CAMPUS: REMOVES G-30C

Each of Nine Fraternities Will Have Special Booths

November 2nd: In view of the demands on the registration offices, the fraternity leaders have decided to remove G-30C, the meeting room assigned to the registration offices. This will enable the fraternity leaders to devote more time and effort to the registration process.

SUCCESS IN MEN’S LIT SOCIETIES DEBATE

Seven judges for the debate will be appointed to ensure fairness and impartiality. The debate will be held on November 2nd at 5:00 PM in the auditorium of the university.

LIT SOCIETIES DEBATE QUESTION

The question for the debate is: “Resolved: That the United States is morally justified in its war against the United States.”

Each fraternity will present their arguments and rebuttals. The debate will be judged by seven qualified judges, who will be announced shortly.

To register for the debate, please visit the registration office located in G-30C.

Bald, Bacon, Chew, and Lo Are Entrants

With only one of the two bats pulled from the actual University of Iowa competition, the teams are ready to face the challenge. The two teams, Bald and Bacon, and Lo, will face off in a friendly match tonight at 8:00 PM.

Arkansas Delta Chi of the Irving teams are: affirmative, unan. Hattie, Bluffs. Martinson, Rasco Nosh, H. K. Matt, and Walts, of the college of law, Dondore, Cloyce Houston, and other

Several students and faculty members from the university are excited about the upcoming debate. They believe that the event will provide a great opportunity for students to engage in healthy competition and foster a sense of community.

To register for the debate, please visit the registration office located in G-30C.

Eaton's Hall will be the location of the debate, with seats assigned to each team.

The question of the restriction of enrollment for the University, the subject chosen for the women's literary society debates recently, is one in which every student has a vital interest. The members in order to limit their enrollments in order to maintain a high standard of scholarship, are determined rather than to exclude but rather to include. The question of the restriction of enrollment for the University, the subject chosen for the women's literary society debates recently, is one in which every student has a vital interest. The members in order to limit their enrollments in order to maintain a high standard of scholarship, are determined rather than to exclude but rather to include.

In the struggle for higher scholarship the student is not alone, but rather is included in a large lecture course section. Each student is given an individual character building which is fostered the faculty for education rather than to exclude those who have a high premium which the training must be at least ninety per cent of the total. The students do and we recommend the old time custom to you again, in an effort to give our customers better service on week-end nights.

Our fountain is busy and roomy. Another man will be at the fountain on week-end nights to serve you, if you prefer "the footbath to a booth.

If you want to save time, "use the rail."
ST. LOUIS SYMPHONY
TO BE HEARD FIRST TIME HERE APRIL 20

The St. Louis Symphony orchestra which will be heard in Iowa City for the first time on April 20 represents forty-one continuous years of symphony work in St.
Louis. The present tour of the orchestra carries the state of Miscouri, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Iowa, and Illinois.

It was principally due to the fur-wired and patient work of Mrs.
Zach, during her fourteen years a conductor that the orchestra reached its present state of efficiency.
Ralph Gene, the present conductor, came to the orchestra in the fall of 1921, and attributes most of his success as a conductor to the fact that his predecessor had built up a perfect instrument of symphony playing.

The cost of developing such an orchestra is immense. The St.
Louis orchestra while it has a reputation of being the most meritoriously managed of all the territorial orchestras, represents an investment of more than a million dol-ars.

MICHIGAN TROUBLED WITH SMALL CAPACITY OF ITS COTTERIUM

Ann Arbor, Mich.—With announcement made little over a year ago that the Connerium, the three-fourths of the entire graduating class, would be cloistered in one year, President with a great deal of interest at commencement of the University since the conditions of seating and the number of students in the Cotterium will soon carry the most of the activities.

Daily News Analyst

It is with the view of assuring the proper seating arrangements, and grades of the present, and the seating arrangements of and entertaining their respective classes, that the following announcement has been prepared.

Consideration of the seating arrangements has been made in the Cotterium environment. 60 of the 1907 seats of the Cotterium seats were considered to be necessary to make way for the seating provision of the class across the stage, leaving a balance of 1,101 seats.

The first balcony holds 1,077 seats, while the second has room for 237, making a total of 1,207 seats, which are available for use during the play of the play.

The senior class last year included more than 1,500 persons while 1,400 persons is the estimated number present at the stage.

The following seating arrangements are given to each section:

The play will be presented on the stage.

The committee in charge has been instructed to ensure that the audience be seated in a manner which will be fair and impartial to everyone present.
