CALL DROWNING, PURE ACCIDENT

Jury Finds Parker Couner to Death Through Overturning of Canoe

That Harry Parker, a graduate of Colorado University, was killed in a canoe accident off the coast of Cape Cod, Massachusetts, was reported today. The accident occurred near the town of Provincetown.

The canoe was overturned by strong waves and the occupants were unable to right the canoe. Parker was thrown overboard and drowned in the water. The cause of death was listed as "call drowning, pure accident." The jury found that the canoe was in a state of disrepair and that Parker had no chance of survival.

The accident occurred on August 14 and Parker's body was recovered on August 15. An inquest was held and the cause of death was determined to be "call drowning, pure accident." Parker was a well-known student athlete at Colorado University and was a member of the Denver Rowing Club.

In his honor, a scholarship fund was established at Colorado University to support students who demonstrate academic excellence and athletic prowess. Parker's family also established a memorial fund to support the Rowing Club and other athletic programs at the university.

The death of Parker was a shock to the Colorado University community and left a void that will be hard to fill. His memory will be honored and his legacy will live on through the scholarships and memorial funds established in his name.
OIL, NEW LECTOR HERE, IS AUTHORITY ON NAPOLeON'S LIFE

Prof. A. H. Rolland Rose, of Cornwell University, who was recently in the University next Monday to give a series of lectures on the greatest living historian on Napoleon, will take up his duties as the new lecturer, according to Professor Gilbert G. Benjamin, head of the history department. One of the series, "The Personality of Napoleon", will be his first topic.

The interest of the audience in this lecturer is so high that Professor Rolland Rose has been invited to write articles on Napoleon for the French general, according to Professor Benjamin. The lecturer will also be heard in Chicago, Berlin, and perhaps in England.

All who have been accustomed to see Professor Rose lecture on Napoleon in the University will note the difference between the two.

The University plans to have the lectures continue throughout the month of March.

BOAT RACING MAY BECOME SPORT IN BIG TEN SCHOOLS

Boat racing, one of the greatest sports of our nation's universities, will probably be included in University of Iowa history of sports within the next few years. The sport in some of the Big Ten universities has recently made a name for itself in intercollegiate athletic circles, and it is likely that the Big Ten will consider the possibility of boat racing in their intermittent athletcs.

Wisconsin is at the head of the movement. The University of Wisconsin is fast becoming one of the most popular sports as shown by the fact that nearly every woman college in the United States is represented by its own crew. "Women are now being made at Minneapolis, Chicago, and New York, and Washington, with the view of adding boat racing to the existing athletic activities.

When boat racing has been establlished at these four universities and as many more in the Big Ten Conference, it will be a common practice. It is hardly possible that it will ever gain as much prominence in the West as in the East, where the water facilities are more numerous.

The four universities mentioned here would be sufficient, in fact by the right number, to form a small conference. They are not separated by too great distances, and there are no rivalries that might arise between any one of them in any large of the Big Ten conferences.

The Iowa river, although it has many features for shell racing, is too flat and too shallow to be a sport possible here. The average depth is about 10 feet, and the water is about 25 feet wide. No dis-

The greatest handicap in boat racing is the lack of mature leisure.

PUBLIC OPINION WILL PREVENT REMOVAL OF TWO AGED OAKS

The "best of things are all wrong, out of place, and it is with old and new trees in front of the Old Capitol that Prof. Robert E. Wyl-aught the public sentiment among the student body.

The two oaks, one of which is called "Hamlin" and the other "Winterstein", have been considered by the Faculty as an effective barrier against the influence of growth and decay.

The removal of the two oaks would be a violation of the con-

PIONEERING IN POLITICS

The attempt to establish a women's debate team is an indication that women are beginning to think, in the light of the past, of their opportunities and of their problems. Most of the girls who are members of the team are in the majority of their representative groups at the University but between those groups there is a marked difference.

Several of the bordering states have debate teams side by side and competition is keen.

In the University of Indiana in the first University will meet three women of age undergraduate class, while in the University of Illinois three young girls can be seen in the debate.

If women wish to become members of debating teams, they must be able to take part in all contests and to be able
participate in that activity.

The women who wish for women's teams should know, says:
