SIX MEN TO PUN AGAINST GOPHER TEAM

Iowa Harriers To Leave For Minneapolis Tomorrow

TEAM IS INEXPERIENCED

Some Hawkeye Runners Lack Knowledge of Pace Setting

Six cross-country men will make the trip to Minnesota with the football team next Friday. These men, Ristine, Peterman, Goodrich, Murray, Ashton, and Morrow were chosen from a field of some twenty-five runners during the past week. The first four won their places last Saturday when the full five mile course was covered, as Ristine and Peterman tied for first, Murray finished third and Goodrich fourth. The rest of the squad ran so close together that special trails had to be held on Tuesday in order to determine who should make up the team. At that time Ashton and Morrow came in ahead and will make the trip.

During the race last Saturday, Goodrich lost one of his shoes and ran at least two miles without a shoe. He was an easy fourth place winner despite the great handicap that he ran under, and deserves great credit for the race he ran.

Team Has New Outfits

The Varsity cross-country team has been outfitted with a new type of shoe, which is the latest shoe for this kind of work. They have a sponge rubber heel covered with chamois, while the heel instead of having no counter above it has a high leather one that protects the heel of the runner. The sole of the shoe is about twice as thick as that of the ordinary track shoe and is studded with spikes that are considerably shorter than the regular spike. This sole is thick enough to prevent bruising of the feet if the course is run over pavement.

Minnesota Strong

On paper Minnesota is stronger than the Iowa team, as they made a very good showing against Wisconsin on the course there. The same team that beat Iowa last year, with the exception of one or two men, is running for Minnesota again this year, and they seem to have improved.

However, if the Iowa team continues to improve as they have done in the last few weeks they will give Minnesota a good fight. Most of the men are not experienced and are handicapped in the lack of knowledge of the right pace and of sound cross-country tactics. Coach George T. Bresnahan has been devoting the past week to improving the runners' judgment of the pace and the other finer points of cross-country running.

NOISES AT CURRIER HALL CAUSED BY SMALL BOYS

Midnight noises which have been coming from the roof, balconies, and fire escapes of Currier Hall for the last few nights and frightening the women living there, are now attributed to small boys, ticktacks, and a continuation of halowe'en stunts.

No Currier woman is responsible for the scream at midnight, and those who saw shapes outside their windows deny having seen anything. Those who heard low laughs and footsteps suggest that it might have been something else. Those who were first to spread alarms at night say, "She told me," or "He had gone away when I got there." And those who hooked screens and locked windows today say, "I never get frightened at night."

It is "someone else" who screamed, and it was "someone else" who saw the men. The few who now admit having heard the mysterious sounds say that they resembled the noises made by small boys playing pranks.

WEATHER REPORT

Weather For Iowa—Fair and colder. Probably rain in the east portion of the state.

COMMITTEE CHOSEN TO SELECT ROOMS FOR CADET OFFICERS' CLUB

A committee composed of Ralph E. Kenon G of Corning, chairman, Robert L. Block A4 of Davenport, from the infantry unit; Lovell F. Jahnke S4 of Muscatine, representing the engineer unit, and Francis V. Morrison, representing the motor transport unit of the R. O. T. C., at a meeting of the advanced course last evening, was appointed by Lieut. Col. Morton C. Mumma, professor of military science and tactics, for the purpose of looking up the possibilities of a club room down town for the advance course, which it is contemplated will be soon organized in a cadet officers' club.

There is to be a cadet officers' room fitted up with a military library and recreational facilities over in the new armory but the down town room, being much more easily accessible at other times than when the men are at the armory for training purposes, will doubtless prove more popular if the committee finds a feasible proposition.

The practicability of holding more cadet hops this year than has been the case in past years was taken up but no definite action was taken. The subject of the proper wear of the uniform, the relation between the basic course men and the cadet officers, and the proper qualifications the cadet officers should have were discussed and suggestions offered upon the same.

"Much is yet to be accomplished by way of increasing the interest of the basic course men in R. O. T. C.," Col. Mumma stated, "and developing the social side of the R. O. T. C. by the advanced course men themselves will certainly help."

