PLAYERS STRIVE FOR PLACES ON FOOTBALL TEAM

Competition Among Ends and Halfbacks is Especially Keen.

SCRIMMAGE IS FAST Shuttleworth, Locke, Miller and Rath Carry Ball for Varsity

Intense seriousness marked the football practice Thursday morning and afternoon. Whether tackling the dummy, running with the ball or charging at opposing players, all the men went at it fiercely and earnestly. At this stage in the season several interesting struggles for positions are going on, especially among the ends and halfbacks. Belding is playing on the second string, being replaced by Anderson. Heldt and George Thompson, the heavy Davenport lineman, are waging bitter warfare for the pivot job, while Shuttleworth, Rath, Macrae, Miller, Boydson, Lovrien, and several others are pushing the Devines for their old places.

Few limps were noticed Thursday morning after the long first scrimmage Thursday, in which Leland White was put out of the game for the season with a fractured clavicle.

Coach Jones put the men through two hours of blocking, passing, running signals and kicking in the morning, and staged only a twenty-minute scrimmage for the regulars in the afternoon. Captain Devine did not take part, nor did his brother, whose injured back is being nursed along for the games.

Macrae Shows Speed

Shuttleworth called signals for the varsity, with Rath, Miller, and Locke making up the backfield. Anderson and Kadesky were at end, Kinney and Slater at tackle, Mead and Minick in the guard positions, and Heldt at center. The seconds lined up with Bailey, Colby, Macrae and White in the backfield, Belding and Cotton in the flanking positions, and Hunter, Barrett, Tinley, Lindsay, and Frank and George Thompson in the line. Numerous substitutions were made throughout the tussle, so that everybody got a chance to play before the afternoon was over.

Miller and Shuttleworth did some hard plunging against the seconds, making long gains from time to time. The tackling was sloppy, due to the earliness of the season, which accounted for some of the gains. Macrae displayed some speed, and dashed through the line in good style. He seems likely to play in some of the games, if he can stand up under the battering of heavier opponents on other teams.

Shuttleworth is still slightly overweight and slow, but seems to hit the line with a great deal of fight and determination. Miller looks fat, as does Heldt. All the men perspired considerably which is a good sign that a lot of earnest work is being put in.

Before the scrimmage, Coach Jones put two lines opposite each other and had them charge fiercely into each other for twenty minutes. The men settled into the work with a lot of fight and determination. The practice in football fundamentals was continued, the linemen being given training in receiving forward passes, and the backfield doing a pursuit and tackle-from-behind stunt to increase their speed when running with the ball.

New Men Report

An additional dummy has been wung from the frame at the north end of Iowa field, and the work of blocking and tackling is now done in half the time so that the players may devote more time to signals and scrimmage. In the pursuit practice, in which one player ran with the ball and another chased him and tackled from behind if he could run fast enough, speed was shown by Colby, Cotton and Macrae. Locke, in tackling the bulky Miller, was struck heavily in the face, and hid out for a moment.

A number of new men report every day. The new candidates to appear in football togs yesterday

FROSH FOOTBALL STARS READY TO DON MOLE SKINS MONDAY

One of the greatest freshman football squads ever assembled at the University of Iowa will meet on Monday afternoon for their first practice. Such a large number of high school and academic football stars never before have enrolled here and signified their intention of reporting for practice Monday. Freshman Coach Bill Kelly expects at least 150 men out for the first drill.

Among the men well-known over the state and also men from other states are: Roscoe Holm, captain of Lake Forest Academy team last year; MacIntyre and Hancock, from Superior, Wis., members of the state champion team last year and also on the all-Wisconsin high school team; Ted Swenson of Cedar Rapids; Hector Janse of Luverne; Harris Thom, former Tarkio College man; Littig and McGuire, former Iowa City High school players; Warren Lawson, of Hedrick and Shick, of Davenport.

The greater part of the material comes from Iowa, although a few of the prospects come from out of the state. Nebraska, Wisconsin, and Illinois are among the states represented.

IT HAS TO BE DONE, THEY SAY, BUT IT IS A FRIGHTFUL AFFAIR

A man jumps from bed, shuts off the alarm clock before it has had time to ring, dresses hurriedly and runs to a place where a long line has already formed. He hopes to register today.

