IRVING-ERO TO STAGE ANNUAL PLAY TONIGHT

"Beyond the Horizon" is Heavy Drama for Amateurs

COACHED BY MRS. HART

Ward, Hauser and Maude Adams Will Take Leading Parts

"Beyond the Horizon," Eugene O'Neill's American drama, will be given by the Erodolphian literary society and Irving Institute this evening in the University theater at 8 o'clock. "Beyond the Horizon" has been under the direction of Mrs. William R. Hart.

Part of the cast has appeared before University audiences in the past. Judging from the dress rehearsal the play will be put on with credit to all the participants. Albert A. Ward A3 of Clinton is taking the part of Robert Mayo, a boy who had been sickly all of his life, and who longed for the great opportunity that lay just beyond the hills. Joseph W. Hauser A2 of Iowa City will interpret the role of Andrew Mayo, the brother of Robert, who has always done hard work on the farm.

James Mayo, played by Kenneth Shumaker A4 of Iowa City, can not understand why his two sons should leave the farm, and why Andrew wished to go on a sea voyage in place of Robert. Kate Mayo, his wife, a calm and pleasing mother, will be played by Lois E. Garrett L1 of Fairfield. Maude Adams A4 of Des Moines will take the part of Ruth Atkins, who is infatuated with Robert Mayo and who seems to understand his desire to get away from the stifling feeling of the home farm.

Foley to Play Dick Scott

Mrs. Atkins, her widowed mother, an invalid with the characteristic whine of the sick, will be played by Beatrice Pentony A3 of Manchester. Capt. Dick Scott of the bark "Sunda", an old sea dog will be portrayed by Gregory Foley A3 of Rock Rapids.

Mary Evelyn Burns of Iowa City will play the part of the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mayo.

Scenes Well Appointed

Carl B. Kreiner A3 of Ottumwa will represent Dr. Fawcett, the specialist from the big city, and James W. Barton A3 of Ottumwa will be Ben, a farm hand. Several of the scenes are well appointed. The quarrel scene between Andrew Mayo and his father is one of intensity. The last scene of the play the dawn of a day in late fall, is depicted with coldness and gruesomeness.

This play is unusually heavy for amateur producers, but it is thought that the student producers will play their roles with credit to their director. The University theater orchestra under the direction of Professor F. E. Kendrie will furnish the music for the play.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY TO PRESENT ONE-ACT PLAY

The Congregational Christian Endeavor society will open a program of religious dramatics Sunday evening at the church with the one-act play, which appear in the current issue of "The Drama", "What Men Live By," an adaptation from the story of the same name by Tolstoi. The scene is Russian and the action takes place in a shoemaker's shop.

Leading parts in the play will be taken by Ethel F. Adams A3 of Quasqueton, and Fred L. Ewen A1 of Milford. Other characters are Robert A. Rockhill L2 of Larchwood, Martin L. Mills A2 of Muscatine, Clarence A. Butler A1 of Lake Preston, S. D., Russel W. Wright S4 of Bunch, Vernon G. Sorrel A4 of Glen Elder, Kansas, Mildred N. Cotnam Au of Des Moines, Marion E. Clark A3 of Ogden, and Jocelyn Wallace A2 of Iowa Falls.

BIG TEN TRACK MEET WILL BE HELD HERE FOR THE FIRST TIME

Several new men turned out for indoor track practice yesterday afternoon. The interest in track work seems to be increasing, and after the holidays the squad will probably number at least fifty men. Several football men are among the men who are working out each night. Nearly all of the dash, and middle distance men of last year's team have started to train for the indoor track season which will begin Feb. 11, when Iowa will meet Wisconsin at Madison.

This year should be a banner year for Iowa in track, for Coach George T. Bresnahan has completed the best schedule that Iowa has ever had. The Big Ten conference meet will be held for the first time in Iowa City. Without a doubt this will be the greatest athletic event ever staged at the University. Track and field stars from practically every University of importance in the Middle West will be here June 3. This meet should attract an even greater crowd than did the Notre Dame-Iowa football game.

As soon as the new armory is ready for occupancy the track squad will work out there. The men are cramped for space in their present quarters, and the change will be of much aid to them in their training.

AUDIT BOARD CHECKS GRAFT

Record Kept of Money Spent and Received by Party Committee

"Where does the money from University parties go?" is the question which has caused considerable discussion this fall, especially since the social committee has limited the price of admission to such affairs. It can now be answered by the senate board of audit, a board which keeps a record of the money received and spent by each party committee.

