COSTLY GOWNS TO BE USED IN STAGING COMEDY

Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing" to Have Artistic Scenes

CHOIR BOYS WILL SING
Lucille Everett and Henry Ruwe to Take Leading Parts

Probably the most elaborate and artistic stage setting ever used in a University play will be seen in the production of "Much Ado About Nothing," a comedy by William Shakespeare, at the University theater tomorrow night. Over $3,000 worth of equipment will be used in the staging of the play after the manner of the production of "Twelfth Night" in the Moscow Art Theater, Moscow, Russia, and the gorgeous set of costumes which have arrived will be entirely in keeping with the stage properties.

Draperies will be made use of extensively, no attempt being made to use background scenes. The work of preparing the stage to present a realistic setting has been accomplished by the class in dramatic production under the supervision of Harry B. Goundery of Iowa City.

Garden and Cathedral Scenes
Probably the outstanding scenes of the play from the point of view of the audience, according to Prof. E. C. Mable of the department of speech, director of the University theater, are the garden and the cathedral scenes. The former is a portrayal of the garden of Leonato governor of Messina, and is being done in shades of brown, orange, gold and black. The main feature of the cathedral scene will be the gorgeous gold and black altar which is set off beautifully by drapes in the background.

The programs will carry out the spirit of the play in that they will be a facsimile of the title page of the Quarto edition of Shakespeare which was published in 1600. A. D. Music furnished by the University theater orchestra, led by Prof. Frank E. Kendrie of the school of music, will be appropriate to the play.

Suoppel to Play "Leonato"
Iowa City people will probably be most interested in the work of Francis N. Suoppel, who will play the part of Leonato, governor of Messina. Mr. Suoppel, a man past sixty years of age, lends maturity to his portrayal of a character that gives a professional atmosphere to the play itself. He has been active in amateur dramatics before Iowa City audiences for the past thirty years. His last appearance was in the part of John Read in the play "Milestones" played by the Iowa City center of the Drama League at the Englert theater last year. Mr. Suoppel's interpretation of the character Leonato in rehearsals of "Much Ado About Nothing" has been unusually fine and promises a treat to the audience tomorrow night.

Student Actors Take Leads
Of University students who are taking part in the play Lucille Everett A4 of Iowa Falls has been employing an intensity in her interpretation of the part of Beatrice which will not fail to impress the audience on tomorrow night. Miss Everett has been in a number of amateur productions on the campus during the last few years and her ability on the stage is well known to University play goers.

Another player of ability, playing opposite Beatrice in the part of Benedict is Henry Ruwe A4 of Marathon. Ruwe has appeared several times in amateur productions of Irving-Erodolphian and the University Players and has an excellent chance to use his ability in the part of Benedict. Persis Carney A2 of Greene will play the part of Hero, George Hurley A3 of Rolfe the part of Don Pedro and Raymond F.

DR. R. M. ANDERSON CRITICIZES STEFANSSON FOR "FAKE" LECTURES

Dr. V. Stefansson, who was graduated from the college of liberal arts in 1902, and who has since become renowned as an Arctic explorer, has been severely criticized by Dr. Rudolph Martin Anderson, for some of the statements made in his lectures concerning the Arctic region and his five year's spent in the far north. Dr. Anderson, who was with Stefansson on his expedition, was a fellow student with Stefansson, and was graduated from the college of liberal arts in 1903, later receiving his Ph. D.

Dr. Anderson has publicly denounced Stefansson for indulging in "fakes" in his lectures and in deceiving newspapermen of the world. Dr. Anderson says that Arctic living is not the pastime that Stefansson pictures it, and that Stefansson had abundance of food from the party stores, whereas he had made the public believe he was getting his food largely out of the seas, and from the frozen earth. He also maintains that the expedition cost a half million dollars, whereas it was to cost but $75,000.

COUNCIL HOPES FOR BIG DANCE

Many Features Planned for Loan Fund Hop January 21

One of the most attractive parties of the year will be the informal dance given Saturday evening, January 21, by the student council for the benefit of the student loan fund. A special committee has been appointed for this purpose, and the plans are now complete.

The dance will be given at the Cotillion hall, which will give the students the advantage of a good floor. The hall has recently been redecorated and presents a pleasing appearance. The committee has secured the Clark-Stoddard orchestra of Cedar Rapids. Accompanying the orchestra is Joe Stoddard, a clever feature singer and drummer. Programs for the dance are being donated by the Athens printing shop. The price of admission is $1.25.