Two girls chatter excitedly as they hurry down the walk, consulting maps, schedules, and instruction sheets, and wave them in the air as they scan all possible places for station signs, numeral indicators, and other possible guiding marks. They are registering.

Father leads son up the street to Old Capitol picturing his son as a part of the college life he sees about him. He will see to it that son is registered properly.

The man has been gone from the house all day, but returns late in the evening with joyous countenance. He has finished registering.

NEW IOWAN IS POPULAR

W. W. A. Girls Report That Lower Rate Meets Student Approval

Yesterday's campaign for subscriptions to the Daily Iowan by the Women's Athletic Association indicate that the larger size of the paper and the lowered subscription rate are meeting the enthusiastic approval of the students.

Members of W. W. A. solicited students all day yesterday and report that many of them marvel at the lowered price when the sheet is being made larger. Loren D. Upton, business manager of the Iowan, says that he is busy returning money to out of town people who send four or five dollars with the promise of more if needed.

Lloyd W. Burns, circulation manager of the Iowan, said last night that he was pleased with yesterday's progress and that he expected more W. W. A. girls would be on the job today. Pauline Spencer, president of W. W. A. urged that all members of the association report to her at the north entrance to the liberal arts building to be assigned their duties in connection with the campaign.

SEAT RESERVATIONS FOR FOOTBALL TO START SOON

Reserved seat sale for the Knox football game starts at 9 a. m. Monday, Sept. 26, at Whetstone's drug store.

The athletic board will install application blanks at Whetstone's Tuesday or Wednesday for the Notre Dame game reserved seats. Applications must be in by 10 p. m. Saturday, October 1. Tickets for the Notre Dame game must be called for by Wednesday, October 5, by 10 p. m., or the tickets will be thrown into general sale. "I" books must be presented in exchange for the tickets after applications are made.

NEW CHEMISTRY BUILDING TO BE ERECTED SOON

Will Be Located North of the Dental Building Facing Capitol Street.

WILL COST ABOUT $400,000

Part of Building Will Be Ready for Occupancy a Year From Now.

Ground has been broken for a new chemistry building facing on Capitol street north of the dental building. Plans have been drawn and $400,000 appropriated, enough to complete about one third of the proposed structure. The building has been designed in units, which can be added singly from time to time. Ultimately it will cover the entire block bounded by Capitol, Market, Madison and Bloomington streets.

The new building will be of brick harmonize with that of the dental in an architectural style which will building beside it. From the main unit on Capitol street other units will extend in the form of wings along the side streets. Each unit will be fifty-seven feet wide, with ample space between them for lighting.

The department of chemistry expects that the first part of the new building will be ready for use a year from September. This first part will include lecture-rooms and classrooms, and two units of laboratories.

The plans provide for two lecture-rooms, a large one seating about 400 and another of about half that capacity. When the building is completed it will contain special laboratories for each of the eight divisions of the chemistry department, with numerous recitation and quiz rooms, and offices and research rooms distributed throughout the building.

About 2000 students were registered for work in chemistry during the University year just completed. This was a far greater number than the old chemistry building and equipment could provide for. Work in chemistry had to be scattered through six buildings, wherever any of the departments had space to spare.

INFORMATION IS NEEDED FOR FACULTY DIRECTORY

Information cards have been sent out to every member of the faculty for the preparation of a faculty directory. These cards request the position of the instructor, department, office and telephone number, building, street number, and residence telephone number and office hours.

This information is needed immediately because of the great number of questions asked regarding the faculty. The directory will be published with the view of meeting this demand. Organizations wishing to give entertainments have no other way of finding out the addresses of the members of the faculty they wish to invite.

Students often wish to locate their instructors outside of class hours. Members of the faculty will also be able to use the directory to an advantage in locating other instructors.

The sooner the information is gathered and the cards which have been sent out returned, the more value the directory will be. It is therefore necessary that the recipients of the cards send them back as soon as possible.

The Daily Iowan is the official student newspaper of the University of Iowa.

It is published daily with the exception of Monday.

