ELECT BOSSEN AS PRESIDENT OF IOWA BAND
An Executive Committee of Four Members Is Elected

SECOND BAND PRACTICES
First Time University Band Has New Home in Organization

The University band is now an organ of the student body and has selected a president, and an executive committee, as a part of the system of regulation for the band. This is the first time the band has ever had a definite form of regulation, with voted officers at its head.

Andrew Roosevelt of Battle Creek was elected president, and the executive committee, consisting of R. E. Haas, M. E. Johnson, H. C. E. Heise, W. B. Nolen, and L. R. Newsome, have been selected to arrange the business of the band in a regular manner. It is said that the band will receive the fullest attention from the new officers, and that the band will take a prominent place in the coming season.

FOR I

Palesien, Egypt, Greece, and

Battlefields of France Are Visited

When interviewed concerning his tour of Europe and the Orient last summer, Professor Stephen H. Bush, head of the Department of Romance languages, expressed very positive beliefs in the educational values of travel. Professor Bush says that such a trip forms a complement to a University education, and under the proper circumstances may be as valuable as a university education.

Professor Bush's party numbered seventeen besides himself, Mr.

Bush and his daughter, William

Lea Tracey, Beka Kelly, Harold

Tompkins, Jan Core, Mrs. Minnie

Mrs. Julia Denny, Irene Watts, and Margaret Young are members of the party now in New York City. They made a three month's trip, seeing much of the Orient and Europe, they visited Palesien, Egypt, Syria, and then, traveling through Greece and France, came back to New York.

At this arrangement of the trip, they were given a picture of the whole history of mankind in one great sweep, from the Bible times to the results of the recent world war. Instead of the student in the party realized University credit quite in the same manner

Professor Bush.

Top cost 8525 Bush

The party feared that steamer transportation, meals, and other expenditures would be at a premium in the Orient and Europe owing to the high exchange value of American money. This was most apparent in England and in Turkey, where prices where very low. In Oriental travel a party was much expensive and the individual would be overcharged at every stop. The party was quite successful in obtaining the lowest rates.

The temptation to buy in both the Orient and Europe is very great and tourists may obtain many rare things at far lower prices than in America. In one instance, for example, Professor Bush said that for Yenian tea cost about one-twentieth of what it would in America.

When asked what he thought about the cost of traveling in the Orient, Professor Bush

replied that he thought steamship rates would increase but that expenses could not.

Big Party, Big Fave

In the Orient, Professor Bush told another story, wholly unfamiliar with all. This is a very practical plan a large crowd gets the best service in Oriental travel. To have numberless servants attend the comfort of the sultan and claim the best service in hotels, trains, and steamships. In European travel a party would be left at stations and trains several times, and would be forced to put up with any service.

Oriental travel is always attended by a deficiency of details of travel.

Food Conditions Better

"The Sultan's table is off the ordinary,

indulged Bush, but

with considerable improvement in travel

Europe. Now

service, now fine

and last service is almost universal."

Professor Bush did not find any reasonable charges in Europe except in the cities where foreign nationalities lived. Of course this result is the least harmful to the sultan. All over Europe the nobles have been hard hit but the condition of the working-man has been much improved. More foreign hans have been forced. As Professor Bush told the music last week probably in Home transportation, meals, and other expenses a party saves much expense, taking the Orient.

In 1918-19, he has had a good opportunity to compare conditions, he took place. All over Europe the middle classes have been much improved. Hence, fewer beggars are found. As Professor Bush
