Today's Iowa Hawkeyes will have a chance to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of the Nebraska Cornhuskers.

The 1922 team was defeated by Nebraska in April, a game that was a turning point for the Hawkeyes. The defeat had a significant impact on the team's morale and their performance for the rest of the season. The Hawkeyes went on to struggle through most of the season, but they did manage to recover and finish the season on a positive note.

The 1922 team was led by Coach Paulson, who had been with the team for several years and had a reputation for being a hard-nosed, no-nonsense coach. He was known for being tough on his players, but also for being a skilled strategist on the field.

The game against Nebraska was played at Iowa City's Kinnick Stadium, which was the home field for the Hawkeyes. The stadium had a capacity of around 25,000 and was a tough place to play for opposing teams.

Despite the challenges, the Hawkeyes fought hard and put up a good fight against Nebraska. Although they lost, the game showed the team's determination and resilience, and it helped to build their confidence for the rest of the season.

In the end, the 1922 Hawkeyes fell short, but their efforts were not in vain. The game served as a wake-up call for the team and helped them to improve their play for the remainder of the season.

WOMEN CONTINUE PRACTICE

"Instruction practice is a common basketball team will be continued for another week," said Miss

Michael T. Taylor, interested in change. At the end of this week the different teams will be chosen and the schedule of games definitely set.

The Daily Iowan staff will have a suspension at the Papalia tomorrow morning. This is the first time it has served at an Iowa City table.

As an Editorial department, the Daily Iowan staff continues to uphold the traditions of the school's student newspaper.

The University of Iowa is a key player in the city's educational landscape, with a rich history that is celebrated in the Diamond Jubilee Number.

The University Theater presents "The Shop Show" as a wonderful burlesque of back stage life, offering a show within a show. Directed by Miss Gladys Fie, reservations are available for the month of February, with admission set at $1.00.

In the Beginning, Iowa University's history is outlined, with a focus on the 75th birthday of "Old Gold". The story of "What we are" and "What we hope to be" is provided through the University Alumnus, which is available for purchase.

The Family Circle

The relations of the alumnae to the students, as emphasized in the Kathle-Fulwell banquet, are of prime importance to the University. While it is true that the "class" member has an advantage to keep him tied to the campus, the undergraduate ought not to forget that he is a part of a great institution.

The Family Circle does not exist between the undergraduate and the upperclassman. There is no clique of upperclassmen that the student is forced to leave when he graduates from the University. As a matter of fact, his college work for a time, insist many years ago, but it is highly desirable and it is in the student's interest to remain on the campus.

The Family Circle is a necessity, for the student is forced to leave the campus, his alma mater that does not forget his name.

WOMEN'S DAY SPORTS

Football seems rather generally to have taken the rank of the foremost interscholastic sport. This situation will explain, in a certain degree, the noticeable lack of interest and enthusiasm that has been accorded our athletic teams recently.

It is an established fact that the big game in football—basketball has too long been given too much attention, or too little. To correct this, we may, for the moment, put them in the proper place. It is now a little known fact that, winning,-leading, getting a little more recognition; and, consequently, we may expect a drop of the fighting spirit in the University harmonies during the present season.

This will be justified or not, we may ask a question of further answer: Is it a part of the influence of the present winter season due to the losing season? Can any part of our lack of basketball pull put enough heat in the series of lost games? We must record again that the fighting spirit, that fighting University of Iowa, is in the spirit that it wins the games, for as we know, the standards of sportsmanship, we will follow our teams with loyal coverage, winning or losing.

SUNNY DAY SPORTS

The time came when professionalism was tried in the balance of Iowa's history. Professionalism had undoubtedly attained a strong grip on amateur athletics, and it was highly desirable and it is desirable that it be stopped. The action of Notre Dame, the University of Iowa, was forced to take a stand against the modern day.
