LARGE CROWD ATTEND INITIAL PERFORMANCE GIVEN BY ORCHESTRA

More than 1500 people attended the first orchestra concert given Friday night in the Out-of-Doors theater. At available seating capacity was occupied one-half hour before the program began, and many stood throughout the entire concert. Few left before the concert was over and the admission was nil.

The summer session orchestra of over thirty members has rehearsed regularly every Tuesday evening since its organization but this was their first public appearance. Prof. Philip G. Clapp, head of the school of music and director of the orchestra was well pleased with the showing made. He is glad that the first attempt at organization since the war has been so successful. The orchestra is unusually complete for summer session organization as it contains all instruments except the oboe.

The University chorus under the direction of Miss Mildred B. Paddock, voice instructor in the school of music, gave one selection at the concert. This is the second summer session chorus ever organized here.

"The interest shown is very gratifying," said Mrs. Paddock. She regrets that the time is so short for the 75 members show ability and she feels that much could be accomplished with more time. The chorus has sung at three weekly assemblies.

Solos by students in the school of music gave variety to the program. The program without encores was as follows:

March of the Priests from "Athlie"—Mendelssohn—Orchestra.

Song, "The Monk", Meyerbee—Mr. Harold Smith.

Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana", Mascagni Persian March, Strauss—Orchestra.

Polonaise from "Mignon", Thomas—Miss Jeanne Wolfe

Violin solo, "Legende", Wieniawski—Mr. John William Scott, Jr.

Anthem, "I will extol Thee", Costa—Chorus

Toreador Song from "Carmen", Bizet—Mr. James Houghton.

"Poor Butterfly", dereanged from Pucini—Orchestra.

FOOTBALL PROCEEDS CARRIED BURDEN OF ATHLETIC EXPENCES

Football, for the fall of '21, was a financial success for the athletic department. It carried the burden of all of the other branches of athletics for 1921-'22.

The total cash receipts for football amounted to $60,532.27, while the expenditures totaled $36,994.55.

Of the other sports, basketball cash receipts totaled $3,907.46, and expenditures $6,786.90; baseball, cash receipts, $981.70, expenditures, $5,552.20; track (including conference meet), receipts $7,250.90, expenditures $14,946.76; wrestling, receipts $170.15, expenditures $1,643.73; swimming, receipts $265.52, expenditures $1,266.90.

The above figures include only the cash receipts. In addition $33,140 was taken in from year-book sales. Salaries of the coaches and administrative officers of the department are not included in the above expenditures.

The high school tournament held here last spring cost the department $3,594.68, and the receipts totaled only $2,148.25.

In addition permanent improvements on the field, including concrete wall, bleachers and other minor additions, but not including the stadium now under construction, were constructed at a cost of $25,403.47.

The improvements made this summer will cost approximately $90,000. This work is being carried on by means of bond sales. About $80,000

WEEKLY ASSEMBLIES HELD THIS SUMMER A POPULAR FEATURE

The five weekly assemblies held this summer have proved to be a popular feature of the summer session. Over half the students have habitually attended. President Jessup showed us our past and pointed us to the future. Dean Russell of the college of education gave us some fatherly advice on how to win high grades. Prof. Edwin D. Starbuck of the department of psychology and philosophy issued a challenge to the schools of Iowa to step out in the field of character education. Dr. Bird T. Baldwin, director of the child welfare research station, opened our eyes to the importance of the study being made of normal children, and under the direction of Prof. Chas. E. Young of the department of Romance languages a program was given commemorating the three hundredth anniversary of the birth of Moliere. An important feature was the music furnished each week by the chorus under the direction of Miss Mildred B. Paddock of the department of music.

51 VISIT PLANTS AT CEDAR RAPIDS

Fifty-one students went on the excursion to Cedar Rapids yesterday under the direction of Prof. Elmer W. Hills, of the economics department.

The party first visited the plant of Quaker Oats company. Here they watched the various processes in the manufacture of flour from the wheat grain. The plant was not operating at full capacity so they did not get to see the food that's shot from guns.