Definite action towards an organization of the advanced course into a cadet officers' club will probably take place at the next executive session of the advanced course and the commissioned personnel of the military department, to be held in liberal arts auditorium next Wednesday evening at four o'clock. The report of the committee named last night will be read at that time and future action based upon the report and recommendations of that committee.

NURSES ATTEND CLINIC SERVICE

Dr. Steindler Says That Most Cases of Deformity Can Be Prevented

In opening the children's clinic before the Nurses' Association yesterday afternoon at the surgical demonstrating room of the University hospital, Dr. Arthur Steindler, professor of orthopedics at the children's hospital said, "most cases of children's deformities would be made amendable to perfect prevention."

Following this statement he exhibited cases from the Children's hospital, including a girl with shoulders thrust forward. He said she was deformed by "continued uninterrupted bad posture. This has been acquired, and is now incurable."

"I would rather see a person with bad table manners than with bad posture. It can be made bad manners to be in bad posture," Dr. Steindler said. "We are just beginning to establish the relationship of nursing with my own orthopedic branch of medicine. It is hard to do." Other patients displayed deformed backs, clubfoot, curvature and tuberculosis of the spine, all of which Dr. Steindler says are preventable.

"In order to accomplish a medical police of our children to prevent deformities we need an organization in the communities to keep up the inspection of children continually. This problem, of all the medical questions before the community, is the hardest to meet because it is such a slow tedious one," said Dr. Steindler. "But we would run two miles to get away from a sore throat and we would not go two steps to prevent the development of a club-foot."

Miss Elizabeth Watson, supervisor of the isolation hospital gave an exhibit of isolation technique, with

Large Crowd of Iowa Fans To See Minnesota Game

FOOTBALL AND CROSS COUNTRY TEAMS TO HAVE OWN COACHES

Present indications point to a crowd of at least 1,000 Iowa boosters at the Iowa-Minnesota game Saturday and the number present may reach as high as 1,500 or even 2,000. The University athletic office yesterday was flooded with a demand for tickets to the contest and by 2 o'clock all of the 200 tickets sent here from Minnesota were sold. 200 more tickets have been wired for and will probably reach here today. The other 200 that have been reserved by the University will remain on sale at Minneapolis. Meanwhile final arrangements for the chartering of a special train to carry the Iowa fans to the contest are being made by Harry D. Breene, agent of the Rock Island railroad. Just after the athletic office had announced that 200 tickets for Saturday's game had been sold, Mr. Breene stated that the required reservation of 125 tickets had been reached and that the special train was a certainty.

BAND ASSURED OF GOPHER TRIP

Big Pep Meeting Will Be Held Saturday Night At Station

Tag day was a success and the band will invade the Gopher camp this week-end as $321 was raised before 6 o'clock last night. Besides this amount which will be increased today, several fraternities and sororities have not turned in their subscription to the office of the dean of men. These organizations are requested to turn in their subscription today in order that they may be given credit on the list.

The funds that will come in from these sources will bring the total to more than $400 according to John J. Dondore A3 of Iowa City, who has been in charge of the campaign.

Today the business houses of the city will be called upon to buy tags and the board in control of athletics will also be asked to contribute to the fund.

Will Take $600

It will take $600 to send the fifty members of the band to Minneapolis, according to Andrew Bossen A4 of Battle Creek. The men will pay their own Pullman fare. In case that the necessary amount is not raised it is expected that the men will pay a small amount of their expenses.

The big boost of the tag sale occurred yesterday at noon when a pep meeting was held at the Whetstone's corner. Barney Dondore and Charles Marshall A2 of Knoxville sold more than 200 tags in less than ten minutes.

The biggest pep meeting that has ever been held will be staged at the Wright street station Friday night before the train leaves for Minneapolis, according to Barney Dondore, who will have charge. A platform will be erected and the band be present. The speakers for the meeting have not been selected as yet but this will be done today. As the team will leave on this train, together with the cross country team and the large crowd of Hawkeye rooters, it is expected that the standing room will be an unknown thing in the vicinity of the station Friday night.

"We think we can make this the biggest and most enthusiastic pep meeting and send off that the Iowa students have ever seen," said Barney Dondore last night.

Some Start Today

Some students will start today for Minneapolis by fast freight and other means of transportation which are known only to those who hold the international pass. Many will journey to the game by means of automobile, but as yet none have been known to employ the system that is so familiar to the infantry man.

