GOVERNOR'S DAY SET FOR JUNE 4

Iowa Executive and Military Staff Will Be Here to Review Regiment

Governor's Day this year will be Saturday, June 4. On this day Governor Nate E. Kendall and his military staff will review the R. O. T. C. regiment on parade. The finals of the annual R. O. T. C. field meet will be held on the same day starting at 8 o'clock in the morning. It is expected that Governor Kendall will arrive at 10 o'clock in order to see the last events of the field meet.

Under present plans the governor will be met at the station by a military escort and he and his staff will be immediately taken to Iowa field. At noon there will be a luncheon given in honor of the governor and his staff at which all officers and non-commissioned officers connected with the R. O. T. C. and all cadet officers will be present.

The afternoon program is to begin at 1:30 on Iowa field with an escort to the colors to present the colors to the cadet company winning first place in the field meet. Company "G" under Cadet Captain Robert S. Leeper of Iowa City was the prize winning company of last year's meet.

After the colors have been presented to the winning company, the entire regiment will pass in review before the Governor and his staff and Lieut.-Col. Morton C. Mumma and his staff. Following the regimental review, the members of the R. O. T. C. who are to receive reserve commissions will be sworn in as second lieutenants in the reserve corps of the army.

Presentation of prizes to the winners in the field meet will be the last thing on the day's program. The captain of the company winning first place will be presented with an army automatic pistol, the captain of the company winning second place will be presented with the Coast sword, and the captain of the company winning third place will be presented with the H. J. Weineke medal. The company winning the rifle match will receive the R. T. Phinney cup. The best individual rifle shot will receive the Colonel Burnett medal. The best drilled freshman will win the Supleel medal, the best drilled sophomore will win the C. Yetter medal no. 1, and the best drilled junior will receive the C. Yetter medal no. 2. In addition to these prizes, every cadet who wins a place in any event will be presented with a ribbon.

TWO STUDENTS TO GIVE MUSIC RECITAL TONIGHT AT ANNEX

Ruth E. Rowland A3 of Iowa City, soprano, assisted by Helen Roberts A2 of Perry on the violin will give a vocal recital tonight at 8 p. m. at the school of music annex. Miss Rowland is working for her degree of bachelor of music.

The program will be: "Call Me No More" by Cadman and "Springtime on the Eastern Hill" by Whelpley by Miss Rowland; "Andante Religioso", Thome by Miss Roberts accompanied by Audrey B. Camp A2 of Arispe; "Angels Ever Bright and Fair", Handel by Miss Rowland; "The Robin Sings in the Apple Tree", "Midsummer Lullaby", "The Sea", "The Bluebell", all by MacDowell, Miss Rowland; "Elizabeth's Prayer" (from Tannhauser) Wagner by Miss Rowland; "Mazurka", Mlinarski, Miss Roberts accompanied by Miss Camp; and "By Moonlight" and "Spring Night", Schumann, Miss Rowland accompanied by Marion L. Davis A3 of Scranton.

SENIORS GIVEN PINS

Hesperia Presents Seniors With Society Pins at Last Meeting

Hesperia literary society presented its senior members with the society pin Tuesday night, after the program given on Henry Arthur Jones, the dramatist.

The seniors who were present to receive their pins were Helen Von Lackum of Dysart, Marion Dyer of Des Moines, Edna E. Huber of Tipton, Gertrude Owens of Columbus Junction, Harriet M. Franker of Ida Grove. It is a tradition in the society that each year the outgoing members receive the small gold pin made up of a star encircled by a wreath.

The following numbers were on the program: vocal solo, Grace E. Redfield A3 of Mason City; Life of Henry Arthur Jones, Lucile Bennison A3 of Des Moines; His plays, Harriet Franker; Reading, Persus Carney A1 of Greene.

HOWLING 300 TO MEET TONIGHT

Plans for Activities for Next Year to be Made — Officers to Be Elected

The Howling 300 will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in the natural science auditorium for election of officers for next year. Plans for a pin suitable to the organization will be discussed, and plans for carrying on activities to boost sports at Iowa will be formed.

The retiring officers are Jhon J. Dondore A3 of Iowa City, president; William S. Kelly of Newton, who is not now in this University, vice-president; Marquis M. Smith A4 of Winterset, secretary; Martin E. Flentje S5 of Sheldon; and Paul W. Penningroth A3 of Tipton.

The Howling 300 was started in May of last year by Dondore, for the purpose of helping along Iowa spirit and Iowa athletics. The organization is composed entirely of year ticket holders.

Before each football game last fall, the club met at the southeast corner of the campus and paraded down to Iowa field behind the band. Megaphones, old gold and black caps, sweaters and banners added to the display of college spirit on these occasions. The men sat together in a reserved section of the bleachers and cheered in unison as directed by the yell-leaders.

The 300 organized all the mass meetings, provided speakers, and led the attending crowd down to the stadium.

FRESHMAN TRACK SQUAD TO HOLD DUAL MEET BY TELEGRAPH TODAY

A chance to see Coach Albert P. Jenkin's freshman track squad in action will be offered Iowa sport fans this afternoon. The freshman squad will compete in telegraphic dual meet with the Northwestern freshmen on Iowa field, beginning at 4:15.

Every member of the Iowa squad will compete in the meet. Competition should be keen, for over a hundred freshmen have been working out regularly for at least six weeks.

The three best marks made by the Iowa freshmen will be telegraphed to Northwestern immediately after the events have been held. Northwestern will telegraph the results of its try-outs to Iowa, and the three men making the fastest time or the better marks in each event will be declared the winners.

Each Iowa freshman who wins a place in the meet will be awarded a numeral, according to Coach Jenkin. No admission will be charged for the meet.

PLAN TO MAKE IMPROVEMENTS

Old Capitol to Be Made Fireproof—Bulletin Boards to be Placed on N. S.

Plans for the work and improvements on the campus this summer have been announced by J. M. Fisk, superintendent of grounds and buildings.

Old Capitol will be made fireproof. This has been made possible by the $50,000 appropriated by the state legislature for that purpose. A new gilded dome will replace the present one and the original plans for an entrance on the West will be carried out.

The red brick carpenter shop west of Old Capitol will be torn down and the ground graded. The plans to construct a tunnel connecting the natural science and the home economics building will not be carried out owing to its interference with the heating system tunnels.

New glass enclosed bulletin boards will also be placed on either side of the south entrance of the natural science like those on either side of the north entrance of the liberal arts building. These bulletin boards will replace the old ones which have been removed from the main entrance to the campus on Clinton street. Certain parts of these bulletin boards will be set aside for the religious, the social, and the general announcements. They will be kept locked in order to protect expensive posters, and in order that persons placing the announcements on these boards get permission from the President's office.

L. A. SENIORS WILL NOT BE EXCUSED FROM FINAL EXAMS

Notice has come from H. C. Dorcas registrar, that the petitions from the senior class in the college of liberal arts that they be excused from the semester examinations was not granted because the majority of the class does not realize that the final grades are dependent upon the final exams.

Mr. Dorcas' letter follows: To the senior class in the college of liberal arts:

The executive committee of the faculty of the college of liberal arts having received Saturday morning, May 20, a petition signed by a very considerable number of the members of the senior class, that they be excused from final examinations scheduled June 6 to 11, requested the secretary to notify the class that the impression of the signers of this petition that because of "the preliminary senior grades are submitted to the registrar before the examination week the examination marks are of no significance in determining the requirements already fulfilled by applicants for degrees is an erroneous impression; that although the registrar does prepare, on the basis of these preliminary grades, the provisional list of seniors to be reported to the faculty as having fulfilled the requirements for graduation, these preliminary grades are not entered on the student's permanent record cards unless they are confirmed in the final grade reports which are filed after the examination papers are judged; that the name of any student appearing in this provisional list in case the result of his examination determines his failure in work or grade required for graduation, will be stricken from the provisional list prior to its presentation to the faculty for final action; that, therefore, the executive committee is unable to grant the petition; and that the secretary was requested, also, to publish this action in the Daily Iowan. ...

H. C. Dorcas,
Secretary, executive committee.

NO SUCCESSOR APPOINTED

Applications Pour in for Dean of Women's Position

Nothing definite has been decided concerning the appointment of a new dean of women to fill the place of Mrs. Nellie S. Aurner resignation, according to President Walter A. Jessup.

Applications have been coming to the President's office in almost every mail, although none of them have been answered. Dean George F. Kay is assisting the President in considering the applications.

"We regret that Mrs. Aurner has resigned her position as dean of women but we are glad that she will remain a member of the faculty," said President Jessup. "Mrs. Aurner has been very successful and has received the good will of both the faculty and the student body."

SONG BOOK GOES TO PUBLISHERS

New University Collection of Songs is Completed by Staff and Circle

Copy for the all-University song book which is being put out by Staff and Circle is ready to go to the publishers, according to Marion Dyer A4 of Des Moines, chairman of the publishing committee. The book will have four sections and will include songs of other universities as well as our own. Marion C. Smith A4 of Winterset, chairman of the committee for collecting the songs, has secured a song from practically every sorority and fraternity, besides various other types of songs.

Section one of the song book will consist of about thirteen university of Iowa songs and one state song. Several of these songs were written by men and women still on the faculty or in Iowa City. "Old Gold" was written by John C. Parish, editor of the Pallimpsest; "A Pledge to Iowa" by Dean William G. Raymond of the College of applied science; "Alma Mater, Iowa" by O. H. Brainerd of Iowa City; and "Iowa First and Iowa Last" by Prof. and Mrs. Jacob Van der Zee.

Section two will be devoted to sorority and fraternity songs sung at Iowa. It will contain ten sorority and thirteen fraternity songs. Alma Mater songs of other universities will make the third section of the book. Such songs as "Fair Harvard" and "On Wisconsin" will be included. "College" songs such as "Polly Wolly Doodle", and "Boola Boola" which are generally sung by all college and university students will form the contents of the fourth book.

Staff and Circle now plans to conduct campaign for subscriptions from the seniors during senior week and from the alumnae during commencement. The rest of the student body will be canvassed next fall when the books will be ready for distribution.

BOARD PICKS GALLUP AND FORNEY TO HEAD IOWAN FOR SUMMER

George H. Gallup A2 of Jefferson was elected editor-in-chief of the summer session Daily Iowan and Roy K. Forney A3 of Tabor was elected business manager at a meeting of the Daily Iowan board of trustees held in room 13, liberal arts building, last night.

The first issue of the summer session Iowan will appear Sunday June 12. According to present plans, the paper will be issued four times a week during the summer. No definite plans have been made regarding subscription prices for the summer editions.

The other positions on the staff will be filled later by summer session students in journalism.

MEN WORK AT TOP OF ABILITY

Performance in State Meet Showed Iowa Team to Be Well Handled

By M. F. Carpenter

Those familiar with the history of track athletics at Iowa who witnessed the state meet last Saturday must have gone home with the feeling that they had seen the strongest track team that has ever represented the University of Iowa take the fastest meet ever held in the state. This is written with a full appreciation of the strength shown by Iowa teams in the past. Iowa had a winning team last year and another three years ago. Iowa has had great track athletes clear back to time of Johnnie Crum. But none of these three teams gave the impression of strength and balance that the team did Saturday.

