UNION TO STAGE ANOTHER DRIVE

Student-Faculty Survey Planned — Others Surpass Iowa Student Pledges

Survey of sentiment on the Iowa Memorial Union is beginning and the management promises a second-wind comeback of Union activities within the next few weeks.

Ralph G. Grassfield, director of the Iowa Memorial Union campaign said yesterday that plans for organization of the Union throughout the state have developed during the past few months while financial depression was greatest and that now organization was being planned among students and faculty members of the University. The plan is to conduct a student-faculty survey, designed to get a check on every individual so that the management will have exact information concerning the attitude and relation of all to the Union.

According to the organization that is now being put into operation, each college of the University and each class of the liberal arts college will have one representative in charge of the sub-committees. Each of these representatives will have a committee composed of one member for every fifteen students and faculty members represented. These members will each receive fifteen solicitor's cards which provide for a pledge in case the one solicited subscribes and a solicitor's report if no subscription is obtained. In this way a record of every student will be obtained and filed and those who do not subscribe or who set a future date upon which they will do so may be checked up from time to time.

Statements given by Mr. Grassfield yesterday say that only $50,000 have been pledged by the Iowa student body whereas Purdue received $362,000 from her student-faculty body, Kansas students pledged $206,000 for their University stadium, and Ames students and faculty subscribed $350,000 in fifty-two hours.

A complete statement from the office of the Union follow: "Several weeks have been spent in getting ready for this survey. It is felt that when the student body is acquainted with the practical value of the Union when it is shown that the Union is not an intangible idea to be developed 'some time in the future', but rather an institution that will be used, in all probabilities, by men and women of the present freshman classes before they are through school, there

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL APPROVES MAY TRACK MEET

Plans for an interfraternity track and field meet to be held May 14 were submitted by George T. Bresnahan, track coach, and were approved at the regular meeting of the interfraternity council at the Phi Alpha Delta house last night. Each fraternity will enter a team in the meet and an eligibility committee was appointed which will announce the rules for entrance at a later date. An appropriation was passed with which to provide trophies for the teams winning first, second and third places in the meet.

Arrangements were also authorized by the council whereby it will give a banquet at the Hotel Jefferson to the deans and advisers of men who will meet here April 15. Each fraternity will be represented by three men, the president, interfraternity delegate, and a third man who will be in the University next year. It is expected that a program will be held in which the deans of the different universities will speak at the banquet.

PRACTICES FOR SPANISH PLAY ARE PROGRESSING

Rehearsals for the Spanish play, "Jose", are being held regularly. This play is being presented by members selected from the classes in Spanish of the University. The students themselves dramatized the novel of the same name, held tryouts for the cast, and expect to present the play about May 4 or 5.

SEALS PERFORM AQUATIC STUNTS

First Exhibit of Women Swimmers Shows Ability in Water Feats

Remarkable display of ability in aquatic feats marked the first exhibition of the Seals club, honorary women's swimming organization, which was held last night at the women's gymnasium pool before a crowded balcony.

A thrill was furnished by the heroic rescue of Mrs. Lotta Noyes, an audacious member of the audience, by two Seals. One of the best stunts was a race in tubs, at full sail, between Andy, Miss Miriam Taylor, and Minn, Miss Anne Boillin, instructors in the department of physical education and honorary members of the Seals club.

Exciting races were a feature, Grace Emery came out first in the 20 yard dash in 12 sec. flat and Helen Starbuck first in the 20 yard under water race in 18 3-5 seconds. Helen Spencer, handicapped by her arms being tied, won the 20 yard breast stroke in 20 seconds, and Edith Beard came out first in long distance plunging, 45 feet.

"This is the Life," a little domestic view of seals at play, was well received. These human fish ate, slept, played instruments, and walked on water with an ability that would shame a side show.

Novelty diving by the "Mysterious Trio", in iridescent bathing suits, under spotlight, gave a little idea of why Neptune likes his job. An umbrella race, an amusing exhibiton, demonstrated how to use an umbrella while bathing.

Fancy diving showed the result of hard work on the part of the Seals in such dives as the front and back somersaults, the back jack, front jack, and the butterfly. Demonstrations of strokes were also good. Helen Spencer demonstrated the breast stroke, Edith Beard the side stroke, Grace Emery the side overarm, Helen Hayes the English overarm, Beatrice McGarvey the trudgeon, and Helen Hayes and Grace Emery the waltz in water.

The medley race 100 yards, by four members of the Seals club, honorary men's swimming organization, was won by Ross Clark in 128 seconds.

The Seals song, sung while the club formed a letter S in the water, was a unique ending of the program.

FRIVOL AWARDS PRIZES TO PAGE AND HOWELL

Winners of the prizes offered by Frivol for the most material printed and the most appropriate art accepted were announced in the edition of Frivol which appeared on the campus yesterday morning.

Harry H. Page U of Maquoketa, sports editor of the Daily Iowan for the first semester, won the prize of $5 for having the most material printed.

The $3 prize offered for the best drawing submitted was won by Irma Frank Howell A3 of Independence, who is a student in the department of graphic and plastic arts.

ERO-IRVING PLAY STAGED TONIGHT

Curtain Will Rise at 8:30 — Drama League to Attend Play in a Body

When the curtain rises tonight at the Englert theater for the first act of the annual Ero-Irving play "The Prospector", the mysterious titled character will be revealed in the uncouth garb suitable to an Alaskan mining camp.

Even though the play has been in rehearsal for five weeks, the name of the leading man has been carefully guarded. The three principal characters are: "The Prospector", "Mrs. Eleanor Herrick", and "Christopher Randolph Kidder Jr."

"I am more pleased with this play than with anything in the dramatic field in which I have participated in Iowa City," said Mrs. W. R. Hart who has been coaching the cast. "I have better material to work with, more experienced people, stronger cooperation, and by far the best play. This will even surpass Mrs. Bumpstead Leigh of last season."

The contrast in the scenes is very effective, the first scene showing a rough setting in a cabin in an Alaskan mining camp. The second scene shows the interior of a New York hotel, nine years later. Here the same characters appear smooth and polished, with a mingling of bell hops, porters, cigar girl, porters, and the guests themselves. The third scene is at a pergola on the lawn of a Long Island home, and the fourth in a moonlight scene in the same pergola.

The Drama league of Iowa City has endorsed this play and is attending it in a body. The curtain will rise at 8:30 o'clock and no one will be seated during the first act. All but seventy-five tickets had been sold last evening, according to Kenneth E. Griffin A3 of Iowa City, chairman of the ticket committee.

WOMEN FOR THE INTERCOLLEGIATE DEBATE CHOSEN

Mildred C. Freeburg A3 of Pomeroy, Octave Thanet; Ella F. Schmock A4 of Lamont, Whitby; and Marion H. Smith A4 of Independence, Athena, were chosen last night to form the Iowa team to take part in the intercollegiate debate with Indiana, which will be held in the natural science auditorium May 9 at 8 o'clock. Eloise B. Smith A3 of Fairfield was chosen as alternate.

The subject for the debate is "Resolved, That the Philippines should be granted their independence within a year." It is not yet certain which side Iowa will take in the debate.

This is the only intercollegiate debate University women will take part in this year. Next year, according to Esther E. Sharpe A3 of Hampton, president of the Forensic Council, an Iowa team will be sent to Indiana for a return debate.

The women who made the team will be eligible for Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity.

The other women who tried out for the team were; Josephine Ainsworth A2 of West Union, Leona I. White A2 of Council Bluffs, Josephine H. Wortman A2 of Iowa City, Norma K. Krause A3 of St. Charles, Minn., and Neomi J. Klauer A3 of Akron.

The judges for the tryouts were Edward C. Mabie, acting head of the public speaking department, Margaret S. Sherman, instructor of public speaking, and Robert West, associate professor of public speaking.

WEATHER REPORT

For Iowa: Colder with showers in the North and Northwest.

BAKER WINS FIRST PLACE IN ORATORICAL CONTEST

Charles E. Baker A1 of Iowa City won first place in the freshman oratorical contest held Tuesday evening in the natural science auditorium with the oration "A Plea for Cuba." Second place was awarded to J. West Townsend A1 of Garwin, and third place to Walter Overbeck A1 of Guttenberg.

The other contestants were Cecil F. Marshall A1 of Wapello, Willis McMartin A1 of Bridgewater, South Dakota; Charlton G. Laird A1 of McGregor; Robert E. Birchard A1 of Davenport, and Buel G. Beems A1 of Anamosa.

