The cast of the play will be as follows: Henry Wilson, a millionaire who longs to spend a quiet evening at home—Fred A. Steiner; Emmie, his young second wife, Mrs. Elena Patton Moffett of Iowa City; Margaret, his daughter, Genevieve Cleary of Waterloo; Eddie, his son, LeRoy McDowell of Davenport; George Struthers, Marguerite's fiance, Marc Tapscott of Des Moines; Clarence Rivers, another fiance, Edward Pfeiffer of Corwith; Julie Partington, Eddie's fiance, Eleanor Tally of Sioux City; Connors, the butler, Chas. The story of the play is that of a tired New York business man, very wealthy, who has married for the second time. Doubting the affections of his wife he formulates a plan whereby she is made to believe that he has lost all of his money and is a poor man. However, she remains loyal and true and the man is convinced that the "calamity" of losing his fortune was a successful one.

The local chapter is composed of members of the law faculty and former students who received the honor. Besides the members of the faculty there are three members of the honorary organization living in Iowa City. They are W. R. Hart, E. P. Korab, and F. B. Olsen.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE ON WALKS

Basement of Home Economics Building to be Used as Library

Plans are being carried out to fill in and resod the ground between Old Capitol, natural science building, and the liberal arts building. A part of the walks have been raised.

The walk running north and south past Old Capitol, from the law building to the west side of the liberal arts building is being lowered one step and moved into line with the walk along the west side of the liberal arts building.

The walk between the south entrance of the natural science building and the north entrance of the liberal arts building will be raised level with the walks running east and west, and widened. The ground lying between Old Capitol, the natural science building, and the liberal arts building will be filled in forming a terrace on the east side of the walk from the natural science to the liberal arts building.

New lighting fixtures will be installed where this walk crosses the main walk leading from Clinton street to Old Capitol.

Most of the walk about Old Capitol is made of slabs of rock which was secured thirty-five years ago from Joilet, Ill. This stone is the same as the Joilet prisoners break, and it is of the same strata as the upper rock in the Niagara Falls.

The grounds opposite the natural science building will be excavated and the basement of the home economics building will be prepared for addition room for the University library. A tunnel will connect the two buildings, according to C. A. Mockmore S'20 assistant to J. M. Fisk, superintendent of grounds and buildings, who is superintending the work.

THIRTY SCHOOLS TO ENTER MEET

Preliminaries Will Take Place Saturday Morning—Finals in Afternoon

Thirty Iowa high schools have entered a total of 230 athletes in the thirteenth annual interscholastic track and field meet to be held on Iowa field next Saturday in conjunction with the Iowa-Northwestern dual meet. This is a total of one more school than was entered last year.

Last year's meet was won by Cedar Rapids and it looks as though they have a very good chance of winning another leg of the Des Moines alumni cup which will be permanently presented to the team having won first place in the meet for three different years, judging from the performance of a number of the members of the team in recent meets.

This year's meets will consist of all the regular track and field events. The preliminaries in all of the events will be held Saturday morning, and the finals will be in the afternoon in conjunction with the Varsity meet.

The athletic department will present several large cups to the schools winning places in the meet, and medals to individual winners of places in each event. The Des Moines alumni cup will be presented for a period of one year to the team winning first place in the meet.

The different teams will be entertained by the various fraternities and other organizations on the campus. Friday evening the athletes and their coaches will be entertained at the Iowa festival at the Armory. And Saturday noon the athletic board will give a training table luncheon at the Armory.

The high schools that have entered teams are as follows: Cedar Rapids, Davenport, Richland, Lone Tree, Ft. Madison, Valley Junction, Springville, Cresco, Nashua, West Branch, Webster City, Tipton, Newhall, Milton, Wellman, Vinton, Norway, Crawfordsville Toledo, Shellsburg, East Des Moines, University High, Iowa City High, Ladora, North Des Moines, West Des Moines, Ottumwa, Anamosa; Van Horn, Marion.

SQUAD HAS WORKOUT FOR CORNELL AND NOTRE DAME GAMES

The Iowa baseball squad after its unsuccessful invasion of Purdue and Illinois returned to its practice work last night. The men were up against two of the best teams in the conference this year and with their work cut out for the week they settled down to get even in the games to come.

Last night Coach Ashmore went over the mistakes of the men and pointed out corrections necessary to remedy the faults uncovered. They offer no abillies except in the Purdue game when a ball hit by a Purdue man resulted in two scores, on which there was much doubt as to the fairness of the hit. But now the games are over and attention is turned on the game with Cornell on Wednesday and Notre Dame on Friday.