When a great team represents a university in any sport, praise must be given to a great many different persons. This is true in the present case. Some of these persons are apt to be forgotten in the time of triumph because their work was done in the past and more or less under cover. Probably no one who saw the meet realized how much of the victory was due to the hard and discouraging work of those men on the University of Iowa athletic board who started to take track athletics seriously some four or five years ago and saw to it that men started to come out. The reward that these men get is apt to be confined to a sense of a duty well done. They are not likely to be overwhelmed by public praise.

But with all due appreciation of the work done by others, the man who deserves the highest praise is George T. Bresnahan. The team that won Saturday is distinctly his creation. When he took hold of the squad, it had been riddled with ineligibility, and it looked like anything but a winner. Under his handling, it looked better in every meet than it did in the one before. Men were brought out and developed who were unknown at the end of the last season, while those men who did good work then continued to do good work. The team has never yet

THIRD ANNUAL CANOE RACE AT UNIVERSITY TO BE HELD JUNE 4

The third annual University canoe race has been set for June 4, according to Coach David A. Armbruster. The Eels club, honorary men's swimming organization, has decided that the course this year will be from the Iowa avenue bridge to the Park bridge and return instead of the former course from Coralville to the Iowa avenue bridge.

This new course has many advantages over the old course in that it is shorter and gives the spectators more opportunities to watch the progress of the canoes.

Rules for the race are as follows: (1) Any graduate or undergraduate student is eligible. (2) Any canoe having a length of more than fourteen feet and less than eighteen feet may be used. (3) There will be three men in each canoe. (4) All contestants must keep to the right and will be disqualified by the judges if they break any rule.

The Eels club will present medals to the winners of the first three places, according to Illif Shepherd S3 of Mount Pleasant, president of the Eels club.

The purpose of these annual races is to stimulate interest in river activities and to pave the way for shell racing and water carnivals which, according to Coach Armbruster, will be established at Iowa in the near future.

FAITH IN THEM

After three years as dean of women Mrs. Nellie S. Aurner is about to discontinue her administrative work and to turn her attention entirely to teaching. It is regrettable of course that the University is to lose her as its dean of women, but Mrs. Aurner is said to find greater satisfaction in the classroom than in the office and she will make another contribution to University life from the teaching side.

Sometime ago the Atlantic monthly printed an article by Henry Noble MacCracken in which the Lafayette college president summed up the "Religio Magistri" as a three-part faith—belief in his subject, in his pupil, and in himself. Certainly the retiring dean of women has carried at least one of these tenets of the teacher's religion into the administrative field. She has had faith in the student.

Under her supervision a sense of undergraduate responsibility has made a remarkable development. The women's association, with a system of representative government in which every University woman has a vote has been worked out; rooming house and dormitory organizations have been made effective, women's Pan-Hellenic has been delegated a large share of sorority control; and the women themselves, recognizing the trust confidently put upon them, have honestly showed themselves worthy of it.

Any position as dean carries numerous complications of a disheartening sort. Young men and young women are prone to let the ego run quite away with the perspective, and to distort their sense of error into an imagined fault of someone else, the someone usually the dean. Mrs. Aurner has found a way to meet this attitude. She had honest faith in the undergraduate, and so far as it was in her power allowed the undergraduate to work out her own problems on her own sense of individual responsibility, and fairness to the group.

JAZZING UP THE FANS

Last year the sensation of the baseball season was the tremendous slugging of "Babe" Ruth of the New York Americans. The inspired clouting of this knight of the diamond set a new mark in baseball history, and had the fans all over the country fighting for the evening papers to learn if Ruth had got another. Street conversations were brisk along this line. The slugging of Babe Ruth and the League of Nations easily led the conversational field.

Of course the intense interest in baseball aroused by the home run king had its financial reaction. Fans poured into the gates by the thousands whenever Ruth appeared. Money by corresponding thousands poured into the coffers of the club owners.

