Dramatic production entails a generous expenditure of many feet of Bobbing Women's hair. A few of the authorities offer a full justification of their present practice of cutting her hair without regard to the personal wishes of the young woman. It is hard work for her being always with the remaining injustice, and of course will continue to exist in the face of many laws which seek to control the growth and beauty of the hair for the other sex.

In the face of all these discouragements, the Players of the University have given five evening performances of the work which shows itself to be a fine example of the way in which a college of letters and sciences can be taught and enjoyed.

The Monday evening performance contained five songs and a play which showed the power of the students in the use of their voices. The singing was excellent, and the playing of the players was very fine. The evening concluded with a performance of the play, "The Seven Ages of Man," which was well received by the audience.

If we grant that the future dispositions of the Philippines are an open question to be determined at the will of the United States, the interference of the United States in the Philippines would be a violation of the terms of the treaty of 1898, and the McMillen resolution, which was passed by the Senate, would be a violation of the Constitution of the United States.

In fact the United States so far as the start of this scheme, in ordering over these islands is less than that of the State of New York, and of course it is all the more reason to hope that the people of the Philippines would not be out of place in this scheme for the development of the islands.

But let us see more for the argument that the Filipinos people would accept the proposal of the United States and the full fledged Americanization of the Filipinos, which the United States would become an integral part of the United States. Two prophecies of these islands is as large as that of the State of New York, and of course it is all the more reason to hope that the people of the Philippines would not be out of place in this scheme for the development of the islands.

COASTS'
ULLMAN PROPHECIES CHANGES IN LATIN SCHOOLS

"The fundamental principle of Latin teaching as recognized today is that the aim, method, and content go together," asserted Prof. Henry Ullman, head of the Latin department, in his lecture in the liberal arts assembly hall yesterday afternoon.

"Important as the work of the commis sive is an organization of Latin in high schools, it will be overshadowed in a few years by the work of the American Classical League, which is principally concerned with the teaching of Latin," stated Dr. Ullman.

Professor Ullman said that he had just returned from a meeting of the sub-committees chairman who are working under the advisory committee of 15 for the reorganization of Latin.

While there, a report was very caref fully drawn up, which is to be the basis for the work of the committee, through investigation to be made not only by these teachers but the assistance of educational experts will be given so that no technical educational mistake will be made.

"A very ambitious program is to be carried out," Mr. Ullman stated. "Inclusive in this will be a series of tests for groups of pupils of equal standard, who have studied Latin. They will try to find the spread of improved eff iciency (sexual discipline). Effects will be made also to find if pupils who do improve in the study of Latin are spending too much time to get this improvement and if it could be obtained in other shorter way.

The main facts in the report to be issued this fall from the committee on reorganization are that Caesar will be put in the fourth half year and that many of the constructions will be put in the first half of the third year.

In conclusion, Mr. Ullman stated he was very hopeful for the work of the new committee. He feels that this will serve as a foundation for all Latin teaching and that the result will be accepted by every one because it is made by experts.

MISS DOYLE THRILLS HEARERS BY READING OF PINERO'S COMEDY

Mary Agnes Doyle, every inch a Celt, in her friends say, read Arthur Pinero's "Thunderbolt," to appreciative audience last evening in the national science auditorium. Miss Doyle read with sincere feeling for her art, and with an Irish lift to her voice which is fascinating to an audience.

Mary Agnes Doyle has had experience as a teacher, a reader and an ac tor. For two years she was dir ector of expression of St. Clare college.

Strawano, Wis., and for three years in charge of the department of Teach ing art and voice and director of the Missouri school, Los Angeles. Cal.

She is a lecturer on the better speech, government, and has been a prominent phantom reader for several years. She had a season with David Selborn ian Players of Chicago and two sea sons with New Theatre Company of New York City under the direction of Wittingham. Also she has played every professional performance in this country of the famous Strel dford price play "This Figure."

Some of the most important num bers on the program which Mary Ag nes Doyle reads are: "Hiders of the Line," "The Travelling Man," "Queen of the Lane," "The Thunderbolt," which Miss Doyle read last night, centers about an unexpected beau to a young lady, is a will which was the center of interest to a large family of pro ductive beard. Their reception of the news and of the young lady herself forms a story rich in tense situations and revelations of character.
