ELECT CLASS OFFICERS ON OCTOBER 12

Council Sets Election Date For All Colleges of University

MUST PRESENT PETITIONS

Ten Members to Student Council Elected at Same Time

The election of class officers in all of the colleges of the University will be held in the liberal arts hall across from the auditorium, on Wednesday, October 12, according to a decision of the student council at a meeting Tuesday night. No electioneering will be allowed on the first floor of the liberal arts building.

Each of the professional colleges has an organization of its own which will have charge of the class election in that college, according to Harry H. Miller L3, of Webster City, who is temporary chairman of the student council.

The council has appointed a committee which will have supervision of the election in the college of liberal arts. The committee is composed of Douglas F. Boynton A4, of Cedar Rapids, Margaret S. Benton A4, of Sioux City, and Max Conn A4, of Hartley. Boynton will act as chairman of the committee.

Four Officers for Each Class

In the liberal arts college, as in the professional colleges, four officers will be elected in each class; namely, president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer. According to the rules of election, which were passed Tuesday night by the student council, each candidate for cla ssoffice must present a petition signed by twenty-five members of the class in which he or she is petitioning. The petition must be accompanied by a signed statement from the registrar showing that the candidate is in full standing in the college in which he is running for office.

Petitions Due Monday Night

All petitions of liberal arts candidates must be presented to Douglas Boynton, who can be found every afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. from 2—6 p. m., before 6 o'clock Monday evening, October 10. The committee and Dean Rienow will then pass upon the petitions. The council has voted that all candidates for class offices must accompany their petitions with $1 which will go towards the cost of printing ballots.

At the same time that the class elections are held ten new members will be elected to the student council, which when fully represented has a total of eighteen members. The liberal arts college will elect four new members from the junior class for a period of two years. Heretofore only junior liberal arts students have voted for the council representatives. The council has followed the plan of the professional colleges and passed a ruling that all liberal arts students shall have the privilege of voting for the representatives.

Professional Colleges Represented

Each professional college will elect one member of their junior class to the council for a period of two years, with the exception of the college of pharmacy which will elect one member who has completed one year of training. One senior will also be elected from the college of law to succeed Harry A. Miller, of Webster City, who will resign because his studies as a senior law student will require the greater share of his time.

The liberal arts candidates will consist of two men and two women who are members of the junior class.

The next meeting of the student council has been called for Thursday, October 13. At that time the council will pass upon and ratify the ballots that were cast the day preceding. Organization for the coming year will also be completed by electing a chairman and other officers.

IOWA'S FIGHTING FULLBACK

GORDON C. LOCKE

VARSITY AGAIN BATTLES FROSH

Anderson Played at Halfback Position on the Seconds

Anderson playing this time at half back in the second string combination of backs, featured last night's work of the Hawkeyes, which was comprised of the usual preliminary work and an extended scrimmage. Anderson is a man over whom many hopes have been raised this season but who has not come quite up to them and has experienced some setbacks. Consequently his trial at the half back position cannot be taken as a permanent arrangement. His work last night was fair but there was considerable room for improvement.

The freshmen were again sent at the varsity for the preliminary scrimmage of the night, but failed to show much ability and were unable to advance against the first stringers. Fumbling was responsible for most of the freshmen's setbacks. Johnny Heldt distinguished himself at this time by falling on the baal, after the freshmen fumbled, twice in succession. The freshmen squad which was sent at the varsity last night was not the best eleven Coach Kelly has and it is possible that had the freshman coach's best material been sent in, the freshmen would have given a better account of themselves.

Varsity Scores Three Times

Following the ten minute mix with the freshmen the varsity was pitted against the second stringers and suceeded in making a total of three touchdowns during the evening's work. The second stringers kicked ofi and Aubrey returned the ball 20 yards to his own 45 yard line. A crack through center netted five yards, but two passes one from Aubrey to Glen and the other from Aubrey to Kadesky were incomplete. Aubrey then took the ball for a 25 yard gain but fumbled just as he was downed and the scrubs took the oval. The second stringers were held for downs and the varsity took the ball again.

A successful pass from A. Devine to Belding put the oval on the freshmen's 20 yard line and then Aubrey broke away for another touchdown.