The greatest profit realized by a University party so far, according to the auditing board, was made last year, the Sophomore Cotillion netting a profit of $151.92. For this party, 236 tickets were sold at $3.50 each, making the receipts $836. In 1920 this party cleared $48.67 and in 1919 it lost $13. The freshman party lost $20 in 1919 and $18 in 1920, but this year it profited $132. The reason given by the committee for such a loss last year was an excessive expenditure for music, decorations and programs. The deficit was referred to the committeemen.

The Junior Prom records chronicle financial success, clearing $22.40 in 1919, $149.30 in 1920, and $33.27 in 1921. Interesting figures for 1915 show that the orchestra cost only $75, refreshments $70, and the programs and decorations $117. More lenient regulations in 1916 resulted in the introduction to the senate board of a bill for $193 for services of the committee. In addition, each committee member received a free ticket to the dance, free taxi, and exchange tickets with each of the other class parties. This gave each of the committee members a profit of approximately $18 or $20. This explains one of the causes of the high prices of past class parties.

Elaborate Parties Unnecessary

The senate board and the social committee, although realizing that prices are higher now than in 1916, have cut the prices of all University parties on the grounds that elaborate parties are not necessary.

Board Watches Committeemen

Tickets for each party are checked over by the senate board before and after each party. A member of the board sells tickets and another takes tickets at the door. Exchange of tickets with other committees is prohibited, all expenses must be itemized, and a voucher presented for each one. Thus graft in any form is abolished. The committee members after looking over the books of former years must make an estimate of all the expenses and present it to the board before the party.

4 CHOSEN FOR DEBATE TEAM

Four Women Selected to Meet Indiana in March

The four women chosen last night for the women's debating team to go to Indiana in March were Margaret Brady A4 of Fort Dodge, Eloise B. Smith A4 of Fairfield, Mildred Freburg A4 of Pomeroy, and Gertrude Muxen A2 of Carroll. The one who is to be alternate among these four will not be selected until after Christmas.

Ten women took part in the try-outs, which were held at the Little Theater. The speeches were five minutes long on either side of the question: Resolved: That Ireland should be granted complete and immediate independence.

The judges were Prof. Glenn N. Merry, head of the department of speech, Herbert C. Weller, Lee R. Norville and Alma G. Madden, instructors in the department.

Women were selected for the debating team upon a basis of (1) thought value of the speech, (2) force in thought and presentation, (3) platform presence, and (4) tone of voice of the speaker.

PRIZE OFFERED BEST READER

Finals of Women's Artistic Reading Contest to Be Held Tonight

Of the seventeen women who tried out for the artistic reading contest, six were chosen to take part in the finals which will be held tonight in the liberal arts assembly. Four of the six will be selected as winners. The winner of first prize will receive $10 and of second prize $5.

The following are those who will speak in the finals: Lorraine Luthmer A1 of Sumner with "Who's Afraid?"; Pearl E. Bagenstos A2 of Holstein, "A Soldier of France"; Bessie V. Sinnott A4 of Randalia, "Audrey"; Anna H. Doornink A1 of Sioux Center, "Lanes of Kanana"; Helen I. Haddock A4 of Greenfield, "Join Owners in Spain"; and Ardethe L. Welty of Spirit Lake.

The judges who will act tonight are: Prof. Glenn N. Merry head of the department of speech, Miss Alma G. Madden, instructor in speech, and Miss Gladys Fye of the department of English of the University high school.

Prizes to be awarded in the contest at the liberal arts assembly will be ten dollars first prize and five dollars second prize.

HARD TIMES HAVE MADE IT NECESSARY FOR MANY STUDENTS TO EARN THEIR OWN WAY

A student can live fairly well and provide himself with the necessities of life on $50 a month, according to estimates made by Dean Robert E. Rienow. This means that any one can attend the University for one year and not spend more than $650 for living expenses, tuition, and incidental costs of attending the University.

That the average amount spent by students is much greater than this figure, there is not a doubt. According to fairly accurate statistics furnished by Iowa City business men, the sum of $4,158,000 is spent in Iowa City each year by the students. If this amount is divided by the total number of students in attendance, the quota for each individual amounts to approximately $700 for the year or $77 per month.

800 Working Their Way

It is a matter of conjecture as to what percentage of the students at the University are wholly or partially working their way. In discussing this matter Dean Rienow said, "I have been trying for eight years to find some means of arriving at a fairly accurate estimate of the number of students working their way through the University. So far no plan has presented itself which will furnish this information. The cards filled out at the time of registration throw practically no light upon the matter. Many students who have not found employment at the time of registration find some kind of work later. Between 800 and 1,000 students are either wholly or partially working their way through the University."

