CHARLES BOWIE IS NAMED FOR SCHOLARSHIP

He Is Now Attending the Harvard University Law School

WILL GO TO OXFORD

Twenty-Nine Men From Iowa Colleges Were Candidates

Charles C. Bowie of the class of '21 of the University of Iowa was elected Rhodes' scholar to attend Oxford University, England, next year.

The basis upon which the selection of the winner of the Rhodes scholarship is made are: (1) qualities of manhood, force of character and leadership; (2) literary and scholastic ability and attainments; and (3) physical vigor as shown in outdoor sports and in other ways.

Personality or Intellect
In the absence of such an ideal combination the committee of selection will prefer a man who shows distinction either of character and personality or intellect over a man who shows a larger degree of excellence in both these qualities.

In regard to the third quality in which the ideal Rhodes' scholar should excel, it may be said that exceptional athletic distinction is not treated as of equal importance with the other two requirements, although regular participation and interest in open air and athletic pursuits is an essential qualification, according to Prof. Jacob Van der Zee, a member of the committee of selection.

The committee believes that it has chosen in Bowie the man who comes closest to the ideal combination of qualities, as indicated above. The man who is most likely to fit into the peculiar conditions of England and Oxford life, and with whose plans and ambitions the educational facilities of Oxford university will dovetail, is the sort of candidate who will find the most favor with the committee.

Born in Scotland
Mr. Bowie was born in Scotland, but the greater part of his life has been spent in Iowa. A few years ago his parents moved to San Benito, Tex., where they still reside. Mr. Bowie is the last and thirteenth child in his family, so the number thirteen is not always unlucky.

During the time he attended the University he was affiliated with the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. This year he is attending the law school at Harvard. Besides his studies, Mr. Bowie is doing settlement work at the Peabody Institute in Boston, where he takes charge of athletics and debating work. His ideals of serving his fellow men, as shown in this work, also gained him favor with the committee which selected the Rhodes' scholar.

The committee which made the final selection of candidates is as follows: President Walter A. Jessup; M. V. Hoffman, president of Central college at Pella; Prof. J. W. Woodrow of Ames; and Prof. Jacob Van der Zee of the department of political science at the University.

Because the last three Iowa Rhodes' scholars which have been elected have been students from the University, many people all over the State are inclined to think that the committee is partial toward these candidates. On the contrary, it endeavors to select the best man regardless of where he comes from. Grinnell has had four students as Rhodes' scholars; the University, four, including the last one elected; and other colleges one or two each.

No Election Next Year
Elections for the scholar take place each year for two years in succession, and are omitted the third year. No elections will take place next year. Last year Iowa was represented by Willis Nutting of Iowa City, who is now attending Oxford university. The scholarship consists of financial aid to the amount of $500, to be given for three years for study at Oxford university, England.

CONFETTI, BIG CROWDS, STAGS, FEATURE IN CROWDED BALL ROOMS

Confetti strewn over the floor, dancers packed like the proverbial sardine, and a ring of "stags" four deep around the door to block the passage of the newcomers and those bound for the next hall were features of the four dances yesterday afternoon.

The crowd at the Burkley, the dance sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. demanded encore after encore and Ca-hills orchestra, in regular celebration spirit responded. Johnny Wright's orchestra pepped up a lively shifting crowd at the Cotillion, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. At varsity navigation for the novice dancer became more and more difficult as ribbon confetti caught gliding heels and the crowd swayed back and forth. A. F. I. sponsored varsity, with music by the regular varsity orchestra. Criterion, with Eddie Rich's orchestra, sponsored by Staff and Circle, drew their share of the excitement.

The football team, "I-2" men, the board of control of athletics, the coaches and yell-leaders were guests of President and Mrs. Walter A. Jessup at dinner at 6:30.

AUDIENCE TO DECIDE DEBATE

Method is Being Used Here for First Time Next Friday Night

The audience which attends the Iowa-Illinois debate next Friday night will make the decision as to which team has done the best debating. This is the first time in the history of the University that such means have been used as the sole method of deciding the winners.

Never Tried Before
Prof. Glenn N. Merry, head of the department of speech said, "To the best of my knowledge the plan has never been tried before in intercollegiate debating. Several years ago the audience was asked to cast a ballot at one of the Iowa debates but judges were present to render a decision. This year there will be no judges. What we are trying to do is to get the audience to act in a purely judicial manner without being influenced or prejudiced by the competitive idea of beating Illinois."

Can Ask Questions
The question that will be asked is: "Which team has done the superior debating?"

The debate will start promptly at 8 o'clock in the natural science auditorium. The admission will be thirty-five cents. The time required for the debate will be about an hour and twenty-five minutes. Constructive speeches will take eight minutes while the rebuttals will last for six minutes.