The Penick-Ford plant was next visited by the party of students. This concern is one of the largest syrup manufacturing concerns in the world. They are also manufacturers of starch, glucose, sugar, jellies, and feeds. A guide explained the entire process from the unloading of the corn to the finished product. Many of the visitors found the smell of the plant nearly impossible. The visit, however, was of great interest to students of chemistry.

On account of the limited time, the trip to the Sinclair Packing company was called off.

PRESIDENT JESSUP TO GRANT DEGREES TO SEVENTY-SEVEN

There will be no assembly on Wednesday morning as this is convocation week.

The first summer session convocation will be held in the open air theater Friday at 2:30 p. m. President Walter A. Jessup will award degrees and certificates to seventy-seven graduates.

Prof. O. E. Klingaman, director of the extension division will deliver the address, his subject being "The Next Progressive Setp in Education". The chorus and orchestra under the direction of Prof. Philip G. Clapp will furnish the music.

"SHOW SHOP" REHEARSALS PROVE TO BE SUCCESSFUL

Rehearsals for the "Show Shop", a four-act comedy to be given by the Out-of-Door Players Wednesday night, July 19, point to a successful presentation of the last play of the session. The eighteen characters are busy with lines and practicing. Many of the cast are experienced amateurs. The lead is to be played by Charles V. Brown of the department of speech.

of the certificates have already been sold out of an initial $100,000. Most of the certificates have been taken up in and around Iowa City.

LAST IOWAN THURSDAY

The last issue of the summer session Daily Iowan will appear Thursday morning. The issue Tuesday morning will be delivered as usual but the Commencement issue will be distributed from the Iowan office, room 14, liberal arts building, where subscribers may call for their copies.

PROFESSOR PIERCE PLEASES AUDIENCE WITH HIS VERSES

"Great poets never seem as great as when compared with those of lesser ability," said Prof. Frederick E. Pierce at a reading of his own poems Friday afternoon before a large number of students in the liberal arts assembly hall.

"I am going to show the greatness of Shakespeare, Milton, Browning, and any other poets you may chance to read. The process will be disagreeable but highly educational," he added with a characteristic touch of humor.

Professor Pierce then recited a number of his poems, of which he has published three volumes. Most of these deal with New England life, "Cornhuskers," "Visit to the Old Farm" and "Jordan Farms" are stories and descriptions of New England country life.

The influence of Puritanism is shown in "Eve of the Deluge," "The Family Bible" and "God and the Farmer."

Another group of Professor Pierce's poems deal with modern life. One of these, "The Wardens of the Marches," deals with a theory which Professor Pierce and Prof. Thomas A. Knott of the English department hold regarding the relationship of economic conditions to periods of high literary development.

OBERLIN PROFESSOR WILL SPEAK MONDAY ON LANGUAGE SURVEY

Prof. W. L. Carr, of the Latin department of Oberlin college, will speak on "The National Survey of the Teaching of the Classics" in the liberal arts assembly hall at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, July 17.

Professor Carr has spent full time during the past year in a survey of the teaching of Latin and Greek in the United States. This investigation was conducted by the American class-league and financed by the general education board.

"I have no doubt that a large number of superintendents and principals, particularly those interested in educational measurements, would be glad to hear an account of the investigation from one of the chief investigators," said Prof. Franklin H. Potter of the Latin and Greek department.

RESERVE OFFICERS CALLED TO FIRST U. S. TRAINING CAMP

Nine hundred reserve officers of the United States army received orders yesterday to report today for the first officers' training camp to be held in Ft. Snelling July 16 to 30. Earl C. Culver of West Liberty, who is a graduate student in the college of education left yesterday. He will continue in the second camp August 1 to 31 as an instructor.

Lee J. Gillis, summer session tennis championship, also a student in the college of education, gave up his captain's commission in order to be able to pursue his work.

THE WEATHER

Fair and cooler in north portion of state. Things will become somewhat warmer in Iowa City as term examinations approach.

STUDENTS WILL TAKE TRIP TO HYDRAULIC POWER PLANT NEXT THURSDAY AFTERNOON

An excursion to the University hydraulic-power plant and testing station will be led by Prof. Floyd A. Nagler of the department of mechanics and hydraulics. All students who wish to go on the excursion are to meet in front of the Old Capitol building Wednesday at 4 p. m.

