ALMOST EVERY BRANCH OF ATHLETICS HAS ITS REPRESENTATIVE AMONG THE UNIVERSITY FACULTY MEMBERS; ALL SUPPORT OLD GOLD.

An old gold button, fashioned after the model worn by the late Dean Charles A. Phillips, has been given to each of the professors of the university. The button is emblazoned with the words "Innovations and Traditions," and is worn on the lapel. The number of faculty members who have received such buttons is six, and all of them are professors who have been at the university for a number of years. They are: Prof. W. E. Stansby, who has been at the university since 1909; Prof. W. E. Stansby, who has been at the university since 1909; Prof. W. E. Stansby, who has been at the university since 1909; Prof. W. E. Stansby, who has been at the university since 1909; Prof. W. E. Stansby, who has been at the university since 1909; and Prof. W. E. Stansby, who has been at the university since 1909.

The buttons are a token of appreciation for the services of these professors to the university, and they are worn with pride by the recipients. The wearing of the button is a symbol of respect and recognition for the contributions made by these professors to the university and to the field of education.

THE YELLOW BUTTON

Every campus has its own custom of wearing a special color or emblem that symbolizes a particular group or activity. At Iowa University, the yellow button is a symbol of the Old Gold Society, a group of alumni who support the university financially. The wearing of the yellow button is a token of membership in the society and a demonstration of pride in the institution.

The yellow button is a small, round, metal piece that is attached to a lapel or sleeve. It is typically a bright yellow color and bears the words "Old Gold Society" or a related emblem. The button is worn by members of the society as a way to show their support for the university and to express their connection to the institution.

The yellow button is not only a symbol of membership in the Old Gold Society, but it also serves as a reminder of the university's tradition of excellence and its commitment to providing a high-quality education. It is a way for alumni to express their love and support for the university and its students.

In conclusion, the yellow button is a significant symbol at Iowa University that represents the pride and support that alumni have for their alma mater. It is a way to show that one is a part of the Old Gold Society and a member of the Iowa University community.

WILL BE PLAYED SOON

With this week's games out of the way the finish of the interfraternity basketball tournament will be ready. Throughout the season no town had a decided advantage over the others at times one in particular would have the advantage but the next week one of the others would take its place and the former leader would drop back in to a lower position. At this time three games are left in the preliminaries, the Delta Theta Phi team meets the Phi Kappas, Delta Tau Delta meets Sigma Phi, and Phi Kappa Psi meets the Alpha Tau Omegas.

In section B only two teams are left, the Phi Kappa Psi and with Delta Tau Delta meets Sigma Phi and with it one, however, the Phi Kappa Psi have been proven to win the majority of games, which if they win they are advanced with the championship of section B but if they should lose to the Delta Tau Delta in the second section A the next week one of the other teams would advance to the next place with the loser and Delta Tha­ta Delta meets Sigma Phi.

In section C only one team is left, the Sigma Phi. Delta Tau Delta met the Phi Kappas last week.