After the debate the audience will be permitted to ask the debaters questions and to discuss the subject with them. Prof. C. H. Woolbert of the department of speech at the University of Illinois will preside. The open form discussion will not last later than 10:30. The audience will then be asked to cast their ballot and the results will appear later in the Iowan.

Sharp Is First
Vernon Sharpe A3 of Rolfe is first speaker on the affirmative team which will meet the Illinois team. Sharpe is an experienced debater and is especially effective in opening the argument for the affirmative case. Sharpe is a junior in the college of liberal arts and has been active in forensic work ever since his freshman year. Sharpe debated on the championship team and took part in the Nebraska debate.

Otto B. Laing A2 of Corydon is the next man on the affirmative, Laing who is a junior this year has had considerable experience in the field of forensics. During his second year he took part in the sophomore debate as well as in the Oratorical contest.

Abram De Vaul L2 of Fonda will close the argument for the affirmative team. De Vaul is a veteran debater of exceptional ability. De Vaul is a junior law student. He is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, honorary forensic fraternity and took part in the N O L Contest last year.

LARGE CROWD BIDS ADIEU TO 1921 CHAMPIONS

Armory Is Packed in Biggest Mass Meeting Ever Held At Iowa

CAPTAIN OF '88 SPEAKS

Coach Jones Tells of Iowa's Standing in East and of 1922 Schedule

Without doubt, the most successful mass meeting, both in numbers and in pep that has ever been held by the University of Iowa students came to a close yesterday afternoon when approximately 3,000 students and members of the faculty shook the walls of the armory with a final lusty cheer for the champion football team of the West and of the Big Ten conference, after Professor Benjamin F. Shambaugh, representing the "Howling 300" had presented Miller, Kriz, Kadesky, Thompson, Minnick, Heldt, Mead, Slater, Belding, A. Devine, G. Devine, Locke and Shuttleworth with "I" blankets, "as a symbol of the spirit of the University."

Crowd Greets Jones
The pep meeting, which was the most important part of the celebration held yesterday afternoon in honor of the Iowa football team, began at the interurban station at 1:20 p. m. when Coach Howard H. Jones returning from an eastern trip was greeted by hundreds of cheering students accompanied by the band, who escorted him to the armory where they awaited the appearance of the team.

Members of the first and second teams, accompanied by Coach Jones, President Jessup, Prof. Clarence W. Wassum, Prof. Benjamin F. Shambaugh, and Elmer C. Nichols law '90 entered the armory at 1:35 and seated themselves upon the platform, amid the cheers and applause of the crowd. The team seemed as happy as the admirers that greeted them.

Nichols Tells of Old Times
After the cheering had subsided, Professor Wassum, who presided at the meeting, introduced the principle speaker of the day, Elmer C. Nichols, liberal arts '88 and law '90 of Muscatine, Iowa, who told his audience in a modest manner that 37 years ago he was elected captain of Iowa's first football team, and that he had been reelected captain for three more consecutive years.

After praising this year's team as "the best Iowa has ever had", he told how football was played in his day, of the rules governing the players, of the methods of attack and defense, and of the faculty opposition to all athletics. "We were required to act as our own coaches, pay all expenses, and arrange all games ourselves. Football then was much more rough and dangerous as it is today, even though players were not allowed to tackle the man in possession of the ball. The game was called football because of the fact that players were forbidden to pick up the ball in their hands and run with it; they were forced to kick it or bat it with their first," he said.

After Mr. Nichols had finished speaking Professor Wassum called upon each of the members of the team in turn for a short speech—to be the farewell speeches of Lester Belding, Aubrey and Glenn Devine, and "Duke" Slater, as Iowa football players. Each speaker was cheered heartily by the crowd as he advanced to the front of the platform.

Stars Make Farewell Speeches
Lester Belding, who was the first to be called upon said, "I am sorry to be called upon said, "I am sorry to have to leave the school and team, but I will always remember with pride that I was a member of this year's championship team."

Glenn Devine said, "I am sorry to leave, and that I can not play another game for Iowa. It has been my greatest football ambition to play a game in the East, preferably in the Yale bowl. I am proud that I have had the honor of playing on the Iowa team."

Then "Duke" Slater came forward. He was smiling as he said in a joking way, "It's a little warm

EARLY SEASON GAMES WILL BE PLAYED IN MEN'S GYMNASIUM

Practice in the new armory will not start until after the Christmas vacation according to Coach James N. Ashmore. It was thought that the building would be in condition to practice in before the first game but according to the latest reports the floor will not be ready.

