NEBRASKA TO DEBATE IOWA HERE TONIGHT

Professor Benjamin Will Preside Over Open
Forum at 7

TO ARGUE ALLIED DEBT

Dunlap, Stewart, and Cray,
Members of Hawkeye
Team

The Iowa men's debating team will argue in favor of canceling the allied war debt of $11,000,000, to the United States, against the Nebraska team tonight at 7 o'clock in the natural science auditorium. The question is: "Resolved that the United States should cancel the Allied War Debt." The debate will be presided over by Prof. Gilbert C. Benjamin of the political science department. There will be no judges and following the debate an open forum discussion will be held.

The subject of the debate will doubtless insure a large attendance of both students and townspeople. The proposition is of vital importance to this country and to Europe since it involves not only the reconstruction of Europe but also the economic depression in this country.

One Has Experience

The Iowa team is composed of Glenn F. Cray L1 of Marshalltown, Kenneth M. Dunlap A3 of Jefferson and J. M. Stewart A2 of Runnels. Cray is a member of the Zetagathian literary society and represented Iowa in the Iowa-Nebraska debate in the spring of 1921, when the closed shop proposition was debated. Dunlap is a member of the Zetagathian literary society and is a new man in intercollegiate debating. Stewart is also a new man in intercollegiate debating. He is a member of Philomathian literary society.

Nebraska Arrives this P. M.

The order of construction speeches will be Dunlap, Stewart, Cray. The order of rebuttal speeches will probably be the same.

The Nebraska team which will arrive in Iowa City this afternoon is composed of Fred C. Campbell, Bernard S. Gradwohl, and Sheldon Toft.

"All of the Nebraska team rate high as law students and are well trained in logic and in the presentation of arguments," said Prof. Herbert C. Weller of the department of speech, who is coaching the Iowa team. "Two of them are experienced in intercollegiate debating while only Cray of the Iowa team has had such experience."

WHITING PUBLISHES TEXT DEALING WITH CHILDREN'S WELFARE

A new child welfare study, "Element of Chance in Growth," has recently been completed by Dr. Phineas W. Whiting, of the eugenics department of the Child welfare research station.

Dr. Whiting publishes in this book his conclusions drawn from the study of wasps, which he applies to human inheritance of feeble mindedness, color blindness, and odd characteristics of eye color, spots of discolored hair.

Many of the characteristics that scientists have long tried to explain by heredity or environment are due entirely to chance, Dr. Whiting concludes from his study of wasps. The tendency to such defects may be trained out of wasps, dogs, human beings or other animals by starvation or special regulation of climate, but they can never be thoroughly obliterated. Spots in fox terrier dogs and hot tempers in human beings may be equally a matter of luck.

Another article on "Inheritance in Honey Bees," by Dr. Whiting will appear soon in the Journal of Heredity". This article also is based on the study of wasps, which Dr. Whiting raises in an incubator in his office at the Welfare Station.

WHAT THE MEMORIAL UNION WILL MEAN TO IOWA

First Prize by Margarette F. Battey

The Iowa Memorial Union is, primarily to serve as a concrete expression of the appreciation, on the part of alumni, students, and friends of the University, of the sacrifices made by the sons and daughters of Old Gold during the Civil, Spanish-American, and World Wars. It is altogether in keeping with the spirit of Iowa that the memorial which she erects shall be, not merely an ornamental arch or a beautiful group of statuary, but a building which shall minister to the needs of the students in such a way that they will be better prepared than they have been in the past to assume positions of responsibility and leadership in civic affairs.

The building as planned will become the center of the extra-curricular activities of the whole student body; adequate provision will be made for literary, debating, dramatic, and religious organizations. By the co-mingling here of the students of all colleges, the division of the University into separate units units will become less marked; a wholesome democracy will be promoted throughout the student body. The reading rooms and game rooms will provide recreation for leisure hours; the great assembly hall and the grill room will insure the success of the dancing parties.

But should the Union serve the social needs only, it would fail in its mission of commemorating the spirit of sacrifice and service. It is the aim of the Union to arouse the student to a realization of his duty and relationship to his community, so that when he shall have finished his work here, and shall have taken up, in earnest, the business of life, he may repay with his best service the great commonwealth which has built up the University.

The Iowa Memorial Union is much more than the prospect of a fine building; it is an ideal, a spirit of unity, a power which makes itself apparent in increased devotion to the University, its aims, and aspirations.

