SIX ALUMNI AND ONE SENIOR ON TOAST PROGRAM

Kuehnle - Finkbine Dinner Program Announced Yesterday

ENSIGN IS TOASTMASTER

Goodrich is Undergraduate Speaker at Annual Banquet

Six alumni and one senior, Edgar Goodrich L3 of Anoka, Minn., president of A. F. I. make up the toast program of the annual Kuehnle-Finkbine dinner February 9. The general trend of the program indicates the progress of the University and its institutions in adapted quotations.

Prof. Forrest C. Ensign, toastmaster, will introduce the following program:

Greeting to the Guests, Carl F. Kuehnle '81, '82 L; "Men of Iowa, three-quarters of a century are looking down upon you."

Response, Edgar J. Goodrich; "In those days there were mighty men of valor."

Next Things Next, President Walter A. Jessup; "Seventy-five years in my sight is but a preparation for tomorrow."

History in the Making, Harvey Ingham '80, '81 L; "Of all these things I am a part."

The Union in 1924, Prof. Chas. H. Weller, honorary '95; "For the house that we are about to build shall be wonderful great."

Benediction, Will O. Finkbine '78, '80 L; "Men of the noblest disposition are happiest when others share their happiness with them."

RIFLE GALLERY PLANS CHANGED

The rifle team is marking time until such time as the rifle gallery in the new armory is completed, according to Lieut. Thomas E. Martin, rifle coach. "We are postponing all intercollegiate work as much as possible," Lieutenant Martin stated, "in order that we may benefit by better conditions that will exist in the new gallery."

Some changes have been made in the plans for the interior construction in the rifle gallery by the military department and these changes must be approved by higher authorities before workmen can go ahead with the construction work according to the new plans, and meanwhile the rifle squad is improving its time with daily preliminary practice in the men's gymnasium.

WINDY DAYS FURNISH GOOD TRACK TRAINING

Disregarding the traffic of the downtown district, he ran wildly through the streets, pursuing a swiftly moving object that seemed to go faster and faster. There were excited cries from the few pedestrians who lined the streets, and, urged on by their acclamations, he gathered speed with every stride, indicating that he had perhaps scampered about on the cinder path on some past occasion.

For a time it was a neck and neck race, with the pursuer managing to hold his own by running with all the energy that he possessed. Then to the spectators it became apparent that the race was nearing an end, for the elusive object in front of him began to slowly come to a halt. Observing that he was about to be victorious in his mad chase, the young man slackened his pace. However, as he got within arms reach of the object, it made one last desperate effort to evade him.

Then amid the plaudits of a score or more of spectators, the gallant Sir Galahad, breathless and perspiring, returned a mud bespattered hat to "his lady", with the admonition, "Better carry it, Marguerite, for I don't believe that I could ever catch up with it again."

AIRSHIP WILL BRING "INSPIRATION STONE" FOR MECCA WEEK

Engineers Plan Banquets, Hops, Plays, Parade, Wireless Music and Exhibitions for Week

"With Mecca week only a little over six weeks off, with all the committees appointed and working to their utmost, the University can look for the best celebration possible from the engineers," says John C. Cumberland S4 of Center Point, president of A. S. of A. S. All the days of the week of March 13 to 19 will be full of excitement; all that is necessary now is to wait for the week to come.

On Tuesday, March 14, the annual student-faculty banquet will be held, probably in the women's gymnasium this year. Lovell H. Jahnke S4 of Muscatine is chairman of the banquet committee and

CHICAGO HAS CLEVER QUINTET SAYS ASHMORE

Coach James Ashmore, who saw the Chicago-Illinois game at Chicago last Saturday, came back to give the Iowa team a warning that the game with Chicago would be hard fought. Chicago, battling throughout the entire game, overcame the Illinois lead in the second half and won. "The Chicago team plays clever and aggressive basketball," he said, "and fights all of the time. Illinois had a poor team, and Chicago made them look poorer. Dickson of Chicago is a fine close shot, and is as good a man at following in a shot as I have ever seen. Chicago struck its stride and Iowa will have a hard game with them next Saturday."