Play In Armory

It will be necessary to play the practice game with Augustana next Saturday in the men's gymnasium and possibly if any other games are scheduled before the Christmas vacation they will be played in the men's gymnasium. The new armory according to Coach Ashmore will have many advantages over the men's gymnasium. Better methods of seating the crowds and more will be able to get good seats. It will not be necessary to stand out side from 6 o'clock until 7 when the doors are opened to get a seat, as has been the case in previous years.

Better methods of ventilation will be one of the main points of the new armory. The men's gymnasium became altogether too warm for the players to do their best work many times in the past few years, with 3000 students breathing in a small place. The players were handicapped for the proper amount of fresh air.

Walks Built

Walks have been built up to the new armory by way of the Quadrangle so that people attending the games will not have to get out in the mud in bad weather. The road up the big hill to the armory has been covered with cinders so that cars will be able to go to and from without getting stuck in the mud.

NEW DERRICK BEING ERECTED

The University is erecting a new derrick near the power laboratory, east of the athletic field, to handle the tons of coal, sand, gravel and crushed stone which University heating and construction are constantly consuming. The derrick outfit is one of the most complete that could be purchased. Through it the four University heating plants will be supplied and the building material for the chemistry building, psychopathic hospital and armory.

EIGHT EVENTS IN FRAT MEET

Winners of Interfraternity Clash Saturday to be Given Cups

With the novice swimming meet now a matter of memories, aquatic interest in the University is today on the Interfraternity meet which will be held Saturday afternoon in the men's swimming pool.

Eight Events Listed

The Interfraternity conference has already drafted rules and regulations for the meet, and has instructed all the members of their organizations who have any swimming ability to enter the meet. Eight standard events will be run. The events are:

1. 160 yard relay, each man to swim forty yards.
2. Fancy diving, each man to do four required dives and two optional ones.
3. 40 yard dash.
4. 100 yard breast stroke.
5. 220 yard swim, easy style.
6. 100 yard back stroke.
7. Plunge for distance.
8. 100 yard swim.

Cups to be Given

Silver cups will be awarded to the fraternities winning first, second and third places. The cups have been sent for and will be placed on display at the Academy when they arrive here. In determining the winners seven points will be awarded to the winner of first place in any event, five points to the winner of second, three to the winner of third and two to the winner of fourth place.

Twenty-two college papers and twelve metropolitan papers are delivered daily at the Iowan office. Anyone who will brave the clamor of typewriters may look here for his city daily or spasmodic collegian.

GORDON LOCKE ELECTED HEAD OF 1922 HAWKEYE TEAM AT FOOTBALL DINNER LAST NIGHT

IOWA'S 1922 CAPTAIN

Gordon C. Locke

ALTROCCHI WILL TALK ON DANTE

Lecture Will be Given Tonight in Auditorium at 8 O'clock

Prof. Rudolph Altrocchi of the University of Chicago will deliver a lecture on the "Message of Dante" in the natural science auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.

All the universities in the United States have joined this year in celebrating the six hundredth anniversary of the death of Dante, the author of the Divine Comedy.

Universities Subscribe
Many universities, including Iowa, have subscribed to a memorial to be erected in Ravenna in the ancient church where he is buried. The lecture will be given in commemoration of the sixcentenary of the poet's death.

Professor Altrocchi, an Italian by birth is the author of several widely used Italian text books, many scholarly articles and several poems.

Alumni Will Entertain

Today at noon the local alumni of the University of Chicago will entertain Prof. Altrocchi at a luncheon at the Jefferson hotel. Dean George F. Kay will preside at the luncheon. Prof. Altrocchi will give a talk on "Chicago Among the Universities". There are over fifty members of the University of Chicago on the faculty of the University of Iowa.

MERRY URGES N. O. L. CONTESTANTS TO TRY FOR VOICE VOLUME

Because the Northern Oratorical League contest is to be held in the large auditorium at the University of Illinois this year, Prof. Glenn N. Merry, head of the department of speech, urged all N. O. L. candidates to train for a greater volume of voice.

The hall where the contest is to be held has a seating capacity of over 4000; so it is obvious that to be heard in a hall of that size, voice training particularly for volume, articulation and enunciation will be necessary.

About twenty are out for the contest this year. All orations must be written and given by the candidates and many have already chosen their subjects and have them partly completed. Meetings are held once a week. Those who reported yesterday afternoon were Max O. Conrad L3 of Burlington, Carl W. Tucker S3 of Iowa City, Robert E. Birchard A2 of Davenport, George O. Hess A2 of Charles City, Byrl A. Whitney A3 of Cherokee, Charles DeVaul A2 of Varina, and Vernon L. Sharpe A3 of Rolfe. Two women were out yesterday evening, Mildred Freburg A4 of Pomeroy, and Lucille M. Hoffman A3 of Iowa City.

