CAST SELECTED FOR UNIVERSITY PLAYERS' SHOW

"Passing of the Third Floor Back" is Name of Production

APRIL 6 IS TENTATIVE DATE

Miss Sherman is Coaching. Play by Jerome — Second Appearance of Year for University Players — Former Stars Have Leading Parts — Twelve Persons Make up Cast

The complete cast for the University Players' production of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" to be presented April 26 was announced yesterday afternoon by Miss Margaret S. Sherman of the public speaking department who is coaching the play.

Members of the cast are: Joey Wright, a satyr, Glenn A. Thompson S2 of Belmont; Christopher, a coward, William D. Van Arnum A4 of Council Bluffs; Major Tompkins, a bully, Lauren H. Smith A2 of Cherokee; Mrs. Tompkins, a shrew, Lucile Everett A3 of Iowa Falls; Vivian, a hussy, Frances E. Rowse A2 of Sioux City; Jape Samuels, a rogue, Robert L. Hunter A3 of Mapleton; Harry Larkcom, a cad, Albert F. Ward A2 of Clinton; Miss Kite, a cat, Frances Smith A2 of Monetzuma; Mrs. Percival de Hooley, a snob, Anna F. Rummelhart A3 of Iowa City; Stasia, a slut, Catherine M. Nash A2 of Oskaloosa; Mrs. Sharpe, a cheat, Marjorie C. Gailey A3 of Iowa City; and the stranger, a passer-by, Dwight A. Davis A4 of Iowa City.

Jerome K. Jerome is the author of "The Passing of the Third Floor Back" and he has pictured a boarding house in London with an unlovely group of boarders who represent the different vices. Into this group comes a stranger as the incarnation of the Christ, and the body of the story is concerned with the manner in which he brings a feeling of good will into the house, transforming the vices to virtues.

According to Miss Sherman, the date for the production of the play may have to be changed but it is tentatively set for April 26, and rehearsals have already started so as to have it ready by that time. This will be the second of the two large productions to be given by the University Players during the school year, the first of which was "Her Husband's Wife" by A. E. Thomas.

TRYOUTS FOR PLACES ON INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATES ARE APRIL 9

Prof. Robert W. West, Miss Margaret S. Sherman and Prof. Edward C. Mabie, of the public speaking department, will act as judges for the women's inter-collegiate debate tryouts to be held in the natural science auditorium on April 9, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

A team of three women and an alternate will be chosen to represent Iowa in a debate to be held here against Indiana, May 9, on the question, "Resolved, that the Philippines should be granted their independence within one year." Any undergraduate woman may try out for this and the question will be the same as for the debate. Each participant in the tryouts will be limited to an eight minute talk.

"The success of the debate for Iowa will depend upon the competition shown in the preliminaries," said Esther E. Sharpe A3 president of the Women's Forensic council. "Every literary society is asked to urge its members to try out."

The Women's Forensic council is financing this movement. The probable price of admission will be 35 cents.

SEELEY TO SPEAK ON NOTES FROM CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Paul Stark Seeley of Portland, Oregon, will give a lecture in the natural science auditorium on April 9 at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Christian Science society of Iowa City.

The subject of the lecture will be "Christian Science, a Reasonable, Logical, and Demonstrable Religion." Mr. Seeley is a graduate of Princeton University and also received a degree of LL. B. from Harvard.

RELAY CARNIVAL PLANS PROGRESS

Military and Interfraternity Relays Are Special Events for Saturday

Plans for the first annual Relay Carnival to be on Saturday afternoon, April 9, on Iowa field, are practically complete and Coach Bresnahan has been busily engaged during the past week helping the men work into good shape. A good deal of interest is being shown by the student body, and indications are that the meet should be a success.

Several fraternity teams have been working out on the track in the afternoons receiving instructions from the coaches in passing the baton and in starting. Judging from a tryout that was given a number of the men Thursday evening it seems certain that the interfraternity relay will be a very hotly contested race. Varsity men will be eligible to run with their own fraternities and a number of them have signified their intention of doing so. Many of the old timers, men who have been members of the track team for three years but are still attending school are expecting to don their spikes and carry the colors of their fraternity.

Individuals who are intending to enter the special events, the pole vault, shot put, broad jump, discus, javelin, hundred yard dash, and the 220 yard dash, are showing their determination to win by appearing every afternoon in track suits and spikes taking instructions from the coach.

Yesterday afternoon several of the military companies held tryouts to pick the teams which will run for them in the intermilitary relay race next Saturday.

A number of sororities have not picked the men who will act as captain for their team but Coach Bresnahan expects to have all of the entries in by the first of the week.

A complete list of the entrants will be announced the first of the week.

This is the first time that women of the University have participated in intercollegiate debating and so were only eligible to Delta Sigma Rho by winning first place in the University oratorical contest.