Anderson Gets Chance

After this affair Coach Jones started substituting. Seiling replaced A. Devine at quarter while Macrae replaced G. Devine. A few plays and Coach Jones sent Bailey over for Locke, Anderson taking Bailey's place as full back on the second stringers. Then came Anderson's chance. He was put in with the other second string backs behind the first string line which had by this time been somewhat depleted of first stringers. Anderson finished the evening at fullback. His weakest point apepared to be in the

EXHORBITANT PRICES ASKED FOR ROOMS, SAYS DEAN RIENOW

Prices for rooms remain high although there are several hundred still liste das unoccupied at the ofce of the dean of men. Many students are still seeking rooms but the quest for a reasonably priced room is practically fruitless. Unless prospective renters modify their rates or unless those still seeking rooms grow less discriminating and content themselves with inferior rooms or those a mile or more from the campus, there may be some rooms that will be unoccupied the entire schol year.

Dean Robert E. Rienow states that very few have reduced the prices which were demanded before the opening of the present school year. It is quite apparent that a great many of the would-be renters would rather have their rooms unoccupied than rent them for less than thirty dollars a month. In glancing over the list for rent out of about forty selected at random only one was listed as low as $20, that being a single room.

Location seems to make little difference. The prices are equally high everywhere. Several were rated as high as $40. On these cards Dean Reinow had added the opinion "I consider this an exorbitant rate.

A. A. Welt, real estate agent of Iowa City states that 300 families were turned away from Iowa City this summer on account of the insufficient number of houses for rent. He says further "The students of the University have been forced upon the people of Iowa City. In some cases the rent has been raised by the property owners. Those renting the rooms to the students have in turn added a little more than they would have to receive."

George Ball, representing the Loney Land Company also admitted that the University student was paying too much for room as compared to what he is asked to pay for board. However the fault, he says, does not always lie with those renting out the rooms.

BIG SISTERS TO ENTERTAIN

Sponsors and Freshmen Women Will Become Acquainted

Today over eight hundred women, half of them new to the customs here, are tagged with the numbered yellow squares that will enable them to find either the upperclass woman who will guide them through the first semester of their University life, or the freshman woman whom they will have in charge.

The climax of the sponsor-sponsoree campaign will come tonight in the form of a party in the women's gymnasium. Each upperclass woman has been given a tag with the instruction to "find your little sister and bring her to the party."

According to Mildred Freburg A4, of Pomeroy, chairman of the entertainment committee, most of the evening will be spent in getting acquainted, and the rest of the time in dancing and eating refreshments.

Tags have not been distributed to those who were not at freshmen lectures Tuesday, but they may receive numbered tags at the office of the Dean of Women today. All sponsorees who have not yet found their sponsors, as well as sponsors without their respective charges will be given this opportunity to find each other at the party tonight.

NOTRE DAME 'NOTRE' GAME IS SLOGAN FOR SATURDAY

Get out your French books, all you French sharks and tell us the meaning of the Engineers' sign for the game with Notre Dame next Saturday. They think they have one that will make you think this time.

Notre Dame "Notre" game is the slogan which appeared this morning on the Engineering building for this game so get busy and figure it out. For the benefit of those who have never studied French we might statement "Notre" is translated as "our."

YALE MAN TO LECTURE HERE

Charles Foster Kent Will Appear at Vespers October 21

Charles Foster Kent, who is on a leave of absence from Yale university, will give an address here at the second Vesper service of the year in the natural science auditorium on October 21 at 4 o'clock. His subject will be "Jesus' Way to Attain Happiness."

"Doctor Kent is one of the best known religious workers of the day and his reputation as both a biblical scholar and a religious worker is of the highest," Prof. G. T. W. Patrick, of the philosophy and psychology department and head of the vesper committee said yesterday, when speaking of the next vesper service.

Doctor Kent is visiting important institutions in the west, where he is giving lectures and holding conferences on religious subjects. He is now at the University of Missouri. From there he will go to the Universities of Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Michigan and then on October 21, 22, 23 he will be at the University of Iowa. The program for these religious meetings and conferences will be announced later.

FRIVOL WILL NOT BE DISTRIBUTED BEFORE MONDAY, EDITOR SAYS

Trouble resultant from the engravers' delay in providing the plates for a four color cover, prevented Frivol, the University humorous magazine, from appearing on the campus yesterday as advertised, and the magazine will not be placed on sale until Monday, according to the editor, Harold Andrews, A4, of Des Moines.

The sale of Frivol will be conducted by O. I. C., women's pep organization, and the subscription price for the seven numbers to be published during the scholastic year, is one dollar and fifty cents. Single copies of Frivol will be obtained for twenty-five cents, which is a reduction of ten cents from the price of Frivol last year.

Despite the fact that Frivol has been popular with the student body its editors have never been able to find students who are interested in writing humor. Frivol is launched this year on the campus by the men who founded it several years ago, and they are now interested in securing men and women who can be trained to carry it on after the present scohlastic year.

"If Frivol is to live, it must have contributors who can be turned into editors, and it is obvious that unless we can get contributors this year there won't be any editors for the magazine next year," said the editor yesterday. "Two men are carrying on the work of Frivol now, and there ought to be at least five associate editors. If you look at the editorial staff of any other humorous publication you will notice that there are at least six or eight editors. One magazine in the 'Big Ten' has fourteen editors besides the business staff. We want help."

The next number of Frivol is to be the Pessimists' Number and will appear November 9.

UNIVERSITY CHORUS HOLDS FIRST REHEARSAL TONIGHT

The University chorus will meet for its first rehearsal tonight at seven o'clock in the liberal arts assembly room. The chorus plans to meet every Thursday night for rehearsal, except on the weeks when Thursday is a university holiday. In that case the meeting will be held on Tuesday.

The chorus is open to every man and women in the university who is interested in singing. It is entirely distinct from glee clubs, no voice tryouts or fees being required. Last year there were between seventy-five and 100 members in the chorus. The chorus last year took part in the Christmas and Easter vepser services, and will take part again this year. Prof. Philip G. Clapp and Prof. Walter Leon will have charge of the chorus.

HONOR SYSTEM APPLES TEST THE HONESTY OF UNIVERSITY STUDENTS

"Honor system apples—help yourself—drop five cents here." The novel idea of testing the student body and the town peoples' reaction to the honor system a la the apple barrel is not for the purpose of making money. Ed. J. Goodrich L3 of Anoka, Minn., R. P. Birdsall L3 of Waterloo, Ed Cook L3 and A. Knocke L1 of Davenport have set up apple stands on the corners of the University book store and the Johnson County bank building. They wish to get statistics in regard to the number of people who respond to the honor system in the right manner and they are confident that this project will prove that on the whole most people are honest.

Every evening the apples will be counted. The number of five cent pieces will also be counted and a deduction will be made as to what extent the honor system can be carried.

The apples that are sold for five cents each are purchased for three and a half dollars a basket, each basket averaging one hundred and fifty apples.

TOMORROW IS "HELLO DAY"

All University Party Will Be Held Tomorrow at 7:30 O'clock

Plans for "Hello Day", which will be held tomorrow, have been completed, according to Douglas F. Boynton A4 of Cedar Rapids, chairman of the joint committee of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. which has charge of both "Hello Day" and the All-University Party to be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the men's gymnasium. Dorothy Barfoot A3 of Decorah, is the Y. W. C. A. representative on the committee.

According to the plans, everyone on the campus will wear a card whose color signifies the college of the wearer, and bearing his name and class. Faculty members will wear cards of Old Gold; students of law will wear green; pharmacy red; medicine, coral; dentistry, yellow; associated science, lavender; and liberal arts blue. Tags may be secured on the campus before 8 o'clock classes. They will also be placed in the buildings of the different colleges in order that none will be missed.

"Hello Day" was started last year by the two Christian associations with the purpose of promoting democracy on the campus by furnishing a means for the students to become acquainted more easily than formerly, and the student body backed the idea enthusiastically. It is hoped that again this year all will join into the spirit of the day and not only wear the proper card, but greet everyone met with "Hello."