LANE SPEAKS TO MANY STUDENTS

Ten Scholarships Offered to Graduates of the School of Commerce

An offer of ten scholarships to ten graduates of the school of commerce was made by Mr. J. Reed Lane president of the Federal System of Bakeries, in a speech to 130 students and faculty members of the school of commerce at a banquet at the Pagoda tea shop last night. Mr. Reed said, "I will give ten scholarships in our private training school to graduates of the School of Commerce of this University, and guarantee them positions managing one of our shops when they finish the course, providing they show a reasonable amount of ability."

The school which the Federal System operates in training men for positions with the company gives a six week's course in the managing of one of the plants, and includes training in buying, merchandizing the product, auditing the accounts, and general management of the plant, according to Mr. Lane.

Mr. Lane spent seven years in the University, and was one of the first six men to take a course in commerce here. He was graduated from the college of law in 1911. In 1918 he first organized the corporation known as the Federal System of Bakeries and since that time has established 437 bakeries in the United States and has recently established a branch office in England.

Mr. Lane and Mr. Hamburger were here for the express purpose of finding men to manage new bakeries which they are establishing.

Over forty students were unable to secure tickets for the banquet because of the limited number available, according to the committee in charge of the banquet. Plans are being made for the annual banquet of the commerce club to be held on April 27. Hubert L. Utterback, Judge of the Juvenile and District court, of Des Moines will be the speaker at the next banquet.

WISE MAN FROM FAR EAST SETS STRAIGHT THE MEANING OF THE WIRES AND STAKES

The campus idler tells a story:

Three wise men, the wisest of all the land, tarried awhile on our campus this day and spoke with one another. As they gazed upon the rows of stakes and chains and wires, the first, a man of the country, exclaimed, "How very like a pig-pen!" Though strange it is, they keep the creatures out instead of in."

The second was of the city and looked long ere he spoke. "It more resembles that which tells of dangers held within", he said, "of quagmires, evil traps, or bringers of ill-being; it seeks with worthy purpose to protect our lives from all those evils."

Then the third, who had traveled far and was the wisest of the three, explained: "These people are students and they come here to learn, and this ground and these buildings

TODAY'S GAME WITH '31-ERS' OPENS SEASON

Rock Island Game First of 8 With League—First Big Ten Game is April 21

"I" TICKETS GOOD FOR GAMES

Game Will Call at 4:10 — Lineup of Team is Uncertain — Three Pitchers to Be Used for Three Innings—Frohwein Will Probably Open Game —Moline Game is Monday

Today will mark the opening of the baseball season for the Iowa ball team when they cross bats with the Rock Island 3-I league club at Iowa field at 4:10 p. m. This game will be the first of a preliminary ten game series with three league teams, Rock Island, Moline, and Cedar Rapids, interspersed with a game with Coe here Saturday and the opening Big Ten game with Northwestern at Evanston on April 21.

Just what lineup Coach Ashmore will start the game with today is only a conjecture. But from the practices so far the probable lineup will be: Locke, catch; Frohwein, pitch; Michaelson, first; Crary, second; Leighton, short; Irish, third; Wilhelm, left field; Anderson, center and Draper, right field. Three pitchers will be used, each working three innings. Frohwein looks the best fit to start the game and will work the first three innings and be in shape to start the Coe game Saturday. Becker, Dyke, Voltmer, and Anderson are the other twirlers who are in shape to work and will be used as the Coach sees fit. Michaelson has been given the edge at first over Dunsmore, Rich, and Case, and will probably start at that position. Crary stands head and shoulders above any of the candidates for the keystone job and will undoubtedly hold down second. On short, Ashmore will start Leighton along with Davis and Wade, who may be used before the game is over. Irish looks the best for third, but Layton and Hurlburt are sure to break in before the final inning. In the outfield Wilhelm, Anderson, and Draper will start and may be alternated with Bees, Shafer, Murphy, House or Burns according to the way the game goes.

Following are the first twelve home games: April 7—Rock Island, 8—Rock Island, 9—Coe, 11—Moline, 12—Moline, 13—Moline, 14—Moline 15—Moline, 18—Cedar Rapids, 19—Cedar Rapids, 23—Cedar Rapids, 25 —Upper Iowa.

The athletic board announces that "I" tickets will be good for all the above games.

