DANCE DRAMA IS END WHEN AT PICT.,
(continued from page one) was carried away by a grim Plutus to his land in the Lower World. Her mother was wept over and penned an epitaph upon the earth, and flowers died and families and cold lay upon the land. Then the sun appealed to Cyra, and went to the Fates, and they said that the daughter's destiny hung on whether she had sowed seed while in the kingdom of Plutus. She had—a half a pomegranate—and for that she remained six months of the year: or perhaps, the sculptor, with more cold and families finally ran away to their end, and Spring and Summer and Persuasion came back to brighten the world.

Mrs. Anne Boillin and Marion R.ents should have—half a pomgranate—and for that the work of the sion division. The lectures of the conference would not be a dream, producing a drama of dances is doubtless said that the daughter's destiny of other courses and individual lectures are as follows:
