MORE FREEDOM TEXT OF NEXT SUNDAY'S TALK

Reverend John Haynes Holmes
Of New York to Give Vesper Address

HAS BEEN ON LECTURE TOUR

"Open the Doors: A Plea for Freedom" Will Be Given — Holmes Is Comparable to Rabbi Wise In Point of Eloquence — To Give Talk to Men's Club

"Open The Doors: A Plea For Freedom" is the subject of the address which Rev. John Haynes Holmes will deliver at the vesper services Sunday, February 6. The service will be held at the natural science auditorium Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and music will be furnished by the vesper choir.

Eloquent Speaker

Reverend Holmes is head of the Community church movement in New York and is now returning from a lecture tour in California. He appeared here four years ago and many who heard him place him among the foremost of the speakers whom they have heard. Prof. Gilbert G. Benjamin said yesterday, "I believe that Reverend Holmes, with the possible exception of Rabbi Wise, is one of the most eloquent speakers that the University has been able to bring before the students."

Men's Dinner Saturday

According to Rev. F. C. Doan of the Unitarian church, Reverend Holmes will speak at the men's dinner next Saturday evening, February 5 in the Unitarian church at 6 o'clock on "The Russian Revolution". Sunday morning, February 6, he will speak in the Unitarian church on "The Price of Peace."

Professor Patrick announces that the next vesper service will be held March 20 and that it will consist of the annual Easter music program.

AVIATION COURSE OFFERED

Military Department Tentatively Plans Lectures on Aviation

A semester course in Aeronautics has been tentatively drawn up by a committee from the Aero Club at the request of Colonel Mumma for sophomores and advanced students in the military department.

The course will include lectures on the "Theory of Flight," "Nomenclature," "Motors," "Aerial Photography," and "Advances and Use of the Airplane." In addition a trip will be made to the mail landing field to explain the airplane first hand.

Not over twenty-five members will be allowed to take the course; its purpose being to interest students here in aviation activities. Later a definite drive for an aviation unit may be made.

REGISTRATION IS SLOW

More Than 2,000 Yet to Enroll in L. A. and Graduate College

Reluctance of students in the college of liberal arts and the graduate college to start the business of semester registration is evidenced by the announcement made last night from the registrar's office that only about 140 students out of an approximate 2,300 have completed their registration to date.

Registration for students now enrolled in the University made after Saturday noon, February 5, will require a fine of 25 cents a day for each day after that time. Only three days remain for registration in those colleges.

EARLY PERUSERS OF ROCOCO FRIVOL PRAISE MAGAZINE

The Rococo Frivol, placed on sale in all colleges today, has many qualities which should commend it to the students, according to comments of early perusers of first copies.

There are a great number of features in this issue. Skits, poems, and short stories relating to many phases and subjects connected with University life are contained in the issue.

"Mid-Year Epitaphs" a collection of verses dealing with semester flunking, and "Getting Hep" a phase of fraternity life, display a type of humor which is particularly pleasing. "Improbable Endings of Stories" and "Eiffels of Plattitude" are other features of this issue, which brought out many laughs.

The sale of this number of Frivol is entirely in the hands of the Women's Athletic association, which has made arrangements for the maintenance of sale tables in the various colleges during the entire day.

HISTORY HEADS TO MEET HERE

High School Teachers From Over State Will Meet
Here March 11-12

History teachers of high schools throughout the state will meet for a conference at the University on Friday and Saturday, March 11 and 12.

A program is being arranged which will include as speakers some national authorities in the field of history. Willis Mason West, formerly of the University of Minnesota, will give two addresses. The subjects Mr. West has chosen to speak on are "The Content of the High School History Course from the View Point of the Text Book Writer," and the "Ideals of the History Teacher."

Daniel C. Knowlton, a member of the board of editors of the "Historical Outlook" will speak on the "Social Viewpoint in History."

Prof. Ezra T. Towne of the University of South Dakota, author of the text book on "Social Problems," will speak on "Practical Courses in Social Problems," and on "Keeping Your Feet on the Ground."

Prof. Harry G. Plum, Prof. Gilbert G. Benjamin, Miss Bessie L. Pierce of the department of history, Assoc. Prof. Clarence M. Case of the department of economics, sociology and commerce, and Dean William F. Russell of the college of education will also be on the program.

Sessions of the conference will be held on general topics of interest to the history teacher, according to Prof. Arthur M. Schlesinger, head of the department of history. "This is the first time that a history teachers conference has been held here, but it is expected that it will be made an annual affair," said Professor Schlesinger.

A complete program will be announced later.

