MANY COLLEGES ARE ENTERED IN NATIONAL MEET

Nearly Sixty Colleges Will Compete in Track
Tomorrow

IOWA TO SEND FOUR MEN

Winner Will Probably Be Illinois, Notre Dame, or Perhaps Wisconsin

By M. F. Carpenter

Tomorrow a small group of athletes from Iowa will take part in the most ambitious track meet ever attempted in the history of college athletics. If anything like the number of colleges that have entered men in the National College Meet held tomorrow on Stagg Field Chicago actually send athletes there to compete, there will be more colleges from one section of the country represented than have ever been in any one contest. In the partial list of entries given in this morning's paper, nearly sixty colleges were listed.

If the partial list can be taken as any fair test of the general situation, most of the colleges entered will be represented by no more than two or three men. Not many of them have entered men in more than a few events, while some of those that have entered men in every event do not intend to send anything like a complete team. Iowa has made an unusually large set of entries, but no more than four of the men entered will actually compete. Other colleges are doubtless in the same situation.

Four colleges, however, have entered enough men to indicate that they are intending to make a serious attempt to win the meet. Illinois, Nebraska, Notre Dame and Wisconsin are all well represented. The winner of the meet is almost certain to be one of these universities. The first two will go into the meet as winners, Illinois from the Western conference and Nebraska from the Missouri Valley. Notre Dame and Wisconsin have strong teams that are likely to hold their points well in strong meets. Illinois, on the other hand, if it wins at all, must win by piling up points on thirds, fourths, and fifths, a task that is not easy in a meet as fast as the one tomorrow promises to be.

Iowa will probably be represented by four men, Wilson in the dashes, Crawford in the hurdles, Hoffman in the high jump, and Slater in the weights will get what points fall to the Old Gold. Their chances are at least fair, perhaps a little more than fair. It hardly seems probable that with five places counting, Wilson cannot get within the scoring. He will meet strong competition of course, but not much stronger than he has already met. Paul of Grinnell will be there; at least he is entered. He is the one man in the West who at present has the call on Wilson. Deering of Nebraska, who won at the Drake relays, ran no better in the rest of the season that did Wilson. The men from the east have good records, but they have had a long trip and have had to keep in training for three weeks after their big meet, a long time.

Crawford is not as fortunate as Wilson. He will have to meet Thompson of Dartmouth and Wright of Nebraska in addition to the men in the Conference. These men have records that make them formidable in the extreme. Wynn of Notre Dame and Anderson of Minnesota were supposed to have hard luck in the Conference. They are unquestionably hard men to beat, though Crawford finished ahead of them. But Knollin of Wisconsin,

MANY MEN—FEW JOBS

White-collar jobs" are scarce this summer on the campus, but if a student wishes to earn his board "by the sweat of his brow" there is plenty of work available for him. Miss Della Grizel, secretary to the dean of men, who has charge of the work of connecting the man with the job, reports that she is unable to supply the demand for this kind of work. On the contrary she is receiving inquiries from students for office work. And yet one notes on the health bulletin board that copious perspiration is very good for the health.

MEN PLAN FOR DINNER MONDAY

Party for University Men Will Be at City Park

This is for men only. The large idea is a banquet for all men in the University, including graduate students, undergraduate students, and members of the faculty, for the purpose of having the time of their more or less, as the case may be, young lives. The big night will be Monday at 6:30. Reichard's pavilion at City Park west of the North end bridge, has been chosen for the scene of what the committee calls "The Eats."

"If a good time was ever had by all, this will be it," said M. C. Del Manzo, chairman of the committee. "The entertainment part of the program will consist of music, one or two serious speeches, and a lot of assorted kinds of fun."

Five hundred can be accommodated at the pavilion, and the committee is hoping for that many diners. The custom of having an all University men's dinner during the summer session has been in operation for the last three or four years.

Tickets for the dinner will be on sale to-day and may be obtained from members of the committee or at room 219 in the liberal arts building. Other members besides Del Manzo already on the committee which will probably be increased to-day are Prof. Forest C. Ensign, Norman Ringstrom, A. C. Lemon, and C. E. Day. The price of the tickets is $1.