Varsity Gets Revenge

Revenge is sweet, and for the last two nights the varsity has trounced the freshmen in an unmerciful manner. Last night's score was about 30 to 2. The varsity was traveling at a pace that was too fast for the green-sweatered preps. Shimek was all over the floor, once or twice he was under a pile of men, and he always came out of the mix-up with the ball in his hands. The rest of the team worked the ball down the floor by means of fast cuts and accurate passing. Speed was the big asset of the varsity last night.

Jenkins Not Discouraged

Assistant Coach Albert Jenkins still believes that his regular team of freshmen can give the varsity a battle. "None of the men out on the floor tonight," he said last evening, "ever show up for practice."

WILL HOLD LUNCHEON ON FOUNDATION DAY

A luncheon at noon on Saturday, February 25, following the Foundation day program of the morning will be held at the Jefferson hotel, according to Prof. Forest C. Ensign, secretary of the University of Iowa Association. Guests and other friends of the University, including prominent alumni and former students, will be invited to attend. At the present time the order of events celebrating the Diamond Jubilee is as follows: "The Land of Aiuowas, a masque by Edwin Ford Piper will be presented Friday night at the Little theater, the Foundation day exercises, Saturday forenoon, the luncheon from 12:30 until 2:00 and the masque repeated on the evening of the same day.

TO-PRESENT "BOURGEOIS GENTILHOMME" MARCH 28

The "Bourgeois Gentilhomme" will be presented at the University theater March 28, under the auspices of the department of romance languages and the "Le Cercle Francais."

The "Bourgeois Gentilhomme" is one of Moliere's best comedies and is a story of the ridiculous attempts of a rich young fellow to be of the nobility.

The cast has not been definitely chosen as yet and will be announced as soon as final tryouts are held.

HAWKEYE SALES CAMPAIGN OPENS

Will Be Only One Drive This Year Says Editor-in-Chief

The sorority sales campaign for the 1923 Hawkeye, which will last during the next two weeks, will begin today. There will only one campaign this year and no later opportunity will be given for purchase, said Raymond Peterson, editor-in-chief. "No extra copies will be printed and many will be disappointed as they were last year if they fail to subscribe during the campaign. The price is five dollars; the initial deposit is $1 and provisions have been made on the subscription blanks for payments up to and including five dollars," said Peterson.

A few of the features are to remain secret until the books are published. There will be a special football section and a special Iowa girls section. A great deal of interest has been shown by all campus organizations, and indications point to an active campaign.

DEVELOP CHILDREN AS WELL AS CROPS SCIENTIFICALLY NOW

"Shouldn't children as well as cattle be developed by scientific methods?" asked Dr. Bird T. Baldwin, director of the Child Welfare Research Station, in his address before the Rural Life Conference held at Ames Tuesday, January 31. Use Science for Improvements.

Doctor Baldwin explained that the Child Welfare Station established by the General Assembly at the University in 1917, is determining the best methods of conserving and developing normal and superior children by scientific investigation. "Scientific research has given Iowa the finest stock and the best crops in America; therefore the State should not be satisfied with inferior children when they can be studied and improved by scientific methods.

Discoveries Already Made

Dr. Baldwin continued, "Already some very valuable discoveries have been made in the fields of how to better babies; how physical and mental growth in children may be stimulated; how environment and training may be used to modify bad hereditary traits and improve good ones; how special talents and traits may be discovered in early childhood; how children may be socialized and trained in good citizenship; how habits of obedience, neatness, and industry may be taught pre-school children; and many other basic welfare problems for the good of the State."

MEN TRY FOR BOXING HONORS

Practically all of the same men who won first honors in the boxing tourney last year, will be back this year for another try at honors. 165 men comprise the sum total of the various boxing classes, and according to Ernest G. Schroeder, athletic director, there is an abundance of valuable material.

The dates both for the tryouts and the all-University tournament have not yet been set, but it is probable that the tournament, open to any one in the University, will be held about the middle of March. There is keen competition between the men in the feather-weight, bantam-weight and light-weight classes, and because of the many good men that comprise these classes many interesting bouts are expected.