MEN TO BOX IN FINALS APRIL 12

Public Will Attend; Ladies
Invited; Fourteen
Men Enter

The finals in the University championship boxing tournament will be held in the new armory, Wednesday, April 12. The men who have worked up to the finals are: bantamweight, Baird and Bacon; featherweight, Chew and Lake; lightweight, Milani and Jentoft; middleweight, McDonald and Prentiss; welterweight, Prester and Devine; light-heavyweight, James and Hunter; heavyweight, Slater and Weismee.

Open to Public

The decision by the athletic board to hold the matches open to the public has been the result of great interest shown in boxing this year and the large attendance at the preliminary bouts.

Boxing has grown increasingly popular among college sports as the rules have been arranged to make the sport one of skill and scientific training. Indications are that the first public boxing meet to be held here will be as popular as similar meets held in eastern institutions. A special invitation is being given to the ladies, who will be as interested in this sport as in wrestling and swimming.

No Cheering Allowed

The rules as posted will be strictly adhered to, no coaching or cheering during the rounds while the men are in action, and scientific work being the basis on which the decision shall be based.

5 Judges Will Decide

Five judges will act instead of three, as in the finals, the decision of the judges being based on points added for clean hitting, guarding, aggressiveness, generalship, and knowledge of the game, points deducted for clinching, missing, hitting with open glove, stalling. Acts which may lead to disqualification are butting with head, hitting below the belt, kidney blows, and persistently clinching, or hitting in cinches.

PLAYERS ELECT

The University Players at a meeting yesterday at 4 p. m., elected to membership the following: Jasper J. Johnson A4 of Belmond, Albert Cannon L1 of Iowa City, Ruth Cromer A2 of Anamosa, Isaac I. Solzman A1 of Corydon, Eugene Herrick A1, Marian Ansel A1 of Iowa City, Gladys Western A1 of Webster City, Loraine Luthermer A1 of Sumner, Arthur Shephers A1 of Ottumwa, Glen Tapscott A1 of Lamoni, Alice Timberman A1 of Massena, and Mercedes McEnany A1 of Coggan.

PHI PSIS WIN TOURNEY

Phi Psi won the pan-Hellenic championship last night in a hard fought game with Sigma Nu. The final score was 28 to 18. Phi Psi let throughout the game, with Jansse and Jenson starring for Phi Psi, and Funk starring for Sigma Nu. He made several almost impossible shots from the center of the floor. This game gave the pan-Hel championship to Phi Psi.

ZETS WIN 2 TO 1 IN DEBATE AGAINST IRVING LAST NIGHT

Zetagathian literary society won from Irving institute in the final sophomore debate held at Close hall last night by a decision of two to one. The question for debate was "Resolved, That the United States should ratify the four peace treaty." The constructive speeches were ten minutes and the rebuttal speeches five minutes in length.

Members of the negative, the Zetagathian team were: Robert W. Cooper of Newton, Charles C. Cornwell of Independence, and Buel G. Beems of Anamosa. The affirmative, the Irving team, was composed of Harry E. Mundt of Everly, Joseph M. Emmert of Atlantic, and Lawrence Jongewaard of Orange City.

This debate concludes the series of inter-society debates for the year. The championship debate was won by the Philomathians, and the two freshmen debates were won by the Irvings and Zetagathians.

IOWAN EDITORS ELECTED MAY 2

Petitions Must Be in Hands
Of Board of Trustees
May 1

On May 2 the Daily Iowan board of trustees will elect the editor-in-chief and business manager of the summer session Iowan, and the editor-in-chief and business manager of the Iowan for the next school year.

Applications in by May 1

Applications for these positions may be filed with Prof. C. H. Weller, chairman of the board of trustees, at any time prior to May 1.

The applicant for position as editor-in-chief for the next school year must, at the time he is to assume his duties, have attained senior standing as defined by the registrar of the University.

The only requirement for editor-in-chief of the summer issue of the Daily Iowan, and business manager for either issue, is that the applicant must be a student of the University of Iowa, and in good and regular standing. There is some misunderstanding among the students as to the English requirements for these positions. It is not necessary that the applicant take a course in journalism, or serve apprenticeship as reporter, or night editor, on the staff of the Daily Iowan, although these experiences are highly desirable. The applicant will be judged purely on the basis of ability.