USE OF CANOES WILL BE SHOWN

Annual Public Demonstration Is At Men's Pool on Wednesday Night

The annual demonstration in the correct method of canoeing as a precaution against river accidents will be given Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in the men's gymnasium.

All men enrolled in physical training will be required to attend the demonstrations which will be conducted by Coach David A. Armbruster assisted by members of the life saving class. Wednesday night a public demonstration will be staged for the benefit of men and women students and residents of Iowa City.

The demonstrations will show the correct way of entering and leaving a canoe, the right way to handle it in the water, and what to do in case of an accident. The life saving class will give an exhibition of life saving and resuscitation.

The Iowa river has been singularly free from serious accidents for the past five years. Prior to that time, a drowning was a regular occurrence during the canoeing season. In fact the Iowa river gained the reputation of being one of the most treacherous rivers in Iowa. The remarkable fact that not a single drowning has occurred in the past five years despite the fact that probably twice as many students go canoeing now, is accounted for by E. G. Schroeder, director of physical training, as being due to the instruction given students concerning the dangers of boating, and the right things to do in case of accidents.

Another factor coincident with the decrease in drownings was the installation of the swimming pool in the men's gymnasium and in requiring every student to learn how to swim before he graduated. "Accidents have occurred but disaster has been averted through the presence of min of the participants many times since the course in canoeing was inaugurated," said Mr. Schroeder. "It has finally dawned upon the more daring of the excitement seekers, that beneath the dam is not the best place to swim." Three or four men have drowned in trying to shoot over the dam in a canoe. Only a few have ever accomplished this feat successfully.

WINNER TO BE NAMED SOON

Women's Poetry Contest Prize to be Given by Council

The winner of the women's forensic council annual poetry contest has not been selected. Prof. Edwin F. Piper, associate professor of English, judge of the poetry contest, said yesterday afternoon that the twenty-five poems which were entered seemed to be of good quality and that the winners would be announced later.

The annual poetry contest which was given by the Women's Forensic council closed March 24. Formerly, the short story contest was held at the same time; however, this year the short story contest will not close until Friday, April 15, according to Gladys Hayden A4 of Elden, ex-president of the Women's Forensic council.

'OLD FASHIONED SERMON' TO BE BISHOP'S TOPIC

Des Moines Church Man To Address Tomorrow's Vesper Service

A PAIR OF SIXES

A young woman living in the suburbs of Philadelphia disappeared from her comfortable home and nothing was known of her until six months later when it was discovered that she was appearing under another name in vaudeville on the western coast. In six months this stage-struck young woman had succeeded in getting her name displayed in electric signs in the Northwest. "Jackie" Cogan, a six year old boy of Los Angeles, is being paid a salary of $1200 a week as a film star.

Here are two instances which might make brilliant material for a magazine specializing in sketches of opulent notables who have their opulence by some startling succession of incidents. As individuals these two persons may be successful, but cases of this sort, however interesting, are apt to put a stamp of cheapness on the theatrical profession.

The story of the girl who ran away to "go on the stage" is an old one. Now and then these stage-struck runaways succeed. If they do, it is usually in some branch of dramatic production that subordinates the art to the dollar-mark business of "getting across" to an audience that wants to be pleased. Acting is called an art, a profession. It is both, but it is an art that is subject to over-commercialization, and a profession that is humiliated by these six month satellites. One does not run away from home to become a doctor or a lawyer, and the real actor need bow to neither of these.

They are all right, the six months star from Philadelphia, and the six year old "Jackie" Cogan, but it is hoped that they will not leave the wrong impression of acting. Acting requires study, years of it, cultivation of abilities, and mastery of expression and interpretation. The drama holds too strong an influence in society to be the prey of sensationalism.

Speaking of impressions, one is reminded of the young man who spent three days reading law in the office of a friend of the family, then returned home and told his father that he cared not for the legal profession and was sorry that he had learned it.

SOMETHING WORTH WHILE

It is only a short time, about a month, until another editor-in-chief and business manager of the Hawkeye will be elected to serve for the coming year. At the present time there are only one or two applicants for either position.

There seems to be a decided apathy among the students when it comes to doing the things that are really worth while or that will bring some valuable experience for future use. From the present attitude of the people of the campus it seems to be more of an honor to be appointed on a class dance committee than to be elected editor of the University annual, a position which carries not only honor, but a substantial remuneration and some valuable experience.

This seems to show an attitude of satisfied complacency. It is noted that the students who are least disposed to assist with student publications, seem to be the most critical.

A few signs of life, and some keen competition for the places that are worth while on the publications would do more towards correcting discontent and producing better publications than any other single factor.

TIPPING

Tipping will probably go on until the end of time. Perhaps it is a necessary evil. Yet many necessary evils have been dispensed with.