The rate for the Daily Iowan is $3.00 delivered, mailed or called for.

It will be delivered to your door six mornings a week, not later than 7:30.

The Daily Iowan is 40 percent larger and its subscription rate is 25 percent less than it was last year.

It prints news, announcements, editorials, and feature articles.

It prints 3,360 inches of news and advertising each week.

The Daily Iowan is owned and controlled by the student body of the University of Iowa.

MANY REGISTER FIRST DAY

Approximately 1200 Complete Registration Yesterday in the College of Liberal Arts

After years of experimentation Iowa has at last worked out a system of registration which approaches efficiency. From the time the first anxious freshmen drew his number at the booth at 7:30 yesterday morning until the doors of the men's gymnasium closed at five o'clock last night, everything went like clock-work.

Each student had his number and a folder of instructions, to guide him to the correct destination. Approximately 1200 were registered in the college of liberal arts. This is an increase over the number who registered the first day last year, but this may be due to a more efficient registration and not necessarily to the fact that there are more students here this year.

Prof. H. C. Dorcas, University Registrar and Dean Geo. F. Kay of the college of liberal arts stated last night that the new system of registration has worked out very satisfactorily. It is planned to register 1400 hundred students tomorrow and the same number the last day. About two thousand had drawn numbers from the first station when it closed last night.

Figures on registration in all of the professional colleges were not available last night. Over two hundred registered in engineering and sixty-one in law. Seventy-five were registered in the college of liberal arts the first hour yesterday morning, one hundred and twenty-five the second hour and two hundred each succeeding hour.

Little congestion was experienced at any of the four stations. A line of students had to wait to get their numbers from the first station yesterday morning, but were easily taken care of during the afternoon.

GRAHAM WILL SPEAK SUNDAY

"New World Program of Jesus" is Subject of First Vesper Service

The subject chosen by Reverend T. W. Graham, of Oberlin, Ohio, who will deliver the first Vesper address, is "The New World Program of Jesus." The service will be held as usual in the Natural Science auditorium Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Doctor Graham's experience has been wide and varied for after being graduated from the University of Toronto he completed his theological course at the McCormick Theological seminary where he won the Bernadine Orme Fellowship, entitling him to a year's work at the United Free Church College at Glasgow, Scotland. He received the honorary degree of doctor of divinity from Macalester college. For eight years he was pastor of the Andrew Presbyterian church at Minneapolis, where he was also associate secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the University of Minnesota.

During the war he served in the Y. M. C. A. both in the training camps and in Paris.

Doctor Graham was a classmate of Dean George F. Kay, dean of the Liberal Arts college, and was, according to Dean Kay, a remarkably brilliant student. He has watched Doctor Graham's success through the years and although he has never heard him speak in public he expects him to give a very interesting address.

The musical part of the program will be given by Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department and Mrs. Mildred B. Paddock, instructor of voice.

This is only the first of the monthly Vesper services. The following programs will be given: October 23, Charles Foster Kent, of Yale University; November 20, Ambrose White Vernon, of Carleton College; December 11, Christmas music; January 15, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, of Pittsburgh; February 19, Jane Addams, of Chicago; March 19, Rev. Hugh Black, of New York; April 16, Easter Music; May 7, Edwin Heyl Dell, of Philadelphia; and June 4, Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of Boston will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

PRE-SCHOOL IS FOUNDED

Child Welfare Station Will Study Children Under Four Years of Age

The Iowa Child Welfare Research Station has installed a Pre-school laboratory for children two to four years old in a little four room building just back of the Old Science Hall. It will be the only school of its kind east of New York. Unlike other schools it is not a nursery, but an entirely experimental school for observation of the habits and faculties of little children not yet old enough to go to school, and who cannot be observed at home. As the building is not yet completed the school will not open until the middle of October. The furnishings, drapes, and toys however have already arrived and are ready to be installed.

The big school room is designated especially to delight the hearts of tiny children. Gay chintz curtains picturing nursery rhymes will hang at the windows just above rows of flowering window boxes. Besides the usual kindergarten equipment there are portable swings, a see-saw, a slide and wonderful big blocks out of which the child can build real houses he sits on the floor which is warmed by steam pipes, laid underneath.