WILL VOTE ON CONSTITUTION

Interfraternity Conference Takes Final Action Tonight

The interfraternity conference will meet tonight at the Phi Rho Sigma house to take a final vote on the revised constitution which is designed to give the conference more authority to take final and decisive action on fraternity affairs, according to Edmund J. Harrington D4 of Sioux City, president of the conference.

Provides for Business Committee

One of the articles of the revised constitution provides for a business committee to which business is to be referred for investigation before being discussed by the conference. The main purpose of this committee is to have definite information about all matters of business before they are brought up so that they will not have to be referred to a committee for consideration.

Referred for Approval

The revised constitution was referred to the various chapters who are members of the organization, for their approval and the final vote will be taken tonight, said Harrington.

THREE INTERFRAT GAMES SCHEDULED AT GYM TONIGHT

With three games scheduled for this evening in the interfraternity basketball series, twenty-five games will have been played. The second round of play is well begun and organizations entered are getting their teams in condition for some fast play. Close scores have marked a great many of the contests so far and several games have gone into extra periods of play to determine the winner. Games to be played at the men's gym this evening are between the teams of equal standing as to games won and lost.

Members of the pan-Hellenic group are now arranging their schedule and will play for the championship of the pan-Hellenic as soon as possible. As the games are being played the winners of each section or the leaders of those of the pan-Hellenic in that group will play to decide this championship.

IOWAN STAFF WILL HOLD FIRST ANNUAL BANQUET WEDNESDAY

The first annual banquet of the Daily Iowan staff will be held at the Pagoda, Wednesday, February 15. The guests will be Professor and Mrs. Mausby, the Iowan Board of Trustees, editorial staff, business staff, and reporters. No formal program of toasts has been arranged and all speeches will be impromptu. The feature of the evening is to be something novel, planned and carried out by the undergraduates.

DWIGHT A. DAVIS WILL PROLONG STAY IN JAPAN

Dwight A. Davis '21, who was business manager of The Daily Iowan last year, and who has been teaching in a college in Nagasaki, Japan since last October, has written an account of some trips he has made in the Orient. In a letter to his mother, Mrs. Davis at 628 North Linn Street, he says that he is not homesome as was stated a few weeks ago in the Daily Iowan, but that he is now planning to stay in Japan another year.

During the Christmas holidays, in company with another instructor, Mr. Davis journeyed across the bay to Shanghai, China. He attended to a dinner given by the Chinese consul, a ten course affair containing some dishes which were quite new to Mr. Davis.

Sometime in February, during the Spring vacation period, Davis is planning to tour southern Japan on a bicycle, visiting inland and remote parts.

DELTA SIGMA RHO INITIATES FIVE NEW MEMBERS AT DINNER

After a dinner at the Pagoda tea shop last night Delta Sigma Rho, the honorary forensic fraternity, initiated the following men: Otto B. Laing A3 of Corydon, William O. Moore L1 of Seymour, Frederick O. Paulson L1 of Clear Lake, Cloyce K. Huston A4 of Crawfordsville, and Vernon Sharpe A3 of Rolfe. All of these men participated in the annual triangular debate with Illinois and Minnesota last December. Paulson, Huston, and Sharpe also took part in the Nebraska-Iowa dual debate last spring.

Delta Sigma Rho confers membership upon college and university students who attain excellence in debate and oratory. The chapter at Iowa is one of the fifty-two chapters in leading colleges and universities of the country, and was established in 1906.

FACULTY TRIO SCORES HIT IN FIRST CONCERT

An appreciative and very insistent audience heard the faculty trio concert given by Prof. Phillip G. Clapp, head of the school of music, Prof. Frank E. Kendrie, violin instructor, and Prof. Walter Leon, vocal instructor, at the University theater last night. Encores were repeatedly demanded but the previously arranged numbers covered most of the program. Members of the orchestra and glee clubs and other music clubs attended almost entirely. The faculty and a large representation of townspeople gave evidence of strong support other than student interest in the faculty concert and lecture course.

Violin Numbers Popular

Prof. Kendrie's violin numbers were especially applauded, but the University audience demonstrated keen appreciation of all the faculty talent displayed. The joint appearance of the three professors is probably a distinctive feature of the first concert which cannot easily be repeated.

