BY Westbrook Pegler

(United News Staff Correspondent) New York, Oct. 5.—The antagonized moan of the sucker who regards himself as primed, rolled over the land and there is no peace in Gotham. For just when the World Series crowd of 38,000 people was arriving at the first stage of noisy vociferation, reached in this second world series between the New York Giants and the Yankees, the umpires called the second game with the score tied 3 and 3 at the end of the tenth inning.

It looked to the fan in the stand as though at least one full inning of daylight remained, but Umpire Hildebrandt of the American league, calling balls and strikes, waved the players to the clubhouse and took after Bill Klem, senior umpire of the National league who was already making fast motions with his legs in the direction of the baths.

New York was twenty-four hours late in responding to the spirit of the world series but the response rolled out over the skinned hills, leaped the bleachers, the "L" tracks, and the Harlem river, and boomed across the Bronx as the ball clubs clawed for the second game. It was a July day. Coats began to peel just after noon, so that by game time the bleachers were a white background of tough gender shimmies against which the hitters supposedly had some trouble, whether it was due to the effect of the bleachers, or the loitering sluggishness of Jess Barnes' slow ball, or the scampering haste of Bob Schawkey's more energetic fast one. A couple of young fellows from California were directly responsible for the handkerchief scenes in the drama. In addition to lemons of which Pullman carloads will be shipped East for the big league trade next spring California sometimes sends up ball players. She gave Bob Meusel to the Yankees and to demonstrate her impartiality as between the Giants and Yanks she sent his brother Emil to Philadelphia and then to the Giants.

And in the first inning of Thursday's game Emil bent his bat over one of Bob Shawkey's high velocity contributions and sent the ball back over its track into the left field bleachers, high up into the air and almost against the fence. There happened to be one of John McGraw's employees on second and first respectively in progressive order, their names being Henry Bottlebat, Groh, late of Cincinnati, and Frank Frisch, the fitful fellow from Fordham, both of whom had singled with zeal. There was only one out at the time, and the situation was in a state of dizzy flux. Then Emil shook his bat into the way of the fast ball and three runs came into the Giants dugout through showers of pop corn, newspapers, and breakers of noise, the first manifestation of more than formal concern which the crowd had yet uncracked in this series. Even so the game had no very strong flavor of a victory for the Giants because when the Giants are batting they have a notorious tendency to spot other gentlemen groups of three or even four runs and then spatter three times three runs of their own upon the score board. Shawkey seemed shaky in the first inning, but, of course, it remained to be seen whether Jess Barnes could not likewise, or in greater wise, be shaken. He was jostled slightly in the Yanks' half of the first. After Witt had grounded out to Groh, Joe Dugan spanked a hot muffin into Baneroff's hands and took second when Baneroff threw high to Kelly at first. This was an altitude record in throwing as Kelly is the young fellow who once stood outside the Woolworth build-

Fair Play

(An Editorial)

University of Iowa athletes have a country-wide reputation for their sportsmanship. The student body would do well to emulate them.

At the present time "campus politicians" are holding secret meetings to perfect political machines with which to carry the all-University election. By taking advantage of the fraternity as a political unit, and by a studied combination of them, even a poor organizer can perfect a political machine that will be successful. This has been the case in the past and will be again this year unless immediate steps are taken.

A class office has come to be a purely honorary position—a lamentable condition which may be ascribed to this same system of election. Class officers, on the whole, have not been big enough to fill their places; they have been elected on the strength of their "pull" with a politician and not because they were the recognized leaders of the student body.

If election to a class office by fraudulent methods is an honor, then thieves should be rewarded for their pains. It is only those who are lacking in moral courage; those to whom a little recognition means more than their own integrity, who will consent to become a candidate on a ticket backed by a political machine. There is such a thing as fair play in student activities other than athletics.

ALUMNUS USES STUDENT STORIES

Many plans are underway to make the Iowa Alumnus, the magazine for both university students and alumni, edited by Mrs. Grace P. Smith, a better magazine than ever before. Among the features to characterize the magazine for this year are a new cover design, interesting articles by distinguished alumni, and more than ever before articles by students on popular subjects written in easy, humorous style.

