minutes after the first snow-flake drifted down to this old universe yesterday morning a young lady was seen wading across the campus in a pair of those horrid galoshes. She was in company with a "frail" wearing silk hose and low brogues.

Since we offered the Sophomore Cotillion committee a lot of free advertising provided we were given a ticket to the "undemocratic dance" (more than half of whose tickets are on general sale) we have received a little verse from one of our clients to this effect:

"It's exclusive we want our party to be,
So how do you expect to go, say we."

Look at the New Year Now!
The baby New Year entered this life with a sunny smile and a warm heart. After twelve days existence on this earth lok what has happened to it!

A girl's ideals are not judged by her evening gowns. H. A.

CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

During the past week, many followers of winter sports have been venting their enthusiasm on the Iowa river. It has been suggested by the University that the tennis courts at the east end of the armory be flooded to afford the students a place to skate. In fact, Lieut. Col. Mumma has been authorized to flood these courts whenever he sees fit. The posts in the center of the courts have been removed to allow the skaters room to exercise.

Why flood the tennis courts when there is about five times as much room on the Iowa river as the tennis courts would afford when flooded? We cannot see how 500 people can be accommodated in this manner. In fact, being a student myself, I believe that the students would be better pleased if the University would clean the snow from the ice on the river than if they were required to skate on the flooded courts.

Last year the snow was kept from the ice by means of a horse power snow plow and in this way the people of the University enjoyed a large, smooth, unhampered area on the river. With the aid of this plow or one similar, the University could better afford to keep a section of the river free from snow than they could in flooding the tennis courts and keeping them clean. This sport seems to be growing at this side of the University and perhaps with its increase we may some day have a hockey team. Give us room, give us good out door winter sport, and help us keep the snow from the Iowa river. R. N.

FRIVOL JOKE SPEAKS LOUDLY IN DIGEST'S TOPICS OF THE DAY

An incident paralleling the "oft quoted" story of the traveller whose love of country had always been dormant in his heart until he happened to see the stars and stripes waving over a missionary's hut in far China, occurred in our own Iowa City at the Pastime theatre the other night when University students thrilled for sheer delight at seeing a Frivol joke hold its own in company with jests and quips from the Harvard Lampoon, the Cornell Widow, and the Pennsylvania Punch Bowl which had been clipped by the Literary Digest for the screen Topics of The Day.

Of course the screen joke was not so very good. Indeed editors of the "known nationally" publication will tell you that Frivol has invented a hundred better ones than, "if you insist on slapping my face every time I kiss you then get off my lap" but whether we agree with them or not, the thrill of hearing Frivol lift its voice in such renowned company is one of good old honest pride. There is no undergraduate with soul so dead that he would not have laughed under the circumstances.

Waren L. Bassett, editor of Frivol, announces that the next number of the humorous magazine will make its appearance on February 2nd and will be called a Rocooco number. In a Rocooco edition he hopes to strike an entirely different vein of humor than has even been published in a college magazine before. "Miss Bell who draws the covers for our magazine, is also given an opportunity of demonstrating an entirely different phase of her genius," said Bassett yesterday.

Mr. Wise: "Yes, I know those sale stunts, you pay for a pound and a half and you get a pound and a half, you can't tell me."

Reich's Ad Man: "You may know 'sales' but you don't know 'Herb', that's the one thing that I've been trying to get across—these sale prices are equivalent to 33 1-3% off of 'regular' prices on every pound of box candy in the store."

Mr. Wise: "Do you mean to tell me that if I buy a pound of candy I will get a pound and a half, of good fresh candy?"

Ad Man: "That's just what I mean. This is fresh stock, and when 'Herb' said that he'd rather give this candy away than to sell any of it to his customers after it was a little old, we fixed up this proposition."

Mr. Wise: "Well if what you say is really so it's the first time I ever knew anybody to really give anything away."

Ad Man: "The proof of the pudding is the eating, just go around to Reichardts, look at the most complete line of chocolates in Iowa City, price them and see whether or not I have given you the facts as they really are."

Adorable, are these wearables for spring. Even our buyer, and buyers are, not inclined to emotionalism, found them so entrancing in New York that we were promptly sent a few choice ones. Just a vanguard of what is to come. But oh, such a vanguard and so representative.

Dresses revel in taffeta and tricotine. They find delight in embroidery, for it has truly displaced much of the bead work, and even the suits are quite taken with the idea.

