SENIOR CLASS SELECTS PLAY

"A Successful Calamity" Will Be Presented on May 23

"A Successful Calamity", by Claire Somers, has been selected by the play committee of the senior class as the annual senior play to be given at the Englert Monday evening, May 23.

Miss Gladys Powers of Waterloo has been secured to coach the play. Miss Powers attended the University, and has been for several years in lycium work. She will arrive here this afternoon to begin work. Tryouts will be held Friday and Saturday. Announcement of the time and place of the tryout will be given in tomorrow's Daily Iowan.

"A Successful Calamity" is a three-act comedy dealing with life in New York. It treats of the experiences of a wealthy young man, who, mistaking his wife, arranges a fake financial failure. The whole affair comes out well and the two are reunited. There will be twelve characters in the play.

Craig M. Arbuckle L3 of Waterloo is chairman of the senior committee in charge of the production. Fred A. Steiner L3 of Corydon has been appointed manager.

DOOLITTLE THINKS IOWA FORTUNATE IN GETTING FUNDS

"The University of Iowa was extremely fortunate in getting large appropriations from the state legislature," said Clyde H. Doolittle L3 of Delhi, who returned to the University Wednesday following the adjournment of the 139th General Assembly at Des Moines. Doolittle was a member of the house of representatives from Delaware county, and was on the committee which investigated all the appropriation bills for the five state schools. "Considering the existing financial conditions and the high taxes, I believe that this University was very lucky, and I believe that the passage of the appropriation bills was due largely to the work of President Walter A. Jessup, the board of education, and the many staunch friends which the University has in the legislature."

In particular Doolittle mentions Arthur Springer, J. B. Weaver, C. F. Clark, and C. M. Dutcher, as the most instrumental in their defense of the large appropriation measures. Senator Foskett, who has for several years been chairman of the appropriations committee, again championed the University and helped pass the bills. Several of the University administration staff were on the scene and attended the annual Finkbine dinner given to alumni who are helping put the University bills through the legislature. Dean William G. Raymond, head of the college of applied science, Dean George F. Kay, dean of the college of liberal arts, and President Walter A. Jessup were the leading men at this dinner.

DR. TWENHOFEL TO SPEAK ON ISLAND OF ANTICOSTI

Dr. W. H. Twenhofel of the University of Wisconsin will deliver a lecture on "Geography and Geology of the Island of Anticosti" in room 301 of the physics building at 7:30 Friday evening under the auspices of the Baconian club. Doctor Twenhofel will illustrate his lecture with a series of lantern slides.

Anticosti Island is a large island located at the mouth of the St. Lawrence River. Dr. Twenhofel has spent several years in studying the island. "Not much is generally known about the island, but it has an exceedingly interesting history both geologically and geographically," said a member of the Baconian club.

TENNIS CLASSES FOR WOMEN TO START SOON

Tennis classes for women will begin just as soon as the courts are in condition. Classes were to have begun this week but owing to the snow storm this has been impossible.

Chalk talks are being given by the instructors in physical education to the different classes.

Women in physical education have a choice of tennis, baseball, track, or swimming as their elective this spring.

SWIMMERS WILL BE HERE FRIDAY

Women from Colleges of State and High Schools to Swim in Seals' Meet

The first women's swimming meet of its kind ever held in Iowa will be put on Friday afternoon and evening, April 22, under the auspices of the Seals Club, honorary women's swimming organization, at the women's gymnasium.

The meet will be between the following high school teams at 4 o'clock in the afternoon: Cedar Falls training school, Cedar Rapids, Burlington, University high school, and probably several others which have not yet definitely accepted. The meet in the evening will be at 7:30 between the following colleges: Coe, Iowa State Teachers' College, Drake, Ames, and the Seals Club of the University.

The purpose of this meet is to determine the state championship in swimming among the women students of Iowa and to arouse enthusiasm in aquatic sports throughout the state, according to Beatrice McGarvey A2 of Waterloo, chairman of the invitation committee. Awards will be given to the winners.

Martha Stewart A4 of Chariton is in charge of the housing of the contestants, and every Seal will be responsible for two guests.

A silver medal will be given to the individual college point winner and a silver cup to the winning college. A similar cup will be awarded the victorious high school and a bronze medal to their individual point winner.

