FIFTH ANNUAL BANQUET FOR MEN FEBRUARY 9

Leading Men of University Are Guests at This Affair

KUEHNLE-FINKBINE HOST One Hundred and Fifteen Invitations Were Sent Last Year

The fifth annual Kuehnle-Finkbine dinner is to be held about February 9th, according to Prof. Forest C. Ensign, secretary of the University of Iowa Association, who has charge of the preparations.

Alumni of University This dinner is put on by the two men, Carl F. Kuehnle '81, '82 L and William O. Finkbine '78, '80 L who are both alumni of the University of Iowa. It was first started in the year 1917, but was interrupted during the war and was again resumed in 1919. Mr. Kuehnle and Mr. Finkbine are among the most prominent alumni in the state and are very interested in the University. Mr. Finkbine is associated with a large lumber concern, and his home is in Des Moines. Mr. Kuehnle is a lawyer and banker from Dennison, Iowa.

Ensign Makes Arrangements

These gentlemen have asked Professor Ensign, as acting secretary of the University of Iowa Association to make complete arrangements for the inviting of their guests to this annual dinner. The guests include the presidents of the various men's organizations on the campus, presidents of classes in the several colleges, the Dean's of the colleges; the president of the University, President "Emeritus" of the University, commander of the military department, the captains of the various athletic teams, and any other guests that the hosts may designate.

The exact date has not yet been set, according to Prof. Ensign, but it is expected to be on Thursday evening February 9th or the following week and as Mr. Finkbine leaves for the south sometime the following week.

The purpose of the Kuehnle-Finkbine dinner is to bring the University leaders together, in order to inspire them and become useful members of society, according to Carl F. Kuehnle L '82.

115 Invited Last Year

Over one hundred and fifteen invitations were sent out to guests last year which included Lloyd E. Anderson, president of the Aero Club, Raynor D. Anderson, president of the senior class, College of Applied Science, Walter A. Anneberg, captain of the swimming team, M. M. Archer, president of Phi Kappa, Evan Bailey, president of the junior class, college of pharmacy, M. M. Bailey, captain of the University gymnasium team, Clarence Baldrige, president of the University students council.

B. B. Boyd, architect, Iowa Memorial Union, Frank F. Breene, dean of the college of dentistry, Lloyd W. Burns, president of the sophomore class, college of applied science, William W. Cannon, president senior class college of dentistry; Associated Students of Dentistry; Psi Omega.

F. J. Carlstrom, president of the freshman class college of medicine, Harold S. Case, president Delta Sigma Pi, Clyde B. Charlton, president A. F. I., J. R. Charter, vice president of the Pharmaceutical As-

FRAT MEN WALK TO CLASSES SINCE COLD WEATHER HAS COME

It has been discovered that frat men's cars are not proof against cold weather. During the fall and spring all the houses boast of several cars, but now many are equipped with only one or two and some are absolutely dependent on their own physical means of locomotion.

The Delta Chi's, Sigma Chi's, Acacia's, Alpha Kappa Kappa's and Delta Kappa Gamma's are the hardest hit by the cold north winds. No longer can they race down the broad streets of Iowa City in the latest sports model released by Henry Ford. In place of the afore-mentioned machines they must go afoot or in a rented vehicle.

The Alpha Tau Omega's, the Beta Theta Pi's, Phi Psi's, Sig Nu's, Sig Ep's and others have been able to keep at least one or two cars running by the judicious use of alcohol. All the frat's are sustained through the hard winter sans cars by the ray of hope of an early spring which will enable them to have more cars at their disposal. A few cars are in storage in Iowa City but the majority are at home under Father's care.

The only frat whose machines are apparently unaffected by cold weather is Nu Sigma Nu. The reason doubtless lies in the superior quality. It may be news to some that they keep only the highest grade of motor cars. They declare in all seriousness and honesty that their members have six Premiers, three Stutzes, five Cadillacs and four Packards. The reporter, completely boggled over and flabbergasted by the munificence of their equipages, timidly asked if they possessed the plebian Ford. They coldly replied "Only our valets run Ford's."

Although the Ford is shunned and despised and kicked by the Nu Sigma Nu's it meets with the approval of the Phi Psi's, Beta Theta Pi's, Sigma Nu's and Kappa Sig's. Despite the fact that the Sig Ep's have only one Ford running now, they hasten to assure the fair sex that in the spring they will have many cars at their disposal.

The rivalry between the Buick's and Fords is great. At present there are as many Fords in use as Buicks. The Phi Alpha Delta's favor the Buick due to the fact that they claim more mileage per gallon of gas and water. The other favorites among the frat men are the Studebaker, Maxwell, Dodge, Stutz, Overland, Cadillac, Templer and Nash.

PROFS DROP DIGNITY AND BECOME HUMANS WHEN LEAVING CLASS

Students have a theory that the instructors at a University have no other interests outside of the classroom. All wrong. Even the mathematics instructors have other diversions than calculating the magnitude of infinity. It is a mistake to picture the English professors spending all of their spare moments unraveling heterogeneous collections of words submitted as themes. Every faculty member interviewed professed an avocation of a near avocation.