Departure From Traditional Policy Comes As a Surprise

WAS REGULAR IN 1920

Made Good Record In Notre Dame and Illinois Games

Gordon C. Locke of Denison was unanimously elected captain of the football team at President Walter A. Jessup's reception to the football players last night. Locke has been regular fullback for the last two seasons.

The election came as a surprise to football followers, as the usual custom has been to elect the captain at the annual banquet, which was to take place December 12. The captain was chosen at this meeting, however, as it was the desire of the members of the team to elect a captain at once.

Locke came into prominence in the football world at the University last year when he made an enviable record as fullback on the team, and gained more prominence this year because of his wonderful playing in the Notre Dame and Illinois games. It is conceded that he made the victories in both these games possible by his plunging through the line.

Sports writers all over the Middle West marveled at his ability to smash the line. He is not exceptionally large, and weighs 172 pounds. He is regarded as the best fullback in the Middle West. He has already been placed on Eckersall's all-Conference and all-Western teams, and has received mention from many sports writers as all-American material.

Locke was president of the sophomore class last year, and is a member of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

ELABORATE TELEPHONE SYSTEM IS BEING INSTALLED AT QUAD

The telephone system which is being installed at the Quadrangle, is one of the most elaborate of its kind to be installed in a dormitory of any educational institution in the country, according to Carl Cone, local manager of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company. Mr. Cone said he had talked to various officials of the company and they know of no other dormitory where such a system has been installed.

Phone in Every Room

There is to be a phone in every room. These are not being installed under the private branch system, but each phone is to operate through the local office. According to Mr. Cone, the men residing at the Quadrangle will have the same telephone service as is provided in hotels, and possibly better, as these phones are in direct contact with the local exchange, the same as in any residence. The inconvenience of the private switchboard will be eliminated. Also, all long distance messages are to be handled by the telephone company from the booth, which is to be located in the north tower of the Quadrangle.

Students Easily Reached

The phones are to be listed in the telephone directory in such a manner that the students can be easily reached.

A private branch exchange is not being installed, as students do not ordinarily wish to use the telephone for communication within the building, as in the case of hospitals and similar institutions.

When asked what he thought the estimate cost of the system should be, Mr. Cone said, "The cost of installing this system will be at least $30,000. The Western Electric company, supply house for the telephone company, has had men working here for the past two months installing the switch boards at the local exchange which is to accommodate the Quadrangle service.

WHAT'S THE MATTER?

Our little jollification yesterday was a nice affair; all who were present will agree that it was satisfactory. The band played, everybody cheered, faculty members and the football men made a few speeches, "I" blankets were presented, and there was dancing and gaiety and good will. There was something uplifting about seeing such a true and loyal display of appreciation; it was pleasing to pause a moment in our student life and consider a past season of success on the football field.

But was it satisfactory, after all? After feeling good about it and telling ourselves it was a grand success, it is somewhat sobering to look at the whole celebration from a more critical point of view. This was supposed to be one of the finest events in the history of the University. It had the impulse of true and loyal spirit; it was deliberately planned; it was designed to carry with it a dignity, a grandeur, a bigness, a triumphant atmosphere, such as might never be expected from indifferent. The results were rather discomforting.

Students knew about this celebration and they knew its purpose; holidays are self-advertising. Nevertheless, remarks concerning an afternoon of sleep, a catching up in studies, the theater, a hunting party, or the dance after the mass meeting were in greater evidence on the campus and at the lunch table than were the discussions as to how we might make this celebration fully successful. Moreover, annoying late arrivals at the armory found the floor scarcely more crowded than it was for the freshman party but a short time ago, while people on the street corners may best spend the afternoon. It seems to denote, on the whole, a highly lamentable lack of some unnameable thing that is essential to a proper college life. What is the trouble? Do we not have the fighting spirit and do we quit when it comes to a showdown?

On the other hand, it was gratifying—true and loyal students gathering enthusiastically together to do honor to their team and to their University; on the other hand, it was nothing but deplorable—finding that the students can not meet an occasion fairly when given the opportunity to do a really worth while thing.

WHY BORROW?

We are all intimately acquainted with that well known nuisance—the borrower. We all have him spotted. We all know his habits.

Some of us are strong enough to refuse him flatly, but most of us sigh resignedly when he asks for the loan of this or that. Rather than be unkind, we keep him in money, cigarettes, in tooth paste, or in soap. When he thanks us blithely and assures us of prompt payment, we smile acidly—and bid goodbye forever to our belongings.

And yet this type of man is compared with the borrower who takes without asking. It has become a common occurrence to most of us to plan on wearing a certain suit or dress only to find that some fair brother or sister has raided the closet before us, or perhaps to see our favorite necktie on some dear brother.

Perhaps we, ourselves, are guilty of these same thoughtless actions and, if such is the case, let's start with ourselves and exterminate this useless pest—the borrower.—University Daily, Kansas.