Fine Amateur Spirit is Goal

Such a spirit of appreciation in response to the generous contributions of busy faculty men approximates the "fine amateur spirit" that Prof. Edward C. Mabie, director of the University theater, declares is the goal of President Walter A. Jessup and of himself and the attitude of the professors who will appear in the concert and lecture course.

"I would have nothing to do with the faculty University Theater program and neither would the faculty members participating," Prof. Mabie says, "if it were not based on a community interest in artistic and literary production."

ULLMAN AND NEW POPE ARE CLOSE FRIENDS

Iowa Professor Knew Ratti As Fellow Student Abroad

MADE CARDINAL IN JUNE

Pope Pius XI Best Known As A Scholar But Is Also Practical

A personal friendship between Achille Ratti, now Pope Pius XI, and Berthold L. Ullman, professor and head of the department of latin and greek at the University, lends unusual interest to Iowans in the announcement of the new head of the Catholic church. Only two weeks ago, as has been his frequent custom, Professor Ullman sent a reprint of one of his classical studies to the then Cardinal Ratti.

Met Pope in 1906

In 1906 Professor Ullman met Ratti for the first time at the Ambrosian library in Milan, where soon after he was made head librarian.

Four years later, when Professor Ullman was in Milan, he studied at Ratti's side once again, and more than ever came to prize his friendship with him. Since then the two men have exchanged frequent personal greeting cards and reprints. Professor Ullman describes Ratti as a man who appeared much younger than he actually was, a cordial and pleasant helper in aiding students and visiting research workers, and

SET NEW DATE FOR ORATORICAL

The date for the University oratorical contest which has been several times changed because of the date of the N. O. L. contest has been finally set for February 21, according to a statement given out by Prof. Glenn N. Merry, head of the department of speech yesterday. On next Thursday, February 9, from 4 to 6 p. m., tryouts for the University oratorical will be conducted at the natural science auditorium.

Speeches at the tryouts for University oratorical which will be held on Thursday afternoon are to be strictly limited to six minutes.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO SEND LARGE NUMBER HERE FOR TOURNAMENT

Present indications point to a number of entrants for the high school wrestling tournament that will start on March 24, and conclude on the afternoon of the following day, Saturday, March 25. Because of the impetus in the way of encouragement that numerous athletic directors have given the wrestling game, it has been adopted by a large number of the high schools of the State. Already several schools have announced their intention of being represented and with the close of the basketball season soon, all efforts will be directed to the development of the wrestlers. The tournament will be conducted under the auspices of the University of Iowa athletic board, and Western inter-collegiate association rules will govern the bouts.

Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to the winners of first, second and third places in the respective classes. The wrestlers will be grouped into the following classes:

Ninety-five pounds, flyweight; 105 pounds, featherweight; 115 pounds, bantamweight; 125 pounds, lightweight; 135 pounds, welterweight; 145 pounds, middleweight; 158 pounds, light heavyweight. Over the weight of 175 pounds all the contestants will be classed as heavyweights.

ANOTHER STUMBLE

Every campus languishes to a greater or less degree because of the failure of various groups or individuals who have some little responsibility to show the proper initiative and zeal in "carrying things over." Very few student movements—the student loan fund campaign may be classed as an exception—have been pushed to a successful conclusion by students. They have not shown that they take any pride in making things go.

Plans have recently been made whereby campus sororities will conduct a drive for Hawkeye subscriptions under the leadership of team captains chosen by the chapter members. When we see such an announcement, we immediately have visions of our fair co-eds actually displaying some spirit and pep; we anticipate a wholesome and enthusiastic campaign conducted in an "up and going" manner. How surprised are we, then, to find fraternity men soliciting subscriptions from their brothers in behalf of their best friends in their favorite sororities! The women do not have the fighting fire that will send them out after the subscriptions; they do not show any leadership; the ability they demonstrate to us is that of "roping in" some one who is willing to do the work for them; they do not even wait until the proper time for the opening of the sale.

It is another opportunity to uncover a little fighting fire that has been passed up just as have other opportunities of, perhaps, a slightly different nature. Some day we may venture to hope, some organization or some group or some individual will startle the campus by really doing something and doing it in such a way as to let us know that there are some few remaining sparks of ambition in the human breast.

