MEN TO CLASH WITH WOMEN AGAIN IN POOL

Success of Last Eel-Seal Revue Calls for the Event's Repetition

EELS INITIATE SEVEN Last Tank Affair Was Won by Men by Small Margin

Tuesday, January 17, was the date set last night for the next Eel-Seal Aquatic Revue. The date was made by the Eels in their business meeting held just after their dinner at the Pagoda tea shop.

Since the staging of the last revue, members of both clubs have been the recipients of numerous requests to have the affair repeated, and have consequently decided on a second revue. It was said last night that all efforts would be taken to make the coming revue fully equal to the one given earlier in the year, which proved so successful.

Following their dinner and business meeting the Eels adjourned to the men's pool where the following new men were initiated: William E. Carpenter A3 of Iowa City, Thomas A. Roche S4 of Iowa City, Martin E. Griffin M1 of Iowa City, M. L. Ostrum A1 of Jewell, J. M. Nelson A3 of Fort Dodge, and Charles A. Anderson S3 of Muskegan.

SOLDIERS HOP ON JONAH DAY, FRIDAY, 13TH

Huge Flag Will Cover the Armory Ceiling; Brass Programs Feature

ONLY 175 COUPLES

Full Dress or Uniforms to be Worn; Flowers are Prohibited

The plans for the Military Ball to be held in the men's gymnasium, Friday, January 13, are rapidly being pushed forward to completion and the committee will be in readiness to put on a formal heretofore unequalled, according to Lovell Jahnke S4 of Muscatine, chairman of the committee.

"As it has been advertised the attendance will be limited at 175 couples," said Jahnke, "in order that those who do attend will have plenty of dancing room and the evening may be enjoyed as it should be."

The decorations have been decided upon, and according to the plans now worked out, the crowd will dance under a widespread American flag covering the entire ceiling of the Armory. This will be worked out with bunting and other paper decorations and will of course conceal the entire ceiling of the building.

The programs will be of etched brass, something entirely new and distinctive and different from anything that has been used at any of the formals in previous years. These are now being turned out by a firm in Pittsburgh, Penn., which specializes in this sort of work.

The orchestra, although it has not yet been decided upon, will be ten pieces, and be a student orchestra if practicable. "We are as yet undecided about the music," Jahnke stated, "because we want to be absolutely sure that the orchestra which is selected will fit the occasion. We will employ a student orchestra, if possible, because we want to cooperate with other student managed organizations in that way, and show that we are in full

OUR REPORTER SHUTS HER EYES IN CLASS AND DESCRIBES IT

Olfactory Nerve Reveals Lounge Specks, Tough Guys, and Gum Hounds

Shoe-polish and wet fur coats, Quelque Fleurs, brilliantine, Spearmint, milk chocolate—each with an odor all its own to mingle in the stuffy air of Room 16. Sniff the class over—your nose knows. Take the back row. Brilliantine and talc identify the man with the perfect "part-on-the-side".

Right next the smell of a well-caked pipe penetrates through the pocket of the owner's leather jacket. The odor from a sack of chocolates and a bag of salted peanuts whets that hour-before-lunch-time appetite as far forward as the front row, where it is drowned by a new odor. Bananas? No, shoe polish. The man who sits up in front wears brogues and keeps a surface on them like a new pool ball.

Beside him the cute pledge who came in late stirs up the pungent wet fur of her coat, soaked by the mist outside, as she pushes it off. A faint suggestion of Coty's L'Origan or is it merely Mavis, hovers about her marcelled head. She sniffs a bit disdainfully at the hang-over ham and eggs tang rising from the coat of the man just back of her.

From the center of the room, Spearmint, accompanying the clamp, clamp of jaws, submerges all but the strongest of the other odors and farther back—stale Camel smoke from a smart coat-sweater and the leathery smell of an R. O. T. C. Sam Browne belt blend, only to be blown away with the rest by a breeze from the window pushed up in the back of the room by the champion snorer.

YALE TRAIN PLANS STILL BUBBLING; DONDORE CONFERS

As yet no definite plans have been made concerning the Yale train, according to John J. Dondore A3 of Iowa City, president of Howling 300. A special agent from the Baltimore and Ohio Railway who was here yesterday talked over preliminary plans with Dondore. He expects to return in two weeks to present a proposition that will enable a good crowd to attend the Yale game.

CHARITY BALL ONLY DANCE IN CITY TONIGHT

Continuous dancing will be the feature of the big Charity Ball which is to be held under the auspices of the Lions club at the University armory tonight. In addition to Ogle's Varsity ten-piece orchestra, the Club has hired "The Midnight Rounders", formerly Stone's Novelty Boys, of Burlington, Iowa.

The two orchestras will alternate as they did last year at the Junior Prom, and dancing will be continuous from nine until twelve.

Col. Fred Albin of West Branch, Iowa, will auction off the football dolls, generously donated by Harry Bremer. There is certain to be lively competition for Aubrey, Locke, "Duke", and all the rest of the squad who have been scrimmaging in the window of Bremer's Golden Eagle for the past week.

The Harmony Vaudeville trio will present numbers during the evening. Refreshments are also to be served. The committee in charge believes that the University armory ought to be packed with dancers and that a big fund will be raised to help the needy of the city during the Yuletide holidays. The Lions club will pay the expenses of the party and will turn over the entire proceeds of the ball to the social league to be used for charity.

All of the public dances usually held on Friday will be called off tonight. Tickets are two dollars a couple and may be bought at Whetstone's, all banks, and all cigar stores. Gallery admission will be thirty-five cents.

EVENING CLOTHES TO MARK FORMAL FIRES THIS YEAR; TRI-DELTS PLAN TO REPEAT

Conflagration Season Among Hellenes Starts January; City Fire Force Allows Most Latitude and Fun Then; Boys Get Treat at Sorority Blazes

The first of the annual fraternity and sorority fires will not be staged until after Christmas vacation—probably not until after the military ball which is to be held Friday, January 13.

This decision was reached at a joint meeting of the interfraternity council and the women's Pan-Hellenic council several days ago. It was pointed out that a great drought of fires had prevailed throughout the past three months at Iowa City.

To Give Chief a Chance
Fearing that the Iowa City fire department would appear too efficient after so long a period of rest, it was thought best to postpone the first fire until the latter part of January in hope that the "fire chiefs" might then be reduced to a minimum of efficiency after chasing about for several weeks extinguishing the host of town chimney fires which are always attendant upon the January cold snap. Another reason advanced for the postponement was the lack of a suitable night for a fire. Football banquets, Charity Ball, literary society productions, basketball games, weekend parties, pre-Christmas examinations leave few open nights.