Plenty of hitting practice is the program mapped out by the coach and lots of work is in store for the pitchers in order to give them the necessary confidence against opposing batters.

No changes are expected in the lineup unless Frohwein is given the big job on the pitching staff, in which case Irish would hold down third base steady.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. JESSUP TO ATTEND INAUGURATION

President and Mrs. Walter A. Jessup will attend the inauguration of Prof. Lotus D. Coffman as president of the University of Minnesota, which will be held during the second week in May.

Others in order on the program and their presentations are Effie Page A1 of Scranton, "Slumber Song"; Gladys Watkins A1 of Woodbine, "Hungarian Dance No. 6."

Josephine Gage A3 of Sabula, "Out of My Soul's Sorrow" and "Wind and Lyre"; Enda M. Shalla A2 of Iowa City, "Fauns"; Marion R. Baker A1 of Sioux City, "He of All the Best, the Noblest"; Gertrude Shanklin A2 of Toledo, "Thou Art the Rest"; Emilie Hartman A2 of Junction City, Kansas, "The Swan" and "L'heure Exquise"; and Myrtle Detlef A1 of Davenport, "Waltz op. 70, No. 1" and "Hunting Song."

BROWN LOOKS TO SPIRITUAL SIDE

Vesper Speaker Makes Four Points Upon Which to Rebuild Country

"The nation should look to its spiritual side in the great hard hours of rebuilding," declared Charles Reynolds Brown, dean of the Yale school of religion and a graduate of the University of Iowa, in speaking at the Vesper service in the natural science auditorium Sunday afternoon. His subject was "The Day of Rebuilding." The University orchestra and the University Vesper choir furnished music, while Rev. Ira J. Houston, pastor of the Congregational church, gave the invocation and the scripture reading.

"The world has been torn apart the last six years politically, industrially, and morally, and what we need most at the present time is a finer type of personal character," said the speaker. "The main things in life come in our everyday work."

Dean Brown gave four principles upon which the country could be rebuilt: First, a more democratic spirit; second, a more equitable distribution of the world's goods; third, a steadier exaltation of human values; and fourth, development and maintenance of a national soul.

Sunday morning at 9 o'clock Dean Brown spoke to a group of University men and women in the liberal arts assembly room on the opportunities and possibilities in the field of the ministry. "We need preachers who can interpret the Bible intelligently and apply the principles of Christianity to social activities," he said.

Dean Brown is making a tour of colleges and universities at the present time. He left here Sunday evening for Coe college.

Dean Brown received his A. B. and M. A. from the University of Iowa in 1883 and 1886 respectively. He was pastor of the first Congregational church in Oakdale, Calif., from 1896 to 1911 when he became the head of the Yale school of religion. He has written many books on religious subjects, some of which are "The Cap and Gown," "Social Message of the Modern Pulpit" and "The Latent Energies in Life."

MAHELA WEAKING MAKES HIGH GRADE IN EXAMS

Out of over 150 persons taking state teacher's examinations in Pheonix, Ariz., recently, the highest grade was made by Miss Machela Wehking. Miss Wehking was a junior in the college of liberal arts here last semester and a teacher in the University elementary school. She was compelled to go West on account of her sister's health.

WOMEN'S DINNER HELD TONIGHT

Women's Association Would Make this Dinner An Annual Affair

The first of the annual banquets given by the Women's Association for the representative women of Iowa, will be held this evening at 6 o'clock at the Pagoda tea shop. Presidents of all women's organizations, some alumni, and faculty members, Miss Helen Bennett, director of the Chicago collegiate bureau of occupations, Miss Luella Reed, dean of women at Grinnell, and Miss Myra Leonard, dean of women at Coe college, will be guests.

The purpose of the banquet is to further in every way the spirit of unity and fellowship among the University women and to create an Iowa spirit and loyalty. It is hoped by the Women's Association that these annual banquets will become as firmly established as the Finkbine-Kuehnle dinner for representative men.

The entire dinner, decorations and toasts will carry out the spirit of Old Gold. Black and gold streamers will decorate the tables. A flower of golden color will be at each guests place. There will also be a basket of them in the center of the table. The place cards will be of gold and white in the shape of the letter I.