Some Come Broke

Many instances can be cited of students who come to Iowa City with scarcely a cent and who succeed in making good at the University with no help from an outside source.

In discussing these cases Dean Rienow said, "I have in mind one young man who was here four or five years ago. He arrived with just $35 and with no other financial support. He earned every bit of his way through the University and saved money. A certain freshman came here this fall without enough money to pay his matriculation fee. I found a job for him before the University started and he managed to earn enough to cover this expense. There are quite a number of such cases every year."

Only Two Squares a Day

Dean Rienow stated further, "There is a prevailing impression that the percentage of students who are working their way is not as great as it has been in the past. This idea is entirely wrong. The difficulty in this institution is to find work for students. Many students live on two meals a day to save money. Not long ago a freshman came in to my office to borrow $3 with which to buy a gym suit."

Loan Fund Helps

Present there is a loan fund of approximately $400. The money is loaned to students to tide them over the rough places. To illustrate this point the Dean cited the case of a student who was working for his room and board, and was forced to undergo an operation for appendicitis. When he came out of the hospital he was unable to work for a month or so. In this instance a loan of $30 or $40 kept him in the University. The loan fund is to cover just such emergencies, and according to Dean Rienow the amount is entirely too small.

As a remedy for this condition, Dean Rienow suggested that the various campus organizations should turn over a small percentage of their funds at the close of the University year. Last year according to the Dean, these organizations had bank balances amounting to $5,000 at the close of the second semester. If ten percent of this money were turned over to increase this loan fund, it would be possible to accomplish many things in the way of assisting students through the University. "I think a spirit of cooperation should be promoted among the various campus organizations for the purpose of increasing this fund," said Dean Rienow.

PLAYERS, COUNCIL, AND LITERARY SOCIETIES TO JOIN IN PLAY APPROVAL

A committee in charge of the approval of plays and entertainments has been appointed by Douglas Boynton, president of the student council, in conjunction with Dean Burge. This committee which will aid in securing the names of the approved plays in order that they may be placed on the bulletin board in the office of the dean of women, is composed of the following men and women representing the various organizations: Agnella Gunn A3 and Verner Muth S4 representatives of the Student Council, Robert Block L1 representing the University Players, Kenneth Shumaker A4, Harry Ofelt D2, George Hurley A3, Virginia Carson A4, Mildred Freburg A4, and Helen Langworth A4 representing the Zetagathian, Philomathean, Erodolphian, Octave, and Hesperian literary societies respectively.

GYM TEAM TO MEET ILLINOIS MARCH 11

The University of Iowa gymnastic team will meet the University of Illinois on March 11, says Ernest G. Schroeder, director of physical education for men, who is in charge of the team.

The board of athletics last Wednesday at their meeting decided to accept the challenge which was received by the board from Illinois, and this meet will be held the same day that Iowa's wrestling team meets the University of Illinois on the mat. Coach Schroeder is making plans for the first gymnastic meet to be held this year with any other university.

Thirty-five men are now on the squad but that many more could be used without any trouble. Letters can be made in this sport the same as any other.

Gymnastic work is regarded by authorities as a line of sport that requires a great amount of coordination and nerve control. It is recognized all over the country as such and is being adopted by all the big institutions as a major sport.

At Indiana last year eight universities were represented in this field of athletics. Ohio State will possibly have a team this year as well as Michigan.

The conference ruling in regard to gymnastic teams is that the team must be composed of at least five men, six with a club swinger, and limiting the team to ten men.

The different events required in a meet of this kind are work on the parallel bars, horizontal bars, rings and tumbling, besides fencing, Indian clubs and saber.

Anyone is eligible to register for this line of sport if they can regulate their hours so as to be out for practice when the team meets.

SONG ISSUE OF FRIVOL PRAISED

"Chanson Comique" Number to be on Sale Tomorrow By O. I. C.

Critics to whom an advanced copy of Frivol has been submitted are agreed that the "Chanson Comique" number excels previous issues of the publication and that it will set a high standard for scholastic publications of this type. Such praise is merited since the editors of the magazine have, in this issue, been far reaching in their efforts to make the publication a worth-while thing in every respect.

Besides several efforts in light verse of a distinctive literary flavor, Frivol is publishing "Bring Me Dreams" a waltz, the words and music of which were written by Laurence R. Carter A4 of Des Moines.

