TOMORROW'S GAMES

Washington State 14, Iowa 19.

TODAY'S PAPER

In a letter to the editor published in today's edition of The Daily Iowan, Dr. Ernest Cohen of the University of Iowa wrote:

"The department of chemistry of the University of Iowa is one of the best in the country, and the facilities for research are second to none."
RAIN PREVENTS ILLINOIS FANS FROM SEEING TODAY'S GAME

There were 400 Illinois fans seed­ed in the Illinois section of the east side bleachers yesterday. The ticket was made up mostly of students from Urbana, according to Dr. Martin Glenn, athletic editor for the Daily Illini. The members of the Rotary clubs from Urbana, Rochester and Normal were to be in attendance at the games are not in­cluded in this number. The club had blocks of seats reserved for them in separate sections.

OCTOBER PAMPHLETS PUBLISHED SATURDAY

The October issue, of "The Pamp­phlets," published by the State His­torical society, which appeared Sat­urday is devoted mainly to vivid des­criptions of immigration to the state between 1800 and 1850.

Women's Physical Training Classes Begin Monday

Physical training classes for women will begin regular work next week, according to Martin R. Lyon, head of the department. Physical and medical examinations which have been going on for the past two weeks will continue this week and will be completed probably on Saturday.

The work for the first part of the semester will include walking and swimming for special and normal classes, and swimming, field drill, and soccer for regular classes.

MANy IMPROVEMENTS ON UNIVERSITY CAMPUS
MADE IN PAST YEAR

The old Grads coming back to the University of Iowa will discover vast improvements about the campus. The barren plots of ground around the college buildings have been reseeded, and new green grass flourishes. Market improvements have been made on and around Iowa Aave. Parking has been laid out where it was needed and with money that was appropriated by the state, the University has secured several new buildings.

The massive concrete structures at the entrance to Iowa field will probably be the change most noticeable to the Alums today as they go to the football game. New concrete walls have taken the place of the old wooden fence. The remodeling of this field, the addition to the big central bleacher on both the east and west sides, the new drain-down bleachers on the ends, the long low fence to keep the water from accumulating, are all important improvements.

Another important improvement is in the drainage system of the field. Pipes are laid at intervals under the entire field to keep it well drained.

The old Grads ( alumni arch), the corn monument—all will be history in your kody album next year.

Stop in our store and let us tell you how to photograph the various electric signs about the campus by night.
