IOWA WILL GIVE ILLINOIS A HOT FIGHT ON MAT

Conference Wrestlers Will Grapple on Home Floor Today at 3 p. m.

ALL CLASSES WELL MATCHED

Today is First Meet for Illinois Team — Won from Iowa Last Year — Have Team of Veterans — Old Gold Team Primed for Match — Furness Illinois Star Man

Coach Ralph Parcaut's wrestling team grapples this afternoon at 3 p. m. with the Illinois mat men. This is the first meet of the season for the Illinois squad, while the Hawkeye team has had three conference contests with two successive victories.

Illinois captured first honors last year in the conference meet. They also succeeded in winning over the Iowa wrestlers last season by two decisions. When Illinois takes the mat today against the Hawkeyes, they will be fortified with four veterans of last year's team. Final tryouts were held in the Illini camp yesterday.

Every weight was hotly contested but especially the heavy weight divisions. Ems, the Illinois veteran heavyweight wrestler, was forced to concede his position to Furness because of injuries received in practice. Furness is a veteran in the grappling game and will make Hunter, our representative, show some of his stored energy. Meyer, who will represent the Illini in the 175 pound class, is one of the two men on their aggregation that is serving his first year on the varsity squad. He is due for a royal battle, for Captain White, who holds down this position on the Hawkeye team, has not failed to add eight points to the Iowa score.

Ben Howrey May Return
Howrey who was injured in practice may possibly be able to take the mat tomorrow and fight for honors in the 158 pound class. If he is able to compete he will be pitted against Esslinger, another veteran of the Illinois squad. "Bob" Smith has not yet this season been defeated but it is probable that he will be well matched this afternoon when he clashes with the Captain Jessen in the 145 pound class. Mat fans are expecting and hoping that Chou, another of the Illinois old timers, will be a real man at the mat game, for thus far this season Sweeney has not been forced to go his limit in order to take honors in the 135 pounders.

Vana, one of the few veterans on the Iowa team, won honors yesterday in the tryouts of the 125 pound class and will take the mat with Flostrom of the Illinois camp.

Team in Good Condition
With the exception of Howrey, the Iowa team is in good condition and has every chance to win from the highly touted Illinois aggregation. News from the Daily Illini states that the invading team is in the best of condition and is determined to repeat last year's championship performance. The team arrived in Iowa City yesterday under the supervision of Coach Schuettner. Coach Paul Prehn who wrestled Meyer last night, will arrive here today and have charge of the final touches of the team before the contest.

Year book coupon No. 10 or fifty cents is the admission charge.

The line-up for today's meet is:
Heavyweight class; Hunter, Iowa; Furness, Illinois.
175 pound class; Captain White, Iowa; Meyer, Illinois.
158 pound class; Howrey, Iowa; Esslinger, Illinois.
145 pound class; Smith, Iowa; Captain Jessen, Illinois.
135 pound class; Sweeney, Iowa; Chou, Illinois.
125 pound class; Vana, Iowa; Flostrom, Illinois.

INTERN GETS FELLOWSHIP IN ROCHESTER INSTITUTE

Dr. Albert W. Bryan '20, an intern at the University hospital, received yesterday a nomination to a three year fellowship in the Mayo Foundation at Rochester, Minn. Doctor Bryan has accepted the nomination and will take up his new work at Rochester on July 1.

PLAYERS WILL PRESENT DRAMA

University Players to Give "The Passing of the Third Floor Back"

"The Passing of the Third Floor Back," a four-act drama by Jerome K. Jerome, will be produced by University players sometime during the latter part of April, it was decided at the regular meeting Thursday night. Tryouts for the cast of the play, which will be conducted as soon as possible, will be arranged by Helene Blattner G of Iowa City, Lucille Everett A3 of Iowa Falls, and Robert J. Block A3 of Davenport.

The players considered the presentation of "As You Like It" and "The Taming of the Shrew" but abandoned the plan to present a Shakespearean play because of the contemplated production of one of Shakespeare's by the class in educational dramatics. Charles B. Gould A3 of Des Moines, president of the University Players, said yesterday, "Since an opportunity will be afforded the students and townspeople to hear a Shakespearean play by the educational dramatic class we feel that University Players should offer some variety by giving drama."

Great success was accorded "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" when produced by Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, a theatrical-manager of London, and may critics praise it highly. The scene is laid in the living room or a second class boarding house in London. The boarding house group is a personification of the vices into which "The Passerby," the incarnation of Christ, enters. The story deals with the transformation of this unlovely circle by a revealing of their better natures through the influence of the Passerby. In his criticism on the contemporary English drama, Joseph Wayne Barley said, "On the whole, Mr. Jerome's play, "The Passing of the Third Floor Back," is one in which the message is uplifting, the moral unexceptional and wholesome."

According to Gould, it will be the policy of University Players, beginning with its next meeting to have a short one-act play presented by the members at each regular meeting.

ANNOUNCE DATE OF MEN'S GLEE CLUB CONCERT

Annual Home Performance Will Be Given March 3, Prof. W. F. Hays Says

LIST TENTATIVE NUMBERS

Selection Given on Tour During Christmas Vacation Will Be Repeated Here — Quartet, Solo, and Banjo Numbers To Be Among Features

Definite plans have been made for the men's glee club to give its annual home concert, according to Prof. William F. Hays, director of the club. It will be given March 3 in the natural science auditorium and all of the glee club numbers will appear in the concert. The admission price will be fifty cents.

Professor Hays said yesterday that although the program has not yet been completed, many of the numbers that were used in the concerts on the tour during the Christmas holidays will be included in the program here since they met with enthusiastic favor in the different cities visited.

Among them will be "The Garden of Your Heart" by Dorel-Salter, "Macushla" by McMurrugh, "By the Sea" by Mark Andrews, "Twilight" by Dudley Buck, and a group of old favorite and college songs. The quartet composed of Leslie M. Hays A4 of Seymour, Veron B. Thomas A2 of Corning, Harry E. Schmidt A3 of Burlington, and J. Frederick Allebach A2 of Iowa City, will give selected numbers, and two or three members of the club, who have not yet been named, will sing solos. Fred A. Steiner L1 of Corydon will also entertain with special numbers on the banjo.

Tickets for the concert have been distributed among the members of the club and will be placed on sale within a few days, according to present plans. Since the cancellation of his registration by Holger N. Hoegh M3 of Clinton, business manager of the club, William A. Bockover M4 of Cresco, president, will have charge of the arrangements for the concert.

FIELD TO HAVE NAME

Winner of Contest to Have Tickets to Vaudeville

Two one-dollar complementary tickets for the W. A. A. vaudeville February 24, will be given by W. A. A. to any student of the University who turns in the best name for the new women's athletic field by next Thursday morning, according to Jean Spiers A3 of Reinbeck, president of W. A. A. "The eastern schools have names for their girls' athletic fields, and we want the University of Iowa to be the first of the central western Universities to start that idea," said Miss Spiers, "and while there isn't much field for a name yet, we have the promise of enough ground room for a field of two blocks more."

The following members of the W. A. A. board of control will judge the contest for the name for the field; Miss Marion R. Lyon, head of the physical education department; Lorena Bowen A3 of Iowa City, head of soccer; Pauline Spencer A2 of Des Moines, head of baseball; Eleanor Williams A3 of Storm Lake, head of field and track; and Gladys Taggart A2 of Spencer, head of tennis.

NEW FACES MAY GRACE FIVE IN PURDUE BATTLE

McGovney and Tiede Likely to Start for Iowa for First Time Tonight

HOPE FOR SCORING COMBINE

Visitors Will Have Two Veterans in Lineup — Expected to Be Aggressive Team — Captain White Second in Conference Scoring Standing Hawks May Show More Ability

A change in the Iowa basketball team's lineup will probably be seen when the team comes on the floor to meet Purdue tonight at 7:15, if Coach James Ashmore's tactics during this week's practice have developed.

Tiede has worked at center the entire week, McGovney part of the time at forward with Lohman, while Shimek has been playing running guard opposite Captain Kaufmann. The shakeup is an attempt to get a scoring combination. So far this season the forwards alone have been dependable for scores, as the guards have only scored eight points in major contests. Probably the lineup tonight will be McGovney and Lohman at forwards, Shimek and Kaufmann at guards and either Frohwein or Tiede at center.

Varsity Practice Improves

The team has worked better in practice this week than during former practice periods. Previous to this week scoring has been nip and tuck between varsity and freshmen with most of the play in freshman territory but this week the scene of play changed to varsity territory, and the team assumed more of an aggressive attitude while the freshmen did little scoring.