Athletics and diversions of athletic nature claim many. Books and music claim others while some even profess an affinity for the movies.

Ernest G. Schroeder, director of physical education for men is strong for athletics and everything pertaining to athletics but when he gets a chance he is all for hunting. "Dad" just recently acquired a gun for which he parted with $65. "It's a twelve gauge Winchester and it's a bird," said Mr. Schroeder. He states that he has never hunted any really big game; he leaves that to Mike Howard, the new wrestling coach. He likes nothing better than a day spent in hunting rabbits or ducks.

Dean William G. Raymond of the college of applied science is not so certain that he has a hobby. "If I have an avocation it is music." For eight year preceding the war, Dean Raymond was in charge of a course of musical entertainments which were brought to Iowa City through his efforts. Year tickets were sold which, brought the cost of admis-

WILL IRWIN

FROM CUB TO ACE IN 20 YEARS IS RECORD OF WILL IRWIN

Will Irwin, "The Ace of Correspondents," who will deliver the University lecture here Wednesday evening, January 18 is known by every newspaper man in the country for his "speedy" rise in journalism. Twenty years ago he was a "cub" on the San Francisco Chronicle and it is said that he thought it the proudest moment in his life when he was given the police "beat." Very soon he was asked to be a feature writer for the New York Sun. In 1905 he was made managing editor of McClure's Magazine and served in that capacity until Collier's asked him to become a critic of all prominent newspapers in the country. It was at this time that Hearst made his threat of arrest.

First in War Zone

Irwin was one of the first correspondents to get into the war zone and one of the last ones back. His story of Ypres was published broadcast all over the world and he was literally blacklisted by England and France because he "told the truth again." He went to see Lloyd George immediately about the matter. The premier destroyed the journalistic blockade and complimented Irwin for having told the truth about the campaign. Irwin was the first English speaking prisoner of the war. He, with Irwin Cobb and John T. McCutcheon, was captured by the Germans in the first months of the war.

Digest Praises Him

"Irwin snaps out ideas, sixty to the second," says the December Literary Digest of 1920. You would know him as a Californian by the height of his forehead and his big blondness. James Montgomery Flagg, the illustrator describes him as follows: "But when I describe him as a blond I hasten to qualify. It is not the pink and white Godford blond, but the pongee—he is pongee color, hair and all. His pongee hair crackles and curls on the edge of his inspiration point and his forehead has a true Pacific slope. It is very high. His brother Wallace has those peking eyes, Will's are fast blue. They both have powerful and pointed chins, like eggs. When Will talks through his good-looking white teeth Dave Balasco himself could not produce a more realistic effect of the wireless in operation.

Irwin writes a great many articles for popular magazines. Some of those he has written are "Ashes of Hell," "Business in Diplomacy," "Common Sense About Germany," "France Worries Through," "Hoover as an Executive," "In the Tower of Silence," "Ruhr Aflame," "Will It Last?," "Columbine Time," "Round Turn," and "Woman Inside" for the Saturday Evening Post, "La Sorda de Seville" for Harpers, and "Our Big Chance" for The Independent.

Portrays Human Nature

In "Our Big Chance," Irwin shows his interesting manner of portraying human characteristics. "Covetousness, the desire of human nature as strong now as when Moses revealed the Tenth Commandment. Perhaps this morning you coveted a fine diamond which you saw in the jeweler's window and which you could not afford to buy. Did you go into the shop and take it? Assuredly not. Why? For two rea-

PHI BETA KAPPA TO INITIATE 6

Banquet at Pagoda Will Follow Initiation of Members Wednesday

The six students who were elected to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, in December, will be initiated Wednesday, January 18. The initiation will be followed by a dinner at the Pagoda tea shop.

President to Speak

The initiation program will consist of an address of welcome by Prof. Henry L. Reitz, president of the chapter; Origin and Ideals of Phi Beta Kappa, by Mrs. Nellie S. Aurner, Symbols and Ideals, by Violet Blakely, assistant to the dean of women.

The addresses given at the dinner will be an address from the Initiates by Alonzo Jones and Provincillism by George W. Stewart, acting dean of the graduate college.

Six Highest Chosen

Six members of the senior class who have the highest standing, are elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa in December and the remainder of the class, who have an average of ninety per cent are elected to membership in April. In order to be eligible for membership the candidate must do forty-five hours of work in the University. This ruling makes anyone who enters the University in their junior year eligible. An A is considered as ninety-eight per cent, a B as eighty-seven per cent and a C as eighty per cent.

Those who will be initiated are Alonzo Jones G of Lamoni, Glenn P. Aldrich A4 of Corning, Mildred C. Freiburg A4 of Pomeroy, Neomi J. Klauer A4 of Akron, Esther E. Sharpe A4 of Hampton and Ruby I. Watts U of Iowa City.

VARSITY DEVELOPING A NEW FORM OF OFFENSIVE PLAYING

Two New Men Appear for Practice Last Night—Try Long Shots

Sinking the ball for baskets from all points on the floor, the varsity showed last night that the fault shooting that lost the Wisconsin game had disappeared. In the first half of the scrimmage both Shimek and Devine scored three or four long baskets, while Shimek ran in several short shots.