IOWANS IN GOLDEN
STATE PLAN PICNIC

Former residents of the state of Iowa who are now residing in California will hold their annual picnic in Lincoln Park, Los Angeles, California, on February 22. The picnic is under the auspices of the Iowa association of southern California, and is an annual event for the former Iowans and visitors from this state. A section of the park will be laid out in a miniature Iowa and there will be headquarters of the Iowa association of southern California, in the Commercial National Bank in Los Angeles. This association is for the convenience and information of visiting Iowans in the far west.

HOW DANTE'S "INFERNO" MIGHT HAVE READ HAD BEATRICE BEEN A CO-ED

Does dinner at a sorority house represent to a professor hours of torture or does he actually enjoy the society of a score or more of co-eds?

All the while he is making the pretty speech of acceptance does he quake within?

Well he knows the mode of entertainment to which he will be subjected.

First they will seek to beguile him with smiles and the conversation will be an attempt to show him that they are really not a bit frivolous. He'll be forced to listen to eulogies on "one of our smartest girls."

At the table he will squirm in the seat of honor next to the chaperon and will be hemmed in on the other side by the fair damsel who invited him.

The presiding dowager is valuable and does her best to show him a good time. "Has he read the latest books?" "Main street?" "No?" The bright pupil smiles slyly, for she knows his aversion to modern literature.

Then his ears are assailed with ditties about, "We're the jolliest bunch" and the sweetheart songs of all the fraternities on the campus.

After that they bear him to the living room and put him on the most comfortable spot on the davenport. Someone plays Greig and another sings, "My Little Grey Home."

And after hours it is time to leave and with a brightening countenance, he rises. The chapter en masse moves to the door to "speed the parting guest." After innumerable leave takings he at last finds himself out in the free air. Life takes on a new possibility and he swings off down the street.

No! this may not be true; it's just how we imagine we'd feel if we were a professor-invited-out-to-dinner-at-a-sorority house.

115 INVITATIONS OUT FOR FINKBINE KUEHNLE DINNER

One hundred and fifteen invitations, including the president of the men's organizations, as well as deans of the various colleges, President Jessup, Colonel Mumma, Coach Jones, Ralph Grassfield of the Memorial Union, have been issued to the Finkbine-Kuehnle dinner which is to be given February 8 at the Hotel Jefferson.

According to Professor Ensign, chairman of the Finkbine-Kuehnle dinner committee, it has been a difficult task to secure a list of the various men's organizations, and it is quite possible that some have been overlooked. As it is the wish of the hosts that every University men's organization be represented, Professor Ensign desires that if any official head of any men's organization finds that he has not been invited to this dinner, he communicate with him at once in order that the proper correction may be made. This may be done by phoning the Alumnus office, No. 848. The list of invitations will be printed as soon as all possible corrections have been made.

LATIN TEACHERS NEEDED

Department Has Made Arrangements To Care For Special Case

The Latin department has made special arrangements for students who have not had the first semester of the course to enter the year courses. This arrangement has been made for those students who have had three or four years of high school Latin and who expect to teach next year. In the last year there has been an unusual demand for Latin teachers due to the increase in enrollment in high school Latin courses. The committee on recommendation for teachers reported 250 requests for Latin teachers last year with only 35 candidates available.

Prof. B. L. Ullman, head of the Latin and Greek department, feels that this is due to the exclusion of German from the high schools and the putting in of French and Spanish which do not seem to be holding their own. There has also been a scarcity in teachers fitted to teach these languages.

The reports from the questionnaire on languages in Iowa schools show that in 1919 there was an increase in first year Latin of 5.9 per cent over 1918 and an increase of 5.5 per cent in second year Latin. Figures show that the modern languages are not crowding Latin from the schools, and that there is an increase in the interest in Latin and not a decrease as many have thought, says Prof. Ullman.

All students interested in entering the course under special arrangement see Prof. Ullman in room 107 Liberal Arts building.

COACH JENKINS PICKS YEARLINGS

17 Men Selected From Squad
Of 70 Candidates to Form
Freshman Team

From a squad of 70 men, the cream of the Iowa high school basketball stars, Coach Albert Jenkins has selected 17 men to represent the Freshman basketball team for 1921. The final cut on the big squad was made last week when sweaters were issued to Iowa's potential stars of the future.

In the squad are such men as F. M. Butler, of Springfield, Ia., forward, the lad who was mainly responsible for the showing of the Springfield high school five in the state tournament last year; Paul M. Barton, of Fort Dodge, a forward who has starred in high school circles for the past four years, and who was named as captain of the Freshman squad last week; H. W. Gordon, of Oskaloosa, another forward who has been playing basketball for four years; and H. L. Moody, of Seattle, Wash., guard, a newcomer in the state, but a man who has played four years during his prep days.

