CAST FOR THE HEP-ZET PLAY IS ANNOUNCED

Cloyce K. Huston and Ethyl M. Perry Are Given the Leading Parts

PLAY TO BE GIVEN FEB. 16

"Seven Chances" By Roi C. Macgrue Is Play Chosen—First Produced By David Balasco In New York With Carrol McComas and Frank Craven In Leading Roles

A cast of fifteen characters has been selected for the annual Hep-Zet play, "Seven Chances," which will be given at the Englert theatre on Wednesday, February 16. Leading parts will be taken by Cloyce K. Huston A3 of Crawfordville as Jimmy Shannon, and Ethyl M. Perry A3 of Forest City as Anne Windsor.

"Seven Chances" is a three act play by Roi Cooper Magrue, author of "It Pays to Advertise" and "Under Cover." It was first produced under the personal supervision of David Balasco at George M. Cohan's theatre in New York City on August 8, 1916. The leading parts were taken at that time by Carroll McComas as Anne Windsor and Frank Craven in the part of Jimmy Shannon.

Lauer Is Coach

The plot is centered upon Jimmy Shannon who falls heir to a large fortune on condition that he marry within ten hours. His first experience is to be rejected by the seven chances. Later he is accepted by the seven. From this situation Jimmy has to extricate himself.

Prof. Edward H. Laurer of the German department, has been chosen to coach the play, thus making the third successive year that Professor Laurer has coached the annual Hep-Zet play. Harry E. Kamer A3 of Clinton will act as business manager.

The Complete Cast

The cast is as follows: Jimmy Shannon, Cloyce K. Huston A3 of Crawfordville; Anne Windsor, Ethyl M. Perry A3 of Forest City; Ralph Denby, Sherman J. McNally A2 of Marshalltown; George, DeWitt H. Smith L1 of Clarence; Irene Trevor, Helen E. Langworthy A3 of Massena; Lilly Trevor, Opal M. Stevenson A2 of Shannon City; Mrs. Garrison, Grace E. Redfield A3 of Mason City; Georgiana Garrison, Lucille L. Benison A3 of Des Moines.

Peggy Wood, Vera M. Hanson A4 of Boone; Florence Jones, Marie L. Baldwin A4 of Iowa City; Betty Wiloughby, Almeda A. Cutting A2 of Decorah; Billy Meekan, Hubert H. Mott L1 of Iowa City; Henry Garrison, Harold M. Ofelt L1 of Burlington; Earl Goddard, Robert L. Hunter A3 of Mapleton; and Joe Spence, Otto B. Laing A2 of Corydon.

ALUMNUS IS OUT TODAY

First Issue of This Year Contains Four Feature Articles

The New Year's issue of the Iowa Alumnus is out today. Among the interesting articles of this number of the Alumnus are photographs of the Louisiana Swamp group, which has been recently installed in the museum by Professor Homer R. Dill; an article on "Alchemy in Iowa" by Professor Charles A. Weller; "Visiting the Battlefields" by Mildred E. Sykes '13, and "Five Thousand—An Allegory" by the editor, Mrs. Grace Partridge Smith.

TRACK ELECTION DEFERRED

The election returns on the track and baseball captains which were to have been announced yesterday, will not be given out until tomorrow night. At that time the Athletic board will go over the ballots and the official results will be known.

FRESHMEN PLAN TO GIVE ANNUAL PARTY ON FEBRUARY 24

The Freshman Party, one of the four class dances of the year, will be held on Friday, February 24, at the armory, according to Clinton M. Sims Au of River Junction, chairman. The dance will be informal in all respects, and the program will include feature dances and two extra dances, according to the plans of the committees in charge.

Irene M. Wallace of Council Bluffs is chairman of the program committee composed of Oreen V. Chantry of Des Moines, and George Lemen of Council Bluffs. The music committee is composed of Robert Baker of Cherokee, chairman, and Robert M. Sims. The advertising committee is made up of Edward Kelloway of Anita, James Reany of Sheldon and Lucille Hinkley of Eagle Grove.