THE WIDE, WIDE WORLD

Professor Albert Einstein who formulated the revolutionary and baffling theory of relativity, and who is now on a visit to America, is convincing a number of newspaper reporters that for some time at least their reach will exceed their grasp. They interviewed him. It was like the occasion upon which a dear old lady watched a two-hour demonstration of an automobile, and at the end said sweetly, "Yes, I understand all about it except how it runs without horses." Einstein talked about relativity, and tried to relate it to the affairs of "the man in the street," and, after he had finished, one of the reporters opened a startlingly new field of inquiry with, "Well, what is this Einstein theory?"

Einstein may well put a wholesome damper on the easy inclination to intellectual bigotry. At an age when most of us are inclined to think that because we have just completed a lionizing career in a home town high school the world is lying at our feet, the world was lying at his feet or at his pencil's end. He had a rough draft of his theory when he was eighteen.

And there is the theory. To one who looks at it as a small boy looks for the first time at a baseball game through a knot-hole in the park fence, seeing only a fielder or two and knowing not at all what it is about, the theory appears to open entirely new and stupendous fields of thought in science and philosophy. One reflects that the universe may be finite, but so far as learning is concerned, there is vast infinity. We thought we knew something, that in a small way we were beginning to see the universe with intelligent eyes, and here is a man of forty who publishes a theory that opens the door to a world entirely new.

WITHOUT THE "E"

The animus created by the discovery that the promoters of the Junior Prom have provided an excellent program made of ivory, or laboratory elephant tusk, for the lassies, while doling out a pasteboard program for the lads, inspires the writer to point out to the ten gentlemen of the Prom committee that "chaperones" is correctly spelled "chaperons."

A chaperon, according to Noah Webster, is a person, especially a matron, who accompanies a young unmarried lady in public, for propriety, and as a protector. The word stands for many other things as well, which is more than the person herself usually does.

We believe that the chaperons of this community have a right, as a class, to have their class name spelled correctly. The attempt to feminize this very good word no doubt proceeds from an elaborate misconception of the duty a gentleman owes the feminine members of the group of chaperons one is pleased to find at an elegant gathering like the Junior Prom.

Admitting that the Daily Iowan occasionally spills over into such individualized words as "drowned" and "chaperones" we still feel that it is our legitimate duty to blaze the way.

ANOTHER ROMANCE OF SUCCESS IN AMERICA
(From the Kansas City Star)

In recording the death in a big western city of man who had risen to the first rank in his chosen career the newspapers dwell on two principal qualifications by which his early success and subsequent prestige were attained. One was natural ability in the use of his fists and the other an acquired skill in the rapid handling of small but deadly firearms.

If we had no further information we might assume that the subject of this commentary had been a public guardian of the peace in a frontier town infested by bad men, and that he had won his position in the community by his fearless maintenance of law and order by the admirable and effective means hinted. But that guess would not imply much knowledge of American life or of the opportunities it opens to the talents. The career now closed began long after the days when law was administered with six-shooters, and in a great city that had only its fair share of law breakers of a violent character.

What then was the life work of this eminent citizen in which his fists and intimate familiarity with the use of sidearms served him so well? Gentle reader—in case curiosity has compelled you to follow us thus far—he was a political boss, and on the day of his death was the acknowledged head of the city of his activities of one of the great political parties of the nation. He was not actively or openly identified with its national policies—although there is no particular reason why he shouldn't have been—but in the city of his endeavors and even the state of which it is the ornament, he was its voice in council and its right hand, and if necessary its left, in action.

That is all that seems necessary to be said about a case so typical. The statement of the fact conveys the lesson. Political boss-ship in American cities generally takes its rise from a similar foundation. It may be regarded as reflecting great credit on a man that he can win to the front in politics with nothing but his fists and a gun, or it may be regarded as humiliating to the communities thus governed accordingly as Americans view these matters.

THIRTY CENTURIES HENCE
(From the Portland Oregonian.)

What will history's day after tomorrow, three thousand years hence, wish to know about the habits and customs, arts and sciences, of the present? As the curiosity which impels us to research, to toil and delve in the dust of Egyptian cities, presumably will be transmitted without diminution to the children of the distant centuries, it is likely that they will be quite as eager to learn of us as we are bent upon reading the scrolls of Ninevah.