BAR EXAMS ARE NEXT WEEK

Twenty-five Iowa Graduates Will Take
State Bar Examinations

Twenty-five of the thirty-five men who are to take the state bar examination here June 20 to 22, are graduates of the University college of law.

Iowa students who will take the examination are: Milton A. Craig, Glenn B. Beers, John E. Behnke, George H. Clark, James P. Degnan, Clyde H. Doolittle, Clarence E. Hamilton, Consuelo Hanna, George A. Heald, George F. Hoffman, Robert H. Hots, Donald C. Hutchison, Harold L. Irwin, Iaf R. Larson, Weir M. Murphy, Verne M. Myers, Harold H. Newcomb, Harold C. Nicol, Floyd E. Pate, Peter H. Peterson, Edward F. Rate, Cyril E. Saunders, Arthur W. Smith, Clarence J. Theirston, and Louis P. Tobin.

The other ten who are to take the examination are students of other colleges of this state.

Chester A. Phillips, the new dean of the college of commerce, left yesterday morning for his vacation. He and his family will drive through in their car to the east. Dean Phillips will leave for Europe later where he will make an extensive study of the banking conditions there.

COMMERCIAL CLUB EXTENDS WELCOME

James E. Stronks

Talking to a University professor yesterday I asked him, "Now that your vacation has begun, where will you spend your summer." He promptly replied, "Iowa City."

Because of its spacious cool park, because of the river, because of the University spirit, because of the winding country roads around it, because of the beautiful shaded avenues, and because of the cordial spirit of the people, Iowa City will be a pleasant place for you in which to spend your summer.

The Iowa City Commercial club welcomes you to Iowa City and will be glad to serve you.

JAMES E. STRONKS, President.

MEN'S GYMNASIUM HAS MANY ATTRACTIONS FOR SUMMER SESSIONIST

E. G. Schroeder, director of physical education, predicts that the enrollment in his department will be larger than at any previous summer session, although exact figures are not yet obtainable. "It is difficult to state the exact reason for the large enrollment, but it is probably due to the superior facilities available coupled with an appreciation of proper physical development," said Mr. Schroeder.

The attractive features in this department are courses in boxing, wrestling, football, baseball, track, medical gymnastics and elementary gymnastics. Credit toward a Bachelor of Arts degree is given for the work.

One attraction of the men's gymnasium which appeals to the summer student is the tennis courts which are open to all registered students from daylight until dark. There are seven courts always well rolled, marked and with nets arranged. Tennis tournaments will be staged later providing there are enough entries.

During the hot weather the swimming pool is probably more popular even than the tennis court. It is a white tiled pool, 60 feet long and 30 feet wide filled with fresh filtered water which is always kept at a low temperature. Swimming exhibitions and tournaments will be staged later in the season.

The men's gymnasium is open to all men registered in the University. Gymnasium cards can be secured from the secretary's office. After receiving the cards they must be presented at the physical director's office, where separate lockers in the gymnasium will be assigned to each man.

JESSUP EXPECTS TO SPEND VACATION IN MINNESOTA

President Walter A. Jessup delivered the commencement address to the graduating class of the Rockford high school, Rockford, Ill., last night E. E. Lewis, formerly connected with the educational department of this institution, is now superintendent of the city schools at Rockford.

The latter part of July, President Jessup expects to leave for his annual vacation. It is probable that he will spend it at some of the lakes in Minnesota. He will be gone during the greater part of August.

BIGGER THAN EVER

Registration figures given out last night show that nearly fifty per cent more summer session students have matriculated so far than at the corresponding day last year. The registration dead line has not yet been set, but H. C. Dorcas, University registrar, urges all students to complete their registration at once. Last night's figures for the first four days of the registration were: Total 1117, graduate college 368, total yesterday 146.