Edmund J. Harrington D4 of Sioux City, chairman of the committee, says, "We have only planned one dance so far, but we are endeavoring to make arrangements with different halls and orchestras for future dates. We have done everything possible to make the dance Saturday night a success."

The dance is being given not only to aid students who are in need of financial help, but to better University spirit. Henry J. Prentiss A4 of Iowa City, one of the members of the dance committee says, "We are trying very hard to make this a real party and to make a start toward all-University informal parties."

In speaking of this dance and of the loan tag day, Violet Blakely, assistant dean of women, remarked, "At least $2,000 should be raised for this worthy purpose. Other drives are successful; there is no reason why this one should not be."

DEAN BREENE WILL ATTEND CONFERENCES OF DENTAL TEACHERS

Dr. F. T. Breene, dean of the college of dentistry, went to Chicago yesterday to attend a testimonial banquet to the president of the National Dental Association, Dr. J. P. Buckley, of Los Angeles. Dr. Breene will also attend a meeting of the dental faculties at Montreal January 22 to 25.

An association for Dental Research will be held January 27 in New York at which Dr. Breene will be a guest. Dr. Breene is a member of the honorary committee for the testimonial banquet to be given Dr. Augustus S. Downing, commissioner of professional education for the state of New York, at Hotel Astor, January 28.

FRATERNITIES VOTE ON NEW CONSTITUTION

Delegates Adopt Changes in Interfraternity Council

CHAPTERS TO GIVE O. K.

Provides For Three Faculty Members Appointed by President

Delegates of the various fraternities composing the interfraternity council voted favorably on a new constitution for that organization at a meeting last night at the S. A. E. house. The changes adopted last night must be acted upon by each fraternity in the council before the constitution will become effective.

Some of the new articles acted upon last night are as follows:

There shall be three members of the faculty of the University appointed annually by the president from names submitted by a committee of the interfraternity council to become members of that body. Only one member was provided for in the old constitution.

Each faculty member and each chapter delegate shall have one vote in the conference.

There shall be a business committee the purpose of which is to act upon new business to come before the conference.

Delegates to the interfraternity council shall be chosen by each fraternity for one year. They shall be above sophomore rating in the University.

ORCHESTRA TO BE INCREASED

One Hour's Credit Given Members in College of Liberal Arts

Prof. F. E. Kendrie, conductor of the University orchestra, wishes to increase the size of that organization to sixty members next semester. This will be quite easily accomplished providing the students who have real ability will turn out, according to Professor Kendrie.

"Many students do not know that credit is given in the college of liberal arts for work in the orchestra," says Professor Kendrie. One hour's credit a semester is given to all members of the orchestra who are registered for not more than fifteen hours of academic work. Students enrolled for sixteen hours work and whose grades average between B and C may petition the faculty committee to be allowed an additional hour's credit. Sophomores taking year courses only may petition the committee to receive the extra credit. Students must enroll at the beginning of the semester.

The credit for orchestra work is given to standardize the work and to let the student know that the work is of real value to himself.

Should Try Out Soon

Students who think themselves qualified to play in the orchestra should make appointments as soon as possible for tryouts with Professor Kendrie, room 5, Johnson building. The wood-wind and brass sections of the orchestra will be kept small, but additions to the string sections will be welcomed.

The orchestra owns two violas and two double basses which are not now in use. At present the orchestra is composed of forty-seven members. They are divided as follows:

Violin Section Large
Violins—Ruth E. Austin A2 of Wilton, Jacob F. Allebach A1 of Iowa City, Lyle J. Bailey A3 of Marion, Clarence E. Bennett A4 of Reinbeck, Samuel H. Bobrov S3 of Centerville, Alma K. REAL VALUE OF ARMS PARLEY STILL IN DOUBT

Five Great Powers Have Agreed Not to Fortify Pacific Islands

LIMIT USE OF SUBMARINES

Important Agreement Reached on Use of Poison Gas in War Time

The Limitation of Armaments Conference at Washington has been a success for the most part and has accomplished a great deal according to Prof. Jacob Van der Zee of the political science department. "The excellent proposals contained in Secretary of State Hughes's first speech to the conference have not been carried as they were proposed although they have aided materially in reaching the conclusions of the Conference," said Professor Van der Zee. "The five great powers have agreed not to fortify their islands in the Pacific and they will discontinue to pour millions into naval bases there except in Japan proper, Australia, New Zealand, and the Hawaiian Islands."

Hughes Proposal Prevails

"The conference succeeded in deciding what the strength of the five national navies shall be only in respect to the number of capital ships such as dreadnoughts and battle-cruisers in each navy. The ratio of the five navies as proposed by Secretary Hughes has prevailed

BASKET SQUAD TAKES A SLUMP

Game With Purdue Saturday May Be Hardest on Iowa's Schedule

With Coach James N. Ashmore back in Iowa City, the Hawkeye basketball team started a hard series of practices last night in preparation for the game with Purdue next Saturday in the new armory. Coach Lambert's Boilermakers are expected to place among the highest in the conference, and some experts think that they will lead the list at the close of the basketball season. Four veteran basketball men will appear in the Purdue lineup Saturday all of them first class, all-around basketball players and present indications point to another Hawkeye loss.

The main trouble with the Hawkeyes seems to be their poor basket shooting ability. Although Coach Ashmore spends a great deal of time in working with them in this important phase of the game, there seems to be little improvement in their work. The men play a wonderful defensive game, they are fast on the floor, they can work the ball down close to the basket, but they cannot make the points necessary to win. No matter how good a team may be on the defensive, they have to make a certain number of baskets to win the game. Until the Hawkeyes can do this, they will have to be content with wins by very close margins, and defeats.

Shimek is holding his own in the scoring, making his usual average of free throws, and caging an occasional basket as he has always done. Burgett shows the most improvement among the other four men and should develop into a scorer before the season is over. Aubrey Devine makes an occasional basket, usually of the hardest possible kind, but does not seem to be sure with his short throws. Lohman has been up against a good guard in each of the two games, and his chances at the bas-

STUDENTS DELAYING REGISTRATION SAYS ASSISTANT REGISTRAR

Registration in proceeding more slowly than it should if all are to complete their registration in the college of liberal arts, the college of commerce, the college of education and the graduate college within the periods of time set apart for the several groups as announced in Sunday's Iowan. At least 350 students should be registered each day but only about 125 were registered on Monday. Not enough registered yesterday.

Students whose last names begin with A to H inclusive should remember that the late registration fee begins on Thursday morning of this week, according to Charles H. Maruth, assistant registrar. Students whose last names begin I to Q inclusive have until Monday, January 23. The remainder have until January 26. The late registration fee is $2 for the first day and $1 for each additional day.

A. F. I. TO PLAN A DAD'S DAY

Men's Senior Organization Wants to Bring Fathers to Iowa Campus

A "Dad's Day" is to be inaugurated at the University this year if the plans made by A. F. I., men's honorary senior organization at a meeting yesterday, materialize. Dad's Day is celebrated at practically every large university in the middle west with the exception of Iowa. The primary purpose is to get the fathers of students to visit the University, to get in touch with the students and the faculty and to see how the University is run at the present time.

At University of Illinois Dad's Day" was discussed at interfraternity council meeting last night. The question as to the advisability of setting apart a day for fathers will be taken up with the student council, quadrangle association, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and Staff and Circle according to Edgar A. Goodrich L3 of Anoka Minnesota, president of A. F. I.

The interfraternity council at its meeting last night at the S. A. E. house voted favorably to support the proposal of A. F. I. It was suggested that there be no pretentious entertainment. A tour of inspection of the University in order to show the fathers the serious nature of the work done here was also suggested.

President Jessup is also to be consulted by A. F. I. today. Committees will then be appointed but probably no definite steps will be taken until after the semester examinations.

Discuss Two Plans

A. F. I. discussed two plans for the celebration. One plan would have the parents, particularly the fathers, visit the University from Friday until Sunday, preferably some weekend when a basketball game is scheduled here. This would give the parents an opportunity to see the University functioning.

The other plan was to have a mass meeting, speakers and a celebration somewhat similar to a Homecoming celebration.

At the university of Illinois Dad's Day is celebrated concurrently with Homecoming. Those who have attended state that the plan is a great success. Other universities of the Big Ten conference which celebrate a Dad's Day are: Ohio State, University of Michigan, Northwestern University and University of Minnesota.