Varsity and Seconds Battle

The seconds then took on the scrubs for a fairly long scrimmage in which their superior team work was too much for the thirds. The scrubs then retired in favor of the varsity, and a hard fought scrimmage between the varsity and the seconds lasting about ten minutes was staged, with the varsity on the top end, mainly on account of a pair of baskets by Shimek. Breaking through the varsity on one occasion the seconds managed to score one basket, but the tightened defense of the first string prevented their making any more points.

A great amount of stress is being put on the proper execution of the Iowa offensive game by Coach James Ashmore, who frequently stopped a scrimmage in order to point out some flaw in teamwork, or to criticize faulty passing. On the whole the varsity worked the ball down the floor in a much smoother fashion than they have shown in previous practices. They nearly always kept control of the ball until one of them had a chance to shoot at the basket and they frequently sank their shots.

Developing Offensive Play

Good teamwork, such as Wisconsin put up last Saturday, is needed to advance the ball toward the basket, but a good defense will jam up most offenses beyond shooting distances, unless the forwards learn to break for their goal and force the defense to spread out. This was noticeable in the game last week when the Iowa defense prevented the Wisconsin team from getting many close shots at the basket. Coach Ashmore is working on a type of offense that sends the play deep into the enemy territory giving the men more chance to shoot at the

LIBERAL ARTS WOMEN AND PROFESSIONALS HAVE EVEN CHANCES

Ten O'clock Rules Apply to All Women Living in Approved Homes

Beware, all undergraduate women in professional colleges, the goblins or the Dean of Women will get you if you don't watch out. There is an idea, which seems quite prevalent on the campus, that women in professional college are not subject to the jurisdiction of the Dean of Women or are not governed by the social regulations. An interview with Mrs. Adelaide L. Burge, dean of women, proved this idea to be merely a bubble.

The rules for approved homes state that all undergraduate women must live in such homes. Since the social regulations cover all approved homes, all undergraduate women have the same privileges.

Several undergraduate women in professional colleges were asked regarding this matter. A pharmacy student said, "Do I keep rules? Well, rather; I live at Currier Hall." A feminine "law" said, "I couldn't say just how successful I am in evading the law."

An undergraduate woman exploring the fields of commerce opened her eyes wide when questioned. "Why, do we have to be in by ten?" she asked in a real hurt tone.

These professional students do not obtain their excuses for absences from the Dean of Women, and therefore do not have much to do with that office. Graduate students, the majority of whom are in professional colleges, are not subject to rules. Several undergraduates have special privileges extended to them. These facts, no doubt, have given rise to the idea that undergraduate professional women are not under the control of the Dean.

After this, however, the undergraduate women from the liberal arts college, on meeting the undergraduate women from other colleges after ten o'clock, need feel no inferiority nor necessity to hide behind the nearest lamp post.

COMMITTEES FOR COTILLION WORK

Inter-Committees Appointed For Orchestra and Decorations

Nonignation of three inter-committee committees for the Sophomore Cotillion, to be held February 10, was announced last night by Everett A. Kelloway A2 of Anita, chairman of the sophomore party committee. The appointments were made by Kelloway at a meeting of the party committee held for the expressed purpose of getting the cotillion under way in order that the best possible party may be put on.

The committee appointed by Kelloway follow: Orchestra, Leonard W. Wainwright A2 of Lenox and Max Duckworth A2 of Sioux City; programs, Paul Hathorn D2 of Des Moines and Howard Loverin A2 of Humboldt; decorations, Harold A. McCann S2 of West Liberty and Harold W. Townsend A2 of Sac City.

Limit 200 Couples

It was also decided to limit the ticket sale to 200 and to place the tickets on sale Thursday, January 26. By limiting the attendance to 200 couples the committee believes it will be able to take in enough money to put on a very pleasing and enjoyable dance, and at the same time do away with needless crowding.

The type of decorations and programs has not yet been decided upon but will be discussed by their respective committees this week and some decision arrived at as soon as possible.

Adopt System of Checking

It has, however, been decided that a system of checking will be adopted thus insuring the safety of personal property. It is also announced that provisions will be made for accommodating spectators.

TO CELEBRATE THE DIAMOND JUBILEE FEB. 25

Prof. Forest C. Ensign Heads Committee in Charge of Program

ALL CLASSES SUSPENDED University Founded by Act of First General Assembly, 1847

Extensive plans for the holding of the "Diamond Jubilee", commemorating the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the University are now going forward according to Prof. Forest C. Ensign, chairman of the committee in charge. The jubilee will be held on Saturday, February 25, and all classes will be dismissed for the day.

Big Mass Meeting

Featuring the day will be a monster mass meeting held in the morning. The meeting will take the form of a historical review of the University, and will be addressed by a speaker of national reputation. Just who this will be has not yet been fully determined, but announcement of his name is expected in a few days. "We will make every possible effort to get the one man in the country who is the best suited to the occasion," declared Professor Ensign yesterday.

Next in importance during the day will be a distinctive and historically impressive pageant. Because of the expected weather at that time the pageant will no doubt be given indoors. The pageant will be in charge of Prof. Edward C. Mable of the department of public speaking.