CONFERENCE ON RELIGION BEGINS

Many University of Iowa Professor to Speak on Program

Summer session students are invited to attend the religious conference which opens to-day at 9 a. m. in room 221 A of the liberal arts building.

Speakers for the conference include Pres. Clarence A. Barbour, of the Rochester Theological Seminary, Rochester, N. Y., Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts, Prof. Charles H. Weller, director of summer session, Prof. Orrie E. Klingaman, director of the extension division, Prof. Charles G. Nutting, head of the department of Zoology, Dr. Bird T. Baldwin, director of the child welfare research station, Edwin D. Starbuck, professor of philosophy, Forest C. Ensign, professor of education, Thomas J. Kirby, professor of education, and Clarence C. Case, associate professor of sociology.

The purpose of the conference is to gather the religious workers of the state together in order to discuss their problems from all the different angles possible, to attack the new problems in the field of religious workers, to help them get new view points, and to afford them inspiration in their work.

President Walter A. Jessup expected to open the conference with an address of welcome but has been called out of the city. The speaker who will take his place has not yet been announced. The second speaker is Clarence C. Case, who will give the first of a series of three lectures on "Religion and Social Progress." Professor Case will be followed by Dean George F. Kay who will give the first of his series of three lectures on "Modern Science and Religion."

The first lecture of the afternoon will be given by Pres. Clarence A. Barbour at 2 p. m. He has not announced yet which of his lectures he will give at that time. Friday evening at 8 p. m. Prof. Charles H. Weller will open the meeting with an address on the "Ministry of Art." Pres. Barbour will be the second speaker at the evening session.

Pres. Clarence A. Barbour, the principal speaker of the conference, is a graduate of the Rochester Theological Seminary and was pastor of the Lake Avenue Baptist church of that same city eighteen years following his graduation. He was for six years (1909-1915) associate secretary of the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations of North America.

Since 1915 Doctor Barbour has been the head of Rochester Theological Seminary. He is the author of several religious books of note. Included in these are: "The Bible in the World Today," "Making Religion Efficient," and "Service Song Book." President Barbour is a thirty-third degree Mason and was Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of New York from 1905-1907.

Dr. Charles A. Brown head of the Yale Divinity School and an Iowa alumnus, has recommended Doctor Barbour very highly.

NEW CHEMISTRY BUILDING TO BE ERECTED SOON

Will Be Located North of the Dental Building Facing
Capitol Street

WILL COST ABOUT $400,000

Part of Building Will Be Ready for Occupancy a Year
From September

Ground will be broken about August 1 for a new chemistry building facing on Capitol street north of the dental building. Plans have already been drawn and $400,000 appropriated, enough to complete about one third of the proposed structure. The building has been designed in units, which can be added singly from time to time. Ultimately it will cover the entire block bounded by Capitol, Market, Madison and Bloomington streets.

The new building will be of brick, in an architectural style which will harmonize with that of the dental building beside it. From the main unit on Capitol street other units will extend in the form of wings along the side streets. Each unit will be fifty-seven feet wide, with ample space between them for lighting.

The department of chemistry expects that the first part of the new building will be ready for use a year from September. This first part will include lecture-rooms and class-rooms, and two units of laboratories.

The plans provide for two lecture-rooms, a large one seating about 400 and another of about half that capacity. When the building is completed it will contain special laboratories for each of the eight divisions of the chemistry department, with numerous recitation and quiz rooms, and offices and research rooms distributed throughout the building.

About 2000 students were registered for work in chemistry during the University year just completed. This was a far greater number than the old chemistry building and equipment could provide for. Work in chemistry had to be scattered through six buildings, wherever any of the departments had space to spare.

During the present summer session only the main building is open for chemistry work, but the increased registration in the fall will again necessitate the use of various annexes. About 400 students will be housed in the old cook shop or Annex No. 2.

TWO NEW INSTRUCTORS IN SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Definite arrangements have been made for two new instructors on the faculty of the school of music. They are Walter Leon, teacher of voice, and Frank Kendrie, teacher of stringed instruments.