The lineup which Coach Piggy Lambert of Purdue will probably start against Iowa tonight contains only two men who were regulars last year. Both forwards and the center are new men, but the guards are veteran material.

Captain White at running guard is Purdue's high scorer. This season, in six games, he has scored fifteen field baskets and is second to Birkoff of Chicago on free throws with forty-two. White is fast and has an eye for the basket so he nearly always outscores his forwards. He was placed on the all-Conference team last

LITERARY SOCIETIES WILL SEND OUT BIDS WEDNESDAY EVENING

Bids will be sent out by the six women's literary societies Wednesday evening, February 23, instead of on the preceding night, as was formerly decided upon, because of no postal service on a legal holiday.

Each society sends out formal invitations to the freshmen and upper-class women who are chosen by that society from the number which has attended its open program and parties and has shown forensic ability in previous years. During the past two weeks each society has held one rushing party of a purely social nature.

Membership in the various societies is limited, varying from about forty to sixty members which are chosen on the basis of scholarship, interest, and ability in literary society work.

Acceptance of bids to the various societies is designated by the wearing of ribbons of the chosen colors of that society.

The colors of the different societies are: Erodolphian, pink and green; Hesperia, corn and wine; Athena, green and white; Whitby, yellow and white; Octave Thanet, lavender and white; and Hamlin Garland, maize and senna.

GET INTO THE GAME

At least one benefit accrues to the habitue of the local billiard roofs; he learns the rule for outsiders—If you can't do better yourself, keep your mouth shut. Rare it is to hear a spectator of a three-cushion billiard match remark on the ineptitude displayed by the players thereof in contriving to make the cue ball hit the two object balls. Two reasons act as deterrents to loose criticism in the basement or second floor rooms filled with green covered tables and midnight blue tobacco smoke. One is that billiard cues are made with loaded butts, and the other is that the unwary critic may be invited to take a cue himself and show how the thing should be done "for a dollar."

If you can't do better yourself, keep your mouth shut. Think it over once in a while. For instance, the next time you are tempted to say, "Why doesn't that man learn to shoot baskets," or, "If that boy is funny my name is Mark Twain", just bear in mind that if you are so good it would look better for you to be out there showing it than for you to be merely talking about it.

University activities are not restricted to any one group. If you can deliver the goods you are wanted on athletic teams, play casts, debating teams, glee clubs, and even on publications. Don't stay up in the tree and tell your friend down on the ground grappling with the bear what to do. Come down off your perch and pitch in yourself. There is always room for another willing worker.

WHAT IS A FLAPPER?

Webster's Standard dictionary stammers out the following definition of the much discussed word "flapper"—"A thing to flap or clasp with: a part that hangs or droops; a flipper; a young game bird, especially a duck, not able to fly well; in a slang sense, the hand."

The above definition is all very well in its own way, but to one who has sniffed through Fitzgerald's "Flappers and Philosophers" or has listened to snap judgments from campus critics to the effect that the co-ed wading down the sidewalk in a pair of galoshes is a "flapper" one is forced to shake his head and see the truth elsewhere.

What is a flapper?
 A flash in Frivol, the humorous magazine, comes out with the following verse claiming it to be a definition. Here it is:

A Flapper
 "A dab of paint—a bit of fur—a dress,
 A hat of duvety, refined and dapper,
 Some pins exposed—a smile of loveliness,
 Some slang, some gum—and there, my friend's your flapper!"

Such a definition is pretty indeed. We read it and smile but our confusion as to what a flapper is is merely intensified. Reducing the verse brings to our confused brain no definite individual. The word "refined" adds the confusion and seems, indeed, to be a trifle illogical. If questioned further about the flapper, the writer of the above verse, might say that she is a roccoco individual but then what?

Continuing our quest we stumble on this definition in an editorial in the Columbia Spectator. "The ordinary variety of flapper is a she—a girl in the stage between hay and grass, whose chief thought is to attract attention."

No! no! It can't be publicity. Feminine passion for attention is determined altogether by the clothes that grace her figure. According to such a definition every girl at a formal dance would become a flapper by reason of her evening gown. Such a definition therefore must be consigned to the oblivion of the waste-basket. Besides we have been led to believe that a flapper is a sure enough person, a definite individual—that flappers were born and not made, and that flapping is a characteristic as permanent as the color of her eyes.

