IOWA SQUAD TO TACKLE PURDUE THERE TONIGHT

Hawkeyes Have Fair Chance —Defense Polished in Past Week

BIG BATTLE EXPECTED Team Practiced to Squelch Purdue's Center, Gullion

Working toward a perfection of a defense which will stop the fast Purdue forwards, and prevent the Purdue center, Gullion, from doing as he did in the battle here last Saturday, Coach James N. Ashmore sent the varsity through a hard scrimmage at the armory Thursday.

Although not very long, the scrimmage was exciting at all times, and the men were kept working hard all evening. This was the last workout before the game with Purdue today at Lafayette, Medical Supervisor Fiesler thinking it best to let the men rest before the trip. The team left last evening.

Coach Works on Defense

Working with the same lineup which has been used all week, Coach Ashmore spent most of the evening working his defense against the scrub offense. The defense put up by the Iowa team last week showed that Purdue was not so wonderful against a good defensive team, and it was not until the Hawkeye defense began to lag, that the Purdue men were able to hit the basket with anything like regularity. The offense also received a little polish from the Coach, who is trying out a new play which will successfully compete with the Purdue four man defense. With a defense like Purdue's to work against, Coach Ashmore is confident that the men will be equipped to do better against the Boilermakers when in possession of the ball today.

General teamwork was also practiced for a short time, the short pass and the long pass being used to a certain extent. Coach Ashmore wants to improve the floorwork and team work of the Hawkeyes, which up to this time has been good at times but at other times not very good.

Hawkeyes May Pull Surprise

There is no question that the Purdue five is one of the best in the conference, and that Iowa will have to fight if they hope to win from the Boilermakers today. The Purdue team is very fast, and they have a very good offense and an average defense. This means hard going for any opponent, but if the Hawkeyes are able to hit the basket they should stay even with Purdue most of the game. No one seems optimistic enough to believe that Iowa will defeat Purdue, although Iowa teams have been known in the past to do the unexpected thing at the unexpected time, and a basketball game is not won until the final whistle blows.

The question seems to be the advantage of Purdue on their home floor, which makes a difference in the playing of a team. Whether the Hawkeyes can play as fast and as good a brand of basketball against the Boilermakers at Lafayette remains to be seen, but the men are working hard on their defense, and may surprise the sports world with a win over the Boilermakers tonight.

"The Iowa team has a better chance of beating Purdue tonight than before," declares M. G. Carpenter, University high school basketball coach, and an efficient judge of the situation. "The Purdue coach Lambert, has been sick for over a week and there is no report that he is out yet. That will cripple their team. Besides, every team slumps once in a while and this may be Purdue's time to pull the bum playing."

Nine players, Capt. Shimek, Hicks, Burgett, Devine, Lohman, Frohwein, Voltmer, Barton and Ewert left last night at 7:55. They will arrive in Lafayette this afternoon.

NEW TYPE OF TEST FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN DEvised BY DR. HART

Dr. Hornell Hart, head of the sociological division of the Child Welfare Research Station, has devised a test of attitudes and interests which he has submitted to school children. The purpose of this test is to find out the children's social reaction. Dr. Hart has also devised a plan for determining the fecundity of the different types of parents.

A small community near Iowa City has been selected for this experiment. A special tabulation of the data collected in the 1920 federal census will be made by means of punch cards and a sorting machine.

WILBUR TO LECTURE AT NEW HOSPITAL

All philosophers and friends of philosophers are invited to take up a temporary residence at the psychopathic hospital Tuesday evening, January 31st., and to listen to an exposition of "The Fundamental Thesis of Freud," by Mr. G. B. Wilbur of the psychopathic hospital staff. Whether anti-Freudians or Freudians shall be detained for permanent residence is left for the staff to decide. It is promised, however, that all shall have an opportunity of inspecting the entire hospital.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY NEEDS HONOR SYSTEM

At a Western university recently, the honor system was submitted to the popular vote of the student body. The pre-election discussions centered about the issue of "No Cheating." When the results of the election were announced it was discovered that there were 536 votes for the honor system, and 119 votes against.

Figures from the registrar's office showed, however, that there were only 520 students enrolled in the school.

SUPPLY OF OIL LOW, SAYS KAY

9,000,000,000 Barrels of Oil Constitute Total Resources

Interest in stimulating the discovery or adaptation of some new source of power for use in internal combustion engines is behind recent publicity which points out that the oil supply in America, including all known resources, will not last more than twenty years at the present rate of consumption, according to Dean George F. Kay of the University of Iowa, state geologist.

Dean Kay points out that 9,000,000,000 barrels of oil constitute the total resources of the United States, and that at present this is being consumed at the rate of 500,000,000 barrels a year. The inevitable result, he declares is a matter of simple arithmetic.