HELEN BENNETT TO SPEAK TO WOMEN THIS AFTERNOON

Miss Helen M. Bennett, director of the Chicago bureau of occupation, will be at the University today and Wednesday to speak to the women on vocational opportunities. Miss Bennett will talk at freshman lectures this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the natural science auditorium. Her subject will be "Vocational Opportunities for College Trained Women." This lecture is open to all those interested. Mrs. Nellie S. Aurner, dean of women, requests that all outsiders who attend this lecture sit in the balconies. The main floor is reserved for the freshmen.

Miss Bennett will give another talk Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the liberal arts drawing room. She has been asked to select her own subject. Miss Bennett will hold conferences all day Wednesday.

There is no one in the United States better informed as to vocational guidance for women than Miss Bennett, according to Mrs. Aurner. As head of the Chicago collegiate bureau of occupation, she is called upon to address college women through out the United States. From Iowa City Miss Bennett will go to Grinnell and then to Simpson college.

Miss Bennett was brought to the University through the efforts of Mrs. Aurner, assisted by the Women's Association and Gamma Epsilon Pi, commerce sorority.

ARM BANDS WILL IDENTIFY MEN IN FIELD EVENTS

A plan that is new at track meets will be introduced at the Iowa-Northwestern meet next Saturday in order to distinguish the men in the various field events. Gold, blue and maroon colored arm bands will be worn by the representatives in the field events, pennants of the colleges will be used to show the distances with the javelin and the discus. At the top of the pennant will be a streamer that will be the same in color as the arm band. This plan was used at the Olympic events held in Antwerp, Belgium, last year and enables the spectators to follow the events more closely, even though they may not be acquainted with the participants.

JUST LOOK AT US!

Even though Addison said, "Look what a little vain dust we are!" and such a mind as Burke's let fly the thought that "Man is an animal that cooks his victuals," we would not choose these as the most true of all their lines. In the life of every man, perhaps, there is a bringing up, a setting of all fours, and with it a realization which might express itself in some such words as, "How truly great is man!"

A recognition of values, self-appreciation, or, if you please, pride should not be relegated to the discard if it seems to savor somewhat of the boastful, for it is the thing which makes for greater power. Pride in country builds the conquering army, in self a spirit of leadership, and responsibility stimulates executive power.

We might, at one time, have been a trifle dubious about the success of a project just as great as the Iowa Memorial. But a 100 per cent rally to the Union by a considerable part of the University was also of dubious nature then. Now that this has been attained nothing short of 100 per cent for the entire campus is unreasonable. Just as Little Jack Horner realized his virtues, so we may discover our power and responsibility in the matter of a Union, and it is this discovery that will help us to make it an immediate success.

ABUSE AND CRITICISM

College men and women are notoriously intolerant. So many creeds, doctrines, dogmas, and so much foolishness tumble into their receptive brains that they find themselves incapable of understanding a position not similar to their own. Perhaps the result is caused by the fact that we are trained to receive the dicta of the classroom as perfect, and so we cannot understand one who has travelled in a different direction.

Hence we find most college men and women branding their classmates as boobs, fools, and queer birds, and nuts. Almost without exception the person using these terms in regard to someone has himself been so classified by the very man to whom he refers. No doubt it has been within the experience of every person in the University to associate with two quite different persons, who believed, and expressed themselves to the effect, that the other person was an imbecile or an ass. They probably were both wrong. On the other hand they both may be right. But it is not likely.

The college product feels that he is a bright, alert lad and that he has a large stock of brains, and lots of latent talent and energy with which he has never favored his studies. For this reason he rejects criticism. Instead, he feels that he is misunderstood. Often he is. If the college man amounted to no more than some estimates made of him by his professors and classmates, the world would perhaps, be a duller place than it is.

Few of us contain the fine, sympathetic understanding of Goethe as illustrated by a story related of him:— One day he was sitting with some friends in a cafe. All were drinking and passing jests. Suddenly a religious fanatic burst upon the little group and in the most vile terms denounced Goethe as a blasphemer and an atheist. Goethe regarded him considerably all during the storm of abuse. When the fanatic had stopped, Goethe gently requested the columnist to pray for his soul. The man was so overcome with Goethe's generosity that he later studied him and came to change his mind.

Of course it is hard to ask this much generosity from the average undergraduate mind. We will, no doubt, all go on abusing one another.

ARTISTS DRAWING SHOWS UNIVERSITY AFTER MEMORIAL UNION IS BUILT

An interesting development of one suggestion for the site of the Iowa Memorial Union is made in a water-color painting by Miss Edna Patzig of the department of graphic arts. The painting is on display in the window of the Book and Craft shop on Washington street.