Jack Judy of Fort Madison and Lucille Hinkley are in charge of the furniture to be used at the party. The remaining committees are as follows: chaperons, Virginia Whipple of Vinton; punch, Helen Cooper of Marshalltown; decoration, Clinton M. Sims, chairman, Robert Barker, Irene Wallace, Helen Cooper, and Virginia Whipple.

The price of tickets will be $3.50.

SWAMP EXHIBIT OPENS TONIGHT

Rare Collection of Louisiana Swamp Flora and Fauna Is On Display

The Louisiana Swamp group, which it has taken several years to complete because of many delays in the arrival of material, will be opened to the public at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening, January 19. The exhibit, which is in the east end of bird hall on the third floor of the natural science building will be in charge of Professor Homer R. Dill of the department of zoology, who gathered and arranged the specimens of the group. Professor Dill will explain the group to those who attend the opening.

This group is one of the few of its kind in existence and surpasses anything known in the west. It ranks second only to the famous Laysan Island group in the west end of bird hall. Besides swamp flora such as palmetto palms, vines, and foliage, the exhibit contains alligators, swamp birds, lizards, water snakes, horn snakes, a live oak snake and a king snake. Some of the animals are painted and some are mounted; some are partly real and partly painted on the canvas background, and it will tax the ability of the observers to detect where the real mount ends and the canvas begins as is the case of the Laysan Island exhibit.

The painting for the exhibit was begun by Mrs. Jean Dayton West, who after her marriage left Iowa City. Edith Bell of the fine arts department took up the unfinished work and added the finishing touches. The lighting which is used gives an effect of depth and natural expression to the group.

TIME OF TRYOUTS FOR W.A.A. VAUDEVILLE STUNTS CHANGED

The time for the W. A. A. vaudeville tryouts to be held in the mirror room of the Women's gymnasium tonight, has been changed from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

Each class is expected to put on at least one stunt at the tryout and two of these will be chosen for the final production at the Englert.

The people taking part in the tryouts need not appear in the regular costumes tonight, according to Claribel Wright A4 of Houghton, Mich., chairman of the committee in charge of the vaudeville acts.

WOMEN TO SPEAK TONIGHT AT 7:30

Contest To Be Staged At the Auditorium — Five To Take Part

The annual women's extemporaneous speaking contest will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the natural science auditorium.

Women who have signed up for the contest at the office of the dean of women are: Vera Hanson A4 of Boone, Hesperian; Adelaide J. Lloyd A3 of Remsen, Hamlin Garland; Mildred Freburg A3 of Pomeroy, Octave Thanet; Anne Rummelhart A3 of Iowa City, Erodolphian; Buelah Wheeler A3 of Marshalltown, non-literary woman.

The topics announced by the women's Forensic League are: "Proposed Federal Department of Education," "Recognition of Mexico," "Uniform Marriage and Divorce Laws," "Kansas Industrial Courts," and "Gulick Plan of Restricting Immigration" according to Gladys Hayden A4 of Eldon, president of the Women's Forensic League.

Prizes of $10 and $15 will be awarded by the Women's Forensic League to the contestants winning first and second places. The judges will be Robert W. West, associate professor of public speaking, and Estella M. Boot, associate professor of English. The third judge has not been selected.

According to custom, two non-literary woman contestants should appear at this final contest; however, Buelah Wheeler was the only woman who signed up for the preliminary contest which was to have been held on Tuesday, January 11.

All contestants are asked to sign at the office of the dean of women by noon today in order to appear at the contest, according to Gladys Hayden, president of the Women's Forensic League.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION HELD

The political science club, at its regular monthly meeting at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Shambaugh last night, celebrated the twenty-fourth anniversary of its establishment. At the same time Prof. Jacob Van Der Zee, of the department of political science, was installed as its new president. Prof. Chester A. Phillips of the school of commerce read a paper.

The chief feature of the birthday celebration was the presentation of a birthday cake by one of the charter members. Professor Van Der Zee as president of the club, was called upon to cut the cake.

The club was organized in January, 1897, under the direction of the late Prof. Isaac A. Loos, professor of economics and sociology. The charter members still active in the club are, Judge Samuel Hayes, Prof. H. G. Plum, Prof. H. C. Dorcas, Judge Martin J. Wade, and Prof. Benjamin F. Shambaugh.