Whether this fact set the Ruthless ball club owners wondering is not known, but it is known that this season home run sluggers have sprung up like mushrooms. Already this year one hundred and five home runs have been made in one of the major leagues, an overwhelming number for so early in the season. Babe Ruth himself is two or three weeks ahead of his last year's schedule and has twelve circuit clouts to his credit.

This has sent the suspicion through sporting circles that a more lively type of ball is being used, a type that responds more readily to the bat and travels farther. If this suspicion is true it seems that the fans will have grave reason for complaint. They pay their money to see a ball game, not an exercise in fungo hitting with an enlarged golf ball. The sporting world is ready to acclaim the man who performs real prodigies in his line, but rebels against being fed records arranged scientifically. It is a pretty sight to see a white sphere of horsehide go hurling over the fence, or deep into the bleachers when lambasted by a real slugger, but to fly is no sport for the real fans. Watch doctored balls take wings and

Some Practical Advice to College Students from the Editorial Columns of the Philadelphia Public Ledger

Harvard's president, Dr. Lowell, raises a voice of protest against the blind belief of certain educators and some of the educated that education can be obtained on the mechanical, or what might be called the "automat" principle of pressing a button and getting what we want.

Too many college students choose certain subjects and then think that by following the routine and passing the examinations they will turn themselves out "educated" men. They take "snap" courses; they hunt for the line of least resistance. They do not realize that it is by taking the hard things and overcoming the difficulties by a sturdy effort that they will gain the capacity for victory in the hard battles of life yet to come.

You cannot pick and choose in business. Conditions are imposed by competitors. One has to carry his wares into the open market and there meet all comers. No longer is one shielded against harsh, uncompromising contacts by college walls. It is because some college students develop a false notion of ease and security that men like Edison, brought up in that great university of adversity, are suspicious of a college training and demand that by its fruits it shall justify itself.

The world at large is not hostile to colleges and college men. But it demands that they shall do what they are meant to do—that they shall serve; that they shall not minister merely to a little, self-sufficient of of scholars. It is the student who sees and does his duty by society in making the most of his individual capacities who wins a respectable place and is approved as a useful member of the community.

FEATURES OF SENIOR FROLIC, TO BE HELD JUNE 11, ARE PLANNED

The senior frolic, the general get-together for seniors of all colleges, will be held Saturday afternoon, June 11 at the park. All are expected to come in clothes they are not afraid of hurting and be prepared to take part in all the stunts. A nyone in dress suit or party gown will be ducked in the river, according to William E. Nye D4 of Ida Grove, chairman of the committee in charge. "It is to be what the name implies: a frolic and unrestrained good time. It has been very successful at other universities and it is planned to make it a big feature of commencement week here," said Nye.

There will be several features in the frolic. A balloon race between the seniors of the various colleges will be held. Balloons and an instructor will be secured in ample time to coach a senior from each college. An indoor baseball game between a picked team from the physical training department for women and the nine most awkward senior men will be a part of the entertainment.

Carl Fischer will perform some airplane stunts of a nature yet unseen in Iowa City. A man will jump from the plane with a parachute and Fischer will go through many contortions in the air. Other events will be a tug of war between colleges, a competitive nail driving contest for senior women only, a pillow fight on a pole, and a series of duels between lancers in canoes.

Competition between colleges will be featured in all stunts and it is likely that a prize, will be given to the college winning the most events. In case of rain the frolic will be held in the new armory. It will begin immediately after the senior breakfast. Members of the senior classes of the different colleges will be designated by a badge, and there will be competition between the colleges to see which can get the largest percent of its members out.

EELS CLUB WILL ELECTS NEXT YEAR'S CAPTAIN TONIGHT

The captain of next year's swimming team will be elected at a meeting of the Eels club tonight in Close Hall. Only the men who won points in conference dual meets will be eligible to vote or to receive the captaincy.

Illiff Shepherd S3 of Mount Pleasant has been mentioned as a possible candidate. He won first place in the Chicago and in the Northwestern meets in the fancy dives and was also a member of the relay team which defeated Ames.