CONTRIBUTORS COLUMN

Editor Daily Iowan:

It is not the intention of the writer to carry on, throughout the entire year, an argument about the reduction of the price of University parties, but it is manifest from the article of E. W. S. in the Contributors' Column under date of Dec. 3, dedicated to H. H. R., and his recent article entitled "Hasty Conclusions" that some people are still narrow enough to think that applying some salve and sarcastic remarks, wholly irrelevant to that subject under discussion, will tend to sway public opinion and bring in a judges decision in their favor. There is no doubt but what E. W. S. has a beautiful method of writing, can arrange words and expressions in cunning phrases, and has at his disposal remarks capable of sliding over every point which would raise havoc with his view if correctly answered. But the writer's sympathy is willingly extended to one who has at his disposal so few facts to bolster his stand, and still believes that public opinion is subject to being altered by pure, unadulterated bunk.

E. W. S. mentions that $150 will secure an orchestra, and $400 would decorate handsomely. Both these statements are substantially correct, and as a matter of fact the latter amount has never been reached in decorating. But why does the masterly E. W. S. stop there? Has anything such as this ever been put across by the payment of only two lump sums? Since when does the University allow dancing at the gymnasium without the usual $10 deposit? Is it customary to invite chaperons without procuring cabs for them? And does the committee which has put in much time; walk to the party? What would the orchestra be without securing a piano? Do the seats and davenport in which the dancers recline, naturally transplant themselves at the armory whenever the occasion desires? And what about the 600 programs which often amount to $200? Doesn't the dancer desire some novelty also, such as hats, horns, serpentine, etc.?

And has not the social committee required the serving of refreshments? Are they secured from the Salvation Army or the Red Cross? And let E. W. S. search the records and see at just how many of the parties 300 have been in attendance. The dean of men has in his office an account of all parties. Facts talk and convince. If it was the social committees desire to prevent profit when the price was lowered, why not put more stringent University supervision over the finances handled by the committee in charge of the party, and let the necessities for a good dance govern the admission charge? GALLUP TO ATTEND CONVENTION AT AMES

Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity, will hold its annual national convention at Ames this year beginning Thursday, December 8, and lasting through Friday and Saturday. Thirty-seven chapters will be represented.

George H. Gallup A3 of Jefferson will represent the local chapter at the convention. Last year Earl W. Wells of Sigourney attended the national convention held at the University of Oklahoma as a representative of this chapter.

22,000 TONS OF COAL KEEP STUDENTS WARM DURING COLD WEATHER

22,000 tons of coal are consumed by the University to keep the students warm throughout the cold winter months, according to John C. Warner, assistant to the superintendent of building and grounds, who is in charge of the buying and supplying coal for the more than twenty buildings of the University. Every year the University in its budget, makes an appropriation for coal, which is one of the biggest items in the current expenses. The expenses for coal for the year is not yet ascertained, Mr. Warner said, because the University may buy some more coal and because the price for coal is always fluctuating.

He refused to give out the price that he is paying for a ton of coal because he believes in taking advantage of the fluctuating market and in buying coal only from the competing company which offers the lowest price. Mr. Warner did not have figures to show how much does it cost to run the University plant which supplies the heat of all the buildings, but according to the figures given out by President Jessup it costs about $10,000 to run the plant a day, so that for a day the University remains idle so much money is wasted. This is the reason President Jessup was reluctant to give the whole day of December 5 for the all-University holiday.

DECEMBER TRANSIT IS NOW ON SALE

The December Transit published by the Associated Students of applied science is now on sale at the University book stores.

This month's Transit contains several good articles on what is taking place in the field of science. Mr. E. L. Consover director of the school of Automotive Electricity in Milwaukee explains the new field of Automotive Electricity and what it has to offer to the graduate engineer. The requirements to become an expert is a thorough understanding of all phases of the subject including gas engines, carburetors, principles of electricity and magnetism, batteries and magnets.

Work Discussed Plans for the new chemistry building are discussed by Edward Bartow professor in chemistry.

The work of the engineers in preparation for Homecoming and other football games during the season were under the direction of the junior class.

SALE OF CRAFT WORK STARTS WEDNESDAY

A sale of the craft work of the Perkins' Hospital children will open Wednesday morning at the Studio shop, 117 Iowa avenue, to continue until Christmas with additions from the schoolroom and wards where the children work. Wicker trays, baskets, a wicker lamp, cane-bottomed stools, carved wood toys that dance and prance and tumble, painted bread boards, plaster of Paris bookends, permodello beads and some leather children between the ages of eight work, all the handcraft of crippled and sixteen will be sold.