The hosts and hostesses of the evening were, Prof. and Mrs. F. E. Horack, Prof. and Mrs. John E. Briggs, Prof. and Mrs. Ivan L. Pollock, and Prof. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Shambaugh.

In connection with the observance of the club's birthday, there is a memorial feature, the graves of the charter members buried in Iowa City cemetery being decorated with evergreen. Those whose graves were decorated this year are, President Charles A. Schaeffer, Dean Amos A. Currier, Dean Emlin McClain, Dean William C. Wilcox, Dean Laenas G. Weld, Prof. Issac A. Loos, and Mr. J. W. Rich.

WEATHER FORECAST
January 18.—Continued cold. Snow in some sections.

SIX WRESTLERS WILL MEET NORTHWESTERN AT EVANSTON FRIDAY

The following men will represent Iowa in the first meet with Northwestern, January 21, at Evanston: Vana of the 125 pound class, Sweeney in the 135, Bob Smith in the 145, Howrey in the 158, White in the 175, and Robert Hunter in the heavy-weight.

This will be the opening meet of the season and will be a test with both sides in the dark, for neither knows the strength of the other. Coach Ralph Parcaut has returned and is again at the head of the team, whipping them into form for the first contest.

Vana of the 125 pound class defeated Prince yesterday afternoon by receiving the decision in two seven minute periods. This contest finished the wrestling tryouts. Roller, who was to have met Smith of the 145 pound class, is sick at this time and will not be able to compete before the first meet of the season.

Glen Devine of the 158 pound division, finding it impossible to continue with the wrestling squad, has dropped his work on the mat. This will mean a real loss to the wrestling team, as Devine was showing up in the best form and gave promise of making Howrey go his best to hold his place in the 158 pound class.

CONVOCATION IS NEXT SEMESTER

Degrees Will Be Conferred at Winter Convocation—Classes Dismissed

Convocation will be held Tuesday, February 8 at 10 o'clock in the natural science auditorium according to announcement from the office of President Walter eJssup.

Degrees will be conferred at this time upon candidates from the college of liberal arts, college of applied science, college of education, and the training school for nurses, according to Mr. J. O. Maruth, assistant registrar. As the names of all the candidates have not been received, it is impossible to estimate the number of candidates. However, all names of candidates are expected in by Monday, January 24.

Plans for convocation, and the speaker have not been arranged as yet, but a committee will be appointed for this purpose the latter part of this month, according to Mr. Maruth. Classes will be dismissed during convocation, according to the announcement from the president's office.

BACONIAN CLUB LECTURE

"The Story of Petroleum," illustrated by a 3-reel moving picture, will be given before the Baconian club Friday, January 21, at 7:30 p. m. in room 301 of the physics building by Prof. H. L. Olin of the chemistry department.

The pictures are sent out by the Bureau of Mines. They will show scenes of the drilling, the flow of the oil, and other phases of the industry.

HINKLE BELIEVES MORE THAN PLEASING VOICE IS REQUIRED OF A GREAT SINGER

Miss Florence Hinkle, soprano, who will appear in a recital at the natural science auditorium Thursday evening, January 20, at 8:15 is one of the few examples of an American trained artist, her musical education and training have been received entirely in this country. To-day she is recognized as a singer "with a mastery of technic and an artistic ability that are rare upon the concert platform", according to one of the music critics after her last appearance in New York.

Miss Hinkle believes that one of the greatest fallacies in musical opinions is the idea that a fine voice indicates

Games played during the week ending January 15:

January 10, Indiana 30, Michigan 21; January 15, Chicago 39, Wisconsin 27; Minnesota 24, Iowa 19; Ohio 22, Michigan 10; Purdue 34, Northwestern 19.

Games scheduled for the week ending January 22:

January 17, Northwestern at Indiana; January 18, Chicago at Illinois; January 21, Indiana at Minnesota; Iowa at Michigan; January 22, Illinois at Wisconsin; Iowa at Chicago; Michigan at Northwestern; Purdue at Ohio.