"We are going to have a peppy bunch on that special and we hope to show Minnesota some real action. We have not made any special plans yet, but we will have something prepared by the time we unload in Minneapolis Saturday morning," said Barney Dondore.

MADAME STEINDLER IS ACTIVE STUDENT IN IOWA UNIVERSITY

If some great artist were to paint a picture of age and youth clustering around the fountain of learning, symbolical of Iowa University, he would place Madame Steindler of Iowa City, in the center as the oldest student in a company of twenty-four Freshmen, who are sixteen years of age.

Mother of Steindler

Madame Steindler, who is the mother of Dr. Arthur Steindler, professor of orthopedics, of the Children's Hospital, is justly proud of her son. She is a dear little lady of 70 years, with snappy black eyes, who is not content to sit in a rocking chair and knit, but wishes to keep up with the times. This is her second semester in the liberal arts college where she is studying English, French and Italian. "Mrs. Aurner wanted me to study Old English," she remarked in her quaint foreign way, "but I told her I would like to learn new English first."

Educated in Germany

Madame Steindler received her education at Prague, Germany, where she took the board examinations, and taught for several years in the public schools.

According to Madame Steindler, they take up languages much faster here than in the schools of the old country. However, the examinations are not as difficult in the University, as she found them over there. Naturally Madame Steindler finds it much harder to retain her knowledge than she did in her younger days.

Italian Difficult For Her

Italian is especially for her, she said, because she is obliged to think in two languages before she translates. "There are so many young, smart girls in my classes," she said, "that I have to work hard to keep up with them."

All her married life Madame Steindler has kept alert and up-to-date. Her greatest pleasure was studying with her children when they were young. Dr. Steindler is the only one of her children now living in America.

Came From Vienna

Madame Steindler came here from Vienna, two years ago. For all of her 70 years Madame Steindler is a loyal booster for Iowa University, for which she says that she has the greatest respect.

SHIMEK NOW AT RUNNING GUARD

New Combination Is Used In Offensive Plays

Frank Shimek worked in the position of running guard, Frohwein and Barton played the forward positions and Burgitt the center, in basketball practice yesterday. Coach James N. Ashmore drilled Shimek, Frohwein, Barton and Burgitt for an hour in the circle pass formation, polishing the playing of the men and working for more speed.

Captain Shimek working in the position of running guard showed speed in bringing the ball down the floor and feeding the forwards for baskets. He also had the opportunity to practice up for long basket shooting. Later in the practice when a defense was strung under the north basket, Shimek had many chances to shoot when the defense had the first team covered.

Although a standing guard has not been needed on the first five, since the circle formation employs only four men working on the offense. Coach Ashmore is working Voltmer on the defense team. Voltmer took the ball away from the forwards many times during the practice. He plays his man close and breaks up his passing at every opportunity.

Lohman, McGovney, Hicks and Kelloway worked a short time with Coach Ashmore's circle pass formation. Lohman is fighting his hardest to displace one of the forwards in order to secure a position on the first team.

VARSITY SHOWS LOTS OF PEP IN HARD PRACTICE

Team Again Appears To Be In Good Working Condition

FROSH USE SHIFT

Gives Varsity Chance to See the Minnesota Plays

After running through a short signal practice last night, the varsity with Gordon Locke at fullback, Mead at right guard, and Shuttleworth at left halfback, tore through the second's line, and ran their ends for nearly a dozen touchdowns. Every play that the varsity tried went with the right kind of pep and went smoothly. Some of the spectators were heard to say that the team was running better than it did before the Illinois game, that there was more fight and spirit shown than has been shown this season. If three or four yards were needed the varsity backs got ten or fifteen. There was not a play tried all night that did not go for some gain.

Duke Makes Touchdown

Among the touchdowns that were made, the one that brought the most applause was made by Duke Slater who picked up a ball, dodged one second string back and ran fifteen yards for a touchdown.

Miller was given a chance at left halfback, but did not put all of his body into one of the second string tackles, who nearly spilled the play, and was taken out, being replaced by Shuttleworth. Miller got another chance however when Shuttleworth ran the team in Aubrey Devine's place, and went better on his second attempt.