Poems By Oscar Williams

Besides the waltz and several poems by Oscar Williams, Warren L. Bassett, and others, the magazine is featuring two long articles, "The Diary of Our Own Samuel Pepys" which will explain its own reason for existing, and a short conversation on "Contributors," which has a serious purpose behind its buffoonery. "The Jazz Era" seeks, in this issue, to be humorous without being ill-natured.

Will Be Sold by O. I. C.

Owing to delay in the delivery of the magazine which is published in Cedar Rapids, Frivol will not be on sale until tomorrow, although it has been advertised for appearance today. As in the past the magazine will be sold by O. I. C., women's pep organization in the halls of the several colleges for twenty-five cents.

All editorial matter in the magazine is fully protected by copyright, and, according to Harold Andrews, editor of Frivol, permission for the use in public of "Bring Me Dreams" must be obtained from the editorial staff. "Placards announcing the sort of thing we are doing this issue—or rather which we are trying to do," said Andrews, "are emphatic, but we hope at any rate to succeed in holding the attention of the campus for twenty minutes. It is difficult, because as has been pointed out, 'it is hard, and cost much to be profoundly ridiculous.'"

FOOTBALL MEN HAVE ANNUAL DINNER TONIGHT

Gold and Silver Souvenirs to be Given Western Champions

HOWELL WILL PRESIDE

Freshmen Will be Awarded 1925 Numerals by Athletic Board

The annual football banquet tonight will be attended by the entire varsity and freshman football squads, the coaches, a few members of the faculty, and some Iowa City boosters and the University cheer leaders. The banquet will be held in the Hotel Jefferson and is given by the board in control of athletics.

The election of the captain for the ensuing year is usually the crowning event of the evening at the annual athletic board banquet, but this feature will be dispensed with this year since Gordon Locke A3 of Denison, was elected 1922 captain at the dinner given by Pres. and Mrs. Walter A. Jessup on the evening of December 5.

To Award Medals

The chief interest at the dinner tonight will be the presentation of gold and silver footballs to members of the 1921 football squad who won their "1's" and "1-2's". The following line men will receive the numeral: John T. McIntyre of Superior, Wisconsin; Darrell C. Fisher of Garden Grove; James E. Scovel of Deep River; Linden F. Krauski of Davenport, Iowa; Lowell Otte of Sidney; Cletus J. Kruz of Garner; Stanley M. Pearson of Spencer; John S. Littig of Iowa City; Cleo S. Roberts of Knoxville; James C. Scripture of Waterloo; Fred H. Sperling of Council Bluffs; Robert D. Lambert of Iowa City; M. N. Shermen, Floyd Schlamp of Ackley; Wayne Leonard A1 of Cherokee; Marshal Benson of Boone and W. L. Howard and Hunter to Wrestle

Judge R. F. Howell of Iowa City is to preside at the banquet, and it is expected that Captain Aubrey Devine, Captain-elect Gordon C. Locke, Coach Howard H. Jones, Pres. Walter A. Jessup, Medical supervisor Dr. Walter Fiesler and others will be called on for brief addresses. Coach Mike Howard of the Hawkeye wrestling squad will make his first appearance before an Iowa City audience in a wrestling match with Robert Hunter of the Iowa squad. Captain Sweeney is scheduled to mix with a clever exponent in another match. Two boxing bouts are also on the program.

CONFERENCE SUCCESS

Whatever success the Washington Conference will achieve it will depend largely on how the Far Eastern and Pacific problems are settled. The resort to arms has always been the outcome when one nation has been inflicted an injustice by the other nation or nations. The case of Japan falls under this category. The other nations of the East have been the recipient of the anomalies, exploitations and injustices of the West. They have not been successful in resorting to arms against the recalcitrants but time will come when they will have their own day. No one will deny that "history repeats itself". With the possible assistance of science and their enormous population which constitutes two-third of the entire humankind, their chance is obvious. The West will only regret when that day comes.

