Lecturer Shows Development of Chosen People From Ancient Times

EXTREME DANCES

Balford Fred Cohen of Omaha, gave the first of a series of lectures dealing with the history of the Jewish people, at the liberal arts assembly hall last evening, the subject being "A Biblical View of Jacob's Doctorry,"
The division of the thousand years of Jewish history into eight periods, 300 years each, and his description of the characteristics of each period.

Jewish history began with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and the being of the Jewish faith. The second period, this first period is concerned with the taking of the sea of faith. This formative period and includes the first three centuries under the seven patriarchs. The last century under the pressure of persecution the Jewish people took form as a people.

The second period is from 1060 to 1300, when Judah the Maccabees, the monarchy of the people of Israel. The third period, the commandments, the gem of the whole Jewish religion. It includes all the planting of the people in Palestine, which was to become the Holy Land.

Days of Jewish Graduation.

From 1000 to 1060 B.C. is the period of the Judges. In the history of the kings, Saul, David, and Solomon.

The third period began with Solomon and extended to 22 B.C. and is the composition of the Tanak, the greatest body of Jewish literature.

The period from the beginning of the Christian Era is 22 B.C. to 1000 A.D. over the growth of Christianity, and the destruction of Jerusalem and the scattering of the Jews among the nations of the world. The next period is that of the Jews in Babylon and their return in contact with the Alexandrian Jews and the rise of Mohammedanism. The great Jewish thinkers in this period were Akiba a Jewish philosopher.

Feast of Dedication.

About 1000 A.D. Jewish history shows a period of least freedom, but the golden age in the Hebrew is also seen the birth of some of their most famous writers, such as Maimonides, Rashi, and Balfour Halkin. The Great Matzah of Rabbi Akiba was the turning point in the history of the Yiddish language.

The last period begins the history of the present day and deals with the Jews and the fortunes of the Jewish in all parts of the world. The history is complete, (except for the course on page four)

Proessor Clapp Promises to Present Ancient Numbers at Veysper

Do you sing? Are you interested in church work? If you are here is your chance to prove it to have some real ear or at least one hour each evening during the next five weeks.

Between the hour of each evening study and his teaching classes in the school, Professor Charles G. Clapp of the music department, will spend his time in rehearsing the mixed chorus for the Veysper service on Saturday night.

One act plays will be presented at the Veysper, "The Wonder" by Henry Barnard, will be presented July 1, and "The Play-Boy" by Arthur Priest will be presented later.

"Greater opportunities in dramatic work are now offered to our summer students than we are offering this summer," said Professor Malhle.

"The opportunity is open for all interested in singing, for credit in dramatic art is possible in music and speech and dramatic work, the summer courses than we are offering this year are more interesting from a point of view of entertainment, teaching, and trying for the part. As an aid in the problem of providing opportunities for participation in plays of this kind for the benefit of our students, we are making plans for discovery, as well as methods of employing the services of the best prepared from the University, etc."

Mr. Malhle's plan, which contemplated a different production each evening of the first term of the session, will result in an arrangement of a crescendo dramatic enterprise. All persons interested in drama are invited to participate in the organization of the dramatic club.

Two one act plays will be presented for the season, "The Wonder" and "The Play-Boy." "The Wonder" will be presented July 1, and "The Play-Boy" by Arthur Priest will be presented later.

HEALTHY CHILDREN IS IOWA’S AIM

Over 5,000 Cases Have Been Treated at the Children’s Hos- pital With Special Care for That Many Helpless Child- ren Are Now Normal

The University of Iowa, through its system of hospitals has become a health center for the entire state as well as a center for medical education. A wide extension of research - along with instruction and treatment - has been achieved, and corrective facilities have been extended to meet the medical needs of all the state's children through the University and the hospitals. The University hospitals are the center of care, for five years. There has been a growing interest in the first venture in this field when the legislature passed the Parkin Bill, which provides free of expense for any child who is under sixteen years of age and is afflicted with some deformity or physical handicap that can probably be remedied, and whose parents are unable to care for him through the means of the family. This legislation was passed in order that some form of medical care might be available for these children in the state. As a result the University was able to organize the Iowa Children's Health Commission, composed of the board of regents, the president of the University, and the heads of certain other departments. Under the leadership of Dr. W. L. Dean, of the department of surgery, the department of pediatrics, and the department of psychiatry, the work on the Commission developed.

Children's Health Commission

The University of Iowa, by virtue of an act of the legislature, is charged with the care of all children under the age of sixteen years afflicted with deformities or physical handicaps. This responsibility is carried out through the University hospitals and the center for children with disabilities, which is located at the University of Iowa. The center provides medical care, rehabilitation services, and a variety of educational programs for children with disabilities. The center is a part of the University of Iowa College of Medicine and is supported by the state of Iowa. The center is located in the University Hospital at Iowa City, and is under the direction of Dr. W. L. Dean, the commissioner of health for the state of Iowa. The center is staffed by a team of medical professionals, including physicians, nurses, and therapists, who work together to provide comprehensive care for children with disabilities. The center is committed to providing the highest quality of care and support for children and families, and is dedicated to helping children reach their full potential.
Students Who Dish To See Successful Religious Community
May Take Automobile Trip Saturday to Amana

The trip to Amana next Saturday furnishes a chance to visit one of the few religious communal organizations in the world and to see a portion of Europe transported in America. The person who will take this first of a series of out of town expeditions given for the benefit of college women students and their friends, will leave in automobile from the south door of the liberal arts building at 8:30 Saturday morning. The destination is the home of Prof. Elmer W. Bills, of the school of communications.

The automobile will reach Amana at noon. In order that we may allow this tour to the women's college before they close at 11 o'clock. The party will return about 2 p.m. The entire cost of the trip will be approximately $3.50. The fee includes a dinner at the hotel in Middle Amana.

The Brookes (Amana people) are an offshoot of the Lutheren church. After being persecuted by the leaders of this church in Germany because they were too liberal, they were led to America. They settled first in N. Y. and later in Amana. In 1855 and 1856 the em-