Fire Fad Now the Rage
Last year three fire parties were staged and all proved highly successful, financially and otherwise.

These organizations will again have fires this year and several others are tempted to cast their lot with them.

Tri-Delts Have Formal Affair
The sisters of Delta Delta Delta look forward with no small degree of anticipation to their second annual party of parties. Last year's party was held on January 23 and was a phenomenal success. All of the members were out to welcome the members of the Phi Kappa Sigma aggregation, whose entire chapter turned out. The Xi Psi Phi's were enticed a distance of four blocks to the scene of action and a conglomeration of six or eight P. A. D.'s and A. T. O.'s had arrived before the blaze was completely squelched. Enough was realized from the insurance adjuster to treat the chapter house to a coat of paint during the past summer. The proceeds of the coming party are to be laid aside for the furniture fund.

Holocaust Costs Whole Dollar
The Kappa Kappa Gamma's, not to be outdone by the Clinton street Hellenes, immediately laid the cornerstone for their first smoke carnival, which was duly executed several weeks later at the early hour of seven. It was not the success hoped for. The fire department encountered some difficulty in finding the

Holidays See Professors Scatter to Many Conventions

What do professors do during vacation time?

This Christmas time a good share of them will not be loafing around the home town post office, waiting for the mail to come in, or sleeping until noon to make up for the many weary hours they have spent in correcting exams and notebooks. Santa Claus will not bless some of them with a vacation this year, but will keep them hard at work.

Romancers Convene Here

Conventions in different parts of the United States and Canada will take a large number of them. The department of Romance languages of the University will entertain one convention here in Iowa City on the 27, 28 and 29 of December. Prof. Stephen H. Bush, head of this department of the University, is the chairman of the Latter Romance section of the convention.

Dean Phillips Goes to Pittsburgh

The American Sociological society meeting in Pittsburgh from December 27 to 30 will claim Prof. E. B. Reuter and Prof. F. E. Haynes. The American Economics association will meet in Pittsburgh at the same time. C. E. Phillips, dean of the college of commerce, Prof. F. H. Knight, Prof. R. W. Stone, Prof.

ARE DANCERS OVERCHARGED?

Figures Show That Cost Increases While All Prices Fall

In these days of falling prices, when the cost of beans and pork is coming down and the average landlord is knocking off on the monthly rental for rooms, the costs for the fellow who happens to tread the light fantastic is increasing.

Since the prices of University parties have commenced to reduce, with the freshmen setting the example at the annual freshman party, investigation reveals the fact, that the general attitude of opinion prevailing on the campus is that $1.50 is an exorbitant charge for weekend dances.

Student Council To Act

Many call attention to the fact that prices in general have fallen. Why shouldn't the charges for dancing come down? Why not have the Student Council get together on the question, appoint a committee for the purpose and put on all University dances at the men's gymnasium or elsewhere at cost? This would not only provide cheaper dancing, but such a plan would add to the list of all-University functions, which tend to create a greater school spirit. Douglas F. Boynton A4 of Cedar Rapids, president of the Student Council, when asked to express his opinion on such a plan said, "We

WOMEN HAVE IT ON THE MEN IN CHOOSING MEANS OF KNOCKING OUT DAILY PORK AND

As graduation time approaches the age old college question of "what are you going to do when you graduate?" is heard everywhere about the campus and seems to cause many wrinkles in the student cerebellum. To live off of dad? to teach school? to engage in speculative high finance? to start office work? to follow the game? (the game meaning anything that the particular student happens to be interested in at the present time) all these various queries and hundreds of others file through the student brain seeking some response from that large group of seniors who are soon to be "out on their own".

Women More Decided

Strange to say the so-called "weaker sex" seem to be much the stronger mentally when it comes to the choice of a life work—(notice the work, that does not mean matrimony). For, while every one of the University women interviewed had some definite thing in prospect, only one of the men questioned was able to put forth a straightforward reply as to how he was going to earn his daily bread. Most of the men

OUTLOOK FOR 1922 SHOWS GOOD, IF NOT BRILLIANT, PROSPECTS

Freshmen Have Several Strong Gridmen; Thom, Wade, and Engeldinger to Try Out

By FRANCIS J. WEBER (Ass't. Sports Editor)

Now that the football banquet is over and the men of the championship eleven of 1921 have received their letters, their gold footballs, and their gold pencils which were presented to all the "I" men by the Davenport alumni, the minds of all Iowa fans turn to the prospects for next year. Every one knows about the heavy schedule for the season of 1922, every one realizes that Iowa is losing four of her best men, and all wonder whether the team of 1922 will be able to carry on the great work started by this year's eleven.

Nine "I" Men to Return

Nine letter men will be back in school, but the four men that are lost are the men who have been among the big factors in the successful season that is just past. The Iowa offense in the past has been built about two men and one of these has finished his years of competition. Aubrey Devine, without a doubt one of the greatest backfield men ever produced in the West, has been the life of the team during the past year. Glenn Devine has played a great defensive game and has been one of the factors in the interference that has enabled Aubrey to make many of his long gains. Glenn has the ability to size up plays when they start and seldom allows a runner to get by him. Belding has played a strong game at end for four years. His greatest fame has been won because of his ability to receive forward passes. The strength of any football team depends upon its line, and the tackles are the strong points or the weakness of any team, and for that reason it is safe to say that the greatest hole that will have to be filled next year is the position held down by Slater for four years.

Freshmen Lack Experience

To fill the vacancies Coach Howard H. Jones will have to depend in the main upon this year's freshman team, which, while a scrappy team, was not quite as heavy as could be desired. On the freshman team were a number of fair backs, but not as many linemen who have the ability to make good material for the varsity. Moreover, few freshmen have

ARDETH WELTY WINS ARTISTIC READING PRIZE

Ardeth L. Welty A3 of Spirit Lake received the first prize of $10 in the finals of the women's artistic reading contest held Wednesday evening in the liberal arts assembly, with her reading "Strong Heart". Helen I. Haddock A4 of Greenfield won second prize of $5 with "Joint Owners in Spain."

"The contest was very close," said Esther E. Sharpe A4 of Hampton, president of the women's forensics council. "It took the judges an hour to choose from the six contestants who were selected from the seventeen who tried out in the preliminaries."