Jessup Backs Plan

"Dad's Day" would certainly be a fine thing," said President Walter A. Jessup yesterday afternoon. "It ought to be carefully planned, however, to insure its success."

President Jessup believes that fathers would be particularly interested in seeing the University when it was running normally, to have them visit their sons on Friday and remain over Sunday preferably

NOTED REPORTER AND WRITER TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Will Irwin Will Lecture in Natural Science at 8 O'clock

ACE OF CORRESPONDENTS

Author of "The Babes of Belgium" and "Men, Women and War"

Will Irwin, the "Ace of Correspondents," will deliver a University lecture this evening at 8 o'clock in the natural science auditorium. His subject has not been announced. Should he talk of his own experiences only, his lecture will provide his hearers with a great deal of entertainment, thrills, and no little information according to Benjamin F. Shambaugh, chairman of University lecture committee. Irwin's record shows that he has risen from "cub" reporter to his present position of "Ace" in less than twenty years.

Author of War Books

He is the author of the following books: "The Babes of Belgium," "The Latin at War," "Men, Women and War," and "A Reporter at Armagedon." He also has published articles on the trouble in the Ruhr Valley, "Business Diplomacy," and many other subjects in the Saturday Evening Post.

Irwin has the reputation for writing the "real stuff" having human interests and lacking dryness. Some of his "deepest" articles are full of amusing things. In his "Business Diplomacy" published in the Saturday Evening Post last year he compares the old attitude towards the man wearing a wrist watch and parting his hair in the middle to the attitude towards foreign service. "We are great people, we Americans."

"We Have Flaws"

"We do have our flaws. One which seems to lie deep in our mentality is a distrust for new habits, customs and ways, especially if they bear a foreign stamp or seem too refined. At present as a beneficent by-product of the war, one can wear a wrist watch without fear of lynching. It was not so five years ago; but for the war it would not be so yet. Notwithstanding that wearing the watch over the pulse instead of over the abdomen was a most masculine habit, originating among South African riders of the veldt; soldiers on far-tropical campaigns and other such real he-men, the custom was supposed to be tainted with foreign affectation and therefore effeminate."

"Those of us who have passed forty remember the time when there was the same queer on a man who parted his hair conveniently down the ridge which Nature provided for the purpose along the top of his head."

"Straight to the point, this same spirit, or something which springs from the same source has prevented us for this many a decade from doing anything sensible about our diplomatic service."

IOWA PROFESSORS TO ATTEND CONVENTION OF ENGINEERING SOCIETY

Dean William G. Raymond and Prof. John H. Dunlap of the college of applied science, Prof. Edward Bartow, head of the department of chemistry, and Prof. Jack J. Hinman of the University medical laboratories will attend the Iowa State Engineering society convention at Sioux City. The convention begins today and will hold its meetings until January 20.

Professor Dunlap is the president of the society, and Professor Hinman is a member of the advisory council. Professor Bartow will present a paper in the program on the general topic of chemistry in relation to the engineering profession.

Dean Raymond will extend, on behalf of the Iowa City commercial club, an invitation to hold its 1923 convention in Iowa City.

NAUGHTY APRODITE

There probably is no excuse for us to hark back to the old adage, "Spare the rod and spoil the child," it is too liable to debate. It would be useless to advance any hard and fast principle that would embrace all puzzling questions of an ethical nature; it is unthinkable that we might draw a nicely sharp line as a boundary for what we often call "a proper morale." That no man can lay down the law in these matters must be considered in remarking upon the propriety of discouraging the attendance of women students of the University at such an entertainment as "Aphrodite."

The play was not approved and it was generally understood that women were not to attend, and yet any woman who was denied the privilege of attending was a loser. The man who saw it and did not feel disappointment because his mother or his sister were not with him, must surely have looked upon it from an unbalanced viewpoint. On the other hand, he would not feel that he was lowered in his own estimation, that he had suffered regeneration, or that his time was ill-spent. Will Irwin will lecture here tonight and a large attendance will be urged. This is gratifying for he is an able and famous man, yet he will only picture a small corner of life; "Aphrodite" was huge. Those who do not know intimately the tragedies of Aeschylus, Euripides, and Sophocles but only guess at their content might wonder if they were altogether unlike this modern play. Whether good or bad, classic or light, pleasing or not, it seems safe to say that it was not immoral. False modesty is more vulgar than open boldness. It should not operate to prevent University students from attending entertainment of an essentially commendable nature.