Tricotine and twill cord (it resembles Poret twill) are just semi-fitted and they still preserve that delightful tailored effect.

For prep school and college misses box coats and ripple effects seem most apropos but of course no one could even begin to describe the varieties.

"BIDDY" PRENTISS GLAD TO BE THOUGHT TYPICAL IOWA GIRL

"It feels sort of nice," Biddy Prentiss admitted when asked how it felt to be Iowa's typical woman. She blushed, too. Whether this was just the thing for the typical woman to do we do not know. Anyway she did.

"I feel that I have lots of friends," she went on when urged to explain what she meant by "nice." "I feel too that I am appreciated, and that's an awful good feeling."

"Oh and I feel foolish, too. Everyone stares at me. People nudge each other and say, 'There goes the typical girl!'"

"But anyway it's a nice sort of feeling," she added and dashed on to her gym class.

FINAL CHAMPIONSHIP DEBATE TO BE HELD JANUARY 27

The date of the first sophomore debate has been changed from February 24 to February 11. The question for discussion will be the city manager plan as proposed for Iowa City. The question will be affirmed by the Irving team and denied by the Zetagathian team.

MISS MUELLER TO TALK TO WOMEN ON PARK WORK

Miss Mary T. Mueller of the English department will speak Thursday afternoon, January 20, at 4 o'clock, in the liberal arts auditorium to all the women interested in spending a summer vacation at a park in the West. Miss Mueller will give detailed information about Estes Park, Colorado.

The Lewiston hotel of this park employs from fifty to sixty college women for three months of the summer to help attend its guests. The work begins June 1 and ends September 1.

The three kinds of work offered by the Lewiston hotel are: waitress work, room work, and pantry work. The waitress work consists of setting serving, and clearing of the table. Care of silverware, glasses and looking after the deserts and salads, constitutes the work of the pantry. The room work consists of changing the linen, and general care of the room. Any one of these kinds of work affords plenty of leisure time to enable the employees to do the park thoroughly, according to Miss Mueller.

The lowest salary paid per month is $25 with accommodations equal to that of the guests who pay from $5 to $7 per day. A bonus of approximately one third more per month is paid at the end of the three months besides opportunities for making extra money, such as doing particular laundry work, pressing and shampooing.

Application blanks will probably be given out at this lecture.

BASKETBALL SLUMPS

Upperclass Women Lack Interest In Basketball Practice

Attempts will be made to abolish women's upperclass basketball practice in the future if more junior and senior women do not come out for practice, according to Miss Ann Boillin, of the physical education department.

Twelve senior women elected to take basketball but only half of this number have appeared for practice.

Twenty one juniors signed up for basketball. The juniors of this year were the sophomore champions of last year, and material for a good team could be chosen from their number if more of this team would appear for practice, according to Miss Boillin.

Inter-class games can not be scheduled until there is sufficient material from which to select suitable squads. The basketball tournament between classes is expected to take place in February.

GOPHERS READY FOR GAME WITH IOWA SATURDAY

Terminate Successful Practice Season by Defeating North Dakota

CENTER PROBLEM IS SOLVED

Schjoll to Be at Center—Oss and Kearney are Strong at Teamwork—Arntson is Star Basket Shot—Kearney Holds North Dakota Star to One Basket.

(SPECIAL TO DAILY IOWAN)
By Henry C. Niles

Minneapolis, Minn. Jan. 13—With a stiff practice schedule successfully terminated with the defeat of North Dakota last Saturday night, 19 and 18, the Minnesota basketball team face the Big Ten opening with Iowa here next Friday evening. The first squad has been given a lot of work the past week polishing up the glaring crudities that characterized the play against the Flickertails.

Doctor Cook found lots the matter with his proteges in the final practice test. The team play was crude; the passing was cruder; and the basket-shooting was crudest. Through the first half the hefty, scrappy opponents broke up the Gopher attacks time after time and kept them far outside the shooting range. When hard pressed the passing of the home team was wild, oftentimes directly into the hands of Dakota players. Arntson, Oss and Schjoll had a mania for dribbling and venturing long shots which went wide of the ring.

Schjoll at Center

The vexing tipoff problem has been apparently solved in Carl Schjoll, a tall battling player with a world of endurance and some basketball experience. He showed up to advantage against North Dakota, considering that he has been on the squad only three weeks and if his shooting and passing continue to improve, he will enter the circle next Saturday against the Hawkeyes.