As was done last year, the All-University party will be held in conjunction with "Hello Day" and according to Tom T. Norris, A4 of Manchester, who is chairman of the program committee, the full program of stunts will not be announced until tomorrow, but among them will be a special entertainment given jointly by the W. A. A. and O. I. C., a boxing bout between Henry J. Prentiss, who was champion of the University last year in the 135-pound class, and an opponent who as yet has not been determined, also a demonstration by the gymnasium team and novel feature for introducing those who attend. The other members of the committee in charge of the program are Reba Kelly A4 of Waterloo, Audrey Koiner A3 of Pasadena, California, and Josephine Thielen A4 of Grundy Center.

The party is open to the entire University and it is expected that at least as large a crowd will be present as attended last year, when over 2000 people jammed into the gymnasium.

Visitors may call here to meet the welcoming committee representing the University and Iowa City, to secure colors, for assignment to rooms for free use of autos, to check bags and parcels or to secure information.

"It is not very likely that any football tickets will be left by Saturday morning, Oct. 15. If you are coming to the game be sure to reserve your tickets in advance. Write Coach Howard H. Jones if you have not already made reservations. The price is $3.00.

Car Parking

"Decorate your car. Inexpensive decorations in the colors of Iowa and Illinois, either or both, will be available at headquarters. It is suggested you drive across the state bearing the colors of both Universities, Orange and Blue for Illinois, and Old Gold for Iowa. JUST BIGNESS

Fraternities have not yet been definitely classified as absolutely essential or as absolutely detrimental to college life. They may, in the future, be made desirable or undesirable, according to the way in which fraternities meet the situation that is before them.

There is one thing that will do much for the fraternal organizations and that is bigness; bigness not necessarily in size or in power but bigness in outlook, bigness in the comprehension of their responsibility, and—placing the greatest last—bigness in their relationship with one another.

The fraternity that is able to look upon another fraternity in a big wholesome manner is itself big. If, on the other hand, a fraternity must speak a bad word about its rival, if it does not consider the other society worthy, it is in a bad way. It will not hurt any campus fraternity to indulge in an extra bit of regular sportsmanship concerning the other fellow.

Just now we are boasting the ideal attitude that exists among the various universities and their athletic representatives. We have found it a paying proposition to look upon the other colleges and universities with which we have to do as worthy rivals, but that does not mean that we do not give them the greatest competition possible and try to make our teams their superiors. The stronger our opponents the harder we have to fight to win, but we will do it in a sportsmanlike way.

The same plan will not work altogether badly in the case of fraternities. They will find that to be big they must look upon the other fellow as big; they can not advance themselves by belittling the fraternities down the street.

If respect can be exchanged for contempt and a good word for the bad, the fraternities may not only expect more pleasant relations but a longer life as well.

There are two satisfactory ways to settle the matter without buying two "I" tickets. Let her buy one without your knowing it or borrow your roommate's when he isn't looking.

A CHANCE

About this time every year an epidemic of nostalgia generally takes hold of a certain number of students. We hear complaints to the effect that there is no chance here for the young women to become acquainted with the men on an equal basis.

For the next few Sunday afternoons the various sororities will be holding open house for the fraternity men of the campus. This affords a very good way for a fairly large number of students to meet one another. But we are reminded by a newcomer that this opportunity is open only to those who belong to one of these Greek letter organizations, and she feels because she does not happen to be a member of one of these she has no chance.

Open house and the other forms of get acquainted parties are fairly good means for students to meet some other students who happen to feel disposed to devote a number of Sunday afternoons to making a brief call and taking a sip of tea at a dozen or more sorority houses.

However it is true that a number of men frankly admit that after repeating the conventional "I'm pleased to meet you" two hundred times or more for several Sundays they fail in remembering these individuals when they next meet them and in consequence are pleased to meet them again when they are introduced the next time. But whether or not the open house plan is a success is not the issue.

Undoubtedly one of the greatest benefits of a fraternity is the comradeship which should bind its members together, but that is no reason why the chances for becoming acquainted and for sociability at the University be confined to those who have the secret hand clasp.

Tomorrow evening an all University party is to be held by the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. This party is given by these organizations for the purpose of giving all the students of the University a chance of becoming acquainted on what the freshman calls an equal basis. It is a party where students are supposed to jar loose from their intimates and where they may meet others who are perhaps as companionable as their established group of friends. Judging from similar entertainments of the past, the evening will be worth while if students will only bother to take the chance.