Fifth Yearly Celebration

Although the program is as yet only in skeleton form it seems likely that there will be numerous dinners and luncheons given during the day, at which the historical element will predominate. It is also probable that a large number of alumni will come to Iowa City to help commemorate the founding of the University. This will be the fifth yearly anniversary celebration, and will on account of the three-quarter century mark, be of much more note than the four previous ones have been.

Staff members of the Iowa Alumnus are now busy preparing a special anniversary number of their magazine. The number will be issued a few days before the celebration but will carry the same tone as will be exhibited in the services on the twenty-fifth.

Founded 1847

The State University of Iowa was founded February 25, 1847, by an act of the first general assembly of the legislature which approved the establishing and locating of a state University.

Realization came with somewhat of a struggle. First anticipations were evidenced by an act of congress passed July 20, 1840, which authorized the secretary of the treasury to set apart and reserve from the sale of lands in the territory of Iowa, a grant of land for use and support of a University to be established when Iowa should become a state. There was no specification made as to the location of the said University until the first formal proposal for the relocation of the state capitol.

When the first act concerning the University was passed, however, Iowa City was contemplated as the site of the institution. The University really began its true functioning in 1857, the time of the removal of the state capitol to Des Moines.

Dean First President

Amos Dean of the Albany Law School was elected the first president of the University.

Since that time the University has shown a continual growth both as regards quantity and quality and is now ranked among the leading institutions of the country, with a very bright outlook to still greater growth in the future.

THE DOTTED LINE

The timidity that some people seem to experience over putting their names on the dotted line is tantamount to the modesty that a great many competent writers have evidenced concerning signing their names to articles contributed to the Daily Iowan. It has been necessary in several instances to withhold from publication many articles because the lack of signature has failed to guarantee sincerity and honest intentions.

Articles must be signed, given or sent to the editor, be brief and to the point, and be of the nature of constructive opinion and comment. The name of the writer will ordinarily be attached to the article, but only the initials will be used if so requested.

COMMON BOARD

The first contributor's article in today's Iowan concerning pan-Hellenic's place in the basketball tournament has in the main, evaded the issue. That it was the aim of the articles cited to manufacture controversy between pan-Hellenic and non-pan-Hellenic fraternities is untrue; that they presupposed an existing friction between the two groups is also a mistaken idea. Such constructions can only result from distortion. Friendly relations have existed among the fraternities and cooperation has been the keynote at the interfraternity conference table; there is no reason why it should be otherwise.

The true issue—and it is one that is too trifling to warrant the seemingly undue alarm that has been evidenced—is whether pan-Hellenic should compose one section of the several that are to take part in the tournament or whether it should allow its members to be placed indiscriminately along with the other fraternities in accordance with the schedule which was recently announced. This is the point of discussion. A reading of the accompanying contributor's article will present the proposition. Pan-Hellenic ordinarily conducts an annual basketball tournament among its member fraternities and this with the proposed interfraternity tournament, would create the burden of an excessively high number of games for its various teams to play during the season. In this light, pan-Hellenic would have to sacrifice its accustomed tournament in order to enter the series of games on the proposed schedule, whereas it might, if allowed to compose one of the sections of the tournament, complete both affairs without conflict. Without considering further, this latter appears to be the most satisfactory solution. But what kind of a face will such a procedure put on the whole affair?

Another way of putting the question might be, "I have planned a feast for myself, and my family is preparing a feast. Shall I dispense with my feast and attend that of my family, shall I ignore the family gathering, shall I gorge myself by partaking of both feasts, or shall I bring my own meats and salads and place them at my individual place at the larger board?"

It is desirable that pan-Hellenic should take part in the conference; it is desirable that it should not lose the privilege of determining the winning team within the group; it is not desirable that it should have the burdensome schedule that would be involved in two tournaments. On the other hand, if pan-Hellenic enters the tournament composing a section of its own, it will spoil the flavor of democracy, of one and all alike, that should prevail in such an affair; the fact that one group was set apart, that it is in some way foreign to the separate fraternities composing the opposing groups, that its members are not entered on an equal basis and by equal processes of elimination, will serve as a wet blanket over the fraternal spirit that the tournament should cultivate; the fact that the winner of this or that group will not play the winner of that group, but that the winner of this group will play the winner of the pan-Hellenics; all of these points serve to build up another side of the discussion. Pan-Hellenic undeniably has a problem to meet, and it should not lose sight of the desirability and the expediency of "sitting at the family table."

CONTRIBUTORS COLUMN

To the Editor:

Yesterday's Iowan contained a lengthy news article entitled "Pan-Hellenics Want Lone Oar" and an editorial entitled "Pan-Hellenic" which grossly misrepresents the situation of pan-Hellenic with reference to the interfraternity conference basketball tournament. Because the articles referred to were either a deliberate attempt to manufacture a controversy between pan-Hellenic fraternities and the others in the interfraternity conference, or to represent that they already are at swords' points, I shall attempt to fairly present the situation.

In the first place, there has been no ill-feeling between pan-Hellenic and other fraternities with respect to the proposed inter-fraternity conference tournament. All of the pan-hellenic fraternities are members of the larger organization and took part in the arrangements for the tournament. There is no opposition among the pan-Hellenic fraternities to the proposed tournament.