The others who read in the finals are Lorraine Luthmer A1 of Sumner, "Who's Afraid?"; Pearl E. Bagenstos A2 of Holstein, "A Soldier of France"; Bessie V. Sinnott A4 of Randalia, "Audrey"; and Anna H. Doornink A1 of Sioux Center, "Lanes of Kanana." The judges were Prof. Glenn N. Merry, head of the department of speech, Miss Alma G. Madden, instructor in speech, and Miss Gladys Fye of the English department in the University high school.

IRVING-ERO PLAY AGAIN SCORES HIT

Larger Crowd Witnesses Last Presentation of Drama

AUDIENCE RESPONSIVE

Maude Adams and Albert Ward Again Are Stars

A larger audience witnessed the second night's performance of "Beyond The Horizon," the American drama by Eugene O'Neill, presented by the Erodolphian literary society and the Irving Institute in the University theatre, than that of Wednesday evening.

Audience Appreciative

The audience was unusually responsive and appreciative in its reception of the cast and its work in the play. The settings for the several scenes were typical and to some degree excellent. Aside from the properties of stage setting, the lighting effects inspired the atmosphere of the scenes to a marked degree. The sunset scene of a day in early spring with the slowly darkening shadows coming down from the hillside to creep symbolically across the road and to the rock upon which Robert Mayo, (Albert Ward A3 of Clinton) and Ruth Atkins, (Maud Adams A4 of Des Moines) was beautiful in its likeness to nature.

Lighting Effects Appropriate

The coldness and the gruesomeness of the scene in act three gave the desired atmosphere for the character portrayal of the roles at that time. The pitifully small stove, the only means of heating the bare room, was peculiarly fitting for the time. As the sun rose its warmth and brightness bring warmth to the despairing coldness.

On the whole, the lighting effects and settings were very appropriate and aided much in creating the desired atmosphere.

Manager for the play was Joseph Emmert A2 of Atlantic. Gregory Foley A3 of Rock Rapids acted as stage manager, assisted by Fred A. Steiner L2 of Corydon, George O. Hurley A3 of Rolfe, Harold M. Ofelt L2 of Burlington, and Merwyn G. Bridenstine A2 of Iowa City. Merton M. Memler S3 of Iowa City and Willis Wallen secured the properties for the play.

Mrs. William R. Hart directed the production of the play.

Music was furnished for "Beyond the Horizon" by the University theater orchestra, under the direction of Prof. F. E. Kendrie.

FUTURE MARMS TO MEET TODAY

Professor Ensign to Tell How to Get Jobs as Teachers

The college of education has requested all teachers desiring to teach next fall to meet in the natural science auditorium this afternoon at four p. m. Prof. Forest C. Ensign in the absence of Dean William F. Russell will speak concerning the details of making application for teaching positions.

The committee on recommendations, of which the chairman is the dean of the college of education, has for its primary object the aiding of graduates and students of the University in securing teaching positions and the aiding of schools of the state in securing suitable teachers. It is composed of the dean of the college of education, the dean of the college of liberal arts, and the heads of the departments representing the subjects concerned.

Anyone desiring specific information concerning teaching is invited to attend the meeting whether or not he contemplates entering the profession soon.

BACK TO THE JUDGE

The intercollegiate debate of the middle western universities has been passing through a period of experimentation. Judged or judgeless, open forum or formal, these are the chief terms that have been on the lips of those who are attempting to formulate the proper structure of college debates. It seems now that judged and open forum are qualifications that will be applied to the future debate by the more scrupulous followers of argumentation.

We must have a judge to satisfy the sporting instinct, to answer that question that always attaches itself to any contest, "Who won?"; it might be judgeless in order to foster freer and unhampered argument; it should be of the open forum type in order to arouse the interest of the audience and to make the discussion of the proposition more complete by allowing the members of the audience to participate in questioning and discussion; and it should be formal in order to avoid tiresome and drawn out discussions that might tend to be prejudiced in favor of the home team.

It has seemed to be the prevailing idea that the open forum naturally precludes the possibility of having a judge or judges for the debate. This conclusion is in error. Those who have observed the debate most carefully are of the opinion that we should retain the judge; they also realize the great value of open forum discussion. Hence comes the conclusion, not yet crystallized, perhaps, but apparently the most logical one to be reached, that a combination of the judged and the open forum is the proper debate for intercollegiate contests. If you offer the satisfaction and sportsmanlike glory of a decision and allow the auditors the privilege of questioning in order to arouse interest and test the ability of the speakers, you will have a debate that has no place for the man or woman who can merely "speak a piece."

CURIOSITY SHOP MIND

Occasionally one meets a man with a mind like an overstocked curiosity shop, a mind cluttered with countless shabby, dusty facts, a dingy mind unlit by the sunlight of rich human sympathies and common sense that life-contacts yield. Such a man can perhaps tell you Alabama's cotton production for 1897, or maybe the middle name of Buchanan's minister to Denmark, although if he is that good he is doubtless in vaudeville. More likely his feats are less spectacular, and he is a laundry driver or a clerk.

He will never succeed, except possibly at vaudeville, because he lacks intelligence to distinguish between facts, and between facts and principles. On a lesser scale, he has prototypes at Washington.

Books are fitter custodians of most facts than the mind. Many touchstone facts must be learned, truly, but time and retentive power conspire to limit the number of facts the average person can make his own. Most facts should be left to rest on library shelves, there subject to resort, not lugged about.

Principles, the trees of which facts are leaves, are far fewer, and worthier of seeking and retaining. One principle leads to a million facts, a million facts to a single principle. In so far as a student masters and remembers principles, and builds his own thought on them, he is a thinker, not a human encyclopedia. His learning is adaptable, not mechanical.—University Washington Daily.

CONTRIBUTORS COLUMN

The other evening I went to a public dance held in one of the Iowa City halls, arriving there at ten-thirty o'clock on account of some extra-curricular activities of the University which detained me until then. To my surprise and chagrin I was compelled to add fifteen cents to the already exorbitant charge of $1.50 for my hour and a quarter of amusement.

This seems somewhat beyond the point of endurance. It seemed bad enough for the price of public dances to advance from the established mark of $1.10 when all other prices were receding, yet little has been said, and the long-suffering student body has meekly continued to disgorge to the canny proprietors.

A remedy seems to have the students get up dances themselves. Why not use the men's gym, and have the student council arrange matters? It would help the University spirit and might start a tradition such as far western universities have, that of all students participating in dances gotten up by themselves.

A. Q. M.

1922 FOOTBALL PROSPECTS GOOD BUT NOT BRILLIANT

the experience necessary in a varsity player.