The plant was built under the direction of the engineering college of the University. The dam was completed in 1906, but the hydraulic plant and testing station were not ready for use until about a year ago. The testing plant was built by Professors Dunlap and Simms with the aid of the engineering students. A cable joins cable which will carry a person across the river. The plant furnishes much of the power used by the University besides being an experiment station for the engineering students.

REGISTRATION WILL COMMENCE THURSDAY

Registration for the second summer session will commence Thursday, July 20. Three days will be given for students to register. Registration will close Saturday, July 22.

The procedure will be similar to that of the first term. The first step in the process will begin at the south entrance of natural science hall where the tuition cards will be handed out. Graduate students will receive a permit a register card at this table.

The next step will be at the Secretary's office where fees are paid. Graduate students are exempt from this step of the process.

At the south exit from natural science building building all registration materials will be given to those who show the receipted tuition card.

Tables at which to fill registration coupons will be located in the basement of the hall of liberal arts.

Further directions will be given in the schedule of courses and on the top section of the registration coupons.

SWIMMING CONTEST DRAWS LARGE CROWD

Between three and four hundred people attended the swimming exhibition that was held last Thursday night at the men's gymnasium. There were not enough seats and about half of the audience had to stand. The outstanding features of the evening were the fancy diving by Shepherd and McCullough, of the varsity swimming team; the tea party, a stunt by the women, in which tea and sandwiches were served and eaten by the girls while they were treading water; the duck chase, in which several boys tried to catch a hell-diver; and "Mike and Abie," a stunt by the men. In the twenty yard dash for the University elementary school girls, one of them insisted on starting by hanging onto the edge of the tank instead of diving. She became almost vehement when one of the fellows tried to pull her out. The corner tag game furnished amusement for the spectators in the gallery—those down stairs were splashed too much to appreciate the game. The relay race was won by the men by about one length. This makes up for the defeat they received last summer. Six women swam one length each against four men swimming two lengths each.

Results:
40 yard dash, men—Bess, Weber.
20 yard dash, women—Taggart, Fiske.
Blindfold race, men—Douglas, McIntosh.
20 yard dash, men—Weber, Wilton.
Handicap relay—Won by men.
20 yard dash, U. Hi girls—Fleming, Hilliard.

KEEN COMPETITION SEEN IN SECOND ROUND OF TOURNAY

The first round of the tennis doubles tournament has been completed and two of the four remaining matches in the second round have been played off. Both of these are quite evenly matched, and will be played off tomorrow afternoon, when Fannon and Scott meet Jones and James, and in the match between Knight and Blackstone, with Lemmel and Hurd. The other games in the second round have been played between Gillis and Dorsey, who defeated Fager and Remmers by a score of 6-1, 6-0; the second games which has been played was between Maulsby and Chamberlin and Hurd and Lemmel, the latter team winning 6-4, 1-6, 7-5. This was the closest match of the tournament up to date.

E. Fannon and H. W. Scott defeated E. W. Chittenden and Miller, 6-1, 6-0. G. E. Jones and H. W. James defeated D. Telson and Young, 6-3, 6-0. W. L. Peterson and C. W. Peterson defeated W. H. Dargan and W. A. McCullough, 6-4, 3-6, -2. F. D. Knight and E. G. Blackstone defeated Harvey and Williams, -1, -3. W. S. Maulsby and E. Chamberlin defeated Stubbs and McNitt, 6-4, 6-2. W. H. Lemmel and R. C. Hurd defeated Ricketts and Grant, 6-3, 6-4. Fager and Remmers defeated P. W. Hoff and Todd, 6-3, 7-5. Gillis and Dorsey won from Hunter and Hunter, 6-1, 6-1.

Gillis and Dorsey defeated Fager and Remmers in the second round, 6-1, 6-0, and will meet Hurd and Lemmel Monday afternoon to play for the semi-finals. Seven games remain to complete the tournament. Those who will probably meet in the semi-finals are L. J. Gillis and J. M. Dorsey vs. E. Fannon and H. W. Scott.

CHURCH WORKERS TO OPEN SESSION HERE TUESDAY MORNING

The sixth annual conference of religious workers will be held under the auspices of the extension department and the summer session of the University from July 18 to 21 inclusive. All sessions will be held at 221A liberal arts building.

Last year ministers from all over the state attended the meetings. One proof of the value of their service is the fact that many of these ministers return each year for the various sessions of the conference.

The purpose of the conference is to permit those persons to discuss topics of mutual interest and to hear lecturers who are authorities in their respective fields. To facilitate discussion, round-tables will be conducted on the first three days of the conference.

The precedent has been established of securing one noted speaker from outside the University. This year Rev. William H. Boocock will deliver a series of lectures on church problems. The other speakers will be members of the faculty, who will address the conference on topics which they, by reason of their practical experience, are best able to present.

20 yard dash, U. Elem. girls—Ellis, May.

Other events were:
Women's fancy diving—Taggart, Fiske.

Men's fancy diving—Shepherd, McCullough.

Demonstration of strokes:

Breast stroke—Wilton.

Back stroke—Weber.

Crawl stroke—Shepherd.

HELP! HELP!

An immigrant who was recently prevented from bringing his dog into the country by immigration officials appealed to President Harding to have the rule set aside. He succeeded in getting a plea from the President to the authorities on behalf of the dog, but even this did not carry sufficient weight to offset the stringent rulings of officialdom.

Summer session students this week are probably having much the same qualms that the immigrant had. Friday's classes are the last of the first term of the summer session, and unless the unspoken plea of the majority of students is heard and answered, there is a probability that a large number of these classes will be presented with examinations.

There has been an understanding prevalent among the students that the giving of examinations in the summer session is a matter purely optional with each instructor. If that is the case, the only question the students have to face is how to convince their instructors that there are other ways besides examinations to determine the amount of knowledge each one has consumed during the six weeks.

Remembering the experience of the immigrant, it may not be the proper procedure to send a call for help to President Harding, but there may be instructors that examinations are another means of showing the various less, unnecessary, unwarranted, and the bunk.

DO COLLEGE STUDENTS THINK?

Robert Wormser, president of the Harvard Liberal club, in an article in the New Student, says:

"The statements of college students in general information tests that the artichoke is an animal and that Koreans have six legs arouse horror in the breasts of the good people who have the welfare of the rising generation at heart. But the belief, expressed in a college daily of recent date, that the use of airplanes and bombs is an ideal method of breaking strikes, should be the cause of far greater alarm to the guardians of the young. For only a whimsical minority of college students would be unable to recognize an artichoke, while a tragic majority of them would probably agree with the editorial just quoted. Lack of information is serious, but it is not so unfortunate as the great lack of thought in the American college today.

"American education does not encourage thinking. We have laid more stress on the development of our national memory than our national intelligence. Education is in the passive rather than in the active mood. The students are lectured to, assigned lessons, questioned and examined. They are called on to learn many facts and figures. But only in a few courses are they expected either to analyze or to create."

The average college student of today, it may be admitted, probably doesn't think as much as the learned sages of ancient days. He does not analyze complex problems quite as intricately, nor does he, while he is yet a college student, ponder seriously over the so-called great world problems which are supposedly thought to over-shadow and awe the younger generation. Usually he is not particularly bothered with these magnanimous questions which the intellectual aristocrats have been worrying over for so many years.

But after all, is this such a deplorable situation as some might seem to think? Criticism is a peculiar mental activity, and almost as changeable as it is peculiar. People will be criticised from now until eternity for whatever they do or whatever they do not do, and in spite of all the fault-finding, will go on doing just as they have been in the custom of doing in the past. And criticism of the college student for not thinking will have no more effect than any other conventional criticism.

The question also arises as to whether or not a person can ever think willfully. Is the process of thinking one which can be exercised at the whim or fancy of the individual or is it not? Men who are called great thinkers have disagreed on this question themselves.

TELL IT TO THE MARINES

This phrase fits perfectly to express the feelings of many of the males of the species when they read with broad smiles the account of that woman's banquet in "The Daily Iowan."

The women may say what they please about men; they may strike so-called sublime attitudes and adopt a pose of indifference and superiority to mere man; they may organize an "all woman's dinner," (please note the phrase), at which women are to reign supreme; but the fact is that they are terribly concerned about men.