The men who will be eligible to vote tonight are P. O. D. Vedova A3 of Deerlodge, Montana, Douglas A. Boynton A3 of Cedar Rapids, Illiff Shepherd S3 of Mount Pleasant, C. Luverne Smith M2 of Iowa City, Everett S. Rademacher M2 of Gilmore City, Ross Clark A2 of Des Moines, E. C. Halbach A3 of Primghar, and Ivan Weidlein M3 of Wellman.

The men who will receive letters for the past season will also be announced at the meeting tonight. None of the men in competition this year will be lost by graduation and the prospects for next year's team are better than they have been any time in the past, according to David A. Armbruster, coach of the team.

BALDWIN IS MADE A CHAIRMAN OF RESEARCH COUNCIL

Prof. Bird T. Baldwin, director of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station, has been appointed chairman of the child welfare committee of the National Research Council in Washington, D. C. The other members of the committee are Dr. E. H. Goddard and Dr. Helen Wooley.

This committee is a part of the division of anthropology and psychology. Its function is to coordinate the work being done for feeble minded children all over the country into one national organization.

Doctor Goddard is from Columbus Ohio, and is the leading authority in American defective children. Doctor Wooley, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is director of the vocational bureau of the public schools there. She is one of the two or three leading women psychologists in America.

Prof. Carl E. Seashore, dean of the graduate college, will be elected chairman of the psychology division of the National Council next year, according to Professor Baldwin.

FINAL MATCHES TO BE PLAYED

Third Round of Women's Tennis Tourny Will Be Played Tomorrow

All but four of the matches in the singles of the second round of the women's tennis tournament have been played off. The winners of the games played are: Suggs from Bremer, Freeman from Burns, Ludwick from Desjardins, Agnew from Spencer, Dyke from Darrow, Sharpe from Dollander, Mackintosh from Wright, Zorn from Tolander, Wright from Rummel, Wheeler from Koftan, and Prodfit from Bentner.

Winners of the second round in the doubles are: Ludwick and Prodfit from Freeman and Hayes, Stewart and Wright from White and Rodler, Sperry and Jaspersen from Buser and Shinebarger, Wright and Agnew from French and Spencer, Tolander and Souder from Sharpe and Ingham, Fisher and Davis from Barret and Koftan. One match has not been played off yet.

The third rounds in both the singles and doubles must be played off by Friday noon. The tournament must be over by the end of the week. A silver cup is to be awarded to the winner of the tournament. At first it was decided that the cup would be awarded to the winner of two successive tournaments, but the plans were changed and the cup will now be given to the woman who wins a single tournament.

"VITA UNIVERSITARIA" PAYS COMPLIMENT TO UNIVERSITY

The "Vita Universitaria", an Italian magazine devoted to the interests of academic life in Italy, says in its April number, "The University of Iowa is really a remarkable institution considering the fact that it is a child of the state." A full page of information and photographs from the University features the April number of the magazine. Illustrations show the scenes on the campus between classes, students in the laboratory, a group of students at work in the department of fine arts, the dental infirmary, a class in calisthenics in the men's gymnasium, and a hurdle race on the cinder track at the athletic field.

"Great and magnificent assemblage this of the University buildings, of a state which certainly is not among the greatest of the North American Union," is the compliment paid to the institution by the foreign magazine.

DIRECTOR OF TRI-CITY SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA WAS DISTINGUISHED VIOLINIST AT TEN

Ludwig Becker, director of the Tri-City Symphony orchestra which is to play in Iowa City Tuesday, May 31, was born in Germany. He showed remarkable musical talent in his early youth. When six years old he commenced studying the violin and played in concert soon afterwards. At the Frankfort and Berlin, he was invited by Theodore Thomas to come to America and join his orchestra as one of the first violinists. He was connected with the orchestra for fourteen years playing seven years under Thomas and seven years under Frederick Stock. Finally he worked himself up tion to see the teams off when they invaded enemy territory.