West Point Player is Here

Among the "I" men, Miller and Kriz seem to have the best chances to win regular berths next year. Miller was expected to be one of the mainstays of this year's backfield, but lack of experience prevented him from becoming a regular. With the competition of the past year he should be a valuable addition to next year's team. Kriz was also handicapped by the lack of experience, but got in enough games this year to make a good prospect for Slater's place at right tackle.

Another possibility for that big job at right tackle is Engeldinger, who played tackle on the West Point team for part of the season several years ago. He has the size to make a good tackle and his previous experience should help him next year. The outstanding tackle on the freshman squad was McIntyre, captain of the freshman team. Weighing over 185 pounds, he has been the most prominent lineman on the freshman squad. He is fast and game and although handicapped by lack of previous competition, will make the other men fight to keep him out of Slater's place.

Can He Fill Belding's Brograms?

Wade of the freshman squad looks like the best bet for Belding's place at end. Wade has had previous competition for he played with Drake two years ago and received honorable mention as all-Missouri-Valley end. Nugent also is a candidate who specializes in receiving passes. Hancock, who played fullback on the freshmen team this year, may be shifted to end, where his size should make him a valuable man.

Hancock Has Locke to Buck

There are a number of freshmen backfield men who should furnish strong competition for the old men next year, although none of them is in the class with the men who are lost. Thom looks the best of any of the freshmen and should be a hard man to keep off the team next year. Hancock would make a good fullback, but he has Locke to compete with. Holm is fast, but appears to be too light to stand the brunt of a hard game. Seiling of this year's varsity squad may take Aubrey's place at quarter, for he is fast, but he is too light to be of much assistance in the interference.

There are a number of other good men who have chances to make next year's team. It is doubtful, however, if any of the men on this year's team can be ousted from their places, for they have shown their worth during the past year, and should be better next season.

Team Won't be so Brilliant

Next season's team will not have the brilliant performers that aided so much in the victories this year, but should be blessed with a large number of substitutes nearly as good as the men playing on the first string. There will be several men for each place whose insertion would not materially weaken the team. The style of offense will probably be changed and every man in the backfield given a chance to carry the ball. The right side of the line may not be as strong, but it is possible that a combination might be secured that will do just as good work. Next year's team will not be the brilliant team that represented

Iowa this season, but it may be a steadier team. It all depends on the number of men who turn out, and upon their willingness and ability to learn.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND FELLOWSHIPS ARE BEING APPLIED FOR

Applications for scholarships and fellowships are now being received according to Prof. George W. Stewart, acting dean of the graduate college. These are given each year to graduates of standard colleges who show the highest attainments in scholarship and character among the applicants of the year. The ruling provides for the appointment of eighteen scholarships, eighteen junior fellowships and of three senior fellowships. Applications will be received until March 15 after which time the appointments are made.

Students who won the nine fellowships and sixteen scholarships given by the University last year are now in various departments in the University. In order to win a senior fellowship the candidate must have completed the requirements for the degree of doctor of philosophy. For the junior fellowship, one year of graduate study is required, and for scholarships the applicant must be a graduate of a standard college.

Stipends for senior fellowships range between $600 to $800 a year; for junior fellowships, $300 to $500 and for scholarships $200 to $400 including, in all cases, free tuition. Students receiving the scholarships and fellowships carry forward their graduate work and do whatever the University requires of them up to a maximum of twelve hours of work a week in libraries and laboratories.

FOR HIS CHRISTMAS

Bill Gets a Case of Hard Liquor From His Woman

Well, what are you going to get him for Christmas? Maybe you have bought it already, but if not here's the best present you can get him: Get a cake of paraffin and melt it. Let it cool until just pliable and then shape it into a dozen bottles about an inch and a half high. Run out and get some good hooch and then fill the paraffin bottles, seal them over, and then send them to him. It'll be the most welcome present he has had in two years!

WOMEN EXCEL IN CHOOSING LIFE WORK

declared that they had a number of things in view, but had made no decisions, while some were absolutely blank and freely admitted that they hadn't any idea what they were going to do.

Two Will Teach P. T.

As might be supposed, teaching was the all popular subject with the women, but it was lively teaching. Two of the feminine members of the senior class declared that they had decided to teach physical education. "It offers a much wider field, and is more peppy", declared Jean Speirs A4 of Reinbeck, president of Staff and Circle. Helen Hayes A4 of Iowa City is the other woman who has decided on physical education for her occupation. She has been prominent in women's athletics since coming to the University, and is at present president of the Seals club. By her decision she has chosen to turn her play at the University into work in the world and like Miss Cpeirs believes she has made a good choice.

Lue Prentiss to Teach

Lue Prentiss A4 of Iowa City, president of the University Women's Association, is going in for business if the correct opportunity is at hand when she graduates next spring. Miss Prentiss hopes to become a foreign correspondence secretary for some export firm. If that does not develop properly she has another career already planned out in the form of a French teacher, and may return to the University next year to take her master's degree in languages.

Ester Sharpe A4 of Hampton, president of the Women's Forensic Council, has decided on a teaching career. She will teach history subjects, and possibly some political science.

Eel to be Looie

Douglas F Boynton A4 of Cedar Rapids, president of the Student Council, will engage in business with his father. Boynton will endeavor to convince University students that the coffees handled by the Kaupke-Coffee Co. of Cedar Rapids are the most invigorating stimulants for eight o'clocks.

Roy K Forney A4 of Tabor, president of the Eel club and vice-president of the officers' club of the R. O. T. C. unit has decided on an army career. He will receive a second lieutenant's commission in the reserve when he graduates in June, and has already sent in an application to have that commission transferred to the regular army. "If I can not get the commission transferred I will probably teach school," said Forney.

Basket Captain Undecided

Iliff Shepherd A4 of Mount Pleasant, captain of the swimming team declared that he was as yet undecided on the matter "I am taking engineering, but may teach school a while," said Shepherd.

Frank Shimek A4 of Iowa City, captain of the basketball team, declared that he had been too busy shooting baskets for Iowa to think much about what he was going to do when he graduates. "I haven't decided at all", said "Shim".

DES MOINES HIGH SCHOOL PRAT TO HONOR THE DEVINES

Aubrey and Glenn Devine will be the guests at a dinner party and dance to be given by the Phi Delta Alliance, a Des Moines high school organization, in Des Moines on Christmas eve.

The dinner party and dance will be given at the hotel Fort Des Moines and will be given in honor of the two former West high grid men, who have starred on the Hawkeye teams of the past three years. The affair will be attended by the members of this organization and former high school mates of Aubrey and Glenn at West Des Moines high school.

