STAGE IS NOT NEW TO THEM

Cast of Senior Play Has Had Experience in Former Productions

The cast of the senior play, "A Successful Calamity," to be given at the Englert, Monday, May 23, is made up of students with considerable stage experience. All the principal parts are held by persons who have played leads in other college or stock company productions. Miss Gladys Evers of Waterloo, reading the play, said: "They show that they've been on the stage before, and take my suggestions in a delightfully spirit manner. I feel that the play is going to go off well. It is one that is full of subtle humor, and depends on the acting more than on the dialogue of the play."

Fred A. Stierer, Ll of Cedar Rapids, who takes the leading part in "A Successful Calamity," has probably had the most stage experience of any in the cast. He is described as "Mrs. Hung- stead-Leigh," the Irving-Brooks play given two years ago, and the same society's play of last month, "The President." Before the war, Stierer had the leading part in J. M. Barrie's "The Will," given by the Iowa City Dramatic League. Besides his amateur roles, Stierer worked in a number of small plays with a stock company before he entered the University. He considers his work in "Dixieland" a musical spectacle, his most noteworthy effort on the professional boards. Last summer he played the part of Ambrose Pyle in a Shakespearean tour, presenting "Romeo and Juliet" through the middle western states.

Mrs. Kress P. Meffitt, A.A. of Iowa City, the leading woman in a student in educational drama. Rupert Chanye, who will appear as the deliberate daughter of the sociably bored millionaires, was more recently as the heroine in "The Professor." She had a part in "Twelfth Night," part of which was given this month by the dramatic classes of the University. Miss Chanye is charter member of the Waterloo Dramatic League, and has been in the casts of several plays at the Little Theater in that city.

Charles B. Davis A.A of San Benito, Texas, played in the Iowa City Dramatic League production, "Spreading the Green," three years ago, and the lead in "Ode to Coney," presented last March by the Philo-Oratorio Literary Society.

MISS PROBST TO TAKE PART IN SENIOR PLAY (Continued from page 1) graced as an unusual young man by his acquaintances, as he served in the first lines four years without a wound.

Miss Probst said, "I like the United States and enjoy traveling in this country, something that I expect to return to France some day. The home people, after all, are the ones to look forward to at last," she remarked that the most "practical" and "most noticeable in the conversation and ideas of American students than of the French. Miss Probst appears early in the story.