Mr. Leon comes with a record of seven years' training in Europe, and experience as a teacher and singer in grand opera. He has studied with Jean De Reske, David Bispham and other famous teachers. Mr. Leon has taught for several years in this country and in Canada, both as a tutor and as an instructor in colleges.

Mr. Kendrie is a graduate of Harvard and Bowdoin. He was a pupil of Loeffler, Kraft, Eichhiem, and Barlaven. For the past four years he has been a teacher in the conservatory of music of Kansas University. The student orchestra which he conducted there has become noted throughout that section of the country. He teaches violin, viola, violin-cello, and various branches of theory.

GET THE IOWA SPIRIT

A college education to-day has a value which can be measured in dollars and cents. There are other things, however, to be derived from college life which are as vital to the student in his later life as the increase in his earning capacity. College associations, friendships, culture—the spirit which prompts one thousand alumni to return to their alma mater from all parts of the United States—all of these are as vital to him, in fact too vital to be measured by money.

Summer session students must enter into the spirit of Iowa. College activities are not apart from your own interests. The individual who succeeds in life is usually the one who jumps into the middle of things and does his part in pushing them along. The summer sessionist can show his spirit by taking an active interest in the University, by attending the assemblages of faculty and students, by attending the lectures, by paying his share in campaigns for funds, and lastly by boosting Iowa when he has taken up his occupation.

Remember that you are now an integral part of the University. It is your duty to be loyal.

"HEY THERE, MR. EDITOR!"

Announcement is hereby made that there is no "closed season" around here on letters to the editor. Rumors to the effect that readers of the Daily Iowan could not address communications to the college newspaper are false, emphatically; such reports "are the bunk."

If you want to start something, put down your ideas in a letter, send or bring it to this office, and it won't take long to learn of you can finish it. The columns of the Daily Iowan are open to the students of the summer session. We are so generous to announce that you may "grind your axes" in this newspaper—providing you are clever enough to get away with it.

The only limitation placed on letters to the editor is length. If one is concise one can say much. There is a certain psychology in briefness, too; people will read your stuff if it is short and snappy.

Now for the deluge!

AN INDOOR SPORT

Human nature has always considered it necessary to play out-of-doors in the summer time, shunning the indoor sports as something akin to drudgery. That is a pretty good attitude to take, too, but some persons over work the out door proposition, we believe.

You often hear one say, at the beginning of June, "I'm not going to open a book all summer." Don't you feel sorry for that kind of a man or woman? What a dull and stupid summer he or she is going to spend, you say to yourself. But we are moralizing.

Almost every summer session student has some time to devote to reading and for him we would suggest the University library as a great indoor playground. Those of you who come from communities that are not blessed with large public libraries are passing up a fine opportunity if you do not take advantage of its shelves.

The "best sellers" are there, besides the best in literature; you can take your choice and there will be no charge. The University library should be as popular with students as the Iowa river. Give a cheer for the greatest indoor sport on the campus.

THE ONION AND THE ELEPHANT

The Egyptians worshipped everything from the elephant to the onion. We worship everything from the greenback to ostentatious mediocrity.

The great men of the country are Jack Dempsey, Dr. Frank Crane, Flo Zeigfeld, Harold Bell Wright, Irving Berlin, Al Jolson, Strangler Lewis, and Babe Ruth. Do we find anyone who knows and respects the foremost painter, sculptor, novelist, dramatist, essayist, critic, architect, historian, poet, musician, or composer? A rare few.

We, in the hinterland, want to measure everything by the standard of the corn rows. If a writer has an outstanding personality we are unable to fully enjoy him. He doesn't satisfy us; that is to say he has gone beyond the particular boundaries of our personality. Unfortunately few of us have the wholesome respect for worth that an understood ignorance breeds in thinking persons. We feel superior to our superiors because we cannot recognize their superiority.

From the Portland Oregonian comes this tidbit in regard to Knut Hamsun's "Hunger."—It is not a pretty, pure, love story....It is rather a picture of salacious passion..... which no reputable American author surely would care to see in print, and with his name attached." We are a nation of individuals, yet we try to suppress all individuality that is not true to type.

100 DEGREES IN THE SHADE

It is hard to find the "coolest spot in town" these perspiring days even with the help of the movie theaters whose managers claim that happy situation exists in their cinema palaces. And even though they all can qualify under that condition, it would not be much help to the average summer session student. One cannot study very constructively at a picture show.

Studying on the hottest days in summer is not the easiest task in the world. One becomes languid these days; those possessed of undying industry and ambition find that it is much easier to lie out on the campus than to "hit the books" in rooms that are stuffy despite electric fans.

The only thing we can do on these humid afternoons is to grin and bear it. Either that or get up early in the morning. The mercury doesn't begin to ascend until the sun starts coming up. They both go up together. If you beat them up the morning, half your fight will be won.

THEY'RE FAMOUS

Summer Session Is Sprinkled With Students Who Are Well Worth Knowing—Who is Next?

The summer session made a drive for college teachers as students this year. Among those present is Edwin G. Burrows of Buffalo, N. Y., who will teach journalism at the University of Michigan next fall. Mr. Burrows is an experienced newspaper man and saw a year's service in France as a first lieutenant of infantry attached to the Second French Army which won fame as the defender of Verdun.

Mr. Burrows has been reporter, copy reader, and special writer for the Springfield Republican and the Boston Transcript in Massachusetts, the Elizabeth Journal in New Jersey, the Every Evening in Wilmington, Del., the Washington Post at the national capital, and the Home Sector magazine, formerly published by the Butterick company of New York City.

Besides a sturdy although somewhat abbreviated moustache and a pair of shell-rimmed spectacles worn only when reading, Mr. Burrows may be recognized by his mellifluous tenor voice and parts of a novel and short stories at the bottom of his suit case.

ONE OF THE THOUSAND OTHER LINE STANDERS TELLS HOW IT FEELS

Are you a new student? Are these experiences similar to yours?

You arrive laden with luggage and homeless. After waiting in line in the hot Interurban station, you succeed in checking your bags and start out to find the University. You confer with the dean of women and receive a long slip of white paper with street names mean nothing to you, so you obliging take any address given. Deciding to save time, you plan to register before searching for a home. That seems simple enough. You receive a long slip of white paper with numerous spaces on it, where you tell all you are and ever expect to be. This is not only done once but ten or twelve times. You are sent from one dean to another. Finally you arrive at the registrar's office only to find that it closes promptly at 12 o'clock.

This is discouraging, but you decide to be an optimist, however, and go to lunch. Here your patience is developed again by waiting in line in an extremely hot room. You still have no room so you decide to find one. After much wandering around to find the addresses which were given to you, a room is taken just to have some place to rest and find relief from the sun's rays. Now you return to the registrar's office. After being sent back several times to fill in more spaces you go down the winding stair, pay your matriculation fee and feel happier than you have felt all day. You have succeeded in becoming a student in the University of Iowa.

MANY COLLEGES ENTERED IN NATIONAL MEET

the winner in the "Big Ten" meet, Wright of Nebraska, and Thompson of Dartmouth will all finish ahead of the Iowa man, barring unusual luck. This leaves Crawford a possible fourth or fifth.

Hoffman will be up against much the same crowd that he met in the "Big Ten." Murphy of Notre Dame and Alberts and Osborne of Illinois seem to be better men than the Iowa captain-elect. He, like Crawford, has a chance for fourth or fifth, probably a somewhat better chance than that of Crawford. Both men will have to do the best there is in them to get any points, and both man may do better than they have done and still fail to place.

As far as Slater is concerned, it is hard to prophesy. His only chance is in the discus. In the shot and hammer, there are too many men that are better than he ever was to leave him any opportunity. In the discus, he is as good as any of them if he throws up to his practice form. Neither Blackwood of Northwestern nor Weiss of Illinois is distinctly a better man than Slater. Their records are a mere shade ahead of his. He has beaten one of them and might, with a little break in luck, beat the other. He has, however, been a consistent disappointment in the "Big Ten" when anything was expected of him. Perhaps tomorrow, when nothing is expected of him, he may make good.