Near the end of the scrimmage Kriz replaced Mead, and Anderson went in for Locke. Anderson did not do as good last night as he did Tuesday night and was soon taken out for Locke.

Alex Lindsay, playing center on the second string, was the source of more trouble for the varsity than all the rest of the second string line. Although he did not spoil so many plays, he still was hurrying the varsity backs on every play.

Second String Weak

The second string is too weak to give the varsity a real good workout, the backs being too slow in backing up the line and the varsity carried the ball clear beyond the secondary defense. The scrub ends and tackles were smothered by interference sent against them and seldom got near the play. On one occasion the second string right end played wide and the interference swept him wider while the runner went by on the inside. A few plays later this same end tried to play inside and the play went out around him. If the varsity plays against the Minnesota team like they played last night, they should win.

Aubrey Devine played his regular good game, driving off tackle, running the ends, and dodging the scrub halfbacks. He could have scored several touchdowns, but after getting loose would stop running and return the ball to where Johnnie Heldt happened to be. Many of his runs were made possible by the good interference that was given him by the other backs last night. Only once during the evenings work did the interference fail to get the second's end out of the play. Usually he was hit by one man and then toppled over by a second man if he tried to get up. The backs and linemen have not yet perfected the knack of taking out the secondary defense of the defensive team, but with two more days to practice in will smooth over that slight defect.

Frosh Show Gopher's Plays

When it was dark the scrimmage was called off, and the freshmen were called over to show the varsity some of Minnesota's plays. The whole squad went down to the South end of the field, where the lights have been placed, and put in a half hour watching the plays that the freshmen displayed. The varsity worked against the plays enough to become familiar with them, and

SECOND MENTION

Students are tagged to send the band to Minnesota, a special train is ordered, crippled players have prospects of making a trip, classes meet, and an Armistice day program is being arranged.

But, as a matter of pure fact, all is not going well. It is rather unfortunate that the matter of green caps for freshmen must be mentioned again.

An argument on the question would be a relief, but if the proposition is broached to the student, he looks serious, agrees emphatically that it is a shame and that the freshmen should by all means wear the green caps, and concludes that someone ought to do something to remedy the situation.

The briefest way of saying the whole story is that it became generally known last fall that Iowa freshmen would hereafter wear green caps during the football season. There was a decent campus display of the unusual headgear for a week or two and then it began gradually to disappear.

It is not the fault of the freshman; it is that of the upperclassmen who started the movement. It was a commendable idea, but if it is not made to live, students and friends of the University will lament its ever being mentioned.

MAKE IT COUNT

Announcement was made yesterday that the debating team had been selected to represent Iowa in the Iowa-Minnesota-Illinois debates this year.

But, granting that the judges of the tryouts were correct in every detail and granting that the candidates did creditable work, it is probably safe to say that Iowa will not send her best debaters against Illinois and Minnesota.

every other competing representative.

Approximately thirty men tried out for the debating team. These men were those who were interested in debating or in receiving training later than those who really had any great ability along that line.

Little need be said regarding this matter. It is indisputable; there is only one source of the trouble and there is only one solution for the problem.

But what graver error could we make than to lose sight of one of the things most sacred in the life of a human being?

One dictionary defines duty as an obligation, as signifying anything one is obliged to perform. But it goes beyond those narrow limits. It also signifies many of those indefinable moral and social acts which, although not forced or obliged to perform, yet we are led to do urged on by a sense of conscience.

What do we mean by society? The world at large, our fellowmen, and to come closer home, our fellow students. Each one of us owes an obligation to every other one.

Unfortunately, whether we all recognize this duty or not, we certainly do not show it. True, when it comes to a football game or a hockey match, we are more than willing to help out by cheering the team, winning or losing.

Duty is ever present. One might say, ever waiting to be performed. Let us waken up to it by taking a much greater and whole-hearted interest in our college affairs.

SLIPPING INTO RUTS

There are so many ruts that a person is in danger of slipping into that he must be constantly on the lookout lest he get into the habit of traveling in these treacherous paths.

He gets into a deep and dangerous rut when he begins to take too much for granted. The only things that anybody is justified in taking for granted as coming to him are old age and death.

Taking things for granted kills initiative and has a tendency to promote the habit of sitting down to wait for things to happen without raising a finger to alter the course of events.