H. G. Wells to whom by common assent all England turns with problems, was asked to compile a list of commonplaces for precisely that purpose. Sealed in the cement foundation for a structure that, its builder cherishes the conceit, will endure the conceit, will endure for thirty centuries, the everyday record of the present is to be transmitted to another civilization. The articles suggested by Mr. Wells include a catalogue of household goods, a dietary, a booklet on department, a safety razor, samples of patent medicines, and other conveniences of similar relation to our needs. Nor has he forgotten the reel of motion picture film depicting current events.

Three thousand years from now the devices of the present will be undeniably antique and passe, and there is every likelihood that human agency or natural distaste will have completely obliterated both the presumptuous casket trinket chest and its treasurers. But Mr. Wells is taking himself and the request too seriously. These lines admit the same failing. For it is inconceivable that the meticulous care with which our records and archives now are preserved, our museums filled and maintained, will not suffice to pass on to most remote posterity a clearly decipherable account of ourselves. We should, to borrow a phrase that already is sinking into obsolescence, worry about whether they read it or not.

THE COLLEGE PRESS

Texas—Ten students of the University plan to work at Huston as laborers during the summer months in order to study the economic and social conditions in the industries there. This plan was perfected last summer in Denver and it was fully tested during the street car strike in that place.

Purdue—Alumni letter week, April 10 to 17 has been designated by the student committee at Purdue. Letters containing nothing but news of general interest will be sent to every graduate. As far as possible the students are asked to correspond with friends or acquaintances.

Illinois—All literary societies at the University of Illinois will participate in a declamatory contest on April 15. This contest will be the first one in four years as they were discontinued during the war.

Illinois—Sinclair Lewis, the author of "Main Street," delivered a lecture on "Modern Fiction: An Interpretation of Life" before an audience of students. Mr. Lewis came to lecture under the auspices of Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary journalistic fraternity.

Illinois—Senator Harold C. Kessinger is quoted as saying that it would be possible for the University of Illinois to obtain an appropriation twice the size asked for from the state legislature because the lawmakers favor University relief.

Ohio State — Persons of the University who wish to make a request for building appropriation have a chance to air their opinions in the Ohio State Lantern. Thus far pleas have been made for a new chemistry building, a new home for commerce and journalism.

Harvard—Men who transfer to Harvard next fall from other colleges or universities will be admitted provisionally to one or the other of the college classes instead of being rated as "unclassified students" as heretofore.

Texas—The inter-department race for the baseball championship of the University of Texas will begin April 8. The schedule, which is on elimination bases, is as follows: law students vs. liberal arts; pre-medic students vs. engineers; sophomores vs. freshmen; winner of game one vs. winner of game two; winner of game four vs. winner of game three.

ABSENCE OF JESSUP CAUSES POSTPONEMENT OF DECIDING BOUTS

The finals in the boxing championships of the University have been again postponed, owing to President Jessup's extended absence. Mr. E. G. Schroeder, head of the department of physical education for men, said that the matches will surely be put on as soon as possible. The medals for the winners have already been purchased at a cost of $60. As the president is expected back this week, the boxers will clash within the next ten days, probably a week from Thursday.

The contestants have been working out faithfully at the Armory. In the various rooms may be found the lightweight contender sparring with one of the bantams to mix in the finals, or the burly heavyweight flinging the medicine ball against the chest of one of the welters. The rivals in the various weights try to avoid each other and all are determined not to put on any brotherly love stuff in their battles.

'COSMO FAIR' TO HAVE NOVELTIES

Student Representatives of All Nations Will Have Fair For Union

The Armory, the scene of formals, basket-ball games and wrestling matches, will be transformed on Saturday, April 16, into a miniature cosmopolitan center, known as "The Cosmo Fair." This entertainment is put on under the auspices of the Cosmopolitan club for the benefit of the Iowa Memorial Union. Nine nationalities will be represented, each having a booth or contributing some part of the entertainment in the Symposium.

The Filipinos will have a booth and furnish a program of music and Spanish dancing. The Chinese dressed in their native costumes, will furnish music, serve tea, and sell imported Chinese nuts, embroidery, and souvenirs. The Hindus will conduct a fortune telling booth, and, dressed in native costume, will demonstrate oriental magic.