The distinctive cover design adopted by the Alumnus magazine for this year has been planned by George Stout, instructor in the department of graphic and plastic arts. This cover is to be white, printed in two colors. Near the top and bottom of the cover appears an artistic design representing a group of older and younger people, those to whom the appeal of the Alumnus is sent. The table of contents is given toward the middle right-hand side of the cover.

To Carry Articles by Faculty

The first issue of the Alumnus for this year consists of forty pages and will be published about the middle of this month. Many interesting and unique articles by prominent alumni and faculty of this university are featured in the issue. An account of the Iowa expedition to Fiji islands and New Zealand by Prof. C. C. Nutting is accompanied by five half-tone illustrations, including a life-like picture of the four sphenodonts, animals donated by the Dominion Museum of Auckland, New Zealand, to the University of Iowa. These animals are the first of their kind to be brought to the United States alive.

"October", a poem filled with the spirit of Homecoming, by Florence Hess Seidetz, '82 of St. Louis, Mo. and "Five hundred Pages of Pleasure" by Jeanne O. L. Welch, '03, are two articles of much interest in the October Alumnus.

Prof. John Towner Frederick, formerly a lecturer in English in this university and now assistant to Prof. Percival Hunt at the University of Pittsburgh, writes on "Middle Western Literary Prospects." Prof. Frederick is now editor of the Midland magazine.

REMINISCENCES OF AN R. G.

by James M. Brockway, of Letts, Iowa, will interest both student and alumni football players. Mr. Brockway was right guard on the '98, '99, and '00 football teams. It will be recalled that the 1900 team won the first western championship title.

GENEVA CLUB PICNIC

Seventeen Geneva Club members and guests hiked to Saunderson's Hill, Wednesday evening, for a picnic and general business meeting. The Geneva Club is composed of those Y. W. C. A. members who have attended summer conferences at Geneva for the purpose of discussing better methods in association administration. Several girls at the picnic had been Geneva representatives from other schools. Next Wednesday, Oct. 11, the club will hold a meeting in room 117, liberal arts building to elect officers. Geneva Club meetings are open to all interested.

COUNCIL DECIDES TO TAKE NO ACTION

Dean Rienow's Absence Makes Discussion of Probation Rule Impossible

At the Inter-Fraternity Council meeting at the Phi Kappa Psi house last night, Prof. Rollin M. Perkins of the college of law, head of the social committee, recommended that fraternity formal party expenditures be limited to $15. No definite action was taken by the Council at last night's meeting, but the recommendation found considerable support.

Dean Rienow Absent

The absence of Robert E. Rienow, Dean of Men, who had compiled the fraternity scholarship averages for last year, prevented the discussion of the enforcement of the rule requiring each fraternity to maintain a house average above the University men's average of 74 plus, one year of probation being allowed; infraction of the rule will be punished by the loss of all social and pledging privileges.

Prof. Perkins was elected to membership of the executive board.

Fraternity representatives on the Inter-Fraternity Council not previously named are Fred W. Goepfinger A4 of Boone, Chi Kappa Pi; Henry W. Wormley L3 of Kingsley, Phi Alpha Delta; Arthur Pomrehn A3 of Alden, Delta Kappa Gamma; Paul A. Hathorn D3 of Des Moines, Xi Psi Phi; Kenneth B. Ferguson D4 of Cedar Rapids, Delta Sigma Delta; Richard K. Martin Au of Shenandoah, Alpha Tau Omega.

TRAFFIC REGULATIONS MUST BE COMPLIED WITH

"Traffic regulation is one of the biggest propositions we have to deal with," said Mayor Harvat in commenting on the new jaywalking and parking rules.

The jaywalking ordinance, as passed by the city council, prohibits the crossing of streets other than at right angles. At intersections, for instance, the crossing must not be made, diagonally, but must be made from corner to corner around the square. Crossing between intersections is permissible providing the pedestrian walks directly across at right angles with the street.

"The violation of this ordinance at the intersection of Iowa Avenue and Clinton streets where students cross diagonally to the campus entrance will be remedied today at the meeting of the street and alley commission and the University officials," said Mayor Harvat.

Students, who drive cars, should take notice of the new parking rules. Parking within fifteen feet of a hydrant, or a corner, and in front of the entrance of any building, within which there is a large assembly of people, is prohibited.