At the men's dinner the fair sex was never mentioned; in fact, the men were, for the time being, blissfully unconscious that Creation contained such peculiar beings as women. And the men had a glorious and wonderful time.

In contrast to that, what happened at the women's dinner? Men were the chief topic of conversation!!! The word men, or man, occurs in the account found in "The Daily Iowan" no less than fourteen times and very likely it occurred many more times than that in the speeches and conversations of that evening. Practically every speaker in that "all women's dinner" had to have something to say about their long-suffering brothers. And the feast finally wound up with the hope that in the future nine out of ten women will marry.

What is the matter, dear sisters? Are you so helpless when men are not around that you must talk about them in order to fill up the great void?

Lately, we had heard so much about woman's independence of men and of their absolute self-reliance that the much-abused male of the species was feeling terribly small, and meek, and humble, and insignificant before the dictatorial majesty of short dresses and bobbed hair. But now the cat has been let out of the bag. We see that a good deal of that independence and indifference towards mere man was simply camouflage. And so henceforth when anybody tries to make us believe that women are very independent of men and that they do not care two snaps about what men think of them, we will say: "Is that so? Tell it to the marines!"

Dear sisters, you are very peculiar beings; but we like you just the same. Henry Blanco.

COLONEL MUMMA IS ARRANGING RIFLE TOURNEY

Col. M. C. Mumma, head of the military department here is in Washington, D. C. arranging for the national rifle and pistol shooting tournament to be held at Camp Perry Ohio during September. Colonel Brookhart, the present republican nominee for senator, has been in command of the shooting tournament for the past several years. It was erroneously reported that the two colonels would compete in the state meet at Des Moines beginning July 21. Colonel Mumma will not return to Iowa till after the national meet and Colonel Brookhart is too busy with his political campaign. Considerable uncertainty exists about the prospects of a successful national rifle meet because of the attitude of congress in reducing appropriations.

Nineteen members of the Southern club had a get-acquainted picnic in the city park Friday evening.

DARTS FROM FASHION'S QUIVER

Sleeves continue to show much diversity. The kimono, the Mongolian and the Bishop sleeve play important parts.

The mannish top, tailored line coats are exceptionally attractive and those that are fur trimmed are unusually smart.

Fashion's horizon fairly scintillates with metallic effects—gold lace in blouses, a silver thread woven into the new crepes, tinsel ribbons on Fall hats.

Skirts are to be longer—that's decided, but one notes this added length particularly in frocks. Suit skirts continue short because jackets are long.

The introduction of a shorter pile into Autumn woollens takes but a hair's breadth from their thickness and adds many cubits to their richness.

Beads which have grown in popularity are seen gathered in vari-colored clusters rather than scattered over a wide surface.

WELLER GIVES DOPE ON EXAMINATIONS

Charles H. Weller, called to be the director of the summer session by the will of those in high command, sends to his student children gathered at these temples of knowledge this greeting: "Hearken unto me. There is no set time when examinations shall be given, neither are there any rules as to the length of time ye scribes and pharisees shall be allowed to scribble. This matter is left entirely to the discretion of those that teach. Get thee hence, therefore, to these teachers of men and find out for yourselves when thou shall write thy exams."

Then straightway went a seeker for this knowledge to the man who headeth the chemistry department, who rebuketh him with a loud voice saying, "Why comest thou with vain babbling and superfluous questioning? Knowest thou not that we have no rules for examinations during the summer? This matter is left entirely to those of our department who teach. Our courses run throughout the year, and our quarterly exams are little more than reviews."

Like unto a chastened canine he who sought information regarding examinations hastened forth from out of his chemical highness' midst, and came unto all the other departments. He placed before them the same query and each gave answer in like manner unto the first. And he who sought went forth weeping.

And it came to pass that as a last resort he came unto the third floor of the physics building where holdeth forth the department of graphic and plastic arts. Straightway the high priest who teacheth students to make unto themselves graven images, and to splash in divers colors, sayeth unto him that made inquiry: "Cast off thy burden of worry, for verily I say unto you, we shall give no examinations in this department." And immediately his students were made exceedingly glad and arose and clapped their hands for joy.