In the second place, the request of pan-Hellenic that its members be permitted to form one division of the schedule was made in no threatening or combative spirit. Because, for more than fifteen years, these fraternities have held a tournament of their own, and because the members of the organization desired to determine the winner within the organization as heretofore, the committee was requested to group the fraternities in pan-Hellenic into one of the three divisions. Inasmuch as it was necessary, under any plan, to group the fraternities into separate sections, it should not be difficult to see that the grouping suggested would not injure any other fraternity and would have the distinct advantage of relieving any other pan-Hellenic fraternities from the necessity of playing a separate tournament to determine the winner within the organization.

I believe that I am expressing the sentiment of pan-Hellenic fraternities when I state that they sincerely hope that the articles referred to will not have the effect evidently desired by the writers thereof, of manufacturing a controversy or of creating the impression that one exists.

"The Truth", produced under the direction of Charles Brown by the Iowa City center of the Drama League of America at the Englert theater, Tuesday evening, January 10, is a comedy by Clyde Fitch in which a wife, Becky Warder, through an intricate fabric of lies is involved in a tangle with her truth-loving husband. The tangle threatens separation, but the husband's forgiving nature and an eleventh hour fondness for veracity in the wife result in a happy ending. Such a review as this should probably consider the presentation alone, but this much may be said about the play as such: it is built almost entirely around character, and the characters are none of them big. This makes successful production more difficult. Unable to swing an audience by the sheer grandeur of a great personality, the cast must charm it by accurate depiction of the frailer creatures that the author has created.

Mr. Brown Stars

Perhaps an audience which knows some of the people on the stage in a personal way, complicates the problem of producing a piece of drama with emotional integrity. It is hard to see through one's personal acquaintance into the character he is playing, and through a group of acquaintances into an emotional situation. Sometimes, too, the actors fail to comprehend these emotional variations whose contrasts make the strength of a piece. As a result, the audience will laugh, but it refuses to quit laughing, or it sits tearful through many a rollicking line, and that delightful leap from merriment to pathos and back again is entirely lost. In this regard, the cast of "Truth" made a real accomplishment. Mr. Brown, particularly, was unflinching in his ability to bring about that subtle change of mood which is so indispensable to an artistic success. His acting was characterized by simplicity, clarity, and excellent reserve. As the rather profligate old tout, Mr. Steiner, also, deserves credit for an ability to be funny and to be pathetic, and Mrs. Morrow, in the shifting character of Becky Warder, was strong in holding the interpretation of moods to their laughter or tears.

Characters Well Acted

There was, in all, a distinct adequacy of character depiction to the theme of the story, and since this was a play of character that is perhaps, as much success as could be desired. Mrs. Warder was weak enough to lie repeatedly, and barely strong enough to quit lying altogether under severe pressure. Her husband was human enough to set her beneath his standard of truth, and human enough, too, and in love enough to forgive her in the end. Roland was gambler enough to have hazy principles, father enough to fight for his daughter's happiness. The laugh-provoking Mrs. Crespigny provoked few enough laughs to be human instead of burlesque. Eve Lindon was jealous enough to do all the things that Mr. Fitch wanted her to do, and charming enough to provide another excuse for disliking her husband. That husband, Fred Lindon, was attractive enough to be liked by certain women, and flabby enough to be detestable.

Audience Restless

The play started under a rather heavy emotional strain. There was much nervous moving about and excitement of gesture. After Mr. Brown's entrance things pulled together, and proceeded more quietly which is fortunate, for it would have taken a bombardment of heavy guns to have produced a climax if the tension of the first few minutes had continued. But that is a small matter, easily forgotten. The thing to remember is that the cast of the "Truth" did some distinctive acting, and showed some careful directing, under the usual handicap of playing to people who know them by their first names on the street.

CORDUROY AND WOOL HOSE ARE FAST DISPLACING THE FASHION PLATE CLOTHING

To the stranger on the campus, the appearance of the college man is one of bewilderment. What has become of the immaculate college youth of the movies? Is the college man of the movies passing with the changing years? Is he becoming more and more western, or is his attempt to change his style of dress just to suit a passing fancy? Whatever there is in the motive the appearance of the college youth has passed through a radical change. Is the change only a college fad or is it a style that has come to stay.

Not to be outdone by the women who have passed through the stage of wearing galoshes to the knicker stage, has come the corduroy stage of men's fashions in the University. The snappily dressed model college youth of the movies is passing and in his stead comes the corduroy and stocking clad hard working and rural appearing chap. Corduroy has become the rage. Corduroy vests and finally the extremely odd and Bohemian corduroy shirt are coming into their own. What will be next? The windows of the leading clothing merchants have not yet displayed corduroy neckties or corduroy hose but advance information points to the possibility of their appearance at any moment.

No longer can the fastidiously clad liberal arts student be picked out from his rather roughly clad college chum the engineer. High top shoes and rough leather and corduroy vests have supplanted the highly polished shoe and the fashionable suit. No, even as the styles of the women change, so have the long standing costumes of the men passed through a change even more startling.