That is all true enough but it is a poor attitude to assume. It is too much like being resigned to accept life as it comes. There are ever so many things that would ordinarily happen that do not happen.

Many "tomorrows" do not materialize according to the indications of the day before. That age-old adage, "Do not put off until tomorrow what you can do today," was probably born from bitter experience resulting from over-confidence and taking too much for granted.

The Eels club will meet Thursday evening at 8:00 o'clock at the gym. Roy K. Forney, president.

PLAY TRYOUTS ARE PROGRESSING SLOWLY

Try-outs for the Irving-Ero play, "Beyond the Horizon," to be given December 15, are progressing very slowly and the cast will probably not be fully decided upon before the last of the week or the first of next, according to Mrs. Will Hart, Jr., who is going to coach the play.

Play By Eugene O'Neill

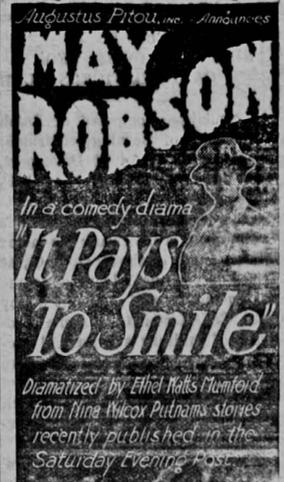

The play, by Eugene O'Neill, the author of the "Moon of the Caribbees" is a tragedy and is entirely different from any student production put on here in the last few years. It deals with the lives of two sons of an old farmer, the one a natural son of the soil and the other a delicate sensitive young man who struggles against the commonplace and the hard physical labor of the farm.

Ten Characters in Play

The characters of the play are: James Mayo, a farmer; Kate Mayo, his wife; Captain Dick Scott of the bark "Scunda"; her brothers Andrew and Robert Mayo, sons of the farmer; Ruth Atkins; Mrs. Atkins, her widowed mother; Ben a farm hand; Doctor Fawcett and Mary, a little five year old child. Mrs. Hart says that the cast will be selected and at work by the first of next week at least.

IOWA CAN NOW RECEIVE MESSAGES FROM EUROPE

The University of Iowa is now equipped with one of the most complete wireless telegraph and telephone stations of any university in the middle west, according to Prof. Arthur H. Ford, head of the electrical engineering department.

It is now possible to receive wireless telegraph messages from all parts of the United States and from many places in Europe. Messages are often picked up by the local operators from Berlin, Paris, and other European cities. The transmitting set permits the sending of messages to any part of the United States and Canada.

The University of Iowa belongs to the Western Conference Radio News Service Station which is composed of all the principal universities of the middle west with the exception of Indiana. Football scores and local university news is sent out by members of this association.

The Government station proves to be a great hindrance during the day and compels the University station to do most of its receiving during the night, according to the department.

RETIRING PRESIDENT OF SIGMA XI TELLS OF MODERN PHONES

The lecture given by Prof. Arthur H. Ford retiring president of the Sigma Xi honorary society on the "Modern Telephone" last night in the liberal arts assembly was one of interest to the general public as well as to the scientific person.

The lecture in brief covered the different parts of the telephone system, that is the parts that are visible to all of us and the parts that we know and the invisible parts of which the ordinary person that uses the telephone knows so little. The investigation into the telephone that has brought it up to its present standard was also covered along with the multiplex telephone. The multiplex telephone is regulated so that more than one message can be sent over the same line at the same time without confusion of the messages. The subject was discussed quite fully by Professor Ford and showed the study of the subject to a great extent.

The radio telephone and telephone repeaters covered the remainder of the lecture. The radio telephone has been developed to a great extent during the last few years and a great field lies ahead in this work, said Professor Ford. The telephone repeater is an arrangement whereby a message can be received and sent on to another destination in a much stronger form. The lecture was of especial scientific value.

OLD CAPITOL FLASHES FORTH CORRECT TIME AT NINE EVERY NIGHT

Every night promptly at nine o'clock the solitary light which surmounts the dome of the Old Capitol is flashed on after being out for a period of one half minute before the hour. The object of the signal is to give to Iowa City the correct time from Arlington as received by the University wireless located in the physics building. According to Carl Menzer G of Lone Tree the time as received at the University and flashed from the physics building to the dome of Old Capitol should not vary a hundredth of a second from the correct naval observatory time.