A tip is a symbol of a certain sort of degradation, a gratuitous gift in addition to a reasonable remuneration for a service performed. A gentleman in the true sense of the word, would never accept a tip, no matter to what depths he might have fallen.

For, once a person accepts a tip, he is lost. There is nothing more demeaning than to be paid for labor performed and then be paid a second time by the accidental man or woman who in your path has the power to give or withhold pocketbook patronage. We do not respect those to whom we give tips, and the normal individual would come much nearer hiring as a servant the man who politely and respectfully declined a tip, than the man who made it evident that he expected a substantial gift.

Servants expect tips—and get them. There is an element of grim humor in being compelled to add ten per cent for tips, to the amount that you expect to spend while staying at a respectable hotel or any other place where servants are much in evidence, in order to receive reasonably good service.

It is preposterous that a person should be charged enough to pay for value received and a reasonable profit, and then be expected to tip the people who have served him, merely because it is a matter of custom. The fault lies with the employers to a great extent because they pay low wages to their servants and then expect the amount received from tips to make up for the low wages. Tipping is a custom which only the employer can successfully eradicate. The general public will never cease tipping of its own accord.

WOMEN'S PLANS FOR SELF-GOVERNMENT TO BE CONSIDERED LATER

The campaign for women's self government is still making progress. The proposition was first presented to the social committee for approval on March 11, but owing to time spent in consideration, and to the spring vacation, no action was taken.

Last night the committee heard four women representing various women's organizations, in regard to the matter. The women who appeared before the committee were: Margaret Holmes A4 of Whiting, Lue Prentiss A3 of Iowa City, Margaret Dolliver L1 of Fort Dodge, and Esther A. Mackintosh A4 of Iowa City. No action was taken last night but Dean Wilbur J. Teeters, chairman of the social committee, said that the matter would probably be settled next Friday afternoon.

In regard to the proposition of giving the women the power they ask, Dean Teeters said, "I do not regard the move as radical in any way. The women already exercise most of the power asked for, and simply need official recognition. The women who have appeared before the committee have answered practically all of the questions asked by the committee, and the committee is making progress towards a solution."

Ralph G. Grassfield, director of the Memorial Union campaign, presented plans to the social committee for a relay dance to be held in the various sorority houses on Wednesday, April 20, for the benefit of the Memorial Union fund. The committee did not grant permission for the mid-week dance. Mr. Grassfield said that this would necessitate several changes in his plans for campaign week, but that the dance would probably be held on a Friday night.

CO-EDS TO WORK IN WEST

Many University Women Will Spend Summer Recess in Colorado

Miss Eunice Peters, contractor for the Lewiston Hotels company at Estes Park, will be here in the next week or two with contracts and will make final arrangements with the women who wish to work in the west this summer, according to Miss Mary T. Mueller of the department of English, who was in Estes park last summer and has lined the applicants up here. Fifty-six women at the University have already signed up and it is probable that the Lewiston company will be able to get all of the sixty girls they need from this University.

Announcements of the date when Miss Peters will be here will be posted on the bulletin board and will be in the Iowan. Positions will be for work in the hotels either as chamber maids, waitresses, or pantry maids. The work is not heavy and it gives college women a chance to pay their way through Estes Park. Miss Peters while only contracting for the one company, will be able to furnish information about the other hotels.

UNIVERSITY EDITOR SENDS OUT BULLETINS ON BUREAU

The Commerce Employment Bureau, with the aid of Professor Charles H. Weller, University editor, is sending out to bankers, accountants, insurance companies, manufacturing establishments and corporations throughout the state, a bulletin dealing with the school of commerce, the place of the college graduate in business, and the recently organized Commerce Employment Bureau. About 3,000 bulletins are being sent out.

PISTOL EXPERTS START PRACTICE

Lowell S. Newcomb Leads Marksmen in First Drill Thursday Afternoon

The first day's pistol practice with the service .45 caliber automatic was held Thursday afternoon under the supervision of Lieut. Colonel Morton C. Mumma, Major Roy C. Hill, and Major Holmes, of the military department.

The honors for the day went to Lowell S. Newcomb A4 of Iowa City. Second honors went to Julius L. Goepfinger A4 of Boone. Newcomb made the excellent score of 48 out of a possible 50 on a five inch bull's eye, four of his five shots being contained in the elusive black spot. Goepfinger came close behind with 45. Other close scorers were: Ralph E. Kennon A4 of Corning, Howard T. Gordon Au of Estherville, George H. Seigle A2 of Muscatine, Roy K. Forney A3 of Tabor, and Robert L. Block A3 of Daventry, 42 each; and Robert Hunter A3 of Iowa City, 41.

A strong pistol team can be secured for the R. O. T. C. pistol matches of this corps, believes Lieut.-Colonel Mumma, who expressed himself as well pleased with these scores.

Practice will continue next week when the advanced course students of the motor transport unit and the engineer's unit will start practice.