The golf links are not the only place where men clad in knickers and long woolen hose can be seen. It has become the standard of the campus and a boon for the stores. To the stranger on the campus this all appears to be startling but to the collegian it is the dawn of a new era of style.

REGISTRATION PLANS FOR NEXT SEMESTER ARE NOW COMPLETED

Registration of all students now on the campus, except students in the college of medicine, will be completed by Saturday evening, January 28. The medical students will register during the first week of the second semester.

Some items in the plans for the registration of the students in the colleges of liberal arts, education, commerce, and the graduate college, are as follows:

1. Registration will proceed steadily between class and examination appointments from 8 o'clock Monday morning, January 16, to 5 o'clock Saturday evening, January 28. All students in these four colleges who are reasonably sure that they will pass all their work of the first semester, will register as follows:

- a. Those who last names begin with letters A to H, inclusive, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 16 to 18, inclusive.
  - b. Those whose last names begin with letters I to Q, inclusive, on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, January 19 to 21, inclusive.
  - c. Those whose last names begin with letters R to Z, inclusive, on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, January 23 to 25, inclusive.
  - d. Students who know, or have cause to suspect, that they will fail in one or more courses of the first semester, will confer with their advisers, respectively, within the three-day periods specified above under 1, a, b, and c,—according to the letters with which their last names begin. If in their advisers' judgments they should defer their registration till after all their grades can be reported, the advisers will issue to them a "Defer Registration" card, specifying the period of time within which they are to register. This card should be carefully preserved by each student who gets it, and (1) shown to the tuition clerk, who will be stationed near the Secretary's office, and (2) finally given, along with the registration coupons and class-cards, to a checker at the counter in the Registrar's office, to show whether or not the "late registration fee" is to be charged.
2. Any student now on the campus who completes his registration, including the payment of his fees and the depositing of his registration coupons, class-cards and fee-card at the Registrar's counter,—all in acceptable condition, after the end of the period within which he is to complete his registration, according to the schedule found above in 1, a, b, c, and d, must pay the prescribed late registration fee of $2.00 for the first day's delay, and $1.00 for each additional day's delay. The University does not want to collect a single dollar in late registration fees;—it only wants the students to complete registration betimes, and in as orderly a manner as possible.
3. All students in these four colleges should be very sure to get their registration materials including (a) a Schedule of Courses, (b) a registration coupon form, and (c) a packet of blank class-cards, on Saturday, January 14, according to the following plan:
- a. SENIORS, at Registrar's office.
  - b. JUNIORS and SOPHOMORES, hall of liberal arts, first floor, north end.
  - c. FRESHMEN, hall of liberal arts, first floor, south end.
  - d. GRADUATE STUDENTS, lobby in Old Capitol.
4. NO OTHER OPPORTUNITY TO SECURE THE NECESSARY REGISTRATION MATERIALS WILL BE GIVEN. Students obtaining these registration materials on Saturday, January 14, will have excellent opportunity, largely in their own rooms, to plan their work for the second semester and their registration procedure, in such a way as to be certain of completing their registration readily within the period of time set apart for them.
- In all respects students should follow the directions and regulations clearly and fully stated in the Schedule of Courses and on the top section of the registration coupon form.
5. NEW STUDENTS will be registered during the last three days of the first semester and the first three days of the second semester.
6. All students registering for courses in the department of education are required to confer with the acting head of that department in order to receive guidance as to the appropriate courses with special reference to the state teachers' certificate requirements; and to secure upon coupon 2 the signature of Professor Forrest C. Ensign.
- Any student registering for any course in any department in reference to which the program announces, in marks of parenthesis just under the course-title (consult instructor for permission to register) without having first personally seen the instructor or head of the department indicated and secured his consent, may look for dismissal from the class, and will be subject to any change in registration fine which results.
7. Students in the professional colleges will register as follows:
- a. Colleges of law, dentistry, and applied science, Monday, January 23 at 8 o'clock a. m. to Saturday, January 28, inclusive.
  - b. College of pharmacy, Thursday, January 26, at 8 o'clock a. m. to Saturday, January 28, inclusive.
  - c. College of medicine, Monday, January 30, at 8 o'clock a. m., to Saturday, February 4, inclusive.

Students registering in these professional colleges will first call at the office of the University secretary, Old Capitol, and pay their tuition fees, receiving their tuition cards. They will then take these tuition cards to the offices of their respective deans, and complete their registration. Students now on the campus registering in these colleges after the close of the periods of registration as specified above in 7, a, b, c, will be required to pay the prescribed late registration fee of $2 for the first day's delay, and $1 additional for each day of further delay in registration.

MacKinnon A3 of Hawarden; and reader, Gregory Foley A3 of Rock Rapids.

The consolidated school at Tipton wishes the men to give an entertainment there soon, according to Hubert H. Matt L2 of Iowa City, manager of the glee club. The club is planning to make several other over-night trips to small towns within a radius of fifteen miles of Iowa City, but no contracts have been made with any towns yet. Several weekend trips including a program on Friday and one on Saturday night, are contemplated. During Easter vacation a four day trip will be made, but the course of the trip has not been decided.

Concert in March

The feature concert of the club will be given here about the middle of March. It will include many new numbers as well as those on the regular program given on the various tours.

