WORK CONTINUES ON WEST CAMPUS

The Psychopathic Hospital, Nurses Home, and Armory will All Be Ready for Occupancy Next Fall Busy Superintendent Finds

The Psychopathic Hospital and the Nurses Home and Armory on the West Campus, are nearly completed. Workmen are working the interior of the new hospital and the exterior of the Armory. Spring work on the new armory has not yet been started on as the necessary plans have not been made, according to Mr. McManus, superintendent of grounds and buildings. However, Superintendent Fink said that all of the new buildings will be ready for occupation next fall.

The road past Perkins' hospital is now paved, and when completed the gaiting will extend to Groversville. The Psychopathic Hospital is more than twice as large as the old building, but on account of its greater size it requires much more labor. Practically all the plastering has been done on the new hospital and is now being laid to the floor. The new hospital is built similarly to Perkins hospital, and is only one story high, with the exception of the new story central section. Arched doorways and domed ceilings break the monotony of the large halls, and the interior architectural designs of the building is more elaborate than the first floor or which stands today.

The new armory here is an "L" shaped, three story, brick building, and is located on the hill west of Perkins' hospital. The main entrance is on the west side and has a small portico of white stone. Two stories have been added to this structure this spring, and although the work has been hindered greatly by unfavorable weather, the exterior is now practically complete. They'll All Be There