Lattice gates swing out from the wall making individual play houses for the children into which they can take their little kindergarten chairs and play alone or with a companion. All the rooms are wainscoted in a restful green and the walls are painted a delicate cream.

The school is primarily experimental, furnishing the staff of the research station an opportunity to study the individual characteristics of children under the regular school age, in their normal group activity. The school also gives the child the opportunity to become accustomed to playing with other children and to enjoy early training in useful habits and simple educational projects together with music, pictures and children's literature.

There are two rooms fitted up for examination rooms, one for the simple mental tests given to children of that age and the other for the physical examination and measurement special electric apparatus for that purpose. The University Observation school will examine the children and the physical director will supervise their play period.

The school will be opened about the middle of October and fitted to accommodate about sixteen children. Applications amounting to twice that number have already been received. As a rule it will be the younger children who will be chosen for this year's group as the research will be more valuable if the children can be studied through several consecutive years.

Mrs. Flossie M. Hover, the teacher immediately in charge will be assisted by Miss Beth Wellman. The work will be carried on under the direction of Director Bird T. Baldwin and Dr. Lorle I. Stecher, of the Child Welfare Station.

DRAMATIC CLUB TO STAGE FIRST PLAY OCT 27

University Players to Present "Mater" by Percy McKaye in New Theater

SEASON TICKETS ARE $5

Will Be One of Eight Student Productions to Be Given This Year

A University theater, in which will be staged the eight major dramatic productions of the academic year, has been equipped in what was formerly known as the natural science auditorium. This project has been promoted and made possible by the co-operation of the literary societies, University Players, and the senate committee on dramatics. Prof. Edward C. Mabie is in charge of the theater and will supervise its productions. The plays will be presented on the new stage which has been built in the auditorium.

For the season 1921-1922, the repertoire includes a variety of plays ranging from bright American comedy to recognized classics of dramatic literature. The program follows: "Mater" (University Players), by Percy MacKaye, October 27; "The Admirable Crichton" (Hesperian and Zetaganian), by James Barrie, November 17; "Beyond the Horizon" (Erodelphian and Irving Institute), by Eugene O'Neill, December 15; "Much Ado About Nothing," by William Shakespeare, January 19; "The Show Shop" (Octave Thanet and Philomathian) by James Forbes, February 16; "Pillars of Society" (University Players), by Henrik Ibsen, March 16; "A Thousand Years Ago" (class in dramatic production), by Percy MacKaye, April 10; and "Arms and the Man" (Senior Class), by Bernard Shaw, May 11.

According to Professor Mabie the object of the University theater is primarily artistic, recreational, educational; not profit-making. Consequently, it is possible to offer season tickets, admitting to the series of eight plays, for $5 each. Tickets for single plays will cost $1 each. Reservation of seats will be made immediately before each play. Only the satisfactory seating sections in the auditorium, affording accommodations for 700, will be used.

Professor Mabie wishes especially to announce to all students that Mr. Percy MacKaye, author of "Mater" which will be given here October 27, will be present in person as guest artist at this opening production. All, who are interested in dramatics, are urged to meet and talk to him. He will come to Iowa City to attend the final rehearsals and on October 26 will give a public reading from his latest works.

Representatives from the organizations concerned constitute the officers and members of a committee which will have charge of the management of the University theater. They are: L. K. Shumaker, of Irving, president; Robert L. Block, of University Players, secretary; Harold M. Ofelt, Zetaganian; Helen Langworthy, Hesperian; Virginia Carson, Erodelphian; Jasper Johnson, Philomathian; Reva Meardon, Octave Thanet. Professor Mabie is an ex-officio member of the committee.

FORMER VARSITY CAPTAIN NOW RAISING CHOW DOGS

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 21.—Ray B. Gardner, formerly of Sioux City, Ia., and in 1913 captain of the University of Iowa basketball team, owns and manages one of the unique industries on the Pacific coast. He has the largest Chow Chow dog kennel in the western United States.

Gardner spent five years in the orient and lived three years of that time in China. When he left he brought a mother dog and it wasn't long before he was supplying a keen demand for Chow dogs to leading members of the motion picture colony in Los Angeles.