Editor Responsible to Trustees

The editor assumes office at the beginning of the academic year, following his election, and while in office has general control of the editorial and news columns of the Daily Iowan, and direction of the editorial staff. He must act in accord with the decisions of the board of trustees in such matters under his direction as the board is empowered to deal with, and must attend such meetings of the board as the board may request, furnishing such information as they may require concerning the conduct of his office.

COUNCIL PLANS FOR WIND-UP OF MEMORIAL CAMPAIGN NEXT WEEK

STUDENT MEMORIAL UNION CAMPAIGN IS BACKED BY ALUMNI

Alumni all over the state are eagerly watching the results of the student campaign on the campus this week. This is evidenced by letters and telegrams which have been received at the Union office during the last several days. Below is a copy of a letter from Dr. M. H. Thielen M '98 and father of Josephine Thielen A4 of Grundy Center.

Grundy Center, Iowa,
April 4, 1922.

Mr. R. G. Grassfield,
Iowa City, Iowa.

My dear sir:

Every alumnus is with you in spirit this week in your drive.

The parents of the students are willing to make sacrifices and I am sure the students can well afford to deny themselves to the extent to give a liberal donation to such a worthy cause.

The sacrifices of our heroes of the past should be a great stimulus to the one privileged to give. The Grundy Center alumni wish you success.

Sincerely yours,
M. H. Thielen.

Chairman of the Grundy Center
Co. S. U. I. club.

IOWAN ESSAY CONTEST OVER

Margarette Battey Wins
First Prize of $15,
Two Win $5

Freshman prize winners in the Daily Iowan contest for the best article on "What the Memorial Union Will Mean to the University" are announced as follows:

First, $15, Margarette F. Battey of Iowa City.

Second, $5, Everett J. Peterson of Laurens.

Third, $5, Marion Ansel of Iowa City.

The judges, Ralph G. Grassfield, director of the Union; Cloyce K. Huston A4 of Crawfordville, editor of the Iowan; and Prof. William S. Maulsby, in announcing their decision commended highly the knowledge of the subject and the enthusiasm for the project shown by the competitors.

Part of Class Work

Articles were written as part of the class work in the freshman composition course, and section instructors submitted the best articles in their sections to the Iowan. In addition, freshmen not taking the course or desiring to submit something better than they handed in to their instructor entered a considerable number of papers.

105 Articles Submitted

One hundred and five articles were first considered by the judges. After discarding about a dozen papers that failed to comply with the 500-word limit, each judge, after reading all the articles selected those he thought were worthy of being considered for the prizes. Ten or fifteen that resulted were talked over and eventually cut down to four. Each judge then voted on the four papers remaining, one for the best one, two for the next, and so on. The figures for each contestant were then added and the low score was given first place.

The prizes were given by the Johnson County Savings bank.

NO LOAN FUND DANCE UNTIL AFTER EASTER

"No more Student Loan Fund dances will be given before the spring vacation, but probably one will be given the week after Easter vacation," was the statement made yesterday by Edmund J. Harrington D4 of Sioux City, who is in charge of the Loan Fund dances.

"No definite plans have been made for any of the dances except that they will be continued throughout the spring," he said.

Propose to Divide City Into Small Sections; Teams
Visit Houses

FACULTY IS WORKING

Will Renew Activity Among Freshmen Men And Women

After three days of strenuous activity, the Union Council speeded up yesterday to make preparations for the final windup of the campaign next week, which they hope will net them an amount equal to that already pledged. At a luncheon held yesterday noon at the Hotel Jefferson, and at a meeting at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Old Capitol, methods of getting in touch with those not affiliated with any organizations, or those who were overlooked, were formulated.

Proposed Plan

The most effective plan proposed and the one to be adopted, is one by which the city will be divided into small sections, each in charge of a team composed of members of the speakers' bureau, and Union Council. They will visit every house in that district where students live.

This scheme, effectively carried out will come in contact with every student on the campus. From thirty to forty teams are to be organized and thus in two nights it is thought that their efforts will get results desired. Many persons who have not been solicited are willing to subscribe, but are awaiting the approach of a Union representative.

Faculty Working

Those in charge of the faculty arrangements are working on the plan which will be most convenient to faculty members. Definite announcement has not been made, but actual work will start Monday, and the co-operation of the faculty is assured as evidenced by statements made by faculty members who have been approached for suggestions.