SEALS CLUB TRYOUTS

Seals Club, women's honorary swimming club, announces tryouts for upperclass women and freshmen, Oct. 13-14, from 4:00 to 5:00. Requirements to gain admittance to the club are: 1. Do three simple dives; 2. Swim the length of the pool in eighteen minutes. 3. Do three standard strokes in good form; 4. Plunge twenty feet. Candidates are judged on form, speed, and diving. At present, there are thirty active members.

DR. A. BUNGE TO SPEAK TODAY ON ARGENTINE

Famed Statistician Tells of Recent Social and Economic Development

"Recent Development in the Commerce and Industry of Argentina" will be the subject of the address of Dr. Alejandro Bunge, professor of statistics of the National university of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and chief statistician of the great banking house of Tornquist & Co., to be given in the liberal arts assembly hall this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Dr. Bunge, who was formerly director of the Argentina statistical bureau, is probably the leading Argentine authority, enjoys the respect and confidence of all, and is quite influential among the younger economists who are shaping the views of hundreds of young Argentines.

The subject of his lecture concerns Argentine economics and social development. He is prepared to discuss this subject in an authoritative way and it is felt that an international purpose is subserved in bringing such a prominent Latin-American student in contact with the students of Iowa University.

Besides his work in the lecture field, Dr. Bunge has written much, in pamphlets, in articles—especially in the pages of the "Revista de Economia", Argentine Economic Review, which he founded in 1916 and edits—and also in books.

FIRST UNIVERSITY MASS MEETING HELD TONIGHT BEFORE L. A. BUILDING

The first University mass meeting will be held tonight at 7:15 in front of the liberal arts building. "If Iowa is to beat Yale a week from Saturday, the whole campus must get the Iowa fight spirit," said John J. Dondore A4 of Iowa City, varsity cheer leader. This meeting will be an opportunity for the whole student body to brush up on Iowa yells and to show that they are back of the team. Freshman who do not know Iowa yells and Iowa traditions should be there. There will be speeches by campus leaders on the Iowa spirit and Iowa traditions. The band will be there to do their part by playing Iowa pieces. The whole student body must get together to help Iowa Knox 'em Saturday. The meeting will be over early enough not to interfere with other engagements.

EASTERN ALUMNI WILL ATTEND GAME AT YALE

When Iowa meets Yale at the Bowl at New Haven, Conn., Saturday afternoon, October 14, at 3 o'clock, the few boosters, who make the trip from Iowa, will be ably assisted, in supporting the team, by the University of Iowa association of New York City. Its president, Robert T. Swaine, and its chairman Arlo Wilson, who is the son of Prof. C. B. Wilson, the head of the German department in the University, have sent letters to the alumni of the Universities of the Western conference. Members of the Iowa society and the Iowa-New Yorkers, urging them to attend the game. "The Iowa team will for the first time be playing a team with the traditions and prestige of Yale and before a crowd much larger than they have ever been accustomed to.

BAND TO SEND DONDORE WITH TEAM TO YALE

The University band will send John J. Dondore A4 of Iowa City, cheer leader of the Howling 300, with the football squad when it leaves next Wednesday for Yale. The band alone is raising the money, and only the men in that organization are contributing. "By this means we wish to express our appreciation for service he has given," said Fritz W. Witte D2 of Sac City, who is in charge. "We think he deserves to go."

LOSING BETTOR IS A KNOCKER, SAYS COACH H. H. JONES

Coach Howard H. Jones earnestly requests that students refrain from betting on any contests in which athletic teams of this University compete.

"Gambling is not in keeping with the spirit of an educational institution," emphatically declares Iowa's football mentor. "Football men are taught to play for the University which they represent, and not for the man who bets his money. The members of Iowa's football teams have played the game to the full limit of their ability. As long as they perform in this way they should not be criticized by the fellow who loses his money.

"Gambling has destroyed the interest in many sports, and we only request that the students keep college athletics free from this taint. Some men try to show their loyalty by their betting, and are the first to knock when the team loses," concluded the promoter of clean athletics.