The former Hawkeye star athlete has a bungalow in Hollywood and on the same lot he has his kennels. Among his customers are Clara Kimball Young, C. Gardner Sullivan, Enid Bennett, Rosemary They and Ethel Gray Terry.

ONE OF THE BIG THINGS

The philosopher who asks "What is most worth while?" and the sensational moving picture producer who touches upon the "Greatest Thing In Life" will never come to a very definite answer and, more certainly, they could never convince the man who lets himself into his place of business with a key in the morning and the woman who darns socks in the afternoon that it was the only and the proper answer even if they should happen to hit upon a mutually satisfactory solution.

It is much easier to name a great variety of things that have a decidedly positive worth than to assign them a definite valuation or to classify them as the least or the greatest. Last spring an organized machine went into operation to organize and advance the plans for an Iowa Memorial Union. And the efficiency of that organization and the determination with which it renewed the campaign told the campus that the Union had come back to stay.

The Iowa Memorial Union will be a building for the students and alumni of the University in commemoration of Iowa's men who fought in the Civil, the Spanish-American, and the World wars. It is a tribute to the warrior heroes of "Old Gold." It is one of the greater things in student life.

Union progress has not been allowed to die during the summer. Organization has been carried to various counties of the state and new working recruits have been enlisted as solicitors of Iowa loyalty. The Union is stronger than ever before and with its strength is planning to make the coming year one of determining value for its success. Reviving interest throughout the state has been reported from the office of the director, and reviving interest in time of financial embarrassment means only one thing—the realization of true worth.

The Iowa Union is a proposal of Iowa students and alumni; Iowa students have worked out its plans, advanced its ideals, and it will ask you, as Iowa students, to fall in line. The comparison of the man who begrudges his dollars is old and worn, but it cannot be robbed of its bit of truth.

Iowa Union workers want you to know about this Union. They want you to know its purpose, its plans, and its ideals. They only ask that you meet them with an open mind and try to find out just what relation it may bear to you.

IT'S ONLY FAIR

In practically every fraternity and sorority house on the campus today there are letters and telegrams on the tables and a constant stream of long-distance telephone calls flows between brothers and sisters.

At the station, four men meet the train. As the passengers alight, one man is singled out. They swoop down upon him. Two of them take his suitcase and his grip; the other two fall upon his arms, and the wondering, delightedly surprised freshman is hustled off to the car. They are mightily pleased to see him—although they recognized him by a light raincoat or the checkered cap—and they want him to meet the rest of the fellows and just stay "out at the house" until he gets settled. He is whisked away and lost to the rest of the campus.

A girl comes to the city on the interurban. A flock of enthusiastic girls meet her, afraid at first that she may have missed the car, but extremely pleased at her final arrival. She immediately sees nothing but pretty frocks and welcome smiles, hears nothing but a profane expression of goodwill and gaiety. They have saved a place at the house for her; there is a little supper, rumors of a party, and a fraternity man whom she simply must meet right away. They are greatly pleased to show her the campus and to help her register.

If we glance at a few of those letters and telegrams, we may learn what it is all about. This man is a new man. Another fraternity is after him strong so it will be well to get him before he has a chance to see anyone else. There are others, too. On is an all-state football man and will pledge the first chance he gets; another will have a car down at school most of the time, and still another is a live wire who will be rushed by every fraternity on the campus if they get a chance. These men should be wearing pledge pins before the others get acquainted with him.

And so it is with the girls. They must be rushed and rushed hard.

The question arises, "Is it fair?" It is not fair to yourself, it is not fair to the other fraternities, and, above all, it is not fair to the freshmen. Of course, the matter of competition gives rise to a problem. You will say, "If we don't get him early the other fraternity will. If we don't pledge the good men now they will all be gone."

But there is another angle of approach. Can you so judge a man as to make sure that he is the man you want, that he will fit in with your type of fellows and help your fraternity without knowing him for a time as he goes about the campus? If he is more adaptable to the other fraternity should it not have an opportunity to "look him over"? Answer these questions as you wish, but rightly consider the freshman.