Artists Are Crippled "It does not seem possible," said a shopper at an earlier sale of Children's Hospital work this fall, when told that many of the young artists were bed patients, and that a great number of them had crippled and distorted hands. Cards on the articles on sale which tell the patients' affliction surprise one even more at the skill of the work.

Toys, Spools and Scissors Clever balancing toys, a spool and scissors' holder and a painted wooden policeman candlestick are the work of children who can use only one hand while they carry the other in an airplane sling or bound in heavy bandages. One piece of work by an adult patient of the Perkins, hospital shows even more surprising ingenuity.

Prices for the craft work are within easy limits for even scrimping students. Only one or two exceed $3 and few reach even that, but range between twenty-five cents and $2.00.

WOMEN ARE STRONG FOR PICTURES OF BIG TEN CHAMPIONS

Who got most of the pictures of the "wonder team"? Why the women, of course. Shy little ladies, demure little ladies, tall, imposing women, ugly ones, pretty ones, colored and yellow ones. And whose picture did they look for first? Duke's of course.

One girl admitted that she had had a picture of Fred on her dressing table ever since she had been in the University. And next who do they worship? Why Aubrey next and then John Heldt.

And who is the most unpopular man on the team? Well there isn't any. Students like every one of them.

PRESIDENT JESSUP LECTURES SUNDAY ON QUADRANGLE LYCEUM

President Walter A. Jessup lectured to the Quadrangle men in the south tower of the dormitory Sunday afternoon. This lecture was the first to be given on this year's lyceum course. The committee in charge plans to have each dean and the head of each department appear on the programs which will be held every Sunday afternoon.

In his lecture Sunday President Jessup spoke of the opportunity the men living in the dormitory now have. He referred to a recent trip to some of the eastern Universities, and told of their highly developed dormitory systems.

WASHINGTON ENGINEER COMMENDS COLLEGE OF APPLIED SCIENCE

Major-General Lansing H. Beach, Chief of Engineers of the war department at Washington, congratulated the engineers of the University on their work, in a recent letter to Dean William G. Raymond of the college of applied science.

He wrote, "It is exceedingly gratifying to learn of the interest that is being taken by the various colleges in training embryo-officers in the various branches, and I, as chief of engineers, desire especially to congratulate the University of Iowa on the work done by its engineer unit."

PRODUCER OF "THE IMPRESSARIO," WHO WAS BORN IN THIS STATE, WILL BRING RICH DECORATIONS

William Wade Hinshaw, who is producing Mozart's opera, "The Impresario," which will be given in the University theatre December 8, was born at Union Iowa. Several Iowa City people who were schoolmates of his, are expressing a great deal of interest in his coming production, according to Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the music department.

the country in the same class production which was seen in New York. With plenty of money, he has been able to give The Impresario settings of unusual richness. The stage represents a beautiful reception salon in old gold with Empire panels in silver and mahogany, in the Royal Opera House of old Vienna.

As a young man, Mr. Hinshaw showed a marked talent for singing and decided to become a musician by profession. For many years he sang at the Metropolitan Opera House.

This setting makes a historic background for the players dressed in court costumes of silk brocade with white court wigs in the style of Louis XIV.

In 1916, Mr. Hinshaw was made president of the newly formed society of American singers, a group of musicians in New York, who have been producing "Opera comique" in that city. Mr. Hinshaw has been carrying out his plan of having an opera produced throughout the University music association has received several letters from Mr. Hinshaw, in which he has expressed himself as being much pleased that Iowa City is to hear "The Impresario." I am an Iowa man," he wrote Mr. Clapp, "and I was a boyhood friend of Frank O. Lowden. If you want to know anything about me, ask him."

PAN-HELLENIC ENTERS FRAT BASKETBALL RACE

"Pan-Hellenic has decided to enter the interfraternity conference basketball tournament," said Clyde B. Charlton L2 of Rolfe. Arrangements have been made whereby Pan-Hellenic will play in one of the sections that will compose the interfraternity games. According to Charlton. Pan-Hellenic has for a long time played a series of games for the championship of that organization, and for several reasons they wish to continue in their present status. The championship of both Pan-Hellenic and Interfraternity conference can now be decided at the same time.
According to Ernest G. Schroeder, the compromising of Pan-Hellenic and interfraternity conference is the only way the games could be played with the amount of floor space available. It will be necessary to use every floor available with the games the way they have the schedule arranged now. If another series would have to be played in addition to the one already arranged floor space would be hard to find. The new armory, men's gymnasium, and possibly the women's gymnasium will be used at least twice a week to play these games.