UNFORTUNATE CONFLICTS

Any production of a Shakespearean play is laudable, laudable either in its production or its ambitious attempt. Students are scarcely apt to go amiss, therefore, in giving attention to such productions here on our campus. Indeed, anything that would indicate disparagement of enthusiasm in fostering the student production of "Much Ado About Nothing" tomorrow night should not be taken as representative of the most desirable attitude that those interested in the University might assume.

A great many students lament the fact that, since they are required to take examinations at a time which is in direct conflict with tomorrow night's production, they will be unable to attend. Many of them are interested in dramatics, recognize the educational value of the production, and find it definitely desirable that they should see it, yet they meet with a barrier of examinations at a time which is, apparently, arbitrarily determined.

It seems desirable that examinations should, if possible, be given at a time that will not be in conflict with student attendance at such entertainment as a Shakespearean production should inevitably prove to be.

CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

To the Editor.

Much has been said and much has been written about the losses of garments and various personal belongings at the University library and also at the various college gatherings. Up to the present time nothing has been said or written about the disappearance of University books from the University libraries. These books have been placed so that the student body can have free access to them and as a result the students have violated the principles of right doing and in many instances have appropriated these books for their own use and have taken them from the library unseen and unnoted.

This fact was brought very forcibly to my attention when upon asking for a book which had been placed on the reserve desk for reference in a certain course I found that although there had originally been six of the books on reserve there was not one single copy left. These books had not been checked out but had been surreptitiously taken by students and taken to their homes. This seems to me to be a sad state of affairs when University students who are supposed to represent the highest type of young man and womanhood will lower themselves as to take articles that do not belong to them.

Not only will they take books from the libraries but it has been brought to my attention that a certain instructor had two books taken from his desk by students when the professor was not in the room, and these books were not returned. This same professor now says that he must keep his books under lock and key in order that they shall not be taken from him.

This petty larceny, is not on the decline at Iowa University, but on the contrary, I believe that it is on the increase. Hats, coats, umbrellas, notebooks, books, and various other articles will be missed as soon as the eye is taken from them. Drastic action should be taken if any offenders be caught, and an example of them will probably cause all would-be petty thieves to think once more before they appropriate anything that does not belong to them.
C. Smith.

although a slight modification was allowed in favor of Great Britain and Japan. With regard to the strength of the auxiliary ships which the five national navies shall have the Conference failed to absolutely reach any decision," said Professor Van der Zee.

Poison Gas Prohibited

According to Professor Van der Zee the situation of the navies of the future is this: the door has been closed against the further building of big expensive battle ships but another door has been left open for the unlimited expansion of all kinds of other ships. What a nation saves in one way it can spend in another respect so that the real limitation of armaments has not been accomplished. The conference decided to limit the use of submarines in time of war so that merchant ships cannot in the future be attacked. This agreement, however, will be carried out only in wars among the five states concerned. States not now parties to the agreement cannot be bound by it. Another important agreement is the one prohibiting the use of poison gas in time of war.

"It must be noted that in this respect also the agreement binds only the five states concerned. It does not prohibit the manufacture of poison gas and the researches of chemists in these five countries. Questions of land and air armaments were not brought up in this conference so that unlimited expenditures of money on these branches of defense may still go on unchecked in all countries. The limitation of armaments can be an accomplished fact only when the financial reports of the five great powers next year or the year after show that expenditures for present and future wars have actually been reduced. It looks as if many more conferences of nations will have to be called before the knotty problem of limitation of armament can be decided and for the present at least the armament race of the nations will continue," said Professor Van der Zee.

1,000 MORE SEATS
UNDER CONSTRUCTION
FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

Reserved seats for the Iowa-Purdue game are now on sale at the athletic office and will be placed on sale at Whetstone's drug store Saturday. A total of 750 seats will be reserved for Saturday night's game. This is 250 more than were reserved for the Iowa-Wisconsin game.

All the reserved seats will be on the north side of the new armory and will include three sections on the ground floor and three sections directly above in the balcony, according to Coach Jones. The seats directly opposite of these reserved seats on the south side of the floor will be equally as good but will not be reserved," said Coach Jones.

An additional 1000 bleacher seats are being placed on the west, south, and north sides of the basketball floor in order to accommodate the large crowd that is expected to attend Saturday's game.

