CAMPUS CRITIC AWARDS PALMS TO THE SENIOR HOP AT CLOSE OF FORMAL YEAR

By Observer

Now that the last all-University event for the best decorated party of the year has been held, the Senior Hop, sponsored by the Alternative Debating Association of Mason and the Central Association of Mason, has been completed. This party, while it surpasses in size the last, is not as in line of progress and style of events as the one sponsored by the Alternative Debating Association of Mason and the Central Association of Mason.

For weeks before the Senior Hop, the members of the party were working on a new decorating scheme so that when the invitation slips were opened, a scene of excitement and good feeling for the party's purpose will be evident.

This sympathy and excitement was widespread among the many guests who will attend the Senior Hop, which will be the last all-University event for the year.

The innovation of this year's commi-

ties have previously been limited to an annual affair. However, as a consequence seniors in combination with all University students are suspending their classes and fastening

their books, expecting that such a dismissal might be secondary, the freshman party to a certain

THERE’S A REASON

A proud University student intimated yesterday that Iowa is appealing because, as he puts it, "the glory of any University is the men who are advanced together on one little corner of the earth." He is not alone in his opinion, for there is a large number of men and women who agree with him. Iowa is the University to which they have gone in order to receive the education that they desire.

Mr. Fisk, who walks the important streets of the University campus, observes that the men and women who compose its student body are the most select group to be found in any such institution.

This is due to the fact that the University has a special system for selecting its students. By means of this system, the University is able to attract the most capable and ambitious students from all parts of the country.

The system is based on a competitive examination, in which the student must demonstrate his ability to meet the demands of the University curriculum. Those who are successful in this examination are then invited to attend the University.

This system has been adopted by many other institutions of higher learning, and has proved to be a successful means of selecting the most capable students.

The University of Iowa is the only institution that has this system. Other universities have tried to copy it, but have not been successful. The University of Iowa has a better record than any other institution in the United States.

Day started, Daine form of feature dances but will furnish the entertainment in the Senior Hop taking other necessary equipment for a nival dance at which nothing will happen. Broad jump, Jaqua first, Roberts third, Rabe second, Put, Johnson first, Coulter and Zell neglected the other features of the party.

Half mile run, Morrow first, Keppler brought out in their arguments for the team, it is not the one star that makes the team but eleven players playing as one. The Junior Prom is around the form for decorations and programs but the other features of this party failed to come up to the standard set by the Junior Hop and consequently suffered in comparison. The floor was the main objection students brought out in their arguments against the Junior Prom saying almost is a man that it was too slick for even the skaters. It seems to be the tendency of the dance committee to put too much money on decorations, and programs, or anyone feature and neglect the other features of the dance.