SEXTET WILL SING MONDAY

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Why are you attending Iowa University summer school this summer? Here are answers that ten men from ten different states gave to this question:

"Because Iowa University is one of the leading universities of the middle west. I also wish to study the school system of Iowa."—Olin Perkins, Ratcliff, Arkansas.

"I came to Iowa because it offered a longer summer term than most colleges."—H. J. Colvin, Dubach, Louisiana.

"I expect to study medicine at Iowa so I am taking my pre-med work here now."—Edward Mitchell, Graettinger, Iowa.

"I learned that the chemistry department was strong. I am majoring in chemistry and wanted the best I could get."—W. H. Dargan, Sumter, South Carolina.

"I wanted a change of surroundings and as everyone spoke highly of Iowa I came here."—Earl Ogg, Wykoff, Minnesota.

"I am a foreigner, and having seen the life in the East and in the big cities I wanted to come to the West. I chose Iowa because it is a first grade school and is located in a small town. The expenses should be considerably less than in the larger city."—A. G. Bakhtiar, New York City.

"I chose Iowa because it is a good school and offers a long summer session."—Henry Blanco, Louisville, Kentucky.

"I have been in school at Grinnell and I wanted to become acquainted with different conditions."—Charles Chao, China.

"I am teaching in Iowa and I desired to come in touch with Iowa methods and Iowa people."—O. C. Sutherland, Warsaw, Missouri.

"I wanted to take the coaching course under Coach Jones. I had already had some work under a Yale coach and I wished to get study of more of Yale methods."—C. D. Vosburg, Ft. Atkinson, Wisconsin.

Mr. Burton Jones of Manning, superintendent of the Manning schools and a graduate student in the University this session was taken ill

Tuesday, July 18. He was taken to the University hospital at once where he was operated on for appendicitis. Mr. Jones is doing nicely and expects to leave the hospital Friday or Saturday of this week.

135 STUDENTS TAKE MILITARY TRAINING IN CAMPS THIS SUMMER

One hundred and thirty-five students are supplementing their collegiate military training which they received in the University in different United States Government camps throughout the country. Sixty-five students, juniors in the colleges of medicine and dentistry, are taking military training at the medical field service school at Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania, thirty are in the infantry at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, twenty are in the engineering branch of the army at Camp Custer, Michigan, and twenty are in the motor transport corps at Camp Holabird, Maryland. The students at Carlisle barracks are under the immediate supervision of Major Elton L. Titus, Medical corps, U. S. Army, who is the regular instructor of the medical and dental units.

All the students from the University attending these summer military camps continue their work from June 15 to July 31. All their expenses are paid, they receive one dollar a day while in camp, and five cents railroad mileage in both directions.

All male students in the University are required to take two years of military training, except those individuals who have had service in the U. S. army. A rebate is made in the tuition of the ex-service men to induce them to continue their education. Over 1,100 freshman and sophomores were subject to this regulation during the past school year. These students who have engaged in military work for two years may continue this training for another two years when they act as supervisors and aid in the training of the freshmen and sophomores.

For this service they are allowed a small compensation. An incentive for this continued military activity is afforded by the fact that by two years of this advanced training and six weeks training in a U. S. Army camp they are enabled to secure a commission in the Reserve Corps.

Watch Your Step!

With CULLEN LANDIS and PATSY RUTH MILLER

Just out after a jail sentence for speeding, and after a few unpleasant words with his father on the subject, young Elmer Slocum overtakes a physician whose car has suffered "total paralysis" and who has but nine minutes to reach a patient ten miles away. Elmer speeds up the car and in the joy of fast motion soon forgets to watch his step. Pursued by two motor cops, he reaches 85 miles an hour, leaves the physician at his patient's home and tries to outdistance the cops.

He wrecks his car avoiding a closed street and picks himself up out of the ruins in time to see a pursuing cop take the count as his motorcycle crashes into the obstruction. The second cop sees Elmer and gives chase. In a rough and tumble fight, Elmer knocks the policeman down, and believing he has killed him, flees. He is robbed by tramps and rides the bumpers to a little Iowa town, where he makes the acquaintance of Margaret Andrews, daughter of the richest man in town.

This is where the picture starts to a great comedy finish. Don't miss this great six reel comedy that shatters all screen records for speed and action.