According to John J. Dondore, cheer leader, the men's glee club will sing during the intermission of the game. "The glee club will sing Old Gold and we shall try to teach the crowd how to sing it properly," said Dondore.

Reserved seats can be secured for 50 cents. Indications are that every seat in the gymnasium will be taken. Outside of the change in the reserved section the same method of seating will be used as in the Iowa-Wisconsin game.

Dean Kay Welcomes Fathers

Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts also endorses the plan for a "Dads' Day". "I am always in favor of any plan which tends to create or to maintain a better spirit between two individuals or between any group of individuals. Hence, why should I not be in favor of any movement which tends to bring fathers and sons closer together? In addition to this we surely would welcome a visit to our campus of all of the fathers of our students."

The Y. W. C. A. will also back the movement. Mary McCord A4 of Des Moines stated yesterday that she was heartily in favor of any plan which would bring the fathers of students to the University and expressed a wish that all student organizations on the campus would unite to make the day a success if it materializes.

Slapstick Comedy

Walter J. Dehner A3 of Iowa City as Borachios, a follower of Don Juan, the villain, ought to furnish much of the comedy of the play and has acted the part of a drunkard with much realism and effectiveness in rehearsals. Charles W. Sheely A1 of Iowa City as Dogberry furnishes the real slapstick comedy that is a feature of the play. Robert L. Hunter A4 of Mapleton who plays the part of Don Juan, the villain of the play, has done much in amateur dramatics and Gregory Foley A3 of Rock Rapids who will play the part of Friar Francis is known to amateur play enthusiasts as a versatile player and should acquit himself well in the part of Friar Francis.

On the whole the cast is composed of players well fitted to the parts and have had experience in amateur dramatics.

Choir Boys to Sing Anthem

Rev. Mr. Wm. P. Shannahan of St. Patrick's church of Iowa City has been aiding in the rehearsal of the cathedral scene and the choir boys of St. Patrick's church will sing the anthem in that scene the night of the play.

The overture by the University theatre orchestra will begin at 7:45 and the curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock. The rush at the box office at the Iowa Supply Company yesterday when seats went on reservation indicated that the cast will play to a full house tomorrow night. The play will be staged only one night.

BASKETBALL SQUAD TAKES A SLUMP

Let have been rather slim. Nevertheless he has missed a good many shots that he should have made. Hicks has not had much chance to try for the basket, and so far has failed to do anything wonderful on the scoring end. His position does not call for a basket shark, but basketball fans remember when Kaufman, last year, would amble down the floor and place one in the basket for two points, generally when they were most needed. Barton seems to be the only one fairly sure of a shot outside of Shimek, and he is not improving over his work the first of the year.

It may be that the men are taking a slump and will be able to cage baskets in a few days. The slump is something that has come when least expected, no one knows what caused it, and no one knows how to get away from it. If it leaves before the Purdue game, Iowa will annex their first conference victory Saturday.

BANKERS ARRIVE FOR CONVENTION

More Commerce Students Should Register Says Klingaman

The third annual convention of the Iowa Bankers' Association, under the direction of the extension division of the University of Iowa opened yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in the liberal arts assembly room with an address of welcome by President Walter A. Jessup.

President Jessup's speech related to the need of education at the present time compared to that of yesterday, the increasing desire of men to become acquainted with matters that are of common interest, the states attitude toward education and the way money is being appropriated for its maintenance.

"We look to the banker," said President Jessup, "to help the state through the present crisis." The banker even more than anyone else has great functions to perform in the next five years and it will be necessary for him to be able to give wise council in order to protect the people of the state. It is up to the banker to help the farmer in order to establish good conditions in the state. When our forefathers started all these little banks throughout the state they had dreams of the future, the day which is now at hand. Probably they did not look for the same conditions that we have today but they had a purpose in view in making the banks a helper to the people of the state."

Other speeches given yesterday were: "Income Tax from Farm Sales," by H. A. McIntosh of Dubuque, chief office deputy; "The New Income Tax Law as it Affects Individuals" by John F. Carroll of Dubuque, chief of income tax division; "Federal Revenue Taxes" by P. R. Baldrige of Dubuque, chief field deputy; "Advantages and Disadvantages of the New Revenue Law Over the Old," by Clayton B. Stiver of Dubuque, income tax expert of the Iowa Bankers' Association.