Time still offers the western nations their last chance to make amends. For the sake of humanity and world peace, a proper adjustment of the relations of the East and the West must now be settled. The claims of the taxed nations of the East must be adjusted with the high sense of justice. Never have those claims been justifiably granted. The West looks only for its own interest and is not conscious of the fact that the East possesses equal right under the laws of the Almighty. Subjection is more harmful and less advantageous to world peace than freedom. The eastern nations may not be able for the next few decades to compete with the western nations in bloody warfare, but they have an even chance in economic warfare. The case of India against Great Britain is an example worthwhile pondering. By India's boycotting the British cloths, Great Britain suffers directly a heavy economic loss. Indirectly, America also suffers because the Manchester manufacturers cannot buy American raw cotton on account of the decreased demands of their finished product with India's market closed to them. The Eastern nations, therefore, could not be perpetually subjugated. They have various recourse for their own welfare. If there is a way in, there is also a way out. The situation now in Washington indicates that Japan will be forced out to accept the Hughes program. Japan could be forced to accept but that would not be the end of it. So long as her claim will not be settled under the light of justice, and so long as the western nations continue their prickling adventure among the eastern nations which is dangerous to her existence, Japan will always stick to preparedness and the labor of the Washington Conference will but come to naught.

The Pacific problem should not be ignored in this conference. In fact it is that very problem which will boil embroglio if not good understanding among the three big powers of the Pacific; namely, the United States, Great Britain and Japan. Japan will only accept to reduce her navy on the basis of the 5-5-3 program if America will not fortify the Philippines and Guam; and Great Britain, Hongkong, Singapore and Wei-hai-wei. Nor will Great Britain accept the same program if America fortifies the Philippines; and Japan, Formosa and the Pacific islands. Each of these fortifications is dangerous to the interest of each other. America cannot be justified on the ground of self-preservation by fortifying the Philippines and Guam. Strategically, it would be a "source of weakness" and a sign of imperialism to altruistic America, and a source of uneasiness to the neighboring far eastern countries. Japan is by no means justified in strengthening herself in the Pacific islands. That is already beyond her sphere of self-preservation, and has been the cause of alarm to America, Australia and New Zealand. Great Britain, on the other hand, has strongly intensified her position in the Far East with Singapore turned into another Gibraltar, and even strengthened herself as far as Honkong and Wei-hai-wei. This is viewed by Japan as a danger to her position; and the United States, as a block to her Far Eastern interest. With these fortifications strategically set against each other intentionally or unintentionally, the three great powers are now engaged in a great naval race at the expense of their taxpayers. Should these be allowed to stand the race will lead to a tremendous catastrophe and the labor of the Washington Conference will but come to naught.

H. A. A.

CONFERENCE SUCCESS

The one ray of hope for a world sinking in despair is the almost universal sentiment in favor of limiting armaments. Words that would have dubbed anyone a crank if not a traitor but a few months ago come freely now from the mouths of government spokesmen, the champions of conservatism. That a practical and careful man like Secretary Hughes should come out openly and defiantly for a slash in naval construction, is a sign of the times. It means that even the staunch defenders of tradition, the upholders of the status quo, have at last realized the need of moving forward, and do indeed see the light of a dawning day.

But we who have long known that armaments are a curse to the world, we who have prayed and hoped for the day when those in power would awaken to their duty and relieve the civilized world of the cross of guns and battleships that it was bearing, must not be soothed into slumber by high sounding words and phrases. A naval holiday seems to mean a good deal, but it may simply mean making militarism cheaper, while an exhausted world recuperates. Proportional decrease in naval and military strength will not put an end to war. It will save us in the United States along with the people of other countries a good-sized sum of money—and that is praiseworthy, especially in this day of swollen war debts—but this very move may be a subtle attempt of the militarists to bolster up militarism, when it is about to be utterly discredited. It may mean that the politicians of the great powers have simply decided to give the world a neurotic treatment to tide over the present sickness so that when this sickness is over the armament race can be resumed, and militarism can regain its strangling clutch upon the throat of humanity.

However far be it from us to pour cold water upon the work now being accomplished at Washington, we deceive ourselves unless we see the work of our statesmen with open eyes and in the light of historical precedent. Let public opinion insist that the work of the Washington Conference be considered a beginning, and that provision be made for periodical conferences in the future, at which further steps can be taken toward disarmament until all guns and battleships are scrapped and the science of warfare forgotten.

Merely reducing armaments is not enough. It is the business of the conference to work out a plan for taking care of the thousands upon thousands of munition-makers and ship builders. The munitions workers must not be left to chance. They must be given other employment, or they will out of sheer necessity remain a moral force in favor of great armaments. That is one thing to be considered, and another imperative duty of the present conference and of conferences in the future is the clearing away of international jealousy, and the replacement of competition by cooperation in world affairs. Open and honorable dealings among the nations supported by the new desire for cooperation will relieve the need for armaments.

New, constructive and useful employment for labor and capital now engaged in making weapons of warfare will remove the influence of capitalists and workers who now have a personal interest in maintaining the munition and armaments industries. After that, the rest will come easy. Let us hope, and work and hold our leaders to their word, insisting that they follow consistently the trail that has been blazed.