Altogether then, in view of the ability of the men entered, it is hardly wise for Iowa supporters to hope for more than five or six points in the big meet. Possibly even that is too much. Of course, if some of the promised stars should fail to appear or if some team should be off form, almost anything might happen. But points won in this fashion are of little satisfaction.

It may be of interest to list the colleges, the names of which have appeared in the partial list of entries. They include Ames, Amherst, Baylor, Bates, Butler, Carnegie, Carrol, Center, Chicago, Coe, Cornell College, Dartmouth, DePaul, De Pauw, Drake, Franklin, George Tech., Grinnell, Illinois, Iowa, Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo Normal, Kansas Agricultural College, Kansas University, Lake Forest, Lewis Institute, Michigan Agricultural College, Michigan University, Minnesota, Mount Union, Nebraska, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Ohio Wesleyan, Pennsylvania, Penn State, Pittsburgh, Purdue, Rice Institute, Rochester, Saint Olaf's, University of the South, Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College, Tennessee, Vanderbilt, Wabash, Washington, Wesleyan, Western State Normal, Yale, and Yankton.

Twenty-one states are represented. They are in the order of the number of colleges from each: Iowa 6, Illinois 6, Indiana 6, Michigan 6, Pennsylvania 4, Tennessee 3, Texas 3, Connecticut 2, Minnesota 2, Ohio 2, Wisconsin 2, Georgia 1, Kentucky 1, Maine 1, Massachusetts, 1, Nebraska 1, New Hampshire 1, New York 1, South Dakota 1.

It is not certain, of course, how many of these Iowa colleges will really send teams. It is to be hoped that all of them will. Paula of Grinnell, Bretnall of Cornell, and Patterson of Drake are real athletes. They deserve a chance at the best company that the country affords and will come pretty close to getting it Saturday if the meet lives up to advance notices.

HORACK DECLARES ASSEMBLY USURPED POWER OF PEOPLE

The June number of the National Municipal Review contains an article by Professor F. E. Horack of the Department of Political Science on the failure of the General Assembly of Iowa to provide for a constitutional convention. Prof. Horack's contention is that the Assembly had no right to violate a constitutional mandate.

Their arguments, that the people did not know what they were voting for, that the expense involved was prohibitive, do not excuse their failure to obey the people's will, Prof. Horack maintains, and their refusal to act is nothing short of usurpation of sovereign power by the legislature.

EXCURSIONS THIS SUMMER

Summer excursions will be in charge of Prof. Elmer W. Hill, of the School of Commerce. Definite arrangements have not been made for the trips, but they will probably begin the last of next week. There will be trips to Amana, Rock Island Arsenal, the Quaker Oats plant in Cedar Rapids, and one in charge of the Geology Department, to the rock formations about Iowa City.

WILL GIVE RECITAL

On Friday, June 24, at 8 o'clock, a recital will be given by Mrs. Mildred B. Paddock, mezzo soprano, and Miss Vernan Fraser, pianist, in the natural science auditorium.

The course in Philosophy and Psychology with Professor Starbuck, 201s Developmental Ethics, (will be changed, at the request of a majority of the group, to Character Training in the public school.

Currier hall is accomodating more women this summer than it has during any previous summer session. With the exception of a few rooms on the fourth floor, the building is full. Rooms are still being assigned at the secretary's office, and it is probable that by the end of the week, all the rooms will be occupied. Women students of French and Spanish have taken advantage of the opportunities offered in the French and Spanish houses, which are operated in connection with Currier hall. Rooms in these houses are all occupied with the exception of one or two. The Currier hall roll now totals about 175.

PICNIC SUPPER

There will be a picnic supper for all Congregational students of the University at the Conference House, 128 North Clinton street, at 6 o'clock

Saturday evening. There will be an opportunity for summer students to get acquainted with one another and to plan for week end recreation. A cordial welcome is assured to all.