The Arlington station receives the correct time from the naval observatory and the University wireless picks up the Arlington signal as it is sent out to other stations. A key in the wireless room controls the light so that it flashes simultaneously with the Arlington signal. Arrangements are being made so that an operator will be on duty every night to receive the signal. The light on Old Capitol can easily be seen for a distance of six or seven miles because of its elevated position.

WOMEN PART WITH MONEY TO SATISFY THEIR SWEET TOOTH

Have you fudge? Oh dear, no, and that is what I wanted." A youthful co-ed frowned poutingly, finger on lips, as she stood before the Y. W. C. A. candy table in the Y. W. room.

"Oh hum-m" the vender of sweets came to life in a dazed manner slowly closing her history text. "Fudge? No I believe there isn't any."

Then the bell rang and in crowded a flock of women. There was no time left for history or "The American." Money jingled and bars disappeared rapidly as the crowd dispersed, each woman seeking the cosiest corner and the softest davenport in the drawing room in which to munch her sweets—and, incidentally, to study.

Strange to say, women are the only ones to seek out the candy table. Either the men have spent all their money at Racine's, have had their sweet tooth extracted, or are frightened by the abundance of femininity in the vicinity, for they never come near the table, according to Ethel L. Hickerson A2 of Mt. Ayr chairman of the candy table committee. She insists that there is nothing there that will harm them. Most popular among the wares is the homemade candy. All this is made by a young woman who lives in town. It receives a slightly higher price than the other. Miss Hickerson says that this candy is brought in fresh on Monday and the divinity is usually all gone by Tuesday evening.

An average of fifteen dollars a day is taken in and sometimes the sales reach as high as twenty dollars. This means that about 150 women buy candy daily. Very seldom does a woman invest more than once during a day and each individual does not as a rule invest that often. The patrons are variable and shifting from day to day.

Sales at the candy table are in charge of women who have volunteered to give an hour a week as a service to the Y. W. C. A. Twenty-five women are scheduled who take charge of the table five hours daily every day of the week except Saturday and Sunday. The table does business from nine until twelve o'clock in the morning, and from two until four o'clock in the afternoon.

ILLINOIS OBSERVES DAD'S DAY FESTIVITIES

Champaign, Ill. — Everybody's dad met a lot of other dads at the mixer in the Gym annex last night. It was the first event of the day when all of them had a chance to get together. At 8 o'clock, they started to come—some with their sons, some with daughters, some with both, and all of them with a dad's smile. At 8:30, the main floor was filled by students and their dads.

"I used to wonder just why the students were such fine young people," said Dean Eugene Davenport of the college of agriculture. "I never found out until last fall when the fathers came here," he added.

The benefits to be found in getting the fathers to visit the University were pointed out in a humorous manner by Dean C. R. Richards of the college of engineering, who read a letter he had received from the father of some student whose connection with the University had been severed. He pointed out that Dad's day could eliminate misunderstanding of the University by the father.

"Some students undertake too much," declared Dean Thomas Arkle Clark. "No man can do his school work successfully and be in love at the same time," he said.

Illinois loyalty was defined in a clear-cut comprehensive manner by President David Kinley.

"The spirit of the University of Illinois is the spirit of honor, honesty, and clean, open frankness," he declared.—Daily Illini.

OHIO CHARTERS FIVE SPECIALS

Game With Chicago Saturday Attracts Thousands of Students

Columbus, Ohio—Five special trains will run to Chicago for the Chicago-Ohio State game on November 5.

One train of Pullman coaches will be chartered by the athletic department for the accommodation of students and faculty members going to the game. The railroad fare on this train will be $12.15, while Pullman fare will be $8.10 extra.

An excursion of three specials will be run to Chicago by the Chamber of Commerce over the Pennsylvania Railroad, and a special train is being chartered by Fred Mebs, 1092 Livingston Avenue, to run over the T. & O. C. and Lake Shore Lines.

The rates on these trains are the same as those on the special planned by the athletic department.—Ohio State Lantern.

WILD THINGS ASTIR WHEN VAMP INHALES REAL "FAG" IN PUBLIC

Columbus, Ohio—What should Woman's Student Council do about a girl smoking in a local confectionery, flecking ashes on the floor, and powdering her nose with the tabletop as a mirror?