There were no startling surprises in the Conference basketball games last week. The defeat at Minnesota was naturally a disappointment to Iowa students, but the score was close enough to afford ground for hope for better things in the future. Chicago permitted Wisconsin to score rather more than had been expected, and Ohio and Purdue won by rather larger margins than the previous work of these teams had indicated. But there were no upsets and no conspicuous failures to come to form.

The coming week is a critical one for three teams in the "Big Ten." Chicago, Illinois, and Wisconsin will have their chances largely settled by the results of the games played between now and next Monday. If Chicago has the strength with which it is credited, the team must win from both Illinois and Iowa. If Chicago can not beat Illinois rather handily with Carney either out of the game or playing below form, there is little chance for a victory in the second game of the season. Similarly, if Chicago can not win from Iowa at Chicago, it is almost a certainty that the second game at Iowa City will go against the Maroon. On the other hand, if Chicago wins the two games played this week, it will have an ex-

PRIZING PERPLEXITY

Those of us who are under the educational roof looking out on a topsy-turvy world of reconstruction are jolted occasionally by critical brick-bats flung at our sequestered window. In fact it has become a frequent practice of writers, speakers, and reformers to pelt education with censure for one or all of a dozen flaws and shortcomings that they see in it.

No one is foolish enough to claim that the system is above reproach, but it is only fair to regard all of these kindly criticisms with some deliberation.

Bishop Remington, in his Sunday afternoon address, accused education of failing to point out the right path to young men and young women. He claimed clear thinking as a dominant need in democratic government, and blamed teachers for leaving youth hopelessly tangled in a maze of theories of neo-Platonism, Spinoza, Herbert Spencer, Confucianism, etc., "until they can not for the life of them tell what is right."

The bishop was very sincere and his words carried a very certain conviction, but something may be said for the teachers who lecture on Plato, Spinoza, and Spencer. No one will question that clear thinking is the great necessity of democratic government. It is this clear thinking that the teachers are after. Give a man a problem and its solution and he probably will never think it out as he would if the solution were withheld. Let him work his way out of the Spinoza-Plato-Spencer tangle and he will have hit some sort of a workable theory of living for himself and have it with a mental experience that cannot be taken from him. And if the normal, clear-thinking man does not find the right, then democracy appears to be working on a sorry hypothesis.

One can not differ greatly or seriously with the bishop. Right thinking seems to be essential to the government of man and religion to the development of his soul, and that was the bishop's point. It is to be hoped, however, that education will not withdraw from its followers the mental and moral privilege of working through a maze of doubt and perplexity to some sort of real ultimate truth.

ON BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Yesterday, 215 years ago, in comparative poverty was born a man considered by some the greatest of Americans; a man characterized by such critics as D'Alembert and Diderot as the embodiment of practical wisdom. The man was one whose name every American holds in the highest esteem, Benjamin Franklin.

He lived eighty-four years of active energetic life, mostly devoted to the interests of other people. Perhaps he is the most obvious example of the type of man who can devote himself unstintedly to the cause of others, without in any way detracting from his own good fortune.

His literary style found its source in those masters of the English language who have furnished so many of our great men with their adroit literary ability. Defoe, Bunyan, and Addison were his teachers. His periodical, the "New England Courant" was the fourth newspaper in America. He also published an almanac under the pen name of "Richard Saunders."

a work by which many chiefly know him.

In 1754 he had entered continental politics, having served in many local political capacities before that date. During the stormy period of the Revolution, he was colonial ambassador to France, successfully attempting to interest the French king in behalf of the struggling colonies.

Speaking of the constitution which he helped draw up in 1787, he said, "I consent to this constitution because I expect no better, and because I am not sure it is not the best."

His place in history is various. Some would rank him above Napoleon, some place him as our most distinguished American, assuredly he was a man whose life behoves study and imitation.

A GOOD START

Without trying to spread a thin salve of consolation over a clean-cut defeat, one feature in the game with Minnesota last Saturday reflects to the fair name of Iowa in spite of our taking the small end of the score.

"Only one foul on Iowa." That means clean playing in a closely contested game of basketball. It means good playing. It means good sportmanship, self-control, team discipline, and personal honesty.