"I do not believe that any important new oil fields will be found in this country," says Dean Kay. "The oil resources of Mexico have been considerably overestimated and will be exhausted in a comparatively short time. The Indiana, Pennsylvania, and Illinois fields are approaching exhaustion now. Every field has a short life, for our industrial demands take in a few years what required millions of years to store up."

Although no important new fields will be developed in America, Dean Kay says no such positive statements can be made for the world in general, but he believes the limit is being approached and that supplies must be carefully conserved.

The situation in regard to some other natural resources is not so alarming. Iron ore at hand in the United States alone is sufficient to last 100 years or more at present consumption, and the copper resources of this country are estimated to be sufficient to last an equal length of time, Dean Kay says.

TONIGHT AT SIX THE NIGHTMARE OF FINALS WILL BE OVER, GIVING PLACE TO MERRYMAKING

Tonight promptly at six o'clock the spell will be broken and the last tears will have been shed. Examinations for the semester will be a thing of the past and students will celebrate as they have not done since the Western Champions returned from their trip to Northwestern University. The majority of the students reeled off their last spools yesterday and have already joined the ranks of the merry-makers.

The college of commerce believes in torturing its victims as long as possible but finally closes in on them today when it apportions about six hours of examinations to its junior and senior members.

Many of the frosh have flocked home for the dual purpose of seeking solace from the homefires and also to prepare the home town post office for the extra influx of mail which will arise about three days after examinations close.

At the University dance halls will be the center of attraction. Every hall in Iowa City has been engaged for a dance of some description. A private party was given at the Criterion on Thursday night. Last night Sigma Phi Epsilon gave a party at the same hall to be followed by the Sigma Nu's tonight. Sigma Pi clan will dance at the Burkeley Ball Room tonight.

At the Pagoda the Phi Kappas dispelled the last remnant of care last night. Nu Sigma Nu will abandon the hospital for one night and will dance at the Pagoda tonight.

BAZAAR TO SHOW ORIENTAL WAYS

Japan, Turkey, China and India to be Represented in Display

Champaign, Ill.—A Japanese tea shop, a Turkish coffee house, a Chinese shop and a Hindu store will feature at the Oriental bazaar to be given by the local branch of the association of University Women, formerly known as the American Collegiate association last week in the Union Building.

The association with the aid of the native students will endeavor to transplant a bit of China, Turkey, India and Japan to the Union Building. Food, stunts, magic, and costumes native to their land, will be produced. Characteristic music and dancing will be given.

The Oriental bazaar will be presented by the association of university women in connection with the international movement of this association to raise $1,500,000 to endow seven colleges in the orient, already established. The oriental bazaar will be the sole method which the Champaign-Urbana branch will use.

The endowment fund being raised by the international organization will not be used to start new schools, but to better equip the seven schools already established in the orient, three in China, three in India and one in Japan. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged at the doors. Vast displays of tapestries, ornaments, and many works of art loaned for the occasion will be displayed.—Daily Illini.

RIDING TICKETS TO BRING MONEY TO LEAGUE WORKERS

Ann Arbor, Mich.—"A University of Michigan seal on every Michigan woman's letter" is the slogan of the committee which has charge of the sale.

Among the newest of plans for raising money for the University of Michigan League is the one for selling riding tickets. These tickets are good for six rides of one hour each, either for cutter or saddle horse hire. They are transferable and may be used anytime up to July, 1922.

The sale of 1000 of these $5 tickets will realize $1000 for the campaign fund. Mary Jane Lowsan '22 has charge of the sale and information concerning them may be obtained from her.

Varsity Dance on Saturday night it to be a carnival dance.

Churches also celebrate the end of the semester tonight, knowing that few will be able to celebrate tomorrow in view of the coming new semester. The Presbyterian students celebrate with a big party tonight. Congregational Church announces that the worst is yet to come. Grades will be given out there tonight according to advance information. No explanation is made.

At the Christian church the revelry took the form of a pie social yesterday evening.

No exact information has been received regarding the nature of the celebration over at the Quadrangle. It is certain that joy will reign supreme over there. Many will probably rally to the tower rooms to make a few strides toward settling the domino championship which is still disputed. It is believed that much filthy lucre will find its way to other hands at the weekly meeting of the Royal Flush there tonight.

At Currier Hall today will be spent in sleeping in a vain attempt to prepare for tonight's many parties. All of the women living there have at least two dates this week and in addition to Varsity this afternoon, consequently necessitating a little round with Morpheus at least the greater part of the forenoon.

Tomorrow will be the quiet day of the year. On Monday the new semester with all of its complications will be ushered in.

KIND-HEARTED PROF HANDS OUT ALL-DAY SUCKERS IN EXAM

Strange as it may seem, examinations, with all their horrors, brought some enjoyment. A certain instructor even became so human as to give a party in the middle of an exam. At the end of the first hour she said, "Now everybody relax and rest for a while. You may talk but not about the examination questions." They talked, but of course did not try to dig any knowledge out of their next door neighbor.