FRESHMAN TRACK MEET TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Ninety-eight men are reporting daily for freshman track work, according to Coach Jenkins. There are two classes daily, one in the morning and one in the afternoon. Most of the men report in the afternoon.

Next Saturday an all freshman meet will be held, on Iowa Feld, beginning at 2:00 p. m. in which all men who are out for freshman track or any one who is in his first year's residence at the University are eligible to compete. It is probable that arrangements will be made to run a freshman inter-college relay race in this meet, in which teams composed of four freshmen each and representing each college in the University will compete. The race will be either a half mile or a 660 yard relay.

The meet to be held Saturday will be the first actual competition for the freshman athletes. They have been training since spring vacation, and according to Coach Jenkins, many of them are showing promise of being future varsity stars, but it will be hard to get a definite line on them until next Saturday's meet.

Saturday, April 30th, the freshman and varsity teams will hold a dual meet. The freshman team will be picked from the men who show up well in next Saturday's meet. The winners of first, second, and third, places in the Freshman-Varsity dual will be presented with silk ribbons.

In addition to the two above named meets the Iowa freshmen will compete in three telegraphic meets with the freshmen of three other conference schools.

ANNUAL JUBILEE GIVEN TONIGHT

Seven Organizations Have Entered Stunts in Program

The annual All Fools' Jubilee, the second feature of the Memorial Union week, will be held tonight in the natural science auditorium at eight o'clock. Seven organizations have entered stunts in tonight's jubilee.

The first stunts "Limerics on various types of people at Iowa" will be given by Philo-Octave. The next stunt in order will be: "The Tragedy of Cicero" by Hamlin Garland; "Professor Bush's Trip through the Orient", by Hep-Zet; stunt by Whitby literary society; "Defects in our English Language" by the Classical club; "An Old Fashioned Garden" by Athena; and "Takeoff on the 1922 Hawk-eye" by Irving-Ero.

Tryouts for the Jubilee were held last Saturday when all of the above organizations with the exception of Whitby gave their productions before the review board. A prize of $25 will be awarded the organization giving the best stunt. A prize of $15 and $10 go to the organizations giving the second and third best stunts respectively.

The winners will be decided by a vote of the audience. "The organization with the best representation in the audience will no doubt take the honors," said Douglas F. Boynton, chairman of the All Fools' committee. Each person who attends will have one vote. The programs are being printed to allow them to be used as ballots also. The winners will be announced in the Daily Iowan, Thursday morning.

Frederick W. Brown and Ray E. Holcombe of the public speaking department acted as judges in the tryouts. Mr. R. H. Fitzgerald, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and Miss May I. Bash, secretary of the Y. W. C. A. will act as judges of the vote tonight.

Tickets will be on sale today in the liberal arts building and at the natural science auditorium tonight.

GYM AND MAT TEAMS WILL HOLD ELECTION OF CAPTAINS TODAY

The captains of next year's wrestling team and the gymnasium team will be elected today at a meeting to be held in E. G. Schroeder's office at 4 o'clock. Each sport has a number of possible candidates for the honor, according to Mr. E. G. Schroeder, under whose direction these sports come.

Charles B. Sweeney A3 of Sutherland, is doped to lead the wrestling team next year. Sweeney who wrestles in the 145 pound class won every match in which he engaged during the past season. Six men will be eligible to vote today for the captain of the 1922 wrestling team. The men who will vote are: Leland C. White L1 of Harlan, Robert L. Hunter A3 of Mapleton, Robert T. Smith M2 of Granger, Charles B. Sweeney A3 of Sutherland, Edward Vana D2 of Montour, and Ben G. Howry A2 of Waterloo. All of these men except Howry received full "Ps" for their work on the team this year. Howry received the regular wrestling insignia, the "I-w". Vana and Hunter are also two likely candidates in today's election.

Gervase W. Tompkins A3 of Garrison and Thomas P. Treynor M2 of Iowa City seem to be the most likely candidates for the captaincy of the gymnasium team next year. The men who are eligible to vote in the election this afternoon are: M. M. Bailey S4 of Marion, Edward F. Kohrs A3 of Davenport, Robert T. Leimer S3 of Waterloo, Miller H. Klein A2 of Rolfe, Gervase W. Tompkins, and Thomas P. Treynor.

HAMILTON LEAVES TO JOIN CLEVELAND BASEBALL CLUB

Carter H. Hamilton M3 of Wapello left yesterday afternoon for Cleveland Ohio, to join the American league team for the season's work. He intends to return to school next fall and continue his course in the medical school. Hamilton has been working out with the Iowa squad so far this season and will be in good shape for his big league work.

MORE INTEREST SHOWN IN UNION

Engineering Students Will Meet Tonight to Discuss Plans

The Iowa Memorial Union is gaining the attention of the students and faculty so that they are beginning to realize its possibilities, according to reports of the chairmen of the committees who are already at work under the new organization.

In an interview yesterday, R. G. Grassfield, director of the Iowa Memorial Union, said that the students do not realize their own great power in the case of making this Union an immediate success. He said that it is no more than natural for the students to feel that their own individual efforts are insignificant in putting the Union through, but insisted that this is not true.

"If the students will pledge their quota and the business conditions are such as to warrant the letting of a contract, we can break ground for the Union within a year. It is for the students to say how soon the work will begin," he added.

There are 4,139 students and 415 faculty members in the University at the present time and our quota of $250,000, when compared with reference to total enrollment of Universities where the students and faculty have raised $350,000 and over, does not seem to be assuming too much interest and enthusiasm in the Union on our own campus.

Reports from committeemen indicate that the law students will not fall much short of the record made by the pharmacy students who pledged seventy-seven per cent or fifty-one life memberships out of the sixty-six students.

The engineering students will meet in the students' room in the engineering building at 7:30 this evening where Mr. Grassfield will talk to them concerning the Union. Light refreshments will be served after a discussion of the Union plans.

"MILESTONES" PLAYED BY IOWA CITY DRAMA LEAGUE

"Milestones", the second annual community play produced by the Iowa City Center of the Drama League of America was played at the Englert theater last night.

The play is a contrast between three generations and the industrial world in the different ages. In the first act, which is set in England about 1860, John Rhead, the leading character, became dissatisfied with wooden ships and had a vision of iron ships. In spite of family estrangement, he sticks to his convictions and in the second act which took place twenty years later, he is a successful builder of iron ships. The third act was a celebration of his golden wedding, and this act also brings in the intervention of the steel ships.

Those who took part in the play are Miss Florence Churchill, Miss Romola Latchem, Miss Helene Blatner, Mr. Hildreth Spafford, Prof. E. H. Lauer, Mr. John Eppel, Mr. Francis Suplee, Mrs. W. F. Bristol, Mr. W. R. Hart, Mrs. Henry Morrow, Mr. Frank Breene, Mr. John Beck, Mr. Ray Holcombe, Mrs. W. R. Hart, and Mr. Clyde L. Smith.

Prof. Edward C. Mable, acting head of the public speaking department was the director of the play.

DRAKE RELAY TRYOUTS HELD

Bresnahan Will Not Announce Men Who Made the Team Until Later

Tryouts were held on the outdoor track yesterday afternoon to enable Coach Bresnahan to pick the men who will represent Iowa at the Drake Relay meet to be held at Des Moines next Saturday, April 23. Because of the fact that the time of the men placing in several different heats of some events will have to be compared, and because the judges of places in the finals of the 220 yard dash did not exactly agree, Coach Bresnahan will not announce the names of the men who will compose the different teams until later.

The track was exceptionally slow, being rough and soggy. Considering this the time made in the different events was fairly good. The 220 yard dash was the most hotly contested event, about twenty men running in the preliminaries. The finals in the hundred yard dash were postponed until Wednesday.

Wilson won the 220 in :23 with Hill a close second. Seiling, Friedlander, Quint and Matthey followed in such close succession that the judges could not exactly agree upon third, fourth and fifth places. The race may be run again tomorrow night. Iowa will be allowed to enter only one man in the 100 yard dash and Wilson will probably be the man. He will have some very stiff competition with the dash stars of twelve other Universities and numerous colleges of the middle west. But judging from the way that he has been running all year and his physical condition it seems probable that he has a good chance of placing in this event.

The half mile and mile relay teams will be Iowa's two most well-balanced teams. The men who will run on both of these teams have been running their distances in good time and no one man on either team has proved himself a great deal faster than his teammates so far.