In the ponderous present, the matter of scores, averages, and championships, looms large. A few years, and the perspective they give, tip the old scale of undergraduate values. Calm, matter-of-fact middle age with its desk, and touring car, and book, and fireside, can easily forget scores, but the remembrance of god sportmanship is a thing that sticks.

An athletic team is out to win; no quibbling about that. But win or lose, the honest game is the thing that counts. No victory is worth the trouble without it. Iowa made a good start Saturday.

cellent start toward the championship and need not fear an upset until the game with Iowa on January 31.

Wisconsin Under Handicap

Illinois will be a competitor when Carney gets back if he plays in form. But it is hard to see how Carney can be in form for games this week, and, if the team loses two games before his return, it will be badly handicapped for the rest of the season. Purdue was kept from a championship last year by the loss of the first two games played, and the chances are that a like fate will befall unless it can get an even break this week.

Wisconsin has already lost two games. The team was strengthened in the Chicago game by the return of Knapp to the lineup, and the chances are that it will continue to gain strength from now on. But if it loses to Illinois at Madison with Illinois still below form, Wisconsin will be hopeless. It could hardly hope to win the second game at Urbana except by an unusually lucky break, even if the loss of three out of the first four games did not prove too great a handicap to overcome.

Hoosier Strength Uncertain

The week is by no means as critical to the other seven teams in the Conference as it is to the three just mentioned. If Iowa can get an even break on its trip at the end of the week, it will be in an excellent position to finish the season with a better showing than last year. Even if both games are lost, which is too dismal to think of, there are still eight games remaining, five of which are on the home floor. Iowa lost but one Conference game at home last winter and may well hope for the same success this season. If, as is possible, both games are won, Iowa may be counted as a championship possibility. It is

CHILLY WINDS BELIE MERCURY INDICATION

Did you think that it was extra cold yesterday morning? It did seem about the coldest one yet, but you were wrong. According to the official thermometer over at the physics building, the minimum temperature registered was zero. One morning last December that same thermometer was hovering around thirteen below.

According to Prof. John F. Reilly, the official weather recorder, those frozen plants in the north window and that frozen-up feeling you experienced when you stepped out yesterday morning, were caused by the wind which accompanied the drop in temperature.

NO SORORITY BASKETBALL THIS YEAR—PANHELLENIC

The women's Pan Hellenic counsel decided not to continue the inter sorority basket ball games this year, at their meeting last Thursday evening, due mainly to opinion advanced by the gymnasium department. It is held that these games foster the wrong spirit between sororities and are detrimental on the whole. Pan Hellenic counsel felt that such a tournament would be unsuccessful

Getting Ready To Go

With 1921 only 17 days old, announcements of new prices on wearing apparel for men and young men have been made by the manufacturers. Each item has been lowered, so that, the average throughout a stock such as we have is, approximately 1-3 less than fall prices.

Consequently

It has been up to us to go through every line and Re-inventory at Replacement cost and Remark Retail Prices to correspond. Naturally this has caused considerable loss to us. However we preferred to take it on our past years business rather than carry it on through the current year—trying to make ourselves believe the depreciation was not really there.

It Took Time

To do all this remarking besides buying those things we needed to replace our depleted stocks which we cleared so thoroughly in December. Not through yet but just about ready to go.

Prof. O. E. Klingaman, head of the Extension Division left this morning for Chicago for a short vacation. He will return the latter part of the week.

CHOIR ENTERTAINS PATIENTS

Y. M. C. A. Campus Service Plans Further Program for Patients

The English Lutheran church choir entertained the patients of the University hospital last Sunday afternoon. Church songs and anthems were the chief features of the program.

The Y. M. C. A. campus service committee has been arranging entertainments for the patients of the hospitals. It is planned to get different organizations to furnish entertainment. Any person or organization that desires to offer such service to those confined to the hospitals can do so by leaving word with the secretary of the Y. M. C. A. according to William O. Moore A3 of Seymour, member of Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

POST OFFICE URGES MORE CARE IN MAILING PACKAGES

Suit cases and laundry bags on which a tag is placed should also have the name and address of both the sender and the address on the article itself, according to advice of postal authorities. They urge, when practicable, to include this information on a separate slip inclosed within the parcel. Parcels addressed by tag only will not be accepted for insurance or collect on delivery. According to postal authorities, there are many complaints of articles not being delivered because the tags have been detached in transit.