Captain Oss and Arntson have death-grips on the forward jobs and Kearney, by holding the terrible Hauser to one lone basket, slipped a noose over the running guard post. Standing guard is still a much desired position on the team with Hultkrans, Sullivan and Enke all keeping their fingers in the pie. The former is the best floor man of the trio while Enke with his unquenchable spirit is a bear-cat in the fierce melees under his own basket.

Gopher fans anxiously await the Conference opening. Capacity crowds have filled the armory at every practice tussle and arrangements are being made to handle a record attendance next Saturday. The Minnesota band with a brand new series of popular airs will play between the halves and at a dance after the Iowa game.

Does every man want more than one woman ?

How much suffering and unhappiness has been caused by the idea existing among young men that they may conduct themselves AS THEY PLEASE.

As many sweethearts AS THEY CAN GET.

Soothing their conscience with the old balm that the young man is EXPECTED to sow his wild oats.

But once this poison of self-indulgence gets into the blood is it ever going to be wiped out?

Will they be able to settle down and marry and cleave and stick to ONE WOMAN?

In some cases they may, but it is apt to be a difficult job. In most cases the poison once instilled will burn them, body and soul, down to the very socket.

Men and women should walk as gods, upward into the great unknown. With laughter around them. And lute notes, dancing and song. Sunlight, gold light and star light. Music sweeter than all the dreams of all the lovers of all the world.

All your words will be impotent to show the great wrong done the world by the SELFISHNESS of man and his selfish DESIRES.

All your words impotent to tell—to show—as a branding iron upon the hearts of all mankind—that the BEST way in life is the way of ONE MAN FOR ONE WOMAN, as it is shown in that great drama, "WAY DOWN EAST," as translated in D. W. GRIFFITH'S glorified version at the ENGLERT THEATRE.

Go to see "WAY DOWN EAST." It will do your soul good.

It will be shown AFTERNOON and EVENING at the ENGLERT THEATRE for three days beginning next Monday night. You MUST see it.

Seats on sale tomorrow—Mail orders filled
PRICES—Matinees 50c, 75c, $1.00; Nights 50c, $1.00, $1.50, $2.00.

Fifth Annual Banquet Will Be Given By Two Well Known Alumni

ANNOUNCED FOR FEBRUARY 8

One Hundred Invitations Will Be Issued — Event is for Men Representing University Editor, Commandant and Athletic Coach Included

The Finkbine-Kuehnle dinner will be given Tuesday evening February 8 at six o'clock at the Hotel Jefferson. This is a dinner served to representative University men by two University alumni, William O. Finkbine of Des Moines and Carl F. Kuehnle of Denison.

This is the fifth dinner given by M. Finkbine and Mr. Kuehnle. It has become an annual event of the University year. The practice was inaugurated six years ago but was interrupted by the war and resumed at its close.

Representative Men Are Guests

Last year nearly one hundred guests were present. This year the number will be the same with perhaps a slight increase. The idea of these dinners is to bring together for dinner and a social hour following, the representative men of the University. To that end, they invite the presidents or heads of every strictly men's organization, including the men who are class presidents and those that hold other representative places student organizations.

Ensign in Charge

For the last two years, the Deans of the colleges, the University editor the University Commandant, and the athletic coach have been included among the guests and will be invited again this year.

Arrangements for the dinner are under Prof. Forrest C. Ensign's direction. Professor Ensign is acting secretary of the University of Iowa association.

METHODIST STUDENTS HOLD MEETINGS FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS

Foreign students are being given a chance to appear and speak for their own countries by the Methodist students of the University.

Wesley Club, the association of Methodist students, is conducting a program of mission study at their bi-weekly meetings, at which student natives from the country studied appear and speak.

At the first meeting of the year, China was studied. Three talks were given by Chinese students and Chinese music was sung and played. This same general plan is followed in each program.

Next Saturday evening the Philippines will be the subject. Three Filipinos will speak, and native music will be played.

Two weeks later the topic will be "The Negro's Relation to America's Progress." The cooperation of several negro students has been promised. Java, India, South America, and other sections of the world will be studied later in the year.

According to Rev. L. G. Rohrbaugh, student pastor, E. Rob Zaring, editor of the North Western Christian Advocate, will be asked to speak at the last meeting of the year. Meetings are held at Reverend Rohrbaugh's home at 120 N. Clinton street from 7 to 8 o'clock.