The results of the tryouts were as follows: mile relay team (330 yard dash) 1st heat—Parker first, Beck second, Buchanan third, time :37. Second heat—Greck first, Marty second, time :37 4-5. Tryouts for the 120 yard low hurdles (one man to be entered), Crawford first, Belding second.

Tryouts for the four mile relay team (Three quarters were run) — McIntire first, Peterman second, Noll third, Ashton fourth, time 3 minutes 34 2-5 seconds.

The full distance was not run in any event, with the exception of the finals in the 220 yard dash, because of the fact that Coach Bresnahan wishes to keep his men in as perfect condition as possible until the day of the meet.

MORNING DRILL POSTPONED

Faculty and Military Department Will Meet This Week

Morning drill for students in the military department has been postponed until an agreement can be reached between the faculty and the military department. There will be a meeting the last of this week when the question of drilling from six to seven in the morning will be brought up again and some decision reached. The student sentiment, according to Lieut.-Col. Morton C. Mumma, head of the department of military science and tactics, is strongly in favor of the morning drill.

The date for the battalion athletic meet has been set for Saturday, May 14. This date will be changed to Saturday May 28, if the Northwestern baseball game which is scheduled for that day can be played on Friday of the same week. The regimental review will be held June 3.

FALSE ECONOMY

"There is such a thing as paying too much for your education," said Prof. J. V. Britweiser of the department of education at the University of California in a recent interview granted to a reporter on the student newspaper. "Students practice false economy by not purchasing text books by inefficient planning and by dividing their interests."

If a student would voluntarily use a library book to save the money that he would have to spend if he bought the book, it would naturally be supposed that he valued his time at something, yet students who have to use a book as often as thirty times a semester will often depend upon the library and will waste hours in obtaining and returning a book not counting the time lost in trying to get it only to find out that it is in use.

Even if a student's time were valued at the minimum, he could ordinarily buy two or more books with the amount of time that he loses at the library. Libraries are proper enough in their places but there is such a thing as overworking them to one's own advantage. If it is necessary to use a book as often as thirty times a semester, the true economy would be to buy one.

Office seekers' slogan: Now is the time for the party to come to the aid of all good men.

PARADES AND MAIN STREET

College students who think they are blase and college students who believe they are worldly and sophisticated may not be interested in these few lines. They are dedicated to the passing of the circus parade.

Because a cruel and mercenary efficiency man connected with Ringling's and Barnums of the "big top" fame has shown his employers that more people file through the Main Entrance when there are no street parades, the public processions—five miles long—are to be cut from the list of attractive lures of the tented carnivals.

Some one has asked if Sinclair Lewis overlooked any small town characteristics in "Main Street," his forceful novel concerning life in the province. If we may be so bold, we'll venture to assert that he did leave out one thing. That was the circus parade. Ringling Brothers or Barnums, perhaps, never came to Gopher Prairie, Minnesota, but Gopher Prairie came to their parades in larger communities, whose Main Streets were just as rustic as Gopher Prairie's.

Circus day, in the middle west at least, has been a gala day. Romantic street fairs of the eighteenth century had little on it when it came to the cosmopolitan makeup of the crowds. And it was the street parade, which was free and started at 10 a. m. rain or shine, that brought out the throngs that lined Main Street to see everything from the announcer who rode at the head to the steam calliope, whose raucous music sounded the final note of the procession.

And so with the passing of the street parade, which is a tradition if not an institution, one sees the passing of a Main Street celebrated—just as delightful to the city feller, even though he doesn't admit it, to the country yokel who ate it up, and admitted he liked it.

The Listening Post

In a good many ways the Andrews triangle gives us more thrills than does the Stillman parallelogram because the New York stock broker is much more frank than the New York banker. We like frank people and what, we ask you, is more above board than the domestic arrangement of this latest front-page-news-source?

Mr. Andrews, Mr. Stillman and the almost forgotten Clara Smith Hamon are examples of why newspaper editors are never fearless lest there be no scandal story for tomorrow's front page. While it is true the press men can never anticipate the future triangles they know that providence, divine or otherwise, will cast forth something "hot" for the city edition. Perhaps, it is this touch that gives newspapering a romantic side.