You have "rushed him off his feet". You have put the pledge pin on him before he met the other gang; possibly he did not even know there was another fraternity on the campus. The point is that the freshman has affiliated himself with a certain group of men for an average of four years without first knowing that group of men or anything about their activities and standing on the campus.

It is only fair to the freshman that he should know about other fraternities. He needs time to know the peculiarities of any group of men in order that he may see what he has or may have in common with them. He has not seen your place on last year's scholarship report, he does not know that your house is not paid for or that you are heavily in debt. He does not know that you are weak in athletics, or that your social privileges are curtailed. He received the impression that he is being offered the only good thing on the campus and that it will be lost opportunity if he passes it up for the time being.

Men will be bid to fraternities throughout the entire school year. Fraternities will be looking for good men every day, and the freshman who takes his own time, who looks over the field carefully and knows what he is doing before he takes the step into a fraternal organization of any sort, is the man who in the end is going to fit better into the general order of things. He will find the place where his abilities and characteristics naturally lead him.

Find good men and rush them. Tell them about yourselves and get acquainted. It is very fine and you can help them in many ways. But the freshman is entitled to a view of the entire situation in order that he may get the run of things and know what is expected of him.

If he is a good man and unless he is immediately sure of his choice

Bigger and Better

The Old University is outdoing itself this year.

More Students— More Pep— More Courses— Better—

But the Old "U" will have to go "SOME" if it out-distances

he will withhold his answer for he may know that other bids will follow. If he is a poor man and afraid he will never have another opportunity, he will do well to hold out for the weak man is always uncomfortable in a fraternity that is too big for him.

A fraternity knows some men who are assuredly desirable and whom they know well enough to be certain about. These men will be a valuable asset to the fraternity at the first of the year and there pledging is not to be discouraged. But the fraternity that is fair with the new men will be better satisfied with itself if it has been open and fair and knows that they gained a good man strictly on their own merits and not through ignorance of the other fraternity's worth.

TO THE FRESHMAN

You are a freshman. You come here a stranger. You are unused to college ways.

What are your impressions? Just what do you think of the University and its students? Is the University a confused whirl into which you are trying to throw yourself, is it a live going thing which promises wholesome training and noble relationships, or is it just school? You came here for an education. Do you find the earmarks of learning about the campus? You were told about college spirit. Has it thrilled you yet? You expect to become "one of the fellows." Are they an inspiring lot?

These questions do not mean that the University is going to subject itself to trial at your hands. They mean, rather, to learn whether or not you are big enough and broadminded enough to grasp comprehensively the greatness of the proposition which you are offered.

The University will give you as much as you bring. If you come with an earnest desire to advance yourself, if her laboratories and libraries mean a source of proper training, if the close associations and gay camaraderies find a field for cultivation in you, you will not be disappointed. But if you bring a lazy streak with you, you will probably go home just a little lazier; a lack of will predetermines unhappy results.

The University is anxious to please you, not to be merely entertaining, but to furnish the best means of an education. Its progress and development is for you, not that you may profit from it alone but that you may make it that much better for other freshmen who will follow you. The only source of new material for the perpetuation of the college race and for the recruiting of loyal alumni is bound up in the freshmen. Such a statement should not make you feel undue importance; it should, on the other hand, bring you to a realization of your responsibility.

As freshmen you will be called upon to wear green caps, to carry an occasional suitcase, to shine the shoes of upperclassmen, and in every case to keep in mind the degree of deference which may be exacted by your seniors. Upperclassmen will have your seat at the game, you will carry their banners, you will give them the right-of-way on the street or run their errands, but you will know that they have done the same for other seniors and that other freshmen will do the same for you. If you would be a good junior or senior, you will serve your apprenticeship as a good freshman.

The University's interest in you is plain. If you are a proper-freshman it will in turn be passed down to each succeeding group of newcomers to the campus. You are not important alone; you are responsible. You are not an end, but a means.

We may say of you what the keepers of the aVatican may say of the visitors, "It is not the painting or the sculpture that is on trial; it is you".