"You know, where I went to school," continued the instructor, "we were always permitted to rest during the examinations, and to go out and buy all-day suckers if we liked. We were trusted not to cheat while we were gone."

"May we do that here? I'm starving for an all-day sucker," ventured one bright individual, at which the rest of the class signified their approach to the edge of famine.

"Well, if you are really hungry, I can remedy that," and the amazing instructor as she took a bag of all-day suckers from her desk and passed them around. Then everybody, flunkers, flappers, greasy grinds, and Phi Beta Kappas, all became suckers—of all-day suckers.

Next, a thoughtful student brought out a pack of life-savers and passed them around. "All we lack now is tooth-picks," murmured one happy boy, whereat a box of those was produced and handed out. Then the pencils were raised and the grind began again.

"Well, I've heard of all kinds of life-savers being brought to finals, but who'd of thought of suckers?" said one member of the class as he passed out of the door.

NATIONAL BASKETBALL MEET TO BE IN INDIANAPOLIS

A national intercollegiate basketball tournament will be held in Indianapolis March 9, 10 and 11. Among the organizations which will compete are: Western Pennsylvania League, West Virginia Conference, Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Ass'n., Missouri Valley Conference, and Pacific Coast Conference. The Western and Eastern Intercollegiate Leagues will in all probability participate too. This event will be the first inter-sectional basketball tournament with every part of the country represented by college teams. A trophy will be awarded the winning team which will hold it until the next tournament.

"THE LAND OF AIOWAS" TRYOUTS TO START AT 2 O'CLOCK TODAY

Tryouts for the Diamond Jubilee feature, a masque entitled "The Land of Aiowas", will be held in the natural science auditorium this afternoon at 2 o'clock. There is room for approximately forty in the cast including leads, singers, and dancers. The masque is a home talent production being written by a University professor, Edwin F. Piper of the English department, supplemented by a musical score specially composed for it by Prof. Philip G. Clapp. Prof. Edward C. Mabie will coach.

The masque is a story of the coming of Marquette and Joliet to the land of the Aiowas and forecasts the future of the wilderness they found. It includes as characters: Dumont, a young poet; Buffalo Horn, a great chief; Evening Sky, a medicine man; Shadow of the Wolf, a calumet dancer; and Coyote, a typical Piper grotesque. There are also many dancer squaws, warriors, hunters, trappers, artists and scholars.

Because of the fact that the masque is something different in the way of a production, and because it requires music, dancing, and other fanciful numbers to put it across, it has been necessary to call on several departments in the University for help. The music will be in charge of the music department, the dancing will be in charge of the department of physical education, and the dramatics will be taken care of by the department of speech.

The University Players are backing the presentation of the masque.

RIFLE SCORES RISE IN WEEK

Outcome of Match Tonight With Kansas Aggies Uncertain

Individual scores of the members of the rifle teams are several points better than those shot in the match with Minnesota last week and indications are that the end of the match tonight will see a higher total score by several points than was made by the Iowa team last week. As to whether Lieut. Thomas E. Martin's men can make a high enough score to beat Kansas Agricultural College cannot be prophesied because the Aggies will not drop many off the 2,000 possible score.

Dehner and Bray Star Shooters

The best individual work in the match so far has been done by Walter J. Dehner A3 of Iowa City and Dillard W. Bray A2 of Burnside, Ill., who made 99 prone and 98 sitting, thus making a total of 197 out of a possible 200, each. J. Fred Phillips S4 of Altoona, captain of the team, made 100 in the prone position yesterday but will not shoot his string at the sitting position until this afternoon. Lovell F. Jahne S4 of Muscatine also made 100 in the prone position.

George J. Fabricius A2 of Lenox who made a possible score of 100 in the prone position in the Minnesota match dropped four points in the same position yesterday making only 96. There was a particularly fast basketball game going on on the gym floor below, while Fabricius was shooting his string and there isn't a doubt but that the vibration of the rifle gallery resulting from that is the cause of his not repeating his performance of last week.

Arrangements have been made whereby the scores will be exchanged by telegraph after the last member of each team has shot his last string this afternoon so the victor of the match will be known tonight.

New Men Try Out

Several new men have been trying out for the squad this week and there is good material among them, according to Lieut. Martin. The only thing that will make a good rifle shot is plenty of practice and every opportunity possible will be given new men to try out.

ARMISTICE AND HOMECOMING TO BE COMBINED

Iowa Will Have Gophers As Opponents For Armistice Day

ILLINOIS HERE IN 1923

Minnesota Defeated by Iowa Four Times in Succession

According to announcement received from the board in control of athletics plans are being made to arrange for Iowa's homecoming to be held on Armistice day, November 11, and in this way combine two legal holidays into one, the biggest day of the year.