Alas! What is a flapper? This little investigating excursion has yielded nothing but a few phrases and nothing more. A clear cut definition has not yet presented itself and we are in the slough of disappointment. Is there really such a creature? or is the word merely handed gratuitously to the feminine sex by some flamboyant male in a garrulous and critical moment? Does it refer to a period in an individual's life, a period which she outgrows or is flapping something acquired: an acquisition, which like a bad habit, clings to one through life? The solution does not rest in our hands and we lay the question on the desk. We shall go forward with the words of a flippant sorority girl in our ear. They were, "Why 'flapper,' you poor simp is the feminine gender for 'fop.'"

And after all perhaps that is the solution. Who knows?

While all the world is reflecting that the Marion front porch at this time is about the most lonesome place in the whole world, the campus fusser who sits on the back steps of a sorority house is sure that although his step is not exactly the most lonesome place in the world it is surely the coldest.

A deplorable epidemic of inertia has fallen on the campus. Almost five weeks have passed and we have heard nothing about a new dancing club being organized.

Some of us are interested in every new fangled step that the dancing masters introduce. For instance many of us are toddling whereas only a few weeks ago we were shifting. The conservative man however is still sticking to the old cheek-to-cheek method.

NEW RULES HAVE NOT CAUSED MUCH CHANGE IN NUMBER ENROLLED

"The number of students who were not permitted to re-register for this semester's work is about the same as in previous years," said Dean George F. Kay, chairman of the committee on admission and classification. "The report that the liberal arts college was overcrowded and that a number of students had to be dropped in order to keep up to the standard of the University, is absolutely unfounded."

Until this year there was no definite basis for the amount of work a student had to carry successfully in order to continue his course in the University. If he failed in half the number of hours which he was registered, the faculty committee could do what it thought best. This plan proved rather inefficient and a committee from the faculty drew up the following rules which were adopted last June and went into effect this fall:

Any upperclassman who has not passed either ten hours, or two-thirds of the hours for which he is registered, shall be dropped, but he may be reinstated on probation by special administrative action. If he has not maintained at least two-thirds of his work at "D" or above, he shall be placed on probation for the next succeeding semester. Failure to maintain the prescribed standard for the probation period may at any time be cause for a cancellation of registration.

Any freshman who fails to pass one half the hours for which he is registered shall be dropped unless permitted to continue on probation by special administrative action. If he passes one-half, but fails to pass two-thirds of the hours for which he is registered with all grades above "E", he shall be placed on probation for the next succeeding semester.

In referring to these regulations, Dean Kay stated that the committee on admission and classification upon which the responsibility of administering these rules is placed, was attempting to carry them out in the spirit in which they were adopted by the faculty.

Many students who have failed to live up to the prescribed regulations have been placed on probation especially if they were working against some handicap. Dean McKay said, "Every effort is being made to stimulate scholarship among the students. The case of each delinquent student is considered carefully, and such action is taken as the evidence would seem to justify."

Similar regulations are enforced in practically every university in the middle west. They have been necessitated to insure the best progress in student scholarship.

IRVINGS ELECT DEBATERS

Men's Literary Societies Make Plans for Freshman Debates

Irving Institute elected six of its freshmen members at the tryouts Thursday evening, February 17, to represent Irving in the freshman debates which will be held April 22. They are: Charles E. Baker of Iowa City, Frederick Lazelle of Cedar Rapids, Joseph Emmert of Atlantic, Willis McMartin of Bridgewater, S. D., Harry E. Mundt of Everly, and Lawrence Jongewaard of Orange City.

The three men's literary societies, Zetagathian, Philomathean, and Irving, will each enter an affirmative and a negative team in the debates, all three of which will be held the same evening in different halls. The proposition for discussion will be, Resolved: that the United States should cease making appropriations for the enlargement of our navy. Since a large number of judges would be required for the three debates, it has been decided to have only one judge instead of three for each debate. According to present plans the judge not only will make a decision but he will criticize the debate and give his opinion and reasons for decision.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Hesperia literary society will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All members are requested to return play tickets at this meeting.
 Dorothy J. Banks, president.

BIG SECRET IN VODVILLE SHOW

"Margie" and Her Chorus Will Present Act Unusual in Campus Variety

One hundred and twenty-five members of W. A. A. will take part in the W. A. A. vaudeville to be given February 24 at the Englert theater. An orchestra composed of members of University band will play two overtures and accompany the musical acts as a return favor to W. A. A. for selling tags to send the band to Chicago last fall.