Subscriptions yesterday were in the form of clean-ups from the preceding day, and while no large sums were subscribed, the total netted several thousand dollars. Practically every organization has been visited, and provisions have been made through which a follow-up system is bringing in additional pledges every day.

Delta Sigs Put it Over

Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity was visited last night by members of the speakers bureau and came across 100 per cent. A number of the Delta Sigs, who had already pledged $50 last year, raised their promise to $100. In view of the fact that every member subscribed last year, their record this year registers an all Iowa and Union spirit in the fraternity.

Xi Psi Phi is also getting into line behind the Union banner, and the indications point toward similar action on their part.

Irving Institute brought in $1000 in new pledges yesterday, and with some of their members pledging in other organizations, their total reaches the $2000 mark.

Work with Freshmen

Alpha Gamma Phi, omitted in last night's report, have $1,000 in new pledges to their credit. The same earnest desire on the part of every group on the campus to reach the 100 per cent maximum gives the Union leaders the confidence of the entire student body.

Renewed activity among freshmen and sophomores is to be launched, because it is felt that only about half of these men have been approached on the Union subject. The military department has supplied the Union council with the facilities for reaching the first and second year classes.

Freshmen lectures for men are only held during the first semester, thus a collective group was not possible, unless through the class room, and the military department came to the aid of the Union Council in solving the problem.

ELBOW ROOM, PLEASE

A number of remarks floating about the campus are indicative of a general feeling that, now that spring is in the air and the old racquet is being inspected for defects that may have developed during the winter months, some provision should be made for a greater number of tennis courts that might be accessible to University students and faculty members. Upon deliberation and investigation, it seems that such a feeling is warranted. Although tennis is not a major sport and does not in any great degree enter into the intercollegiate contests, it has a great following. Men and women, students and faculty, the professional and the amateur, play tennis; they play tennis in summer, in the fall, and in the spring; they play morning, afternoon, and evenings; some play for the sport, some for the exercise, some in a spirit of rivalry, some just for the mere pleasure of the game; tennis is a clean and interesting game; it is played in America and Europe and other parts of the world. And yet at a University of six thousand students and several hundred faculty members we have only seven tennis courts.

The answer is simple. Adequate provision for this game has not been made on Iowa campus, and if in any way possible, it should be done in time for the approaching spring season.

"LONG MAY IT WAVE—"

Students seldom pause in their daily routine of classes to consider the American flags waving in the breeze over nearly all of the University buildings. "Old Glory" itself typifies all that is American, all American hopes, and all American ideals. Flying above the campus buildings, "Old Glory" marks the University of Iowa as a typical American institution, where good citizens are trained.

We are all here for an education and after all, an education amounts to little more than making good citizens out of us, and making us add something to this wonderful country of ours by doing our own little share in the best way we are able. The American flag seems to be looking down peacefully on all the classrooms, sanctioning all the work being carried on, and floating majestically in the winds, as, below it, students are being made into citizens, citizens who are trained to give their best for the country.

When students have learned to be as sturdy, as truly loyal, as free from ideas of giving up, as the American flag, they have learned one important lesson. The flags are there throughout all sorts of weather, cheering on rainy days, and blending harmoniously with the happy, optimistic world when the day is bright. It never has a day off, but is ever there, urging students to keep their work up, never to say die, and eventually to become first-class Americans. "Old Glory" is watching the work of its future citizens.

ANOTHER FAD
(Michigan Daily)

The United States apparently has contracted radiophonia. Thousands of victims are springing up where only hundreds were before.

The situation in Detroit is a typical one. There every radio shop is crowded, and its managers cannot buy apparatus fast enough to meet the demand. There every other chimney supports its antenna; the young and old unite their efforts in constructing radiophone sets; and report has it that several hundred telephone receivers have mysteriously disappeared from public booths within a month,—presumably to be incorporated in new receiving outfits.

General Electric, Westinghouse, and other commercial manufacturing companies are reaping a harvest from this latest fad. They know what they are about, whether the purchasers of their apparatus do or not. Here are countless men, and women, little boys and girls, spending countless dollars every day for dinky receiving sets, over which they hope to hear radio concerts. Joy and bliss! Wagner, Tschalkowsky, Chopin by radio, is rapture; in a concert hall, to most of the same individuals, it is insufferable.