JANUARY PALIMPSEST OUT

Number Contains Articles Dealing With Pioneer Life

The January number of the Palimpsest, a magazine published monthly by the State Historical Society of Iowa, has just been distributed, according to John C. Parish, editor. This is the first number of the second volume.

Among the articles in this number is one by Miss Mildred J. Sharp on "Early Cabins in Iowa". Miss Sharp was graduated from the University in June, 1920, and is at present graduate assistant in the department of political science. In the article, Miss Sharp discusses the construction of sod houses and log cabins by the pioneers of the state and describes in detail the methods and materials used in making the furniture used by the early settlers.

Another article, "Lost in an Iowa

Blizzard," by Ira A. Williams, tells of the experience of his father and uncle during their boyhood when they became lost in a blizzard which occurred in the northern part of the state in 1856-57. This was the same year in which the Spirit Lake massacre occurred, and the bad weather prevented the relief expedition from following up the Indians who committed the crime.

COLLEGE PRESS

Illinois—Four students have been expelled and one suspended at the University of Illinois by the student honor commission. All five students were indicted for dishonesty in examinations.

Wisconsin—Three speed crafts have been entered for the ice-boat race to be held soon at Wisconsin. In case enough interest is shown a university ice-yacht club will be formed and the ice-boat race will become an annual event.

Texas—Mrs. McCauly, wife of Lieut. Com. Cleveland McCauly of the United States navy who is now stationed in Chinese waters, has been admitted to practice law in Shanghai, China. Mrs. McCauly received her law degree at the University of Texas several years ago. She is the first woman to be admitted to the practice of law in the far east.

Indiana—The editor of the Indiana annual is almost buried under an avalanche of 500 snap shots which were turned in following the offering of a prize of $5 for the best campus snap shot.

Ohio State—Freshman girls at Ohio State University have adopted a resolution that they will do all in their power to eliminate cheating in examinations.

Syracuse—The University of Syracuse now has a women's rifle team which holds practice twice each week.

Wisconsin—The Badger ski jumpers are now working out on a newly completed jump in preparation for the Badger tournament which is to decide the line-up of the team. They will be in the national ski tournament in which Illinois, Minnesota, and several other states will compete.

SPEAKER URGES CLEAR THINKING

Bishop Remington Sees Failure of Present Education Without Religion

Failure of the present educational system unless it is closely linked with religion, was predicted by the Right Rev. William P. Remington, Suffragan Bishop of South Dakota, in an address, "Christianity and Modern Life," at the natural science auditorium Sunday, January 16, at 4 p. m.

"I believe," Bishop Remington said, "that unless this nation teaches the principles of right living inculcated in the religion of Jesus Christ, it will perish from the face of the earth."

The universal demand of the hour, Bishop Remington outlined, is life in its abundance, and this abundant life, he explained, could be had only through living by the principles of Christianity.

Clear thinking, he said, was an absolute need in a democratic form of government, and he believed it the business of education to point out the right. He challenged "teachers of ethics, and philosophy, who" he said "leave a student so confused in a maze of neo-Platonism, and the theories of Spinoza, Herbert Spencer, and others, that he can not possibly know what is right," to point the way to the truth of life.

Bishop Remington will remain in Iowa City until January 23. He will be present at a dinner and conference given in his honor by the University men of the Episcopal church, at the Pagoda tea shop tonight at 6 o'clock.

SENIORS COLLECT DUES Murphy to Appoint Rest of the Committee Next Sunday

Collection of the $1.00 senior class dues started yesterday. The treasurers of the senior classes in the various colleges all started yesterday to collect the money for commencement expenses but have not reported the results of their first day out.

Weir M. Murphy, president of the all-senior organization, said yesterday that several other commencement committees will be appointed the latter part of the week, but that the entire list of committee appointments would probably not be completed until next semester.

Why does every woman have to battle against love?

Why does every woman have to feel the straining power of seduction through love in one form or another—the hot, ALLURING BREATHS OF DECEITS?