The Japanese, in Java costumes will conduct a Java doll booth. American women will sell American pies, home made candy, and peanuts. The Americans will furnish a side show booth. The French, Swiss, Danes, and Armenians will also do their part in the entertainment.

Another feature will be the symposium, an entertainment which will be given at 9 o'clock. There will be a Chinese modern wedding, Spanish dancing, Oriental music, a representation of the University of Iowa ten years hence.

Those in charge of the booths are: Christian Kongshoj, chairman of the fair, Mrs. C. G. Hoover, chairman of the American group; Eugeno S. Solidarious, the Filipino group; Wenying Kwong, the Chinese group; Rohindra C. Nag, the Hindu group; Lucienne M. Foubert, the French group; Herman Housheer, the Swiss group; James Sarkiscian, the Armenian group; and William L. Zecha the Java group.

GRAVEURE GIVES IDEA OF QUALITIES NEEDED FOR MUSICAL SUCCESS

Louis Graveure, the Belgian baritone, who will sing in a concert at the natural science auditorium, April 13, has his own ideas on the subject of song interpretation, and the reason why so many students fail to attain excellence in this kind of musical achievement.

"Pupils come to me for advice," he says, "but what do they carry with their music? Some cheap magazine. How can they expect to become great artists when their minds are immersed in such trash? Song is not the voice alone; it is the heart, the imagination, the intellect.

"But the average student thinks it is only technique. That is all wrong. I don't care how beautiful the tone is. If it not the expression of an emotion, its beauty is a kind of ugliness. It is not enough for a note to be limpid or velvety; it must be in keeping with the emotion of which it is the expression."

The program of Mr. Graveure's concert will be a treat to music lovers, according to Mrs. Philip G. Clapp. It will include a number of modern songs, three operatic arias, and a whole group of folk songs of the British Isles. Mr. Graveure's accompanist, Mansieur Edouard Gendron, will play two Chopin selections on the piano during the intermission between two song groups.

Tickets for the concert go on sale this morning at the book and music stores and Whetstone's. Some members of the music department have had tickets to sell before today, but there has been no general sale.

WILL WALK TO COAST

Two Men Hiking from Louisville, Ky. To San Francisco

Columbia, Mo.: Two tanned, freckled men, dressed in corduroy trousers, hiking boots and sweater, with picturesque hickory canes swinging from their arms and knapsacks from their shoulders, walked into Columbus yesterday evening on their way from Louisville, Ky., to San Francisco.

They are G. J. Kress and J. E. Scannell, both ex-service men who started out on the Old Trails Road from Louisville March 3. Since that time they have covered about six hundred miles and have come to the conclusion that Daniel Boone must have been born in 900,000 places and worn the famous seven-leagued boots if he visited the many places where markers are now erected to show where he once stood.

The Old Trails Road was chosen as their route because they believed that it would be more interesting in a historical way than any other. These two hikers are not advertising anything, are connected in a business way with nothing and are not walking on a wager. They expect to note the mater-

HAMBURGER EXPLAINS ADVERTISING METHODS OF FEDERAL BAKERIES

Methods of advertising and of sales promotion employed by the Federal System of Bakeries of America were explained by Mr. Mort Hamburger, advertising manager of these bakeries, in a lecture on "Merchandizing," given to the students of the school of commerce in liberal arts auditorium yesterday morning at 11 o'clock.

The Federal System of Bakeries was started in Oakland, Calif., in 1917. Since then the system has grown to include over 400 bakeries with from one to ten in the large metropolitan cities. All the equipment is licensed from the home office at Davenport.

Good merchandizing as defined by Mr. Hamburger, consists of an attractive window display, good sales persons, and a quality product. "Each day the testing laboratory at Davenport," said Mr. Hamburger, "tests a sample of the day's product at each of the bakeries throughout the country, and issues a certificate of the standard bread."

"Local conditions effecting trade must be taken into consideration in good merchandizing," Mr. Hamburger said. "Competitors, type of customers, and quickness to buy specials must be watched, he believes.

New names are used by these bakeries in selling campaigns, the product being made to suit the conditions, such as sweeter bread for the sweet tooth of the south.

Mr. Hamburger was graduated from New York University in 1914.

COLLEGE WOMEN OF AMERICA CONVENE AT CAMBRIDGE, MASS.