"Marjie" played by Virginia Boyd A3 of Colfax, and her chorus of twelve girls will put on a dancing act, and will do something that has never been done before in a campus entertainment at the University, according to Dolly Henderson A4 of Hawkeye, general manager of the vaudeville. What "Marjie" will do is a dark secret.

The managers chosen by W. A. A. to put on the vaudeville are: Miss Henderson and Claribel Wright A4 of Houghton, Minn., general managers; Helen Hayes A3 of Iowa City, costumes manager; Alberta Vasey A4 of Grundy Center, property manager; and Lorna Ludwick A3 of Belleville, Kans., business manager.

The patrons and patronesses will be President and Mrs. Walter A. Jessup, Mrs. Nellie S. Aurner, Dean and Mrs. George F. Kay, Prof. and Mrs. Charles H. Weller; Prof. and Mrs. Edward C. Mabie and Prof. and Mrs. Byron J. Lambert.

Tickets for the vaudeville will be on sale at Whetstone's today and will be sold on the campus Monday by the Howling 300.

PAINTINGS WILL BE SHOWN SOON

Great Group by Americans to Be on Display Ten Days During March

The seventh annual exhibition of oil paintings under the auspices of the Iowa City Fine Arts association will be held at the Hotel Burkley from March 1 to 10. These pictures will be brought from the Ehrlich galleries of New York City and are the original productions of the pioneer artists of America. They will be shown from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. every day except Sunday when the hours will be from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m.

Pictures by the following artists will be shown: John Singleton Copley; Benjamin West, the only American ever president of the Royal Academy in England; Wilson Peale; Gilbert Stuart, who easily ranks as the best of the early painters and is famous for his picture of Washington; John Woolaston; Mather Brown; Rembrandt Peale, who was recognized as the dean of American painting; Thomas Birch; Thomas Sully; Samuel L. Waldo; Matthew Harris Jouett; Chester Harding, who may be called the first purely American-made painter; George Catlin; Thomas Doughty, who became America's first important landscape painter; Asher Brown Durand; Charles Cromwell Ingham; John Neagle; Thomas Cole; Henry Inman; William Sidney Mount; John Frederick Kensett; Felix Octavius Carr Darley; Jasper E. Cropsey; Eastman Johnson; Aron Draper Shattuck; Edwin Darch Lewis; and Robert Swain Gifford.

COSTUMES AND COLOR WILL BRIGHTEN ART PARTY IN DES MOINES

The annual costume party of the Cumming School of Art in Des Moines will be given this evening. Invitations were issued to all of the students of that school and also to the instructors and the junior and senior classes in the graphic and plastic arts department of the University of which Prof. Charles A. Cumming is head and director.

The main feature of the party is that each costume is original since the students design their own costumes. The four persons who will attend the party from the University art department and classes are: Miss Edith Bell and Miss Adna Patzig, instructors in the department of graphic and plastic arts, Dorothy Barfoot A3 of Decorah, and Helene Messer A2 of Hartley.

NEW FACES MAY GRACE FIVE IN PURDUE BATTLE

Miller is a big back guard who made the second all-Conference team in 1920. He is much the same type of man as Captain Kaufmann. Coffing, center, was a substitute last year but has made a rapid advance. He has scored fifteen field goals and works with White as the chief scoring combination.

Lost Two Great Stars

The forwards, Eversman and Masters seem to be only average players. They have made thirteen baskets between them in six conference games. Purdue suffered a great loss when Church and Tilson of last year's team were graduated.

Purdue got away with a flying start this year, and won from Northwestern, Ohio State, and Indiana, which gave them first place for a time, but defeats by Michigan and Illinois have placed them in their present standing of third.

Purdue is a scoring team which Iowa has not been this year. The game may take the route of several other contests this year, that of defense pitted against offense. That is Iowa's best argument unless with the development seen this week they spring a surprise and start scoring tonight.

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX dealers who do not sell the bulk of spring suits sold in their community this spring are asleep at the switch. This store will not be in that class. We're out for a record, and with the support these famous makers of clothes are giving us, will make one. February, usually a dull month, thus far has been a busy one, showing an increase of 29.3 per cent over a year ago.

Superior fabrics and models, sold at a lower wholesale cost than other manufacturers sold for, and delivered to the buyer on an unusually small margin of profit to us, is the cause of this extra volume.

One hundred new spring suits went in stock today. Choosing tomorrow will be easy. You will like the prices, too.