Miss Patzig has portrayed the east-side campus as seen from the west, with future additions. The Memorial Union cuts across the two blocks immediately to the south and southwest of Currier Hall. According to the plan the Union would be built across Capitol street and in line with Old Capitol building, with which its axis would be identical. The ground sloping from the Union westward would be parked down to the river bank. The artist has also conceived of another concrete bridge across the river at the end of Bloomington street.

Various suggestions are being made as to the proper site for the building. The block between Jefferson street and Iowa avenue now occupied by the Y. M. C. A., the Congregational church and other buildings, seems to be favored by many. Some would place the building at the foot of the hill across the end of Iowa avenue. Others look toward the block in which the law building stands, and some argue for the west side campus. Certain other schemes have also been proposed to the committee on plans.

Professor C. H. Weller, a member of this committee, says "The north site across Capitol street seems the most satisfactory from an architectural point of view, but perhaps is too far from the center of the campus. One thing is sure: The location must be central. The block containing the law building has long been preempted for the university library. The site west of Old Capitol seems entirely too low for a monumental building; furthermore, a structure located here would conceal Old Capitol. The west side is probably impossible because of its distance; besides, the space is all preempted for the medical campus and men's dormitories. I confess that my mind now returns to the Clinton street site as the most available. Perhaps something better will be suggested. The whole question is dependent on many considerations, including the purchase of land."

officers or of someone connected with the board. Miss Pierce has taken work under Prof. R. M. Tryon of the university of Chicago who is one of the officers of the council and she has written several articles for the Historical Outlook of which Albert E. McKinley is the editor. Mr. McKinley is also one of the officers.

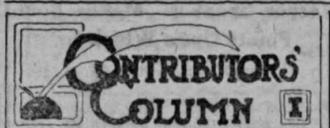

Among the members there are many men who are prominent in educational work. They are: W. B. Manro, professor of history at Harvard; W. L. Westernman, professor of history at Cornell University; Chas. H. Judd, head of the education department at the University of Chicago; and A. W. Dunn of the United States Bureau of Education.

NON-FRATERNITY MEN

Editor of The Daily Iowan:

I noticed in The Daily Iowan that all of the men elected to A. F. I. were fraternity men. That does not seem to me a fair representation of Iowa men. Why do we hear so little of the non-fraternity man, however he may struggle along for an education? (None of my fraternity friends were struggling for one when I was at Iowa.) Suppose, for a while that the whole University plug a little for the non-fraternity man, look around for the gem of genius that burns outside of those carefully selected groups.

There are many fine fellows who are just as capable and just as deserving, but we do not hear about them. Is it because there are no brothers to push them up or to shout for them?

Now I am not condemning fraternities, but I do make a plea for a better spirit shown the non-fraternity men who through lack of opportunity or money could not a brother be. It seems to me that in this age of reforms, it would be a wise plan to reform the attitude at Iowa that anyone who is not a fraternity man or a sorority woman is not worth his or her salt, and might as well step off the planet at once.

Jean Stutsman,
Mandan, North Dakota.

MISS PIERCE IS APPOINTED MEMBER OF ADVISORY BOARD

Miss Bessie L. Pierce, associate professor of history, has recently been appointed a member of the advisory board of the National Council of Teachers of the Social Studies. This is an organization which has been formed for the purpose of unifying all of the work which social service organizations all over the United States. Probably the national organization will not be perfected this year, but it will be ready to begin its work in earnest next year.

This national board includes the principle organizations engaged in prompting social studies. The work was formerly carried out in general by the National Education Association and the American Historical Association of which Miss Pierce is a member. Miss Pierce is one of the three members of the board from any of the middle western colleges. The university of Chicago and University of Minnesota are the only other colleges of the middle west having representatives on the board.

An appointment on this board comes from recommendations of the

REPORTS OF UNION CHAIRMEN SHOW VARIED OPINIONS

Some of the reports coming to the Iowa Memorial Union offices show a broad contrast of conditions and attitude:

Case 1—Chairman called at a certain sorority house and asked one of the members to sign up for a life membership in the Union. The answer came from the woman who the chairman said was dressed "like a million dollars" that she simply couldn't afford it.

Case 2—The same chairman had on his list a foreigner who tossed hash down town to pay his expenses and on calling on him and asked him to sign for a life membership. The reply was, "Hand me the card, I have been reading and know all about it." The chairman received the card signed for life membership.

Case 3—Another chairman reported that he stopped one of the men on his list whom he chanced to meet in a