Speeches by the two men will feature the program and it is expected that this affair will be a sort of homecoming for the former and present students at West High school.

CORNELL STUDENTS WILL CONTROL USE OF INTOXICANTS

Ithaca, N. Y.—Sixty fraternities and clubs of Cornell University have informed the faculty that they will control any excessive use of intoxicating liquors among the students. The announcement was made yesterday by Donald R. Strickler, president of the Student Council and chairman of the Social Affairs Committee.

The restrictions adopted by the student organization bar liquor from fraternity houses and make an effort to prohibit indulgence in intoxicants at social functions.—Cornell Daily Sun.

TEN O'CLOCK KNELL DISPERSES DANCE WHERE WOMEN WEAR SATIN KNICKERS

The portals of the women's gymnasium opened Wednesday night to stately Old English squires in powdered wigs and satin knickers, escorting their ladies, all curled and demure in their full trailing gowns. The guests were led up to the ball room (big gym) by the squire's pages, where they were welcomed by the jovial host, Squire Toodles. A cheerful fireplace glowed in its red paper at the farther end of the room, flanked on either side by tables loaded down with bowls of punch, stick candy, and piles of doughnuts.

Snappy Program Presented

With the visitors seated in a semi-circle, the Squire introduced his entertainers: "Sir Littleboy," a one-act play by seven little boys and girls from the Elementary school; "Hobby-horse", a young warrior on a wooden horse, by Gladys Taggart; a singing game by members of the playground class; ballet dance by Celestia Presson; and "Morris dance" and "Pop Goes the Weasel" by three English pages and three ladies' maids, from the folk-dancing class.

10 P. M. Rule Breaks Things Up

Then the music started and old Squire Toodles and his lady led the grand march around the room. Old-fashioned squire dances came next, with white-capped barmaids serving refreshments between dances. All too soon the page announced "9:45", and the good squires were dragged home by their conscientious liddies before the clock struck ten. So ended the W. A. A. Christmas party.

LINGUISTS MEET HERE CHRISTMAS

Six Iowa Professors on Program; Bush to Lead One Section

During the Christmas vacation, the largest and most important gathering of modern language men ever held west of the Mississippi, according to Prof. Stephen H. Bush, head of the department of Romance language, will be held here on December 28, 29, and 30.

Six Iowa professors of modern language will be represented on the program prepared for the Modern Language association. They are: Professor Hardin Craig, head of the department of English, who is to read a paper on "The Renaissance movement in all modern literatures"; Prof. Charles E. Young, who will lead the discussion on the "Romantic movement in all modern literatures"; Prof. Elbert N. S. Thompson, whose paper is entitled, "The late emblem books"; and Prof. Thomas A. Knott, who is to read a paper on "The study of English as a requirement."

Prof. Stephen H. Bush, head of the Romance language department of the University will act as chairman of that part of the program dealing with later Romance languages. Prof. Charles F. Ward will read a paper: "Main currents of French-Canadian literature" at this same meeting.

Convention in 4 Sessions

The convention will be divided into four sessions, the first beginning Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, will include a Dante commemoration program and a German program. The second session, starting Thursday morning at 9:30, takes up the subjects of romanticism, renaissance and linguistics. Thursday afternoon at 2:30 the third session is one of the most interesting papers which will be read at this time is the one on "Present tendencies in freshman English," by Prof. Joseph M. Thomas of the University of Minnesota, who is the leading authority in his line. The fourth session will be devoted entirely to dispensing of old and new business of the association. Officers and committees for 1912 will be elected at this time.

Jessup to Give Welcome

Full accommodations will be made for those attending the convention. The visitors will be entertained at dinner Wednesday by the members of the Iowa faculty of modern languages. An informal reception afterwards at the Triangle club rooms will allow opportunity to hear Prof. Walter A. Jessup's address of welcome and the short talk "What to do next," by Professor Algernon Coleman, chairman of the central division. Thursday evening a smoker will be given in the rooms of the Triangle club.

ELEGANT MUSTACHIOS ARE NO MORE; TOOTH BRUSHES NOW ADORN

Gone are the days of the long, silky moustache highly waxed and stretching from ear to ear, and with a very accentuated curl on the ends. Have you ever noticed the pictures at the Academy, of Iowa's old gridmen? They wore no misplaced eyebrows, but real honest-to-fact moustaches. It was fashionable then, and the gridironists and baseball players, in order to be social lions, were forced to grow the hair long on the upper lip. Though fist fights are chronicled in the years of rough and tumble football, no moustache-pulling contests are recorded.

A popular young University lady, who would not allow the use of her name, replied when asked about this rage of '95: "Ugh! can you imagine anyone kissing a man with one of those awful things on his face. Bur-r-r-r," and she honestly shivered all over. "A fellow with one of these toothbrush moustaches tried to kiss me good night not over a week ago," she confided, "and I told him nothing doing absolutely and that I wasn't that kind of a girl."

Wonder if the old boys had more trouble, with their bales of spinach taking away the simple osculatory pleasures?

SPECIAL TRAIN WEST LEAVES WEDNESDAY ON THE ROCK ISLAND

Breene States That Tickets Should be Gotten Before Vacation

Disappointed over the ruling of the Western Passenger Association in not putting the low holiday rates into effect until Thursday, December 22, Iowa students yesterday began casting around for condolence in the form of special trains and found it forthcoming from both the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad and the Cedar Rapids & Iowa City interurban.

Local Agent Harry D. Breene of the Rock Island lines announced yesterday that a special westbound train would be run on the afternoon of Wednesday, December 21. The train will leave here just ahead of the Rocky Mountain Limited, probably at 3:30 p. m., and will run to Des Moines, making stops at Grinnell, Newton and Colfax.

Students Won't Procrastinate

"As near as we can determine the great majority of students are not going to wait for the special rates," said Mr. Breene yesterday, "and that we are going to try to accommodate them with a special train." Mr. Breene also stated that it would be almost imperative for the students to procure their tickets and reservations the day before school closes, or it will be impossible to handle the crowd.

Interurbans Run Trailers

D. W. Williams, agent for the interurban line, announced that a two-car special would be run Wednesday afternoon. The special will leave here at 3:15 p. m. It is also stated that beginning with the 2:55 p. m. car, each car will carry one trailer. "We will attach trailers to all our trains until the crowd is entirely cared for," said Mr. Williams. The regular rates will prevail on the interurban.

SWIMMERS MAY BREAK RECORDS NEXT SATURDAY

Expect One Hundred Entries in All-University Meet

LOOK FOR CLOSE RACES

Will be Last of Three Intramural Swims

Over 100 swimmers are expected to compete Saturday in the all-University swimming meet which will be held in the men's pool. This is the last of the three intramural meets, and will be open to the general public.

