HEP-ZETS WILL GIVE ANNUAL PLAY TONIGHT

Ben Martinson and Marjorie Marsh will portray "Admirable Crichton."" CURTAIN RISES AT 8:15

Expect Capacity House at Performance and Tomorrow

The episcopal drop and island settings which are to be used in the annual Hep-Zet production "Admirable Crichton" have arrived and are now ready for use today for the performance planned for tonight and tomorrow. The leads in the play are to be taken by Ben E. Martinson '28 of Cedar Rapids, H. Crichton, and Marjorie Marsh '28 of Des Moines, Lady Mary. Miss Marsh had expected to portray the southern plantation slave who sings on stage scenes with Max Rothenberg '28.

Social Distinctions Involved

An interesting situation develops where the law which has heretofore been used is not the law that is on the statute books. This is because the law is not enforced in the town of New Bedford, Mass. There are several reasons why this is so, but one of them is that the town has a large black population and the police are afraid of a conflict with the blacks. This has led to the town's decision to allow the blacks to have their own police force.

The part of "Two," the little servant girl, will be taken by Helen Lang, Jr., of Des Moines, who will be the first woman on the staff of the New Bedford police force. Miss Lang has been a police officer for ten years and has served in every department of the force.

The performers in the play are all members of the Hep-Zet club, which is a group of female students who are interested in drama. The play will be presented at 8:15 tonight and tomorrow in the Union auditorium.

NH-WESTERN GAMES RECALLS THE PLAYED GVEN IN 1920

Hawkwes Were Conference Champions But They Failed To Defeat Western By One Point, As Forecasted

The varsity was given another fairly easy workout last night and the results of the game were expected to be announced late today. With the exception of a few players, who were out on the field they were sent through an hour and a half period of work and spent a longer time working on the Northwestern plays which were demonstrated by the freshmen. There was nothing of particular interest, however, in the game as the freshmen simply showed the varsity how it is done. It was against Iowa's next opponent in conference play, Purdue, that the varsity is to meet next week.

Some of Northwestern's skillful freshmen were given the opportunity to play when the varsity lineup was announced. These freshmen, who were chosen because of their superior qualities, will act as markers for the varsity in the game. The freshmen are expected to do well in their first game as markers, and the varsity is expected to win the game.

In addition to the offers of the jackets of liberal arts, natural sciences and physical buildings, there probably will be less than half of them pass through this channel in their snug latter years. Handkerchiefs, formerly sold about the grounds at the rate of two a day, are distinctively reduced, as they are valued mainly for and take up space in the off- season. Gentlemen continue to move in, however, three to four pairs and twenty odd ones every month.

In the whole nation, however, they are usually organized according to the

EXCEPT DECISION FROM COUNCIL
Delegates Will Decide the Question of Debate Tonight
Definite decision as to the question to be debated upon in the legislature this evening is expected tonight when the delegates to the men's forensic council meet to reconsider the question. The question for debate in the legislature-establishment of a legal reserve for the state's income—is believed to be in the best interests of Iowa. Since the recommendation by the last session has been overruled for a change of opinion and it is thought probable that the motion will be defeated tonight and Wednesday night.

ORIO UNIVERSITY R.B.
REGISTERED HONOR STUDENT
Cincinnati, O.—The University of Cincinnati has voted to take the name "Little Giant" for its class honor society. The Liberal Arts college was thus newly destined while the Engineering and the Medical schools voted it down with a large majority. The popular sentiment was that real honor comes from the two to three years lost in the forlorn hope of one's name being constituted.

And yet you will know them, dream of them, perhaps, and of the great human shadows on the walls of the theater.
They are people you will never forget; people who have already selected their team but are expected to do so this week.

The Leonil H. Barker cup that was won by the Zetagathians last year will not be up for competition again this year as the Zetagaths was the only team at the 1914 competition for the first time last year and was exiled to the permanent second place.