Old-time operators, particularly amateurs, find their teeth in the face of the radiophone craze, with its attendant interference, and possible new restrictions on general communication. Yet they need but have patience. As the warm weather approaches, as the "static" bugaboo makes receiving difficult, and as the novelty of the thing wears off, thousands of the fadists will lose interest in wireless; and will turn their attention into new channels. Then radio communication for the sake of experiment and development, will be at least partially free from the present annoyance.

In the interim, however, commercial manufacturing companies may have to enlarge their counting houses.

CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

To the Editor:

As a Chinese and a student of Chinese history, I fail to understand the subject of debate between the women of Iowa and Indiana. "The term China includes old China, Manchuria, Mongolia, and Korea," so says the Daily Iowan for a number of times. As I understand Korea has not been a part of China for two millenniums.

Does China, as used by debators, mean the China of the West Han dynasty when Emperor Wu-Ti (140 86 B. C.) subjugated Korea? If so, no part of Mongolia and only a small portion of Manchuria belonged to the empire. Or does it mean the China of Tang dynasty when Emperor (627-650 A. D.) led two expeditions to Korea? But after an unsuccessful attempt to take more than ten cities he left the peninsula a free state, and today neither the Chinese, nor the Chinese historians recognize Korea as the territory of the Tang dynasty.

Moreover, in both Han and Tang dynasties the Chinese standard had been carried beyond the Pamir plateau in Central Asia and Annam in southeast. Why not include Cochinchina and Tibet? Probably the term China means the empire of the Mongol dynasty (1360-1368 A. D.) when Jenkhiz Khan and Kublai Khan actually conquered Korea. But why not include all the territory overrun by these two monarchs, Siberia and Eastern Russia for example? Apparently by China is meant the empire of the Manchu dynasty (1644-1911.)

But Korea was not a part of the Manchu Empire as Mongolia. She had her own government, law, customs, in fact everything in her own way with one exception, that is, she had to pay tribute to the Manchu government which was under the obligation to protect her territory from foreign invasion, and to put down her insurrections at home. Moreover Tibet and Chinese Turkestan which although they did not constitute parts of China proper but parts of the old empire and even of the present republic, are entirely left out in this subject. In fact geographical knowledge like this is very misleading. After careful research I submit these facts for consideration. C. Liu.

FLAGS FLOWN AT HALF MAST YESTERDAY FOR E. ADAMS

George F. Kay, dean of the liberal arts college, ordered that the flag on Old Capitol be flown at

YOUNG SOLOIST'S LIFE FULL OF HARDSHIPS AT BEGINNING OF CAREER

Ellen Rumsey, the young contralto, who will appear in Iowa City as soloist with the St. Louis Symphony orchestra April 20, had the course of her whole life changed by some amateur theatricals in her hometown in New England.

Father Did Not Approve
Miss Rumsey had always had the desire to make music a profession, but as her father did not greatly approve of it, she had been content to lead the life of any other American girl.

Then came the theatricals in which she played and sang. It was not merely the success that she enjoyed before her audiences, made up mostly of friends, but the performances gave her an incentive to determine to become a singer.

Took Lessons
From some experts who heard her sing she received encouragement, and much against her father's will, she commenced to take lessons. He would give her no support in her enterprise, telling her that if she wished to become a public singer she would have to do so without his help.

She worked earnestly and made rapid progress. Little by little she began to get a local reputation; first came a church position. Then some little concerts in neighboring towns. She determined to go to New York and became a pupil of Witherspoon.

Forced to Economize
In New York Miss Rumsey found that her savings account rapidly diminished, and she was forced to lead a life of strictest economy, in a hall-bedroom with an alcohol stove. More than once, Miss Rumsey states that she was forced to sit up all night in a day coach, returning from some concert engagement, in order to save Pullman fare.

Finally, came the great evening of her debut in New York.

The next day was more thrilling, bringing her the notices of her success, which in turn brought her some concert engagements that added to her bank account. Miss Rumsey is now counted among our most successful concert singers.

BOSE SPOKE AT ATHENA SOCIETY MEETING LAST TUESDAY ON "INDIA TODAY"

Dr. Sudhindra Bose, lecturer on Oriental politics, spoke to the Athena literary society, Tuesday evening. Dr. Bose talked on "India Today." He spoke of the deplorable conditions there at the present time. Following his speech, he gave a brief talk in behalf of the Memorial Union. Marion Smith G of Iowa City and Else Smith A4 of Garrison gave a vocal duet.