Keen competition is expected, due to the fact that the meet will afford the varsity men an opportunity to test themselves out against the aspiring varsity candidates, and to prove for the first time this season their assumed right of a place on this year's swimming team. There are a number of clever men in the ranks of the sophomores this year who give promise of winning places on the varsity squad in preference to some of the men who now occupy these places, and consequently Saturday's meet will be of extreme importance to those men. Men who take first places in various events of Saturday's meet will stand a good show of landing positions on the varsity squad during the coming season.

Records May Fall

With this keen competition forthcoming it is not unlikely that a few University tank records will be lowered. Prospects for lower University tank records in the 100, 220, and 440 yard swims are especially bright, since it is in these events that the keenest competition is expected. A new mark may also be set in the 40 yard dash, but it will be more difficult in this event since the University record now held jointly by R. A. Brown, Ross Clark, and Douglas Boynton, is exceptionally fast. The record held by these three men is 19 3-5 seconds, which equals the conference time for the 40 yard dash.

In the 100 yard swim John Goltman and Lee Roy Stover are looked upon as possible record breakers. Ross Clark, one of the joint record holders in this event also stands a fair show to lower the present mark. The University record for this event now stands at 1:03, and was made by Clark and Boynton last year and by Brown in 1920.

Goodell May Win

The time in the 440 yard swim is also likely to fall. This record is now held by William Goodell, who swam that distance last year in 6:55 2-5. He was defeated in this event last week by Goltman, and if pushed this Saturday may lower his own record.

Captain Illif Shepherd's time of 2:54 4-5 in the 20 yard swim is less likely to be bettered but an exciting race is nevertheless expected here also.

Roy K. Forney's time of 32-25 in the plunge is another record that may be broken. Warren Hickox, a member of last year's freshman team and Loren Bane who did some work in the plunge last season, are considered possible record breakers in this event.

Other Records Safe

Records in the other events are for the most part secure, and will probably not be broken in the coming meet. The other records are: 20 yard breast stroke, P. O. D. Vedova 3:13-25, 1921; 150 yard back stroke, L. C. Smith 2:14, 1921; and fancy diving, Illif Shepherd, score 102.8, 1921.

TINY SCHOLARS FIX PADS FOR SANTA TO SIT ON WHEN TIRED

By Vedasto J. Samonte

Pop! pop! pop! Pop the popcorn. No, not in the street popcorn wagon, but in the skillet of the busy little studes and coeds of the Child Welfare Bureau school in their cozy bungalow schoolhouse just behind the old science building. Yes, they are all busy preparing their Christmas tree for Santa Claus. They are popping corn and are making their own string popcorn and string cranberry for the Christmas tree.

The two-year olds, the three-year olds, and the four-year olds, all take part in the great preparation and there are no slackers for they are, all sure Santa will come to their Christmas celebration. Fearing that Santa would be so tired when he will come, they are weaving varicolored paper mats for him to sit down. Paper boxes, big and small, are made for Santa to put his presents in. No, they will not use their own stockings, but maybe they will borrow great big ones, because they are sure old Santa will give them lots and lots of gifts.

GRASSFIELD DOESN'T SAY WHEN; ECONOMICS TANGLED

"When will the Memorial Union building be built?" This was the question put to Mr. Ralph G. Grassfield, director of the Iowa Memorial Union yesterday.

"We hope to start work on the new building next year sometime, but unless the conditions throughout the country change a great deal within a short time we cannot do so," was his answer. "Economic conditions in the United States are very poor and for this reason we cannot promise anything definite. The other universities have done excellent work on their memorial projects and our University can do as well if not better."

The students and faculty of Iowa have pledged a total of $115,000 up to date in their three campaigns, $51,000 being pledged in the first two and $65,000 in the last campaign, which was last spring. The faculty of the University have given a total of $10,000. The pledges students made last spring and in the other campaigns are mostly all being met at the present time.

OLD CAPITOL TO BE REMODELED

Interior and Structure of Building to Undergo Improvement

According to present plans work on remodeling the interior of the Old Capitol building will begin about January 1. The inner appearance of the building will be restored to its former days, as far as possible.

John M. Fisk superintendent of grounds and buildings, is getting in touch with as many of the old settlers of the community as is possible in an effort to secure information of the original plans of the building when it was used as the capitol of Iowa. The present arrangement of the first and second floors will probably be altered. The space occupied by the offices in the northwest corner comprised one room, the supreme court chamber. The general assembly room on the second floor was more artistic than at present, containing more pillars and decorations.

While the building is being remodeled and redecorated the various administrative officers will necessarily have to double up, and resort to other offices in the building.

While work on the interior is planned the structure of the building is also undergoing improvement.

Three hundred jacks are now in position under the southwest corner of Old Capitol, supporting a weight of 2,500,000 pounds while the concrete foundation on which this part of the building finally will rest is being poured.

Wall Sinks 8 Inches

The whole operation of digging under the old foundations and putting in new is an unusually interesting one. A tunnel under this corner of the building permitted the foundations and walls to sink down eight inches. After the new foundations are in the corner of the building will be raised to its proper level.

When built the foundation stones were set but five feet below the surface of the ground. The big blocks of Iowa limestone were five feet thick, and as the heavy walls were built upward the weight became enormous. Huge cracks have appeared in the building at the southwest corner as it has settled deeper and deeper.

Weight Center Shifts

The entire corner of the building is now braced on two sides as the reconstruction work goes forward. Weight centers shift every day as a new point is cleared for the concrete foundations. The actual work of raising the corner will not be begun for some time yet.

HEALTH OF STUDENT BODY BETTER THIS YEAR THAN IN 1920

Health of the student body this year has shown marked improvement over that of last year according to the figures given out by Dr. W. J. McDonald, director of the department of student health. With the exception of acute appendicitis there have been fewer cases requiring hospitalization. The reduction in hospital cases has been especially marked in communicable diseases, this year there has been but one student case of contagious disease.

However, 1921 shows an increase over 1920 in operative cases of appendicitis but a decrease in the eye, ear, nose and throat conditions taking the same period for both years. From the opening of the school year, September 26 to December 1 of 1921, sixty-seven students received care at the hospital; this year for the same period the number was fifty-one. The figures show an increase this year in surgical and a decrease in medical cases.