Appear at Games

It is probable that the glee club quartette will sing between halves at many of the basketball games this winter as it did at the Iowa-Wisconsin game last Saturday night. An entertainment at one of the basketball games by the whole glee club is also being considered.

Club Praised

The club was highly complimented by all of the local papers in the cities where it gave concerts on its Christmas tour. The "Mason City Globe-Gazette" says concerning the glee club program: "Never in the opinion of most of the 250 who attended was a more successful concert staged by a college organization. For each main number on the program there was an encore with a 'kick'."

Of the director of the club a Charles City paper says, "Prof. Walter Leon, true to his mark of greatness, kept himself in the background, but one who knew music could not help but feel the pulse of his influence in every strain." The same paper praises the talent of the quartette: "The quartette, made up of Devine Clem, Albert Eisenhart, James Houghton and Fred Shore, put forth a choice assortment of harmonies and their numbers were of such a character as to win an audience."

Of the soloist a Mason City paper says, "In James Houghton, baritone soloist, who sang Gounod's 'Even Bravest Hearts,' Mason City had the privilege of hearing one of the richest and most powerful voices in the Middle West. Scotti, famous opera tenor, has characterized him as one of the most promising young singers in the country."

GLEE CLUB TO GO ON TRIP

Men Will Give Lyceum Number at Sharon Center Tonight

The men's glee club of the University will go to Sharon Center, eleven miles southwest of Iowa City this evening, where it will present the same program which it gave on its Christmas tour. The club has been secured to give one of the weekly entertainments included in the lyceum course at Sharon City. This series of programs are financed by public subscriptions taken up in that city, and no price is paid for admission to any entertainment.

15 to Go

The men who will go to Sharon Center are first tenors A. D. Clem L2 of Iowa City, Vernon Thomas A3 of Creston, R. A. Rockhill L2 of Larchwood; second tenors, A. V. Eisenhart D4 of Iowa City, H. A.

HISTORY CONFERENCE FOR HIGH SCHOOLS HERE FEBRUARY 17 AND 18

Teachers of history in the secondary schools of this state will hold their second annual conference under the auspices of the history department of the University at Iowa City, February 17 and 18. Last year seventy-five teachers, representative of all parts of the state, were present at this meeting.

Reports from the office of Prof. A. M. Schlesinger, head of the history department, state that members of the University's history staff are busy collecting material. A display of maps, charts, and other aids to history teaching will be a feature of the conference.

This year one of the principal addresses on the program will be by Ellen Churchill Semple, the author of a number of books on geographical influences in history. Perhaps the best known of these is "American History and its Geographic Conditions", which is probably the outstanding authority on this approach to American history. Other details of the program are being arranged.

SOCIETY

Strand-Inlow

The marriage of Ruby Strand '20 of Moorhead to C. Clare Inlow of Greenfield occurred December 27 at Moorhead.

While at the University Mrs. Inlow became a member of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary educational fraternity and of Hesperia Literary society. During the past year she has taught history in the Greenfield high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Inlow will make their home in Madrid where Mr. Inlow is in business.

Scherer-Abbott

The marriage of Lucille Scherer to Frank L. Abbott, both of Afton occurred December 29 at Afton.

Mrs. Abbott attended the University for three and a half years, and held an exceptionally high scholastic standing. Mr. Abbott attended the University for one year, and transferred to the University of Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott will make their home in Columbia, Missouri, until the close of the school year, where Mr. Abbott will finish his course in journalism.

Potter-Fields

Faith Potter of Riceville and Lester Rae Fields '14 of Cresco were married December 31 at Riceville.

Mr. and Mrs. Fields left immediately for Chicago, and will be at home in Cresco after January 5.

Alpha Tau Omega

Alpha Tau Omega will give a dancing party at the Pagoda Tea Shop Saturday evening, January 14. Prof. and Mrs. W. H. Wilson and Lieut. and Mrs. Thomas Martin will chaperon.

Cotillion will be chaperoned Friday night by Mrs. Laura Montgomery and Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carson.

University Club

The University Club will resume its Sunday evening suppers, starting next Sunday, January 15. Mrs. W. O. Coast will act as hostess at the initial meeting.

Entertain at Dinner

Prof. and Mrs. Charles C. Nutting will entertain the Comparative Vertebrate zoology class of the University at dinner, Friday evening, January 13, at their home at 922 E. Washington street.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

There will be a short meeting of the members of Zetaganthian immediately after the debate this evening. Freshmen must all be present.

H. M. Ofelt, president.

There will be a meeting of the Undergraduates Mathematics club Thursday, January 12 at 4 p. m. in room 222 Physics building. Mr. Orley Brown will talk on "Euclids Parallel Postulate". All mathematics students are urged to attend.

Ralph Kennon, president.

There will be a meeting of the French Club tonight in the liberal arts drawing room at 7:15 o'clock. Josephine Daus, president.

There will be a meeting of Staff and Circle this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Dean of Women's office. Jean Spiers, president.

Announcements have been received and posted of two fellowships in the School of Classical Studies of the American Academy of Rome. These fellowships each represent a value of $1000 a year, and are open on competition to graduates of American colleges. Further details may be obtained from Pro. B. L. Ullman.