SKATING ON THIN ICE

Skating on thin ice is comparable with neglecting one's studies. Many student skaters boast that they have skated all around the air holes in the Iowa river, and they aren't afraid of getting drowned. Already some of them have fallen in, but they have all been lucky enough to be rescued. The students glory in their thoughtlessness, and disregard danger, but they cannot continue tempting disaster without some day skating too close to the edge.

On a parallel with the daring skaters, are those who neglect their studies. They let their grades get as low as they dare, and glory in the fact that it takes so little study to keep above the danger line. In many cases, a week or two of cramming before exams rescues the student from failure. But some time this week of cramming will fail, and the student will find himself below the danger line, just as the skater will break through the thin ice.

There is one remedy: keep away from the air holes. If you don't want to fall through the ice, don't skate carelessly along the edge. If you don't want to get low grades, start now toward an "A" in every subject, and keep your work up to the standard you set at the beginning of this semester.

Investigation of the case of Mildred Kaune, school teacher of Montgomery, New York, found guilty of shop lifting, showed that overstudy had been the cause of her theft. The defense claimed that the accused had an irresistible desire to steal, a form of neurosis resulting from the overcrowding of a three year course of study into one year. Judging from the missing hats, the neurotic wave of overstudy reached the University some time ago.

Something should be done about that birchbark canoe in the Invertebrate Museum library. It is becoming more suggestive every day!

Our idea of a good man is the professor of a class in efficiency who orders twenty-five books for a hundred students.

promises a fine program of toasts and a feature of some sort during the evening that will be different from the usual kind of banquets.

Cast for Play Chosen

The show this year will be on the evenings of March 15 and 16 in the University theater in the natural science building. The try-outs for the places in the cast of the show were held recently and the successful men will be announced soon. Lloyd E. Anderson S3 of Madrid and John S. Holbrook S3 of Onawa are the playwrights this year, but they were assisted by Raymond E. Ebert S3 of Iowa City,

Thomas L. Herrick S3 of Fredricksburg and Howard Coe S3 of Tama. The play this year promises to be a big success and with the return of the engineers' chorus to the production it will certainly be above the usual standard.

Parade Guaranteed to Please

First on the program for Mecca Day, Saturday, will be the parade. This is the big feature of the week to the outside world as it always brings out the real abilities of the engineers. This year the great "Stone of Inspiration" and the Irish airship are to be shown for the first time in the history of the University. The stone is in hiding at the present time and the airship is on its way from the Emerald Isle. Other features that are common to the annual parade will appear again this year in better form. Donald L. Hains S3 of Mt. Auburn is chairman of the committee in charge of the parade this year.

The afternoon of Mecca day the exhibition will be held in the various buildings about the campus in which the work of the engineers takes place. Verne R. Muth S4 of Osage has charge of this part of the day's activities and promises some extraordinary features for that day, among them some wireless music to be obtained from some distant point.

Dance to Terminate Celebration

To terminate the week's activities the annual Mecca day dance will be held in the men's gymnasium this year. Harold A. Neville S3 of DeWitt has charge of the dance and from present plans it is to be a real party for the successful end of a week's celebration. The orchestra has not yet been secured but a good one is sure to be had.

As Mecca week is the week of the annual high school basketball tournament it will provide various kinds of amusement for the visiting high school athletes and will show them what the engineers do here at the University.

will radiate with the lustre of iridescent beads and dashing color.

Evening frocks of jade, fucia, orchid, gold brocade, and the new periwinkle shade are here in profusion—but no two alike.

The RITESTYLE SHOP has the clinging jet gown for the tall brunette, and the clever, fluffy-ruffle taffeta for the slight co-ed—a style to fit every type.

The evening frock calls for accessories such as fancy hose and dainty silk lingerie. We have them in every desirable style and shade.

that were undoubtedly breeding spots for future wars was the opinion of Prof. Jacob Van der Zee of the political science department as stated to an Iowan reporter late yesterday.

The conference as called by President Harding was limited in its work to the limitation of armaments and the Far East question and it can be safely be said that it accomplished gratifying results along both of these problems.