WOMEN HUSKIES ORGANIZE

To Revive Defunct Physical Education Club Saturday

The juniors and seniors who are majoring in the department of physical education will give a tea in the drawing room of the women's gymnasium Saturday, December 17 from 4 to 6 for all sophomores and freshmen who expect to major in that department. Jean M Speirs A4 of Reinbeck is chairman of the committee on refreshments and Ruth Wilson A 4 of Seymour is chairman of the committee on entertainment.

The purpose of the tea is to reorganize the Physical Education club which has been inactive so far this year because of the loss of their officers last year by graduation. The Physical Education club which is composed of all women majoring in physical education as well as the faculty in the department discuss the different phases of the work at the meeting which are held once a month. The club was organized in 1919.

TWO COLLEGES CLAIM ORIGIN OF BASKETBALL

Rival claims as originators of basketball were put forth some time ago by McGill University of Toronto, Canada, and Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio.

Mount Union points with pride to a tablet in their gymnasium with an inscription to the effect that the first basketball game was played there in 1892. The "Dynamo," student publication, says, "We know of no college in the United States which can establish the claim that basketball was played previous to this date."

From the McGill paper comes the claim that Dr. Naismith, graduate of that school, invented the game as a result of a deliberate attempt for weeks to evolve a game suitable for men to play indoors.

It is said that he took Rugby as a basis, eliminating the features which make it extremely rough.

The idea of baskets came from the old game of "Duck on the Rock." Dr. Naismith used peach baskets at either end of the gymnasium, placed them ten feet high and used the galleries for support.

At first nine men were used. The number was reduced to seven and later to five as the skill of the men developed. Purdue Exponent.

The other day we met a man who said: "I am going to give my girl the nicest gift in the world." AND we thought he meant his likeness in a gilt edge frame, BUT he meant a leather Slipper Bag with her Sorority Crest thereon. AND we agree with him.

harmony with the Iowa spirit that should govern such matters. We will not call in outside talent unless an arrangement with a local organization cannot be completed."

The checking system that will be used has been worked out by one of the members of the party committee who got the idea at a dance in Baltimore, Md., where an immense crowd was handled with perfect ease and quickly by a minimum number of attendants and in a rather limited space. It is anticipated that the crowd at the Military Ball will anticipate no inconvenience in this connection. The dress for the men at the party will be optional, full dress or uniform. The members of the committee and other officers of the cadet regiment, as well as the officers of the military department staff who attend, will be in uniform. No flowers will be worn by the women at the party.

BOOKS GIVES CHANCE FOR CHRISTMAS GIFT

Copies of the University song book are to be placed on sale by the Staff and Circle women before the holidays to give an opportunity for every student to purchase them for Christmas presents. Hundreds of copies are now being used by the students.

The women of Staff and Circle hope to reach every man and woman of Iowa with the songs and each member of the society will have a number to distribute.

"Every student should have this collection of Iowa songs," declared Prof. Charles H. Weller. "At Yale the University song book has always been one of the things every student thinks he must take with him as a remembrance."

The books may be procured from any of the twelve members of the Staff and Circle, Jean M. Speirs, Maude Q. Adams, Mildred Belvel, Margaret A. Brady, Lucile Everett, Helen Hayes, Julia Hysham, Lorna Ludwick, Mary McCord, Lue Prentiss, Josephine Thielen and Ruth Wilson.

FAIR COEDS, THE OLD PICNIC GROUNDS, AND OTHER IOWANS'

Paintings by graduates and members of the faculty of the department of graphic and plastic arts at the University are in the annual exhibition of the Iowa Art Guild now in the gallery of the Des Moines public library. The exhibition will be open to the public until December 31.

Prof. Charles A. Cumming, head of the department, is exhibiting eight landscapes and a portrait. Most of the landscapes were done near Iowa City, one of them being called "Iowa River Valley." One is a painting done in Brittany some years ago. The portrait, entitled "Queen of the Titian Club," is of Ruth Wallace, daughter of Henry C. Wallace, secretary of agriculture. Miss Wallace was a student in the University two years ago.

Instructor's Painting Won Prize
Among the seventeen landscapes exhibited by Miss Catherine Macartney, instructor in the department, is "August Noon," a wood scene near Iowa City, which was given first prize in the oil painting section of the state fair exhibit last summer by the judge, Gustav Goetch, a St. Louis artist. Her other canvases were done here, at Madeline Island, Wisconsin, and on the Oregon beach.

Geraldine Mars There
Miss Edna Patzig, instructor in the department, has twenty paintings in the exhibition. One is a recently finished portrait of Geraldine Mars A4 of Iowa City. The other are landscapes painted in Oregon, the Wisconsin lake region, and Iowa.

Miss Edith Bell, instructor in the department last year, has twenty paintings in the exhibition. She is now studying in the National Academy, New York. A copy of "Westward," the mural by Edwin Blashfield in the state house, is among her work in this exhibition.

Picnic Hill Is There, Too
Twelve paintings are presented by Miss Margaret Hayes, exhibiting for the first time with the Iowa Art Guild. Miss Hayes is a graduate of the University of the class of 1920, has been an instructor in the Cumming School of Art, Des Moines, for two years, and has taught in the department of graphic and plastic arts in the University during the five summer sessions as assistant and instructor. She was elected to membership in the guild early in the fall. Her paintings are landscapes done at Iowa City, and at Madeline Island, Wisconsin. "Old Capitol," and "From Linder Hill" have a familiar sound.

Mrs. West Has Works There
Two portraits are exhibited by Mrs. Jean Dayton West of Waverly, graduate of the University in the class of 1916, and graduate student in the department during 1917 and 1918. One portrait, "Gladys," was a first prize painting at the state fair exhibition in 1920 under Lucia Hartrath of Chicago, judge.

Four other Iowa artists are represented in the exhibition. Miss Alice McKee, instructor in the Cumming School of Art, Des Moines, has seven canvases, most of them landscapes done in Colorado. Miss Harriet Macy of Des Moines exhibits eleven paintings in oil and water color, including landscapes from the Hawaiian Islands. Some of these paintings were selected for the national rotary exhibition from New York exhibits. Miss Esther Holmquist, now in Los Angeles, has four Colorado landscapes in the exhibition, and Miss Edna Rounds of Des Moines is exhibiting three paintings, all landscapes.

The Iowa Art Guild is an incorporated society of persons chosen from the graduates of The Cumming School of Art, Des Moines, and the department of graphic and plastic arts of the University. Its members are actively engaged in producing works of art suitable for exhibition. The Guild assumes that the state of Iowa forms a unit of sufficient individual character and importance to justify its people in making their own history, and declares its purpose to be to furnish its members a convenient way of presenting their works to the public.