Tryouts for the cheer leading team were held by the Howlers, and the tradition of awarding letters to the men who made it was started with the cooperation of the athletic board. Dondore, Flentje, Loyd W. Burns S2 of Osceola, and Don A. Searles of Council Bluffs, not in college at present, were the first men to receive the honorary "I".

Wearing of the green caps by freshmen was another tradition initiated by the 300. This is done at other universities but an entirely new stunt, thought up by the men in the Iowa cheering organization, was that of introducing the players on the visiting basketball teams before the games at the armory. The Daily Northwestern, the student publication at Northwestern University, commented favorably on this idea, remarking that it tended to increase the interest of the spectators to know the names of the contestants from visiting colleges.

Signs in the appropriate colors inscribed with the names of the various conference universities were made up and installed on Iowa field last football season by the 300. They also had some "welcome" signs painted and hung up at the armory at the basketball games last winter. The corn shock and pumpkin decorations on the campus during the last Homecoming were also put up by these men.

Teams from other universities which have come to Iowa City to play have been met by men of the organization, escorted to their hotel, and given any information they desired. The high school basketball men who competed in the state tournament here this spring were met in this manner and taken around to their various destinations.

The 300 also sent telegrams of congratulations or condolence to Iowa teams when they played away from home. Telegrams of congratulations were also sent to the conference champions in the major sports this year, including one that was wired to the Ohio eleven at Pasadena before the game with California University.

failed to do what was expected of it and has more than once done more than anyone dared hope for.

Nothing impressed the writer so much as he watched the meet Saturday as the superior way in which the Iowa men were handled. With one exception, every team in the meet except Iowa, seemed to have it in its power to do better work than it was doing. There were nine teams in the meet Saturday and the coaches and athletes of seven of them made breaks which were hard to explain except on the ground of poor management and poor headwork. Vaulters consistently missed their take-offs; distance men finished with lots of reserve far behind placing positions; weight men let their best throws go unmeasured; men were sent into events which seemed clearly not the ones in which they had the best chance of placing. All of this may have been hard luck, but the chances are that it was bad handling.

On the other hand the management of the Iowa team and work of its members gave no such impression or raggedness. Every man seemed to know just what he wanted and went out for it in the way best calculated to get it. Not all of them succeeded, but those who failed, failed trying and trying in the right way. If one or two men on a team go after their events in the right way, it proves only that they are good heady men; if every man on the team does so, it proves that they are coached properly.

It is always easy to hail a winning coach as the greatest of his kind, and it is much easier to remark that a losing coach does not know enough to handle a grammar school team. That is small town stuff, and too often university undergraduate stuff. But Mr. Bresnahan's team Saturday was more than a winning team, it was a team coached to the limit of its ability. The teams that lost Saturday were, with one exception, more than losing teams; they were teams that had it in them to do better and did not do it. It is not because Mr. Bresnahan had a winning team that he deserves higher praise than the other coaches; it is because his team performed at the top of its ability.

WALK ELEVATION AND SODDING FINISHED BY COMMENCEMENT TIME

The elevation and straightening of the campus walks will be completed by commencement according to statement made yesterday afternoon by J. M. Fisk, superintendent of grounds and buildings. The walk leading from the main entrance on Clinton street to old Capitol has been raised above the sod, and the walk running north and south past the natural science building has been lowered and placed in line with the walk running north and south along the west side of the liberal arts building. The ground has been graded accordingly and a step was added to the steps leading to Old Capitol.

At present preparations are being made to elevate the walk between the natural science building and the liberal arts building to a level with the walks on the east and west sides of liberal arts and natural science buildings. This walk will be widened in order to accommodate the increase in number of students. The ground between Old Capitol, natural science, and liberal arts buildings will be filled in and terraced to the east.