A woman's glove was found in front of Taylor's Candy Shop.

MEN TRY OUT FOR SQUADS

Wrestlers Meet Wednesday and Thursday to Compete For Varsity Team

Tryouts for the varsity wrestling team will be held next Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 p. m. Tryouts will begin with the 115 pound class and then will proceed through the 125, 135, 145, 158, 175 pound and heavyweight classes respectively. The tryouts will be held in 12 minute periods and as many men as possible will be matched off on Wednesday and the remainder will be completed on Thursday.

Hunter Looks Good

Heldt and Kriz are working out in the heavyweight division and the bout between the two men will be a good one. Heldt has the advantage of having had the experience of last year but Kriz is also a good man. Hunter, the last year's heavy-weight is the logical man for the light-heavyweight class, and Smith will probably take the 158 pound class. Competition is keen for the other weights although Captain Sweeney will easily take the 145 pound class. The first wrestling match of the season will be with Purdue on February 17. The freshmen will have a wrestling tournament in the early part of March.

Freshmen wrestlers under Coach Mike Howard are rounding into shape and will be able to give the varsity strong competition when the men are matched. A team of the best men of the various weights will be chosen from the one hundred and forty men now taking the regular training. Men making this team will receive the numeral for their work.

New Men Good

"The men are almost new at the game," said Coach Howard, "but several of them could now hold their own with more experienced men of the varsity squad."

Some of the men showing promise because of ability and hard work are Halweg, Roberts, Benzon, Jougeward, Freeburg, and McDonald. Coach Howard does not state which varsity men these freshmen could displace if eligible, but is very confident of their rapid progress.

FACULTY DISCUSSES THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE

At the faculty meeting yesterday afternoon in room 213 of the liberal arts building, action was taken on the much discussed question of establishing a University book store.

Debate on the proposal was limited, and after a brief discussion the faculty authorized the appointing of a committee to consider the establishing of a book store to be conducted entirely by the University.

Dean George F. Kay of the liberal arts college was chosen to appoint a committee to be composed of three members. This committee is to make an investigation and report at the next faculty meeting on the desirability and feasibility of establishing a University book store.

100 REGISTERED FOR BANKERS CONVENTION

Third Annual Meeting to be Under Supervision of Extension Division

JESSUP GIVES WELCOME

Senator Smoot of Utah Cannot Appear on Program as Was Previously Planned

Over a hundred have registered for the Iowa Bankers convention to be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, January 17, 18 and 19 in the natural science auditorium. The extension division expects several hundred more to register before the beginning of the convention, besides those that will come in at the last minute.

Third Annual Convention

This is the third annual convention of the association since its beginning in 1920. The first one had an attendance of over five hundred. Last year the number was considerably less due to financial conditions of the different banks throughout the state.

Smoot Not Coming

Several important speakers are on the program from out of the state, among them are John C. Mechen of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, Mr. C. B. Hurrey of Roper, Hurrey and Parks of Washington, D. C. Senator Smoot of Utah who, it was hoped by all interested in the association, would speak on some practical problem in which everyone would be interested, has notified the extension division that he will be unable to be present.

Opens Tuesday

The convention will open at ten o'clock on Tuesday morning with an address of welcome by President Walter A. Jessup which will be responded to by Frank B. Yetter, president of the Bankers Association.

Banquet at Jefferson

At 6:30 Wednesday evening a banquet will be served for the delegates to the convention at the Jefferson. Several speeches will be given by members of the convention.

There will be plenty of room for all the delegates, says O. E. Klingaman of the extension division. If more come than have been planned for, it will be necessary for them to be placed around at the different houses.

The program for the convention is as follows:

Tuesday

10:00 Address of welcome, President Walter A. Jessup.

10:30 Response, Frank B. Yetter, president of the Iowa Insurance Association.

11:00 Income tax from farm sales, H. D. McIntosh.

1:30 Net Income Tax Law as it affects Individuals, John T. Carrol, chief of the income tax division.

2:30 Federal Revenue Tax, P. R. Baldridge, chief of federal division.

3:30 Income Tax Effecting Banking, Clayton B. Stewart.

Wednesday

9:00 War Finance Corporation in Its Relations to Iowa—Grant McPherrin, president of the State Bankers Association of Des Moines.

10:00 Analysis of Borrowers Financial Statement—Dean C. A. Phillips of the college of commerce.

10:30 Evils of Tax Exemption Securities—John C. Mechen, vice-president of the First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago.

1:30 Federal Sales Tax, C. B. Hurrey of Roper, Hurrey and Parks, Washington, D. C.

2:30 What Legal Defences has a party to a Negotiable Instrument, Prof. R. M. Perkins of the college of law.

3:30 Civil and Criminal Liabilities of the Bank Officers, J. M. Parsons, attorney for the Iowa Bankers Association.

Thursday

9:00 Financial Advertising, G. W. Coake of the First National Bank of Chicago.

10:00 The Effect of Our Present Tax System, Prof. R. W. Stone of the college of commerce.

10:30 Bank Architectural Plans, Bryon B. Boyd of Boyd and Moore.

11:15 Business and Economics, Prof. Frank H. Knight of the college of commerce.
