FLUTTERER THE DISAPPOINTED SECOND RATER ADDED TO STUDENT VOCABULARY

Extreme satisfaction is experienced in the happy hunting of things. There is a glow of pride when one meets with promiscuous occurrences and finds himself at the center of interest, appreciates all the beauties of the full display of characteristics which is meant to amuse.

Here in the University, we are well acquainted with the "bookworms," the "social boy," the "nosh," and, last but not least of all, the "flutterer." Isn't that a most satisfying, heart-seeking, schoolman's friend, the "flutterer"? But, in the period of classification, there is one which we seem to have missed. There is one student who comes to the campus and soon finds himself housed in a milieu, in the midst of a great circle of attractions. He has vitality and there are numerous things—athletic honors, favorable academic standing, social opportunities, scholastic dinners, prices, popular offices—all of which attract and fascinate him. But, in the end, he happily keeps fluttering about, seeking new friends for this, new friends for that, and in the end he proves to be only a "second-rater" in everything. His future?

On Mother's Day Let This Be Your Message

"Mother—we know we come with hopes full of empty promises and hands filled with fragrant flowers. More closely we see with each passing year that we owe our ALL to you. Never can we forget our debt—nor ever hope to discharge it.

"So today we bring flowers in token of our love stored. We choose them for their beauty and fragrance—symbolism of your mother's. And we wear them symbolically in honor of the one beloved birthday girl.