The first national publication for the society is to be issued here this year, with Reba Kelly A4 of Chicago, as editor in chief. This year's book is to be named "The Gaval."

SPANISH STUDENTS PRESENT 3 PLAYS IN LITTLE THEATER

Many were turned away at the presentation of the Spanish plays in the Little theater last night because of the limited seating capacity of the house. Two plays in Spanish, "Manana de Sol," and "Sabado Sin Sol," both by the Quintero brothers, and one in English, "The Olives," a sixteenth century farce, were given.

The plays were unusually well done and were so carried out that a person with no knowledge of Spanish could tell from the expression and action of the characters just what was happening. This was especially true of "Sabado Sin Sol," which is made up of a great deal of action, whereas "Manana de Sol" a character play, this was a little more difficult to understand. Much credit is due Miss Emma C. Stubner, who coached the play.

Samonte Features

The acting of Vedasto Samonte in "Manana de Sol" was one of the features of the evening. His portrayal of Don Gonzalo, a grumbling old man, was pleasing and showed talent. Carol Carter starred in "Sabado Sin Sol." She sang two songs, especially written for her by Geraldine Mars, and gave a dance. Mildren Keller showed considerable charm in the role of Dona Laura in "Manana de Sol."

Little Stage Setting

Simplicity of stage effect with emphasis on details of pronunciation, costuming, and character impersonation were the aims. Some of the costumes were obtained from Fritz, Schlautz, and company of Chicago. "The Olives," a sixteenth century farce which was given in translation, was presented for its historical setting.

String Quartet Plays

The seranaders who appeared in the latter part of "Sabado de Sol," were members of the "Filipino String Circle," of the Filipino club. They are: Gregoria Ventura, banduria; Alfredo Alonzo, mandolin; Rufino Peralta, ukelele; and Honofre Andrada, director, guitar. An orchestra under the direction of Eugene Zacher played during the intermission.

Those in Cast

FACULTY EAGER FOR NEW DRIVE

President Jessup Heads List With Pledge of One Thousand Dollars

Interest among the faculty has been greatly stimulated as the result of intense activity by the students in the present Memorial Union campaign. Several faculty men have voiced favorable comments on the success of the student subscription.

One member of the faculty said recently that many of the members of the instructional staff were waiting for the faculty drive to begin in order that they could do their proper share in the way of contribution toward the Union.

Kansas Faculty Pledges $24,000. Another faculty member quoted some figures on what the faculties of other institutions had done and mentioned particularly the Kansas campaign in which the faculty pledged $24,000. Comparing the standing of the two schools he said that the Iowa faculty should pledge at least $40,000 in the present campaign.

Many Have Pledged

While nothing has been done thus far in the way of a faculty organization for the Union, a large number have subscribed during previous campaigns. Among those at the top of the list are President Walter A. Jessup, $1,000, William G. Raymond $500, Chester A. Phillips $500, Forest C. Ensign $500, George W. Stewart $500, Clarence Van Epps $500, Rudolph A. Keuver $300 and Charles H. Weller $300.

A large number are included among those who have subscribed amounts ranging from $300 down.

SEALS AND EELS PLAN AQUATIC FLOAT PARADE AND CANOE RACES SOON

The Eels club will hold the annual canoe race the second or third Saturday before school lets out. Much interest was shown in the race last year as was evidenced by the large crowd that witnessed the race. Gold, silver and bronze medals were given for the first three places.

To Stage Float Parade

The Eels and Seals are considering the estaging of an aquatic regatta similar to that put on at Wisconsin each year. All the organizations will be asked to prepare floats that will be floated down the river in a parade. Prizes will be given for the best float. Besides this parade there is to be a swimming race from the park bridge to the Iowa Avenue bridge, the contestants to dive from the bridge at the start. If plans go through with the canoe race, it will be given at this time. Last year the canoe race was won by Paul McKay A4 of Iowa City and Lovell Jahnke A4 of Muscatine.

Such a regatta would attract considerable interest and would be a most worth while project. Aquatic sports are on the boom at Iowa as is the case all over the country and such a plan if carried through would be a success.

STUDENTS WARNED TO CARE FOR UNION PLEDGE BADGES

"Be careful of your Union button!"