Iowa Victor Four Years

So far only one plan has been worked out to completion, and that concerns the football game for the occasion. Minnesota will be Iowa's opponent at the next Homecoming celebration to be held November 11. For the last four years Minnesota has played at Iowa's Homecoming or Iowa has played at Minneapolis for her homecoming.

In 1918 Iowa defeated Minnesota for the first time in the football histories of the two universities. Since then Minnesota has met three defeats at the hands of the Iowa football squad, culminating in the 41-7 score of last November.

Illinois in 1923

The old time rivalry which formerly existed between Iowa and the State Agricultural College at Ames has been divided in recent years between the University of Minnesota and the University of Illinois.

In 1923 Illinois, Iowa's opponent last year on Homecoming day, will again play here for that day. Last year a crowd of almost 15,000 people saw the game between Iowa and Illinois on Homecoming day. With the added bleachers which will be ready for use by next fall there is every reason to believe that even a greater crowd will see the game between Iowa and Minnesota on next Armistice day.

AMES TO COPY OUR PLAN FOR SONG BOOK

Ames, Jan. 13.—Iowa State will have a complete college song book patterned after that of the University of Iowa, before another year if the plans formulated at the meeting of Sigma Delta Chi Wednesday night are completed.

The committee appointed by the president of the fraternity will start to work on the matter immediately. Plans are yet more or less indefinite, say the committee members but the fundamentals have been suggested.

There are not enough college songs to fill an entire book, but the few which are available will occupy the foremost position in the book. Following the college songs will be a song from each fraternity and sorority, which has a chapter here. The remainder of the book will be occupied by old standard college songs and "harmony" songs for serenading, according to the early plans.

UNUSUAL HEADGEAR NETS $4 FOR WEARER

The unusual sight of an otherwise comely youth striding past the Liberty Arch to Sibley College yesterday afternoon, with head adorned by a derby hat of the late General Grant period attracted much attention from students and faculty alike. The blushing wearer, arriving in the front of the college of mechanical engineering, hurled the hat into a snowdrift, collected $4, and retired in fair order. A bet was the immediate cause of the unusual spectacle—Indiana Daily Student.

NEW YORK STRAND: Moe Mark: We played "The Westerners" pre-lease the first week in August, with very hot weather, to the biggest summer week ever played at the Strand. We played it a full week as the second week's bill at our new Brooklyn Strand and it repeated its Manhattan record. I played it at my Worcester, Mass., Strand and my Lynn, Mass., Strand and in both cities it stood up to its New York record. A great picture.

NEWARK STRAND, Newark, N. J.: "The Westerners" did a big week for us. It built up each day till Saturday when we could not take care of the crowds.

ASCHER BROS. CIRCUIT, Chicago: The best production of its kind that ever

HAWKEYES ARE TYING
NORTHWESTERN FOR CELLAR POSITION

With the conference basketball schedule well under way, three of the ten teams are tied for first place with perfect records. Purdue, Illinois and Minnesota have won all of the games which they have played. The rest of the teams rank between these leaders and the cellar champions, Iowa and Northwestern.

Minnesota, with its green team, has furnished the surprise of the conference by winning the four games it has played to date. When the Gophers won the opening game from Northwestern, it was thought that Northwestern only had another weak team, but when they continued their victories by beating Iowa, Wisconsin, and Indiana, people began to realize that "Doc" Cook has developed another high class team.

Illinois has only two victories to its credit, but both of these were easily won. Indiana was no match for Illinois, both Carney and Stillwell of Illinois scoring over twenty points. Michigan gave Wisconsin a good battle and was only beaten by an over-time period, but was an easy victim for Illinois, who stalled through the greater part of the game. Illinois has a veteran team with Carney, high scorer in the conference two years ago, as chief point getter.

Purdue has one of the best basketball teams it has ever had. Against Iowa the Boilermakers did not get started until the second half, but when they were going they could not be stopped. They are exceptionally fast and ran around the Iowa team at will. Their team work was good, someone was always in the spot where the ball was thrown. In the second half, they intercepted more Iowa passes than the Iowa players themselves caught. They were handicapped on this trip by the absence of their coach. Besides the game won from Iowa, they have two victories over Northwestern. In Gullion, at center, they have one of the best shots seen on the Iowa court in three years.

Iowa and Northwestern are fighting hard to get out of the cellar position, but neither have been successful. Iowa has lost three games, while Northwestern has dropped five. Iowa has the better chance because she can drop two games and still have as good a standing as Northwestern. When these two teams meet there will be a hot fight to see who gets out of the last place, since they seem both to be of about the same caliber.

Against Wisconsin, supposedly one of the strongest teams in the conference, the Hawkeyes played a strong guarding game and lost only because of their failure to shoot baskets.