FOREIGN WOMEN SHOW THAT THEY TOO HAVE SOME MODERN IDEAS

You know and talk of the American college woman with all her bobs, and facial daubings, and fluffy trappings, and skirts none too long, and what not. Yes, she is modern, very modern. But all these feminine modernisms are not confined to the American, or even European college woman. For in Turkey the woman is now discarding the veil, and, wonder of wonders, she is no longer shocked when requested to pose for a snapshot.
Persian Women No Longer Flee
In Siam, where it is royally decreed that every woman shall fall flat on her face in the King's presence, not many moons ago a lady did the unheard of thing when, face to face, she presented to his Majesty a silken flag of the land, and the gift was accepted.

In Persia a man no longer shouts, "Woman away! a man wants to get in," when entering a house. But in China the college woman educated in American universities, beat them all.

Some talk of the backwardness of Chinese ladies. Why here is a girl who is so modern and romantic that she makes her western sisters look foolish when it comes to the selection of a husband. This is what a Chinese daily tells of her:

Chinese Girl Particular
"This girl, who recently arrived from Shanghai—by the way, her name is Miss Li—is at Chiang, a hotel in Peking, dresses in very stylish clothes, and always goes out in an automobile. Her train of admirers includes a great number of M. P.'s and one or two members of the cabinet. At one of the many dinners to which she was always invited, a young man asked her what was her idea of an ideal husband. Miss Li unhesitatingly replied she would only take for her husband a young man who has the following qualifications:

1. He must be a returned student either from America or Europe.
2. He must be under the age of 30.
3. He must come from a family of moderate means.
4. His present income must be at least $100.
5. He must have no intention of taking a concubine.

Only those possessing the above qualifications need apply, concluded the young lady."

PLANS BEING MADE FOR BIG TEN MEET

For the first time in the history of the University, Iowa will play host to the conference track and field athletes at the conference meet here on June 3. Plans are already under way for the event, and according to George T. Bresnahan, assistant athletic director, who is the new secretary of the conference, every effort will be made to make the affair a success.

Break Record

By getting the Conference meet awarded to Iowa, University authorities broke for the second time the late'y established precedent of holding the meet in Chicago. The meet has been held there for the last five out of six years, Michigan having broken into the affair in 1920. The meet was awarded to Iowa by the Conference faculty committee after Prof. Byron J. Lambert, chairman of the University board in control of athletics had tendered the committee an invitation to hold the meet on Iowa field.

Professor Lambert's invitation was given to the faculty committee after Tom Jones, director of athletics at Wisconsin, had opened up the discussion on the conference meet. Jones is a warm backer of track and field affairs and is really the father of Conference track meets.

Large Guarantee

In order to get the meet Iowa was required to post a large guarantee as the expenses of putting on this meet are great, and it is the desire of the Conference to be assured that the meet will be a paying proposition.

Although the meet is still six months distant present indications point to an attendance of at least 5,000 and as a result Iowa will on June 3 take on somewhat the appearance of a spring Homecoming. The meet which includes competition not only between every member of the Conference, but also between some five or ten other schools will bring together all of the recognized athletes of the Middle West and will be a great drawing card for track and field followers.

SOME PICTURES LEFT

The pictures of Iowa's football team which were distributed at both offices of The Daily Iowan and at Townsend's Studio all day yesterday were given to students, faculty and friends as compliments of The Daily Iowan and Townsend's Studio in honor of Iowa's greatest.
There are still a few of these pictures left, and anyone who did not get one and who desires one can have it by calling at any one of the three places named above.

ORIENTALS ARE BEGINNING TO RESENT WRONGS

Bose Returns From Year's Trip in East—Was Shown Honors

TOURISTS NEED MONEY

India and China, Long in Darkness, Commence Protesting

"It is interesting but very embarrassing to be known in the Orient as an American citizen," says Sudhindra Bose, lecturer in Oriental politics and a former schoolmate of the son of Rabin-dranath Tagore. Mr. Bose has recently returned from a year's trip around the world during which he made a special study of Oriental politics.

"Anyone who undertakes a trip abroad must always carry a well-loaded pocketbook, for, in the Orient, every American citizen is supposed to belong to the Rockefeller or Morgan family. When you leave a hotel, every boot black and bell-hop in the establishment lines up for a tip."

Pedestrian Yankees a Rarity

One hotel proprietor was severely shocked to think that an American and a gentleman should think of carrying his little two-pound satchel a block or two, to the station, and insisted upon calling a carriage, or at least a servant.

Mr. Bose was honored in being the guest of men of international reputation in every country he visited during his year's travels. In Egypt he was entertained by Zag-loul Pasha, leader of the Egyptian nationalist party and uncrowned king of Egypt. In India he met and conferred with ruling princes and maharajahs, among them Mahara-jah Gaekwar, who declares that India will solve all her problems by looking to American democracy. Gaekwar expresses his opinion that it is only superficial observers who say, as India has long believed, that Americans are only dollar chasers.