Cambridge, Mass.: Representatives of women's colleges will take an active part in a convention being held at the Harvard Union today for the purpose of organizing an Intercollegiate Liberal club. Radcliffe is taking the lead among the women's colleges in promoting the movement, which originated with the Liberal clubs of Harvard and Radcliffe.

Colleges which already have accepted invitations to join in the organization are Harvard, Princeton, Brown, Tufts, Boston university, Radcliffe, Wheaton, Vassar, Mount Holyoke and Barnard. The plan is for a central organization with self-governing clubs in the individual colleges.

The purposes of the proposed club are announced as "the cultivation of the open mind" and "the development of a formed student opinion on social, political, industrial and international questions." Leaders in the movement assert that the new organization will be "nonpropagandist" and "tied to no 'isms."

PARENTS DO NOT FAVOR THE FRATERNITY TATTOO

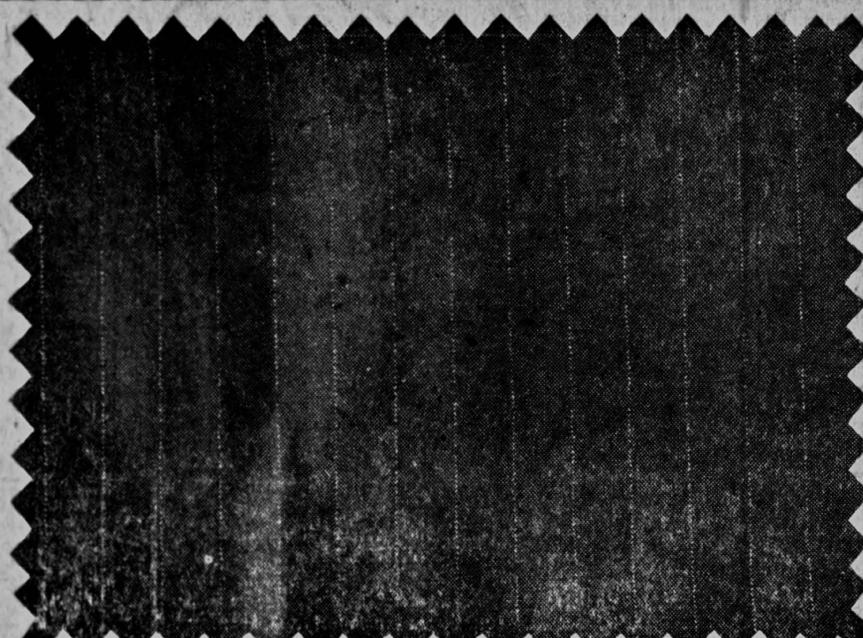

Evanston, Ill.: Now it's the fraternity tattoo!

President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern university is investigating why several Greek letter societies found it necessary to tattoo their emblems on the shapely backs of several initiates. The investigation is the result of several complaints by fond parents who wrote "Prexy" Scott that they sent their sons to Northwestern to get an education and not to be tattooed like a common seaman.

Cornell — The third annual beaux arts ball will be given Friday, April 22 by the students of the college of architecture at Cornell University. A prize will be awarded to the designer of the best costume. The draughting room in White hall will be decorated to resemble an oriental palace.

COE GAME TO FOLLOW MEET

Twenty-one Fraternities to Enter
Teams in Interfraternity Relay —
Nineteen Separate Events Make Up
Meet — Coach Bresnahan Offers Instructions to Teams *

Total entries in the First Annual Relay Carnival to be held next Saturday afternoon on Iowa field, have reached 527. The meet will begin promptly at 1:30 o'clock and the officials will try to start the last event at 3:30 sharp, in order that everyone will be free to attend the Coe-Iowa baseball game, which will start at 3:45 p. m. The admission for both events will be 50 cents or by "I" tickets.

The carnival consists of nineteen separate events and the order in which they will be run is as follows: 100 yard dash, grade school relay, high hurdles, literary society relay, military company relay, low hurdles, 1-4 mile walk, junior high school relay, fraternity relay, senior high school relay, intersorority relay, high jump, shot put, pole vault, broad jump, discus throw, hammer throw, javelin throw.