Other men on the squad who have played four years are M. C. Watson of Algona, forward; Robert Rankin, of Fort Dodge, forward; and William Johnstone, of Boone, forward.

The remainder of the Freshman squad is made up of the following men: W. M. Dent of Marshalltown, one year guard; E. C. Saggau of Denison, two years guard; J. D. Morrison, St. Mary, Kansas, one year guard; R. G. Hass, a brother of Carl Hass, Grinnell sprint star, Sioux City, two years guard; W. Hicks, of Brooklyn three years guard and forward; P. D. Henry of Strawberry Point, two years at center; E. A. Kelloway, of Anita, three years center and guard, and George Finley, of Fairbault, Minn., two years at center.

ATHLETIC HEADS WILL DRAW UP SPRING PLANS MONDAY

Directors and managers of athletics of Iowa colleges will meet in a business session at the Jefferson hotel, Monday, February 7, to form the spring baseball and track schedules. This meeting is an annual event and takes place at various college or university cities throughout the state.

The business session will be at the Jefferson hotel in the afternoon. In the evening the visiting managers and directors will be the guests of the University of Iowa board in control of athletics at a dinner at the Jefferson hotel, after which they will attend the Iowa-Minnesota basketball game in a body. Thirty representatives of colleges, which includes nearly all the colleges in the state are expected.

KAUFMANN NAMED 'IRON MAN'

Chicago Victory Expected by Loyal
Fans—Basket Shooting to Occupy
Five — Iowa's Teamwork Showing
Up Well — Expect Large Score in Next Game

Following the partly expected victory over the Chicago basketball team, Iowa will point for the second meeting with the Minnesota team next Monday night.

Some scrimmage will be included in the evening workouts, but a large amount of the time will be devoted to basket shooting and development of floorwork. Last night's workout was spent at teamwork practice and basket shooting. The freshman teams and the second string of the varsity scrimmaged for twenty minute periods.

Iowa Surprises Some

Monday night's victory was a surprise to many fans, while a great many had predicted a victory by a four point margin. It was a game so close that the victory cannot be attributed to the score alone. Iowa's superiority in teamwork, and defense are probably the two greater factors.

Chicago could not show up at her best against Iowa and that rule will work vice versa. The Maroons played a distinctly offensive style of game, while the Hawkeyes stayed on the defensive, last night, thus pitting styles of games against each other as well as teams.

Kaufmann Stars

The two styles of games account to considerable degree for the comparatively low score. The Iowa-Minnesota game will probably run to a larger score as Iowa will use her offensive machine more. The Hawkeye defensive worked the best it has worked in any game of the season last night. Kaufmann, who aside from holding Vollmer to one basket, formed the center of Iowa's defense, may be considered Iowa's "iron man". He played a wonderful game at the critical standing guard position, which is the primary defense against scoring.

Devine played a hard game against Birkoff, who dribbled rapidly, and held that star basketless. Devine's game required running almost through the entire period that he played. Smith, who substituted for Devine, allowed Birkoff one clear shot at the basket which gave the Maroon man his only basket. Smith was substituted in the second half and had been sitting with his legs in a cramped position on the sidelines, which accounts for Birkoff's basket. Smith had just entered the game when the score was made, and was not yet warmed up. He is a 10:01 man in the hundred yard dash.

ESTES PARK WORKER TO BE HERE ABOUT APRIL 1

Miss Eunice Peters, who has charge of the signing of all contracts for Estes Park work, will visit Iowa City shortly after April 1, to sign up all women interested in spending their summer vacation in Estes Park. The contracts for this year will be similar to those of last year with perhaps the exception of more salary being paid in the bonus and less in the body of the contracts, as the employers at this park experienced considerable difficulty last year through the employees breaking their contracts during the middle of the season.

The salaries paid last year were about twenty-five dollars per month for the waitress and pantry work, and twenty-eight dollars per month for room work with approximately a third more per month if the contract was fulfilled.

MAINTAINING A TRADITION

Announcement is made of twelve vacancies on the staff of student instructors at the children's hospital. These positions require an hour a day of the student's time except on Saturday and Sunday. They carry credit in education or electives. They involve tutoring for those of high school age, or hand work, music, etc., for younger children.

If there is any satisfaction in having done a creditable piece of work it may be felt here. An English writer in an article published in the Christian Science Monitor commenting on the children's art exhibition at 217 King'sbridge, London, and upon the work of the child's class in the Vienna School of Arts and Crafts, says:

"...No country in the world has such a fine, glorious, happy tradition in craft work of all kinds as England, but it has been sacrificed to industrialism, wealth, and commerce, and all their attendant ugliness. But this tradition still lives in the children of England as the tradition of Austria lives in those of Vienna"

For that matter it seems plausible enough that middle-western America has a tradition or two, and while the old frontier over which men of two races hunted and fought, is practically a thing of the past, it appears to live again in the children of each generation. Feathered stocking caps, wooden spears, and innocent broomstick rifles still haunt our prosaic old campus when grammar school hours are over, and wooden trowels and mud knit awkward brick-bats into fortresses in back yard play grounds. These other children with braced and plaster-cast backs and legs need play as much as the more fortunate ones who breeds chaos in the garden. Stevenson says:

"In the child's world of dim sensation, play is all in all. 'Making believe' is the gist of his whole life, and he cannot so much as take a walk except in character."

Those who have read any of the little essays by French children compiled by Emile Berr for Le Figaro, Paris, and reprinted in some American newspapers have noted the sober-minded worldly-wise attitude they reveal. Nine year old Maxime Picard writes:

"France has suffered severely because she has not had money enough to pay for her soldiers and munitions and it is for this we should love her and lend her money to pay what she owes to foreign countries."

Very different is this from the attitude of the average young Iowan with his dog and sled, who loves his country because the creek has bullheads to catch in the summer, and is frozen in winter. This freshness and unsophistication seem wholesome, refreshing influences worth keeping for children well or crippled.

A girl's popularity may be determined by whether she buys an I ticket, or decides to take chances on being escorted by an I ticket.

Monday's basketball game was worth a fank in any man's course.

GLOOM! GLOOM! GLOOM!

The balloon did not rise. Hundreds of gloom-hounded, buck-fevered bleacherites, chins sagging dismally on waiscoats, watched the gymnasium team between halves at the game Monday night, heard the band play, and piled up verbal lilies, wreaths and buds and garlands, on the grave of old Iowa.

But old Iowa was not dead. It came back and did a pantomime for the sign on the fence at the athletic field. What the bleacher crepe hangers did not see was that Iowa could fight. What they did not feel was that Iowa could fight. What they did not realize was that the opponents were only five men, and that they were tired men, and that Jimmy Ashmore's team, so far as that evening was concerned at least, was superior.

"Well, here's where the old jinx hits us." "Now they'll begin to pile it up." "Here's where the old balloon begins to rise." Carrying lilies, wearing crepe, weeping, sobbing, dreary of eye and of tone, the bleacherites donned sack cloth and ashes and went about cutting ropes and waiting for it to go up. But the balloon did not rise.

It was nothing. Why shouldn't we have defeated Chicago? We have five men and a coach and a student body, and a sign on the fence at the athletic field. A few of these pre-mortem mourners breed enough gloom to dim the morale of an entire stand full of fans. Quit carrying lilies! Sometimes the balloon does not rise.

TRACK MEET FOR WOMEN

Thirty Have Signed Up For Practice Friday at 5

This year, for the first time, track has been added to the list of athletics for women at the University. Outside of Wisconsin, Iowa is the only university in the middle west which has track for women. The date of the women's track meet has not yet been decided, but it will probably be sometime in the early spring.

Although all of the arrangements for the track meet are under the supervision of W. A. A., the tryouts are open to anyone who is interested. More than thirty women have already signed up and practically all of them were out for practice last Friday afternoon at 5 p. m. The practices will be held regularly at 5 p. m. every Friday afternoon. Two girls who are majoring in playground work are the coaches. They are: Audrey Koerner A2 of Pasadena, Cal., and Josephine Henderson A2 of Hawkeye.

At present the events which the women are practicing are: running hop step and jump, for which the women's record is thirty-three feet and six inches, and the running high jump for which the record is four feet and nine inches. The records made by the women so far have been twenty-eight feet for the first and four feet and one inch for the latter. They are planning to add such events as the broad jump, one-half mile relay, and perhaps the low hurdles. The preliminaries for these events will be run off the same as for the men.

Training rules have been drawn up and it is planned to put them into operation as soon as possible. The rules are as follows: Practice one-half hour each day, not to eat between meals, to be in bed at 11 p. m. on six nights out of the week, and to get eight hours sleep.

Entrance in any of the events of the track meet will count for entrance requirements for W. A. A. The winners of each event will receive additional points similar to the system practiced in regard to winning events in the swimming meet.