In Paris Mr. Bose was entertained at the home of Sylvian Levi, one of the greatest Oriental scholars in the world, a man who knows every language of the Orient. At the Musee Gimmet in Paris, Mr. Bose lectured on the "Spirit of American Education" before an assembly in which were ten of the French "immortals."

Japs Resent Race Hatred

In Canton he met Sun Yat Sen and Wu Ting Fang, who was several times minister to the United States and who once gave the commencement address at Iowa. He has a warm place in his heart for Iowa, this Chinese notable declares.

As welcome a guest of the common people as of princes and potentates, Mr. Bose put on a calico kimono and grass sandals in Japan and stayed in Japanese homes, never stopping at European hotels. He knows the Japanese intimately, their strong anti-militaristic party which would rather resort to war, in spite of its sentiments, than to endure the galling, insulting race discrimination to which it is subjected in spite of its theoretical place as one of the five great powers.

India is Awakening at Last

"India," Mr. Bose says, "faces many discouraging features with its masses of uneducated superstitious people. Only eight out of every 100 have been fortunate enough to obtain an education under the scant provisions made for it. A vital national consciousness is growing up in India, however. Old caste lines are being disregarded and the masses of the people are leading in the "non-cooperation and non-violence" program. Over 500 natives have renounced the honors and positions granted them as seals of friendship by the government. The executive committee of the Indian national conference is refusing to pay taxes. All these definite stands indicate no more cooperation with the existing government.

The Russo-Japanese war and the World war have convinced the Orientals that they erred, says Mr. Bose, in revering Europeans as heaven appointed rulers of the world.

China Distrusts "Friends"

Ministers of the Chinese cabinet declare, "We are afraid of our friends. Their friendship consists in taking our possessions. We respect the United States because she is the only foreign nation which does not own a foot of Chinese territory. Our so-called friends want inter-national control of our finances. The best thing our friends can do is to let us alone. China has always survived her troubles before, but she cannot without so much foreign help."

While abroad Mr. Bose acted as special correspondent for the Des Moines Register, and wrote for many Japanese, English and Indian newspapers and magazines. He is at present connected with magazines in India.

Bose An Iowa Graduate

Mr. Bose was born in India, but has lived in America for the past seventeen years, studying at Park college in Missouri, the University of Illinois, University of Chicago, and finally taking his Ph. D. degree at Iowa. Since that time and until he left for his trip in August, 1920, he has taught and has done graduate work at Iowa.

VARSITY BASKETBALL SQUAD SPRINGS CHANGE IN FORM LAST NIGHT

Basketball practice last night was a disappointment as the varsity showed a complete reversal in form from that shown during the past week.

There was no semblance of team work, except in the first five minutes of play and this soon dropped off. Fouls, mainly of the personal variety, were an every minute occurrence and helped spoil any attempt at fast teamwork. In fact the practice looked more like football than basketball, for ever one seemed to be tackling and blocking and some one was always being bumped to the floor.

The first game of the season next Saturday with Augustana college will show whether the lack of team work was due to the extra rest that the men had last week, or whether the wrong combination has been used.

The Conference, at its meeting last week, retained its old rule that only one step shall be taken when starting a dribble, for they believe that the taking of two steps by the man with the ball, as authorized by the national rules committee, will lead to too much running and traveling.

this afternoon." But his face sobered when he said in brief, "I am sorry that this is the last year that I can represent Iowa on the football field, and I believe that next year's team will be as strong as this year's."

Last of all came the much admired Captain Aubrey, who imparted the information that it was the occasion of Belding's twenty-first birthday. Aubrey told of his pride in being captain of such a famous team and said that "all of their efforts had been made for Iowa."

Jessup Praises Spirit

President Jessup followed Aubrey in a very spirited speech in which he praised the team, Coach Jones, the scrubs, and particularly the spirit which the student body had shown upon the field at the football games this fall. He called upon the student body to copy the lessons which the team had given them in loyalty.

Coach Jones was introduced to the audience as "the greatest football coach in the country". He spoke of the fighting spirit of the team and of the loyalty of the scrubs, and of the students. He told of the credit that eastern papers have accorded the team, and spoke of next year's schedule.

Professor Shambaugh, who was a student at the University when Nichols was captain, spoke of the great spirit that is a tradition of the University and praised the "Howling 300". He then presented the "I" blankets, after which there was a general rush for the dance halls.

"ALL FOR ONE, ONE FOR ALL"

In this production "Doug" has achieved the ambition of his life—and registers with it, what is by all odds the great, outstanding success of his career.

His is a remarkable, clear-cut portrayal of the noble D'Artagnan, the wonderful hero of Dumas' amazing novel of Mediaeval France.

This tremendous film is the happy culmination of a desire of years on Fairbanks' part to enact what is conceded to be the most striking and heroic figure in the entire history of literature.