Twenty-one fraternities have entered teams in the interfraternity relay race. The race will be run in four heats, with five teams competing in each heat. The time will be taken on the first three teams in each heat and the team making the fastest time will be declared the winner. The names of the fraternities entered, and their positions when starting are as follows: heat 1—Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Kappa, Delta Chi; heat 2—Phi Kappa Sigma, Phi Beta Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Theta Xi, Kappa Beta Psi; heat 3—Sigma Nu, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Chi, Acacia, Phi Gamma Delta; heat 4—Delta Kappa Gamma, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Phi Epsilon. In the interfraternity relay, six men will compose a team and each man will run 110 yards each.

The names of the members of the intersorority relay teams will not be printed until tomorrow because of the fact that several of the captains are going to change the personnel of their teams. The intersorority relay race will be the feature of the carnival. There will be four men on each team who will represent the respective sorority which chooses them.

The first will run 1-2 mile, the second 220 yards, the third a quarter mile, and the fourth one mile. The race will be run in two heats with seven teams competing in each heat. The team making the fastest time will be declared the winner. The athletic board will present the sorority which was represented by the winning team with a silver cup, which it will be privileged to keep for one year.

Coach Bresnahan, who has planned the carnival, has been instructing fraternity teams and individual entrants during the past week. He says that he will give instruction and assistance to any group or individual who will report to him in the afternoon.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS BAN ROUGE AND EXTREME DRESS

St. Louis: Rouge and extreme fashions in dress have been put under the ban by girl students at Soldan high school here. Their new "unwritten law" governing personal adornment is being adhered to rigidly, according to Mrs. E. C. Bristol, dean of girls.

The movement was started by the Big Sisters, an organization of about 200 girls in the institution, who protested against what they declared was a growing want of personal taste. After other societies gave endorsement, the remainder of the student body fell in line.

In addition to warring on exaggerated styles and manufactured complexions, the girls have reduced the size of their hair puffs.

ENCOURAGE FORMATION OF MORE FRATERNITIES

Columbus, O.: Any group or groups of students desiring to organize local fraternities, or any local chapter that is desirous of becoming national, should see Boyd Kegg, chairman of the Panhellenic committee for more fraternities.

Since the organization of this committee three weeks ago its members have been making a survey of Greek organizations on the campus with the purpose of aiding groups trying to form local fraternities, recommending local chapters to national fraternities, and helping to enter nationals into Panhellenic.

At present the committee is helping to organize one local fraternity, petitioning for national charters for two organizations which are at present local, and investigating the eligibility of three nationals for membership in Panhellenic Council.

Athletic Department
Special Events for
To Start at 1:30

Everything is set for the First Annual Relay Carnival, which will have over 500 entries, on Iowa field tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 p. m. The meet will be composed of nineteen track and field events, intersorority relays, military company relays, high schools, fraternities, and literary societies, all represented. The price of admission will be an I ticket, either of which will admit to both the Carnival and the Iowa game which will follow the carnival at 7:30 p. m.

The feature events of the carnival will be: an intersorority relay in which fourteen different sororities will be represented by men each, one of whom will run a half mile, another 220 yards, and the 1-4 mile; in interfraternity relays which twenty-one fraternities will be represented by teams, men each, each man of whom will run 110 yards; and an intersorority relay in which each company will be represented by R. O. T. C. will be represented by a team composed of six men each, each man of whom will run 110 yards.

The Athletic Department will present two cups, one to the interfraternity relay team and the other to the sorority which is first in the intersorority relay. The cups will not be permanent trophies, but will be given to the new winners of one year after which they will be given to the new winners.

All of the relay races will be run on lanes and any man who runs his own lane will be eligible to run. E. G. Schroeder, director of the athletic department, will be the starter.

In addition to the relay races, there will be a number of other events, including a 100 yard walk and the 1-4 mile. The only eligibility restriction for the special events is that a student in the University must be a student in the University. The men will be allowed to run in any track or field event.

The interfraternity relay will be the most hotly contested of the afternoon. Any man who belongs to a fraternity or I-man who belongs to a fraternity will be eligible to run. A number of the fraternities have been out on the track during the past week, passing the baton and the torch to the new winners.

The Relay Carnival will be a good opportunity for the prospects, and it will be interesting to see what their varsity teams will do. This will be the first of its kind that has ever been held in Iowa and judging from the known ability of the entrants, the First Annual Relay Carnival should be a success. A complete program of the carnival, containing the time of event, the names of the entrants, the organization,