IOWA CAMPUS SITE OF U. S. AIR MAIL WIRELESS STATION

University Officials Co-operate in Establishing New Plant for Mail Service

The United States air mail service and the University of Iowa are co-operating in the establishment of a new wireless telegraph station in Iowa City which will be erected on the University's west side campus. Ground has been broken for the plant and two 100-foot towers will rise to catch and send out government messages.

One of the chief uses of the new plant will be to send notice of weather and atmospheric conditions from one government air mail field to another. In this respect the plant will be operated in close connection with the air mail field in Iowa City. Market quotations and other information will be sent broadcast from the station.

The University's department of electrical engineering is co-operating closely with government representatives in establishing the plant and will work with the operators in maintaining it when completed.

Suspense
 "The moving finger writes"—and the time draws nearer to silence day, Sunday. Yesterday the streets were alive with cars rushing past, brimming over with beautifully dressed girls, going to and from rushing parties. Today it will be the same, and tomorrow, and after that, the weary rushers may rest and the nervous rushees may sleep. And out of the clouds will come the remembrance that there are classes to be found and hard work to be done.

Wedding Announced

Announcement has just been made of the marriage of Ethel Mae Bart of Fort Dodge and Benjamin N. James Ll of Clinton which took place January 17, at Dixon, Illinois.

Both Mr. and Mrs. James will attend the University this year and will make their home here for the present.

Mrs. James is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority and Edrodelphian literary society, and Mr. James is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Hanna-Helmich

Miss Dorothy Hanna A2 of Davenport, was married to Dr. Paul S. Helmich, graduate of Iowa in 1915, Thursday, June 17.

Immediately following the ceremony Dr. and Mrs. Helmich left for the North. On their return from their honeymoon they will come to Iowa City, where Dr. Helmich will conclude some preliminary research work before entering upon his newly appointed national fellowship work in connection with Princeton. Dr. Helmich received his Ph. D. from Iowa. He is a member of the Gamma Alpha scientific fraternity, Sigma Chi and Phi Beta Kappa.

Mrs. Helmich was secretary of the Rock Island Arsenal "Y" hut until the close of the war.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Zetagathian Literary Society will hold a mixer for all new men Monday night at 7:30. Refreshments will be served. Every freshman in the University and any other student interested in literary society work should be there.

The regular monthly dinner and business meeting of the University club will be held in the club rooms on Saturday evening at six o'clock. Reservations should be made by telephoning Miss Martin (Red 1744) or Miss Macartney (2235) on Friday evening.

The annual reunion banquet for all old Irving literary society men will be held Tuesday evening at 6 p. m. All those wishing to have plates reserved should notify Carl B. Kreiner at once.

Irving will also be host to freshmen men of the university next Thursday evening at 7:30 p. m. in Irving Hall, at Close Hall, corner Dubuque and Iowa Avenue. All men in the University interested in forensic work are cordially invited to be present. Eats will be provided in abundance so come and bring your friends.

There will be a "Mixer" for all Methodist students in the parlors of the Methodist church Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. This social is put on especially in the interest of University students and affords most excellent opportunity for new students to get acquainted.

NEW DORMITORIES ARE SECURED FOR GIRLS

Two new dormitories have been let to accommodate the women of the University. These buildings are located at 227 No. Dubuque and at 725 E. College. The home on Dubuque accommodates nineteen; the one on College has room for twenty. These rooms will be filled from the students on the Currier Hall waiting list.

PLAYERS WORK FOR PLACES ON TEAM

were Clarence Jentoft, Tjossem and Robert Harding, all line men.

A large crowd of spectators was on hand in spite of registration, and overran the playing ground to the extent of hindering the scrimmage. The south field may be utilized beginning Monday, when over one hundred freshmen football men are expected to report. The onlookers will then be required to stay in the bleachers, according to authorities.

ATTENTION!
CATHOLIC STUDENTS

The mass officially and specially provided by the Rt. Rev. Bishop of the Diocese for the Catholic students of this University is said every Sunday morning at nine o'clock in St. Patrick's church, situated three blocks south of the post-office. The instructions given at this mass are adapted to the special needs of the student body.

Proper Spiritual guidance and supervision will be impossible unless every student attends as often as possible this special mass. For this reason our students should look upon attendance at this mass in preference to any other as a matter of serious import.