If the student expects the old grad to bring "it" with him for homecoming and the old grad expects to get "it" after he gets here, they should get together on the subject.

HOBOES AND STUDENTS

When a hobo tries to sell the "Hobo News," where hoboes are thickest and has as many papers left when a passerby tells his companion it is 3 o'clock as he had when another passerby told his companion it was 1 o'clock, one does not have to speculate until a third passerby tells his companion it is 5 o'clock in order to discover why this particular vender of the hobo bible is a hobo.

This statement for student readers will probably be easier to understand than will an explanation as to how it should concern college people. And yet they will be able to remember perfectly well the student who never has enough time to do justice to his studies and who can deal at great length on the subject of how hard-pressed he is for time, how unreasonable his professor is and how the author of his text must have revelled in settling down such an intricate network of inexplicable and highly complicated confusions of technicalities. This type of student is, perhaps, more common to us than the hobo.

It may be rightly calculated that the student who engages in oratorical outbursts on the subject of lengthy assignments will not have the requisite time to digest their contents. The conscientious or hard-working student does not deal in such topics; he does not have the time. If he were to spend his time enlisting the sympathy of his friends he would sacrifice their respect. If he must be a hobo and sell "Hobo News" to hoboes, he will at least be a good hobo and get rid of a few papers.

Y.W.C.A. TREASURER ELECTED

Managing the banking and bookkeeping work of the $3,000 budget of the Y. W. C. A. is to be the task of Charlotte Fisk, of Iowa City, newly elected treasurer of that association, who succeeds Madge McCord, of Minneapolis, Minn., who was elected last spring, but has not returned to the University this year.

MASS MEETING WILL BE HELD FRIDAY TO GET TEAM BACKERS

A mass meeting will be held in the natural science auditorium at 7 o'clock Friday evening, to pave the way for the winning of the Notre Dame game. The old system will be used, of having each college represented in a certain section of the gallery, and there will be rivalry in both the number turned out and the noise made. The sections will be labeled, so there will be no difficulty in finding each college.

All the colleges are back of this movement to revive the old fight spirit in the mass meetings to encourage the team before the battle. The college of liberal arts, the college of pharmacy, the college of medicine, the college of dentistry, the college of law, and the college of engineering are backing the revival of the old back-the-team spirit.

VARSITY FOOTBALL MEN BATTLE WITH FRESHMEN

way he spilled some of his men, but perhaps with a little more drill he will round into shape.

Aside from Anderson's tryout there were no changes in the varsity formation last night, the same combination as entered the battle against Knox started. Colby was returned to pilot the seconds, but was not entirely free from a limp as a result of his injured ankle. Shuttleworth also apepared in a suit last night but was unable to do anything on account of his injured side and it is extremely doubtful if he wil lenter the Notre Dame game.

Close Game Predicted Saturday

With the Notre Dame game only three days away prospects of a tough battle for Coach Jones' men are brighter and brighted. Coach Rockne, aside from his desire to repeat for the third time his feat of no defeats in the entire season, is extremely anxious of winning the Iowa game in order that he may take his team east with a clean slate.

While Anderson of Notre Dame can be counted upon for some exceptional work at end, and Mohardt at half and guardian of the forward pass, "Eddie" Degree can be looked to as a demonstrator of sailing kicks. Indeed the kicking duel between Degree, A. Devine and Belding will probably be one of the features of the game, while the line work of Dooley, Shaw, Smith and others will be a determining factor in the success or non success of Degree's footwork.

Freshman Still Working

Although overshadowed by the coming of the scrappy Notre Dame game Saturday Coach Kelly' freshmen are doing some hard work on their section of the field and last night attracted considerable attention in their fifteen minute scrimmage. Six full strings of freshmen are now working out every night and entionon some occasions the number rises above this. In the backfield Holmes, Hardwick and Handy are all showing up nicely while McIntire, Tortenson, Otte Nugent and McGuire are winning favor in the line. McIntire and La Telle were the hero men last night each one making a touchdown against the second string freshmen.