Our days at covering police and courts, from which flow the stories of intrigue, were few and far between so we cannot speak with authority on the romance of a reporter's life. But we do know that—which probably would interest Upton Sinclair—the the only time we got a real story loaded with spice we were forced, by a kindly publisher, to throw it into the waste paper basket after tearing it into many bits. That wasn't romantic; it wasn't even chivalrous on our part.

We are the son of a newspaper publisher who didn't believe in chronicling the lurid details of domestic troubles. That was one of the reasons the Pater died a comparatively poor man. We shall always follow the standard he bore for the Democratic party but, being mercenary, we shall always believe that the "wages of sin is publicity."

Logic doesn't always spring from the mature breast. Yesterday, a reader reports, he heard a small girl complaining that her big sister's dresses weren't long enough.

In Professor Starbuck's logic class on Monday that good philosopher read several jokes from such periodicals as Judge and Life and wondered why the laughs of his students were not more prolonged. If he were seeking to procure hysteria he should have used Frivol.

One of the rules for the stunts in the All Fool's Jubilee expressly prohibits any personal reference to professors and instructors. At least we can accuse the faculty of having a guilty conscience.

"Oh, how do you do;
Won't you come in?
What shall we do this evening,
A movie? Oh, I never go to movies,
When I have an interesting date.

"I do so want
To hear you talk;
Tell me, what do you think
Of Christian Science? You know I Believe there's something, after all, in faith.

"You know I'm glad
You called tonight
For every girl in the house
Had a date. I was mortified
To think I'd have to sit alone and study.

"Must you go?
I'm really sorry
And I'm awfully glad you came;
I know it's ten—but a date once told me
That rules were only made to be

NOT MARRIED

In addition to typographically naming new heads of departments and typographically reducing perfectly competent members of the instructional staff, there is now laid at the door of the Daily Iowan, a charge of having typographically married two young people, Mr. Lynch and Miss Tiedemann, quite without the proper legal procedure. As Mark Twain said about a premature report of his death, it was greatly exaggerated. The two young people were not married. The paper is sorry. It, as newspapers frequently are, was made the goat in a crude attempt at jocularity, and is honestly as incensed about the matter as Mr. Lynch.

TELLS OF AMES WOMEN

Mrs. Aurner Says Co-eds at Iowa State Enjoy Advantages

College women at Ames enjoy most of the admitted advantages of the women's college along with the broader influences of the co-educational institution, according to Mrs. Nellie S. Aurner, dean of women, who has recently returned from a conference there.

Mrs. Aurner was impressed by the comfortable houses and dormitories which the college has provided for the women students who number between 900 and 1,000. Last fall four new lodges, as they were called, were built to accommodate the increase in attendance making the number of dormitories seven which with the six sorority houses furnish room enough for the entire number. An extra emergency lodge is kept ready for special occasions. At the time of Mrs. Aurner's visit members of Pi Beta Phi sorority were living there on account of a fire at the chapter house. The dormitories are equipped with large recreation rooms for dancing and games and special parlors and guest rooms.

"However, here at the University we have advantages which more than compensate for this in the broad interests contributed by the professional college and in the more highly specialized departmental work of the college of liberal arts which Ames, being a vocational college, lacks. Also graduate and research work is not done there extensively," Mrs. Aurner said.

ANNUAL CONCERT COMING APRIL 27

Women's Glee Club Nears Completion of Program Preparation

The annual concert of the women's glee club will be given Wednesday, April 27, at 8:15 p. m. in the natural science auditorium. Tickets for the concert are on sale at the office of the school of music and by the members of the glee club. The price of the tickets is fifty cents.

"The club is practicing every day and the program is practically ready for production except to put on the finishing touches," says Prof. William E. Hays of the music department. Besides numbers by the entire club, a quartette, and some solos, there will be a special number which will be kept a secret. This will add interest to the program because it will be an unusual feature in a concert of this kind, according to Prof. Hays.

Some week-end this spring the glee club will go to Mount Pleasant to give a concert. The people of Mount Pleasant who heard the concert the men's glee club gave there last winter were so much pleased that they have accepted the guarantee of the women's club for any weekend they wish to come, according to Prof. Hays. Probably only about twenty members of the club will go on this trip, but those who will go have not been chosen yet.