Expect to Reach 200 Mark

Registration has far exceeded expectations. At present 166 have registered and the 200 mark is expected to be easily reached. Mr. Klingaman considers this year's registration especially good considering financial conditions. A few days ago he made the statement that he doubted whether the registration for the bankers' short course would reach 100.

The course should prove exceedingly interesting to all commerce students for many things can be learned at the various lectures which will be of great value when they leave the University, according to Prof. O. E. Klingaman, director of the extension division. Only about ten students have registered but more applications are expected.

The schedule of lectures for today is as follows: 9:00 a. m. "War Finance Corporation in its Relation to Iowa" by Grant McPherson, president of the Central State Bank of Des Moines; 10:00 a. m., "An Analysis of the Borrower's Financial Statement" by Prof. C. A. Phillips, dean of the college of commerce; 10:30 a. m., "Evils of Tax Exempt Securities," by John C. Mechem, vice-president of the Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago; 11:30 a. m., "A County Clearing House," by F. A. Scheutz of Lawler; 1:30 p. m., "The Federal Sales Tax" by C. B. Hurrey, Washington, D. C.; 2:30, "What Legal Defense Can a Party to a Negotiable Instrument Set Up Against a Purchaser?" by R. M. Perkins, professor in the college of law; 3:30 p. m., "How to Bond the Personnel of a Bank" by Charles H. Burras president of Joyce and Co., of Chicago. A banquet will be given at the Jefferson hotel at 6:30.

"The women will be tried out in one or all of the following kind of stunts at the tryouts; musical, singing or instrumental, dramatics, dancing and gymnastics," said Miss Koiner. "There will be plenty of parts, as we expect to have about 300 women take part. All we ask is that you be faithful at practices because there isn't much time, and we are going to put it over even better than last year."

BUSINESS MEN OF IOWA CITY BACK MEMORIAL UNION

Instead of Their Previous Goal They Decide to Raise $110,000

The business men of Iowa City at a luncheon given at the Jefferson yesterday noon, made plans for the completion of the Iowa City drive to gather funds for the Memorial Union. The plans are so arranged that the campaign will end some time next week.

Ralph G. Grassfield, director of the Union, is very well pleased with the attitude taken by the business men toward the Union. The campaign has thus far been conducted with encouraging success. $75,000 has already been raised, which is three-fourths of the sum that was originally desired. The merchants are not only sure of raising the full quota of $100,000, but have raised that quota to $110,000.

"These men show this determined attitude toward the raising of the funds because they deem the Union important," said Mr. Grassfield. "They stand ready to demonstrate their cooperation with the Union drive in dollars and cents, despite the poor economic conditions with which they are compelled to cope."

At this meeting it was brought out that the students of the University, the faculty and the residents of Iowa City and surrounding community, are the ones that will be expected to take the first action toward the support of the Union. "If we cannot get the people of the University, and those who should be vitally concerned about the Union's progress to show any enthusiasm in backing it, we cannot expect those alumni who live in other localities to lend their support," stated Grassfield.

Queen of Sheba To Visit Iowa City

The Queen of Sheba is coming here.

She left New York some months ago after holding royal court before thousands of her admirers and packing a Broadway theatre twice daily for nearly six months.

Enormous crowds that flocked to gaze upon her matchless beauty and to see the thrilling chariot race which is probably the most sensational and spectacular event ever known in the world of motion pictures.

The Queen of course, is the celebrated famous and wonderful "Queen of Sheba," the super screen spectacle, produced by William Fox, and directed by J. Gordon Edwards, which has been hailed as the crowning achievement in the realm of motion pictures; and which established a high water mark of superlative supremacy, which will probably stand unequalled for many years.

"Queen of Sheba," the magnificent pictorial representation of the love story of the celebrated Queen, who went to visit King Solomon in Jerusalem three thousand years ago, will be shown at the Englert Theatre, beginning next Sunday.

If you don't see "Queen of Sheba" at the Englert Theatre next week, you will miss something that will give you one of the most thrilling moments of life. Never in the history of motion pictures has there been anything approaching this marvelous masterpiece in the way of sensational thrills and stupendous achievement. It is not only a wonderful and gigantic accomplishment; it is a picture of such superb beauty that it will live as the greatest screen classic of this generation.