When the Far East question was included in the program of the meeting it was interpreted as meaning China and a settlement of the Chinese controversy is a heavy burden removed from the shoulders of America as well as the rest of the world. While we have not been interested in China territory we have been watching with vigilance the activities of other nations in their endeavors to gain political control and commercial footholds in that great yet very weak nation.

Japan Is Big Offender

The principle offender has been Japan who has been secretly as well as openly securing valuable concessions despite the objections of China.

All this has been put aside and had nothing else been discussed the work of the conference would have been worth while is the opinion of Professor Van der Zee.

Touched Only on Battleships

Concerning the actual limitations of armaments the conference touched on very little except the question of battle ships. Submarines, aircraft and auxiliary vessels were left with hardly any restrictions while land armaments were passed by entirely, probably because of the objections raised by France. Land armaments are a question for European nations to settle among themselves as the forces of the United States have been of little significance during peace times. With battle ships limited in their number an immense saving has been made possible but there is nothing to prevent the money thus saved from being spent on other means of warfare. According to Professor Van der Zee.

All this was discussed at the Washington conference and as one statesman put it "They accomplished a great deal by not trying to do too much."

1914, but I feel sure his executive, diplomatic, and administrative abilities have been developed but recently, perhaps only since he was sent to Poland as papal nuncio. It was only last June that he was made cardinal," said Professor Ullman.

Even though Professor Ullman remembers Ratti primarily as a scholar, he tells an interesting story to show that the Pope is not without the thoroughly practical in his personal make-up.

It was in 1910, when Professor Ullman last saw Ratti, he and Mrs. Ullman were guests in his office at the library. As they sat together a servant came into the room and sprinkled some sawdust, or other damp material, on the floor to help keep down the dust in cleaning, as is common practice in this country, particularly in large buildings and offices.

"Perhaps Ratti thought this a good opportunity to get some advice from an American housewife on practical cleaning procedure," Professor Ullman continued. "At any rate he took occasion to ask for Mrs. Ullman's opinion and seemed gratified to learn that she thought this a very sensible method."

"Wanton! Traitor! Drag Her Down to the Dust!" They Shouted Twenty-five Thousand Frenzied Rebels Hurlled Invektive at Theodora, The Most beautiful Woman in the World.

Theodora falls in love with the steward Andreas

Then, as her answer, Theodora turned loose into the arena the horde of hungry lions that were caged in the vaults of the Hippodrome.

History cannot produce a more thrilling instance of imperial wickedness than this act of the great Empress. And it was all to save the life of her lover, leader of the rebels.

That night all Byzantium was in flames. The thunder of battle surged throughout the royal palace . . . in the gardens there was a clash of spears. The huge doors gave way and on through the shining corridors the mad mob plunged . . . into the great torture chamber where comrades writhed in torment.

The terrible Gorgias waiting Theodora's execution

The Highest Point of Emotion ever reached in a Picture! No photoplay has ever met with such response as this stupendous spectacle, this most enthralling of all immortal romances. If you don't see Theodora, you might as well stop going to motion pictures.

PARIS BY DAY AND BY NIGHT Read What They All Say:

The Exhibitor's Trade Review said:

"One of the finest productions we have seen, elaborately produced . . ."

The New York Journal said: "Like Drurylane Melodrama - THE BLACK PANTHER'S CUB' is a whirlwind of emotion and action."

The New York World said:

"The Black Panther's Cub' has not been outdone this season. Its hundreds of fleeting scenes are as soft as rose petals and as pleasing to the eye as music is to the ear."

The New York Herald said:

"The Black Panther's Cub' gripping film . . . Mr. Ziegfeld has staged it as lavish as his brother, Florence Ziegfeld, does his famous Follies."

The National Board of Review said:

"Compels same admiration which old time theatre goes treasure for a Modjeska or a Sarah Bernhardt."

The N. Y. Morning Telegraph said:

"Spectators were loud in their praise evidenced by the constant outbursts of applause."

The N. Y. Evening Telegram said:

"Florence Reed plays dual role in 'The Black Panther's Cub' in which she reaches remarkable emotional heights. Distinguished cast."