This this has been, from the beginning of history, through all the ages. Man's most beautiful dream, most sought after, most desired, HAS BEEN WOMAN. And through all these ages it was more through passion than the better desires.

Even the saints of past history fought bloody battles; worked, dreamed, struggled through their love for women—not satisfied with one or two or three. These almighty men demanded hundreds—every variety of beauty, dainty little girls in their teens; blondes from the Northlands; strange, slant-eyed brunettes from the Southlands. Mighty wars, broken nations, WRECKED CIVILIZATIONS OVER THE HELENS-OF-TROY. And Cleopatras.

Doesn't the same battle go on today, though changed and modified? Is not every girl still pursued? Why? What is THIS GREAT MYSTERY OF LOVE?

There is the greatest revelation of a woman's soul and a woman's temptation in a tremendous play that is shaking the world; the greatest UNCOVERING OF A WOMAN'S INNER SOUL ever given. If you know, then you know all love and all temptation, joy and sorrow. You will know the DIFFERENCE between the alluring passion of deceit and promiscuous love that leads to bitter ashes and the great all-enfolding SOUL LOVE that looks through the body and finds the great WOMAN-HEART; the love that every woman wants, with peace and passionate purity, leading on and up into the great happiness, with the masterful, overwhelming, all-centered love of the great ONE MAN for the ONE WOMAN—ONLY.

To learn the lesson of ALL LOVE you must see "WAY DOWN EAST" and WOMAN and ALL WOMEN, and the story of Anna Moore in this play. And of David, the farmer boy, greatest of all lovers. And Sanderson, with the old polygamous idea of deceit, and shame for those women who fall in his clutches.

"In 'Way Down East' Mr. Griffith has pictured a plain human story of love and life that will go thundering down the ages BECAUSE IT IS SO HUMAN."—Boston Traveler.

"The patrons shrieked and roared. It is enough to raise the hair on a man's head and raise the man out of his seat."—New York Herald.

You cannot afford to miss it. Go to see "WAY DOWN EAST." It is shown this afternoon and night, at the ENGLERT THEATRE, also tomorrow matinee and night.

THREE TEAMS TO HIT CRISIS DURING WEEK

certain, however, that, no matter how the games go, the result is not vital to Iowa's chances for a better season than last year.

The result of the game between Indiana and Minnesota will be interesting since it is bound to destroy one perfect record. But the defeated team, whichever one it may be, will still have a chance to redeem itself. If Indiana wins, as is possible but not probable, the championship hopes of the Hoosiers will be taken more seriously than has been the case to date. Their victories have been over two of the weaker teams of the Conference and do not give an indication of championship strength.

Purdue May Have Promise
Michigan, which has played more games than any other team except Wisconsin, has started poorly this year and may be firmly fixed in last position by the end of the week. If it should lose both of its games, this will almost certainly be the case. Michigan's schedule calls for more games in January than that of any other team, and with the slow starting qualities of the team this feature is disastrous.

Purdue may have a championship five hidden away down at Lafayette, though it will take more than a victory over Northwestern to prove this. An overwhelming defeat of Ohio would set people thinking, though Ohio like Northwestern is probably weak. But the problem at Purdue at the first of the season was supposed to be the developing of a scoring combination, and Purdue piled up the second best score and won by the widest margin in the Conference to date.

Iowa Looks Better Than Michigan
Ohio must have the material for a strong defensive team. Certainly its showing against Michigan is impressive. While Ohio is not in the championship running, it is just the sort of team to spoil some other five's chances. In fact, it did help to spoil Purdue's chances last year and came very close to spoiling Chicago's.

In the games played this week, Indiana looks distinctly better than Northwestern. A win by the latter would be an upset. Chicago seems to have the edge on Illinois, though the defense against Wisconsin was not good. The margin of superiority is probably not great. Iowa looks better than Michigan, while Indiana and Minnesota look about even. Wisconsin and Illinois look about alike at present, but the Chicago-Illinois game Tuesday night should give a pretty clear idea which is the better. Chicago looks better than Iowa. Michigan and Northwestern looks about even. Purdue looks better than Ohio.