Wednesday night the attention of all patrons was drawn from their cups of chocolate to the young brunette who entered escorted by a group of about 20 men from the campus. Girls shot glances of envy as the very popular young woman refused dates and made others at random, daintily drinking her chocolate milkshake. She did not seem to object to the disapproving feminine eyes that looked over her black head adorned with attractive ornaments, over her henna evening coat to her small satin pumps. Then suddenly there was a slip. The young woman's voice broke into a basso profundo, and the game was up. A laugh went up from all present.

Some guessed that a Scarlet Mask rehearsal was just over, and others that initiation was drawing to a close.—Ohio State Lantern.

KANSAS RULES ON ABSENCES FROM CLASS

Lawrence, Kans.—The dean of the college is authorized by the faculty to withdraw students from classes for exclusive absences. Students withdrawn in this manner incur a failure in the course concerned. Explanations of unavoidable absences from class, even when accepted as satisfactory by the proper authorities, does in no case exempt a student from obligations to instructors for work missed during absences. It should be explicitly understood that any such thing as a scale of permissible absences, or any deliberate absences (cuts) are absolutely unauthorized.

Mid-semester grade reports are required of all college instructors upon freshmen and upon such other students in the several classes as are maintaining an unsatisfactory or below C standard. Students reported as failing in more than one-third of their work during the first half of the semester will be placed upon probation for three weeks, from Thanksgiving week until the Christmas recess, and their parents notified of their delinquency. These mid-semester reports are due in the college office November 11, at the end of nine weeks, and not at the former six-week period. University Daily Kansan.

ILLINOIS SWIMMING TEAM BEGINS WORK

Champaign, Ill. — Varsity and freshman Varsity swimmers will be organized for practice at a meeting of all candidates for either team Wednesday evening at 7:15 o'clock in the Engine Annex. The squads will be enrolled and arrangements will be made for practices, tryouts and practice meets.

The squad is especially strong this year as Postle, Royal and McNally of the championship relay team are back in school, and Bebee, Olson, Fox, Ott, Captain Wilson and Hardacre, all members of the conference champion water basketball team have also returned. In addition to these Manley will have Dvorak and Stahl in the fancy diving events, Taylor in the plunge and Wheeler in the swims. Captain Dennett has not returned to school but there is a possibility that he will be back next semester.—Daily Illini.

TEN MEN REPORT FOR KANSAS DEBATE TEAM

Lawrence Kans.—There has been an insufficient number of students report for debate tryouts, according to Professor Shinn of the department of public speaking.

The debate squad will consist of eighteen people, and is open to anyone in the University. Mr. Shinn asks that all those who have had previous experience in debate work and expect to take it up this year, or those who intend to be in the tryouts, will come and talk the matter over with him. The question for debate, as announced in the Kansan several days ago will be: resolved that Ireland should be given her independence.—University Daily Kansan.

OHIO COLORED STUDENTS USE STRONG-ARM SQUAD

effective in subduing unruly spirits. This "strong-arm" squad is not confining its efforts wholly to destructive activity, however, but is combining the brotherly act with its work. Several weeks ago the men ducked a freshman, and when they later learned that financial conditions prevented this freshman from purchasing a frosh headgear, the upperclassmen "chipped in" and bought the student a cap, warning him that if he did not wear it he would again disturb the quiet waters of Mirror Lake.—Ohio State Lantern.

will probably scrimmage the freshmen tonight in the last scrimmage of the week.

Minnesota is all pepped up over the Iowa game and every effort is being made to turn back the Iowa team. Their feeling is shown in the article taken from one of the Minneapolis papers which says that although Iowa has a good team it is not an unbeatable team, and that the Gophers are going to show that it can be beaten. Minnesota has no intention of allowing Iowa to do what has never been done before, that is beat Minnesota for four consecutive times. Their desire is to win their Homecoming game, and efforts are being made to correct the faults that appeared in the Wisconsin game, especially the weakness of the ends. Iowa will find that the Gopher wing men cannot be skirted as easily as in the Wisconsin game, nor will their line be as easy to puncture as the second string line. Football as played the last two nights will win, but any slackness on the line will cause a defeat.