This order was issued late Wednesday from the Union office. The supply is running low. The Union council believes that they have secured enough for the number of students who pledge. But in the hurry, and rush of the campaign, committeemen have taken more buttons than they have used, and many have been mislaid.

So be careful and hang on to your button until after the committees have completed their work.

COLLEGE STUDENT IS WORST OFFENDER AT BEATING HIS WAY

The bureau of railroad detectives, of Chicago, have issued a bulletin concerning those who steal rides on trains. It is neither the vagrant nor the hobo that is the worst offender, but the college student. Everywhere a college town is located the railroad men have to be on a constant lookout for undergraduate Romeos beating their way to see the home town Juliet.

It isn't the lack of funds that causes the student to follow this adventuresome way of transportation, but it is more for association with hoboes and the idea of beating the railroad company.

VARSIITY WINS OVER SECONDS

State Teacher's Baseball Team Plays Here Tomorrow

Baseball practice started in earnest yesterday when Coach James N. Ashmore, taking advantage of the first real baseball weather of the year, sent the varsity against the seconds in a five inning game. The seconds, who were strengthened by having Hamilton, Highbee, and Duhm in the box, held the varsity to three scores, while they were able to make only one.

Frohwein Looks Good

Frohwein started for the varsity and pitched good baseball as long as he was in the box. Travis, who relieved him did not look as good as he has in the past. He was wild, walking one or two men, and was continually in trouble. He was not hit hard, but the seconds scored one of the men that he walked.

There is a merry fight going on over who shall play short. Poepsel has been playing with the first team while Hurlburt has been holding down the same position on the seconds. Hurlburt has the advantage of experience, although he played third last year, but he has not been throwing as accurately as the other. Both are very good infielders, covering a lot of ground and the man who hits the best will probably win out in the fight. So far, Poepsel has been showing up best with his stick, and he will probably start the game against State Teachers tomorrow.

Hicks Fast

Hicks seems to have the call at third base, in fact he appears to be the only man out for that position. He has one of the best arms of any of the men on the team. His throws are always hard and fast. He tackles hard hits balls just as he used to stop men on the basketball floor. At bat he shows a slight tendency to swing at high balls. Two of the hits that he has made in practice were on bad pitches, but he will have to overcome the tendency to swing at wild throws before the season gets started.

Shimek and Locke

Shimek and Locke are two players who seem to have their positions held down for the season. Shimek was one of the best infielders on the team last year, but he was weak in batting. He still can field as well as he did last year, while his batting has improved at least fifty per cent. He bats left handed, and has been cracking the ball out in practice. Shimek is also one of the best base runners on the team.

Locke has always been a catcher, but is playing first base as if he had always played there. He shifts his feet like a veteran at that position, and scoops up ground balls without any trouble. Locke is one of the best batters on the team. He hit well over 300 per cent in the games played last year. He may have to catch if Barrett does not come up to expectations, but in any case is too valuable a hitter to be left off the team.

Outfield Pleases Ashmore

The present outfield seems to please Coach Ashmore, and the first game will undoubtedly see Wilhelm in left field, Draper in center field, and Michaelson in right field. Michaelson and Draper both played on last year's team, Draper in left field and Michaelson in right field. Wilhelm was a valuable pinch hitter last year, and seems to have won a regular place this year. Michaelson was the best hitter on the team last year, and should keep up the pace he set then. Neither he nor Wilhelm are quite as fast as they might be, but both cover enough ground, combined with their hitting to be valuable men on this year's team.

Draper is the weakest hitter of this trio, although he batted close to the 300 mark last year. However, he covers more ground than either of the other two men, and should have no trouble holding down the place at center field.

Infielders Scarce

There are a number of other men out for some of the positions, although there is a scarcity of infielders, but none of them have shown up good enough to replace any of the men on the first team. Arneson, playing first base, is a good man, with a slight weakness in batting, who may get a chance to play first if Locke should be moved back to his old position behind the bat.

Saturday's game will undoubtedly determine whether some of the men on the present varsity team will continue playing in their positions or whether new men will beat them out.

SIGMA DELTA CHI ELECTS

Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalistic fraternity, has elected to membership Lynn A. Saylor A3 of Waverly, and Lorenz G. Wolters A2 of Waukon.

Saylor was a reporter on the Iowan last year, and is a night editor this year. He is a member of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity. Wolters is a reporter and feature story writer on the Iowan this year.

ANNUAL INTRA-MURAL NOVICE MEET IS NEXT SATURDAY ON FIELD

The second annual intra-mural novice meet is to be held on Iowa field next Saturday, April 8, at 4 o'clock. Due to the baseball game which starts at 2 o'clock it became necessary for the meet to be postponed two hours.

Five Places Count

Five places will be counted in each event, previous to this, in all meets, only three places have been given, but it was thought advisable this time to increase the number for this meet. A regular schedule of events will be run off, consisting of 100 and 220 yard dashes, mile and half mile, 440 yard run, and relays. Also a complete schedule of field events will be held including the pole vault, hammer throw, discuss, javlin, high and broad jump.

The feature of the meet will be the inter-college relays both in the half mile, and mile. Every college on the campus will be represented with a team, also arrangements have been made for the pre-dents and medics to be represented.

Purpose of Meet

The purpose of the meet is to provide an opportunity for those not having had a chance to compete in a meet to do so without competing against more experienced men.

Possibly in the University there are several men with ability as track men, who do not like to get out with the varsity men, because they lack confidence. Here is a chance where competition will not be too fast for such men. In order to get men out, the place in an intercollegiate meet from participating in the intra-mural novice meet.

Entries can be made in the main locker room and in the freshman locker room, by signing the cards placed there for that purpose.

About thirty men have already signed up, but assistant coach Albert Jenkins expects to double that number to take part in the meet. Many have hesitated in signing up, for fear that they would have to compete against varsity men, but this is not the case. Ribbons will be given to the men finishing in the first five places in each event.

GAVE ILLUSTRATED TALK

At the Classical Club meeting last night, Frances Baker A3 of Iowa City, gave an illustrated talk on "The Art of Ancient Crete." Slides illustrating the findings of archeologists were used as the basis of the talk. Data, proving that the people of Crete, and not the Phoenicians, were the originators of the modern alphabet, was presented.

HORACK TO SPEAK

Prof. F. E. Horack, of the political science department, will address the Northeastern division of the State teachers' association, at Waterloo today on "Government Reorganization in Iowa."

NOTICE

Manuscripts submitted for the Memorial Union contest conducted by the Daily Iowan may be secured at the Memorial Union contest box in the Daily Iowan office, room 14 in the liberal arts building.

IOWAN EDITORS WILL BE ELECTED MAY 7

The business manager assumes office also at the beginning of the academic year, following his election. Before the first issue of the paper under his management, he must file with the board of trustees of the Daily Iowan publishing company a bond for two thousand ($2,000) dollars, approved by said board, and payable to the treasurer of said board. His duties are to conduct the business of the Daily Iowan, make all advertising and subscription contracts, purchase office supplies, pay incidental expenses, and have general management of the financial side of the paper under the supervision of the trustees.

The summer issue of the Daily Iowan is continued only for the first six weeks of the summer session, and last year only four papers a week were published. The frequency of its issuance is, however, in the hands of the editor and business manager.

Anyone who is interested in the above mentioned propositions may secure further information from Prof. William S. Maulsby or Cloyce K. Huston at the Daily Iowan office at any time.

COUNCIL PLANS FOR WINDUP OF MEMORIAL CAMPAIGN

the attention to the fact that the office is open until late every night, and anyone who feels that they have been missed can find the opportunity of subscribing at the office. Many students have already followed this plan and each day finds several persons who have pledged of their own accord.

The office force are busily engaged in compiling tables as the various organizations, but due to the many duplications, it is a tremendous task, and definite figures cannot be published until later.

Representatives of the Union Council and speakers bureau are highly pleased with the co-operation and warm welcome they have received at every organization visited. They have been guests at the numerous dinners, and the students have expressed the opinion that it is for Iowa, and not particularly the visitors that underlies the mission which these Union workers are connected with.

The Right Attitude

Particularly gratifying is the attitude of the freshmen men and women. The Union Council realized that the new men and women upon the campus would be slow to respond to the call for funds in large donations. They are naturally cautious, and it is reasonable to expect that they must know the Union thoroughly before they give their promise for support. The freshmen men responded generously, and the freshmen women are not far behind.

Leaders of the freshmen women predict that when this effort for the Union has been completed their part with that of the men of first-year class will set an example for the University to follow.