INTER-FRATERNITY TRACK MEET TO BE HELD EARLY IN MAY

An inter-fraternity track meet will take place sometime this spring according to a decision of the Inter-Fraternity Council at a recent meeting. The date has not yet been decided upon, but it will probably take place about the second Saturday in May, and will be held on the Iowa Field. No admission fee will be charged.

The Inter-Fraternity Council will give a large trophy cup to the winning team. Men on the Varsity track squad will be exempted from competing in this contest, so it will be more a test of a whole chapter's strength and not so much the performance of a few stars that will win the meet.

Other conference schools support the Inter-Fraternity track competition to the extent of giving a trophy for some feature event. The half-mile relay was the feature event at Northwestern and Illinois last year in inter-fraternity competition. The Inter-Fraternity Council hopes that the Iowa athletic officials will see fit to follow this custom. Many men with potential possibilities will no doubt be found in a track meet of this character and the Varsity squad be materially strengthened by their discovery.

Either Mr. Schroeder, physical director of the University, or Coach Bresnahan, track coach, will be asked to start the meet.

University Graduate Weds Italian

The marriage of Miss Mary Kiefer '13 Sioux City and Marchese Degili Albizzi, an Italian lieutenant, took place Jan. 25 on the Holland-American liner Rotterdam en route for Tiflis, where the couple met a year and a half ago.

Miss Mary Kiefer was graduated from the University in 1913 and then attended the Vassar training school for nurses. During the war she spent 18 months working among the Armenian refugees and it was there that she met the Marchese. Miss Kiefer returned last June and has been speaking in behalf of relief organizations.

Marchese Degili Albizzi was awarded the Italian medal for valor three times during the war. He will resume services for the Italian government and his wife will do relief work in Tiflis.

VAN METRE REJOINS IOWAN

Made Associate Editor to Fill Vacancy Left by Hayes' Resignation

Appointment of Maurice Van Metre formerly city editor of the Waterloo Courier, to the associate editorship of the Daily Iowan was approved by the Daily Iowan board of trustees in a meeting last night in room 11 liberal arts building.

Van Metre will take the place left by the resignation of Robert W. Hayes A4 of Iowa City, who has announced that because of conflicts with his course of study he will be compelled to drop journalistic work during the second semester.

Van Metre was associate editor and humorous editor of the Daily Iowan last year and since that time has been employed by the Des Moines Register as telegraph editor, and by the Waterloo Courier as city editor.

FOUR TEACHERS RECEIVE SCHOOL APPOINTMENTS

The committee on recommendations have made the following appointments for the remainder of the year: Majorie Shular A4 of Leon, Iowa, to teach social science at Valley Junction, Iowa; Florence Borrush A4 of Vilisca to teach English at Adel, Iowa; Vance Morton, who receives his degree this semester, to teach English and public speaking in the Correctionville high school; and Anne Gittens '10 to teach mathematics in the Marcus high school.

FURTHER PRIZES FOR AMATEUR AUTHORS BY DES MOINES SOCIETY

Additional inducement for play writers to prove their ability is offered through announcement made by the Little Theater society of Des Moines of an original play writing contest which is open to the people of Iowa.

Besides the contest which the University Players conducted this year, and the prize offered by the Acme Chautauqua system of Des Moines, this third contest is open to plays of any type or length and in this way makes possible the recognition of every type of talent.

The plays will be judged by a committee from the Little Theater society of which Mrs. James C. Hume is chairman. A suitable reward is promised by the society to the one of highest merit and in case the winning play is deemed worthy of production by the society it will probably be given sometime in April. Manuscripts are to be submitted either to Mrs. Hume or to Mrs. Allan Friedlich of Des Moines, president of the society.

The Little Theater society is especially anxious, it announced, to arouse interest among the students of the colleges and universities of the state and urges that they should take this opportunity to do original work of this nature.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA OFFERS $500 FELLOWSHIP

A letter from the department of commerce at the University of California, which is posted on the bulletin board outside room 206 liberal arts building, announces two Flood Fellowships at the University of California. These two scholarships paying $500 each are available annually and are open to graduates of institutions of recognized standing. They are given to encourage research or advanced work in the field of business and related subjects. No teaching is required of those to whom they are awarded. Applications for these fellowships should be filed with the recorder of Berkley, Calif. not later than the the faculties, University of California first day of March.

The same letter made inquiry for seniors or juniors who desire to pursue advanced work in economics and at the same time secure teaching experience. Men and women qualified to conduct a quiz section in economics are needed at the University of California, the letter stated, and such men and women receive $750 a year for conducting six hours of quiz sections each week. Anyone who is interested is asked to consult Prof. Clyde O. Ruggles, head of the department of commerce.