MODERN LANGUAGE ASSOCIATION TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING HERE

The central division of the Modern Language association of America will meet here December 28, 29 and 30. Stephen H. Bush, head of the department of Romance languages, says "This is to be the most important gathering of modern language men ever held west of the Mississippi." The association met in Iowa City in 1909 and will probably not meet here again for many years, according to Prof. Bush. About 400 attended the convention last year at Chicago and 500 or more met at Columbus, Ohio the year before.

Representatives of the central states from Canada to Mexico, will be here. University professors will be on the program. Prof. Hardin Craig, head of the English department will read a paper December 29 on the Renaissance. Prof. Thomas Albert Knott and Prof. Charles E. Young will lead discussions on linguistics and romanticism on the same day. On December 30, Prof. Ralph E. House of the department of Romance languages, will give "Notes on the Authorship of the Celestina" in the program on earlier Romance. Charles F. Ward of the Romance language department will give a paper on "Main Currents of French-Canadian Literature" in the later Romance session. Prof. Elbert N. S. Thompson of the department of English will read a paper on "The Late Emblem Books" in the English program of December 30. Miss Olive K. Martin of the French department will act as secretary for the convention, and Prof. Algernon Coleman of the University of Chicago will act as chairman.

Jessup Will Speak

Members of the modern language departments of the University of Iowa will entertain the visitors at Dinner Wednesday, December 28. After dinner the guests will assemble in the rooms of the Triangle club to hear the address of welcome by President Walter A. Jessup, and the address of the chairman of the central division by Prof. Arthur C. L. Brown of Northwestern university.

To Organize Moillier Society

A meeting of Moillier enthusiasts will be held at 5 o'clock on December 29 to discuss plans for a Moilliere anniversary and possibly to organize a Moilliere society. Thursday evening a smoker will be given in the rooms of the Triangle club. The attendants of the convention will be entertained at luncheon by the University men at the Hotel Jefferson, December 28.

WOMEN MAY FIND ADVENTURES HERE SAYS PROFESSOR BUSH

Professor Stephen H. Bush, head of the department of Romance languages, in a lecture to freshmen women yesterday said, "It is not the big things that happen next year that counts in life, but the little things that happen every day, all around us. Students of the University long for adventure but their idea of adventure is something weird, strange, and mysterious. They think adventures never happen in the University, that they would have to go to foreign countries to find them. But," says Professor Bush, "there is a wonderful sort of adventure here in this world of students. Every student has a personality of his own and that personality is a mystery which it would be an interesting adventure to solve."

"Not only is it the little things that form interesting adventures but also the little things that require courage. Nearly all of the big things that we worry over never happen," says Professor Bush.

When a student learns to master little things he need not be afraid of the big ones because the courage and self control he acquires from overcoming them will help him to meet the larger problems of life.

DIERDORFF TO SPEAK TO COMMERCE CLUB

I. E. Dierdorff, manager of the American Bond & Mortgage Company of Davenport will be the principle speaker at the commerce club dinner at the Pagoda tonight.

Dierdorff will speak on "Bond Salesmanship" which is a topic of interest to every member of the club whether he is going to enter this line of work after graduation or not. Mr. Dierdorff has been connected with the American Bond & Mortgage Company for some time, and is well acquainted with bonds in every sense of the word.

The dinner will be held at 6 o'clock tonight at the Pagoda and members of the commerce club can make their reservations with Roy A. Sands A4 of Sheldon, Lester L. Stebbins A4 of Cedar Rapids, Martin A. Gearhart A4 of Batavia, or in the office of the college of commerce, room 205.

JUNIOR PICTURES IN 1923 HAWKEYE ARE TO BE REARRANGED

There are a few changes in the 1923 Hawkeye. It is hoped that this year's edition of the Hawkeye will be the best one that has been published. Instead of having the pictures in vertical columns as heretofore the pictures will be placed in a horizontal panel at the top of the page. Below the panel, on a phantom colored background, the names of the Juniors and their activities will be listed.

It has been commented that the fraternity section of the Hawkeye has not been as prominent as it should be. According to Raymond Peterson A3 of Council Bluffs, the fraternities will have two pages in place of one. The sororities have had two pages, and so will the fraternities in this edition. One page will contain the pictures of the members with the name of the fraternity or sorority above, and below the pictures the names of the members. The second page will contain the pin with the chapter role.