The catalogue of the present exhibition says: "The Guild members are inclined to believe in the white man's highest ideal which is a desire in the heart of the individual painter to express that which inspires him. The members generally believe that striving for fashion in painting is deadening to a more worthy purpose. The idea of fashion obtains because of a very prevalent belief that the art of painting is a thing 'learned' in an imitative way. Such was the habit of primitive peoples."

fire, as smoke was issuing rather profusely from several chimneys in the neighborhood. The hour chosen for the blaze also contributed to its failure. Although no less than seven fraternity houses are within a radius of several blocks, all turned a deaf ear to the call of the fire bell. It is rumored that the members were assessed $1.07 to cover the expenses.

Paint Roof With Proceeds
Acacia, last year's scholastic pace setter, was the first and only fraternity which attempted to raze its lair. As a fire it was a farce. Freshmen sleeping in the dormitory slept through the better share of the fracas and finally forced to action by the effects of the hose. The building has been treated to a new green roof with the lucre which accrued from the fire and will probably house the brick layers for a couple of years yet.

Others to Shine
Several who have announced their intentions of having a fire party this year are Sigma Phi Epsilon, Delta Gamma, Alpha Delta Pi and Alpha Chi Omega.

DELAY SWIMMING TESTS

About ten women have completed the elementary swimming test, including floating three minutes, swimming the length of the pool using both back and side stroke and surface diving.

That only ten have completed the test is due to the large number who have been out on account of small-pox vaccinations.

What shall you buy—"Believe me! we would like to tell you—but come in and take a look and then tell us.

CANDIES  A college girl knows candy when she tastes it. She wants WHET'S only.	STATIONERY Plenty of the "U" stuff and plenty of the other also.
TOILET SETS MANICURE SETS What gives the Iowa "U" ladies the distinction that others envy? Ans.—WHET'S Toilet Stuff.	FOUNTAIN PENS  The man or woman will never come to "Pen-ury"—excuse us. But you cannot get by this Christmas without you buy one or more of WHET'S Fountain Pens.
AUTOMATIC PENCILS  Ought to write your auto-graph right or jot down the expenses of the "auto." Anyway, buy one or two	CAMERAS From the $2.00 Brownie up to the—sky limit—there is nothing that touches the Human Nature side like picture taking. Give her—him—the best you can afford.
SHAVING TOOLS, etc.  A Safety First—Young man, what girl wants to be seen with a fellow whose face has been butchered. Have class—get a Safety. GIVE HIM ONE.	SMOKES We have on hand just one box of cigars—given us last election time—for the "Joke Smith" who made the ancient and honorable (?) joke about Christmas Cigars. His joke is SMASHED by our gift packages and boxes.
CHRISTMAS CARDS, BOOKLETS, CALENDARS Just the things to send with or without anything else. Artistic, colorful, good taste.	IMPORTED TOILETS Made in America is all right in many things, but those sneezing Frenchmen do know how to make Perfumes and Fancy Toilet Articles. We have them, too.
TRAVELING SETS For the man who travels. Genuine leather and fitted with the necessary tools.	THERMOS BOTTLES  Lives there a "Dub" with soul so dead who does not "feel" the class that a Thermos Bottle carries with it? Here's the chance.

GOOD MIXERS MAKE BEST SUCCESS IN BUSINESS, IS THEORY OF MR. H. PERSON

H. S. Person, executive head of the Taylor society of New York, in his lecture Wednesday evening on the "Range of the management problem" brought out many interesting points among which he emphasized the necessities for better management, because the complexity of our latest methods require much attention of the management.

Mr. Person Lectures Today
The lecture given last night was on the "General analysis of the functions inherent in all enterprise," in which Mr. Person brought out the function of administration, and appraisals or results. His lecture for this afternoon will be on the "Functions inherent in the technical nature of the enterprise."

He Recommends Outside Interest
Mr. Person says, "A student should not apply himself too narrowly, but should have some judicial plan of self-development. It is my idea that a student who attends strictly to work in the class room, and also makes preparation for his classroom work, and at the same time gives enough attention to social intercourse with fellow students by mixing with them, has a much better opportunity for success when through college than the fellow who neglects his work, and has no plan of self-development."

Good Mixers Succeed Best
He says that the two big things that make for business success are to have an absolute knowledge of the business one is handling and to be able to meet people, negotiate with people, and get in social contact with them.

Old Days "Freer and Easier"
According to Mr. Person it was possible for a manager to take a much longer chance in the past than at the present, as competition was not so strong. To take a chance in business today is most likely to prove fatal. In the same way the student at present who takes chances on getting by without an effort on his part is most likely not to succeed, while the student who studies and thinks out his problem is the fellow who will succeed in business.

Mr. Person says, "The student whom I admire most is the student who does some outside work, the student who takes some responsibility upon himself, and not the student who does not have to work his way through, but who does take some outside responsibility."

NO DRESSING IN LIBRARY

"That's not the case at all," declared Prof. Edward C. Mabie, director of the University theater, yesterday afternoon in response to a news article printed in Thursday morning's Iowan. The article stated that plans for the establishment of a theater dressing room in the main reading room of the University library were being considered by the officials of the theater. This, according to Professor Mabie, is not correct, as no such thought is being entertained by the theater directors.

ARE DANCERS BEING CHARGED TOO MUCH?

have given this matter of putting on all-University dances at cost consideration, and have planned to bring this subject up in meeting immediately after the holidays, if not sooner." The idea is to provide a less expensive place to dance and provide novel features for the evening, which will not entail much if any expense, which should prove a drawing card.

Party Cost is $78 to $88
Fraternities can secure the use of the Pagoda with punch and a man attendant included for $35, and Criterion and Cotillion for $25, an orchestra for about $40.00 and programs for about $13 a hundred entailing an expenditure of about $78 to $88, according to reports from chairmen of the party committees of various organizations on the campus.

Large Profits Made
It is pertinent to say, that persons putting on the weekend dances in various halls obtain the halls at reduced rates from those charged the fraternities and other organizations. Their costs are less, as they do not provide programs and other dance elaborations, and with a larger number present, as the halls are packed every Friday and Saturday nights, it is obvious that the margin of profit is large. For instance, say a hall cost $20, orchestra $40, making a total of $60 for the expenses of a dance. Now say at least eighty couples attend, and (charging $1.10 per couple) $88 would be realized. After deducting the total expense of $60 the net profit would be $28. This is an estimate which attempts to give an idea of the minimum financial results of putting on a dance with the nominal admission previously charged.