COMMITTEE WILL PLAN HOMECOMING

President Names Ensign Head; to Meet Tomorrow for Preliminary Discussion

The following persons will constitute the Homecoming committee, according to information given out by President Jessup's office yesterday morning; Prof. F. C. Ensign, who will act as chairman, Prof. Wm. F. Russell, Prof. C. H. Weller, Prof. H. C. Horack, Prof. R. A. Kuever, Dr. Philip G. Clapp, Lieut. Col. M. C. Mumma, Coach H. H. Jones, Prof. Floyd A. Nagler, Ralph Grassfield, Prof. H. L. Olin, Prof. Clara M. Daley, Prof. F. G. Higbee, Prof. F. H. Knight, Prof. E. S. Smith, Miss Bessie L. Pierce, Mrs. Walter Schwob, Ernest G. Schroeder, Prof. J. J. Lambert, Prof. B. J. Lambert, Prof. R. M. Perkins, and Prof. E. C. Mabie.

The first meeting of the committee will be in room 105 of the law building tomorrow at 11 o'clock. Preliminary plans will be discussed concerning the impending preparations for annual Homecoming day at Iowa, which is to be held this year on Armistice day, November 11.

INITIATE MEMBERS OF STAFF AND CIRCLE; OLD MEMBERS ATTEND

The twelve new members of Staff and Circle were initiated at a meeting which was held last night in the liberal arts drawing room. Mrs. Adelaide L. Burge, acting Dean of Women, presided at the initiation. The women were each presented with a gold staff on a circle which is the emblem of the society. Those who were initiated were: Margaret Altman A4 of Livermore, president; Beatrice Gates A4 of Pierre, South Dakota; Jane Coventry A4 of Des Moines; Catherine Wright A4 of Des Moines; Frances Smith A4 of Montezuma; Catherine Hamilton A4 of Pasadena, Ca.; Dorothy Norton A4 of Keokuk; Ruth Van Law A4 of Marshalltown; Maurine Yaggy A4 of Davenport; Agnella Gunn A4 of Sioux City.

Following the initiation a dinner in honor of the new members was served. The hostesses were former Staff and Circle members who are in Iowa City. They were Miss Ethyl Martin, Miss Naomi Gunderson, Mrs. Henning Larsen, Miss Ethel Pollock, Miss Ruth Sailor, Miss Helen Gratewahl, Miss Helene Blattner, Miss Helen Mackintosh, Miss Florence Strub, Miss Eula Van Meter, Miss Margaret Mulroney, Miss Margaret Dolliver, Miss Biddy Prentiss, Miss Helen Peterson, Mrs. Nellie S. Aurner, and Mrs. Adelaide L. Burge.

BOARD AWARDS CONCESSIONS

The sealed bids for concessions which have been in the hands of the athletic board were opened last night and the following men were awarded the concessions: refreshments, H. J. Wade and Joe Malone; programs, Kurt P. Mallory, S. E. Brown, and Will Price. The bids for the cushions will be opened later, according to Mr. Kuever, secretary of the board.

VARSITY CHEER LEADERS MUST BE REELECTED

Executive Council Will Not Permit Illegal Voting; Election Tuesday

That all this year's varsity cheer leaders must be voted on again in order to secure an absolutely fair election was the decision made by the executive council of the Howling '300' immediately after the Wednesday evening election meeting. This election is to be held at the natural science auditorium next Tuesday evening at 7:30.

Chief among the reasons given for taking such action was the illegal voting alleged to have been carried on in parts in some parts of the room, Wednesday night.

The executive council of this organization, in discussing the matter, said that they do not regard the outcome of such voting to be official for although they aim to deal impartially with all members, they also intend to give the offices to those men who have been elected in the proper way.

At this next election meeting it will be necessary for all to show their '300' membership cards on entering the auditorium. Moreover, it is expected that those conducting the meeting will make it impossible for the Wednesday evening performance to be repeated.

WOULD-BE SEALS SWIM NEXT WEEK

Thirty-One Candidates Will Swim Length, Dive, Plunge and Perform 3 Strokes

Would-be Seals may compete for membership in that women's honorary swimming club beginning Wednesday of next week. The tryouts which are so far scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, October 11, 12, and 13, are to be held afternoons at the women's gymnasium between the hours of 4 and 5 o'clock.

Thirty-one candidates, mostly freshmen women, have signed up to take the qualifying tests, which means that to become members they must convince the club members that they are above the ordinary swimmers. The requirements include the ability to make three simple dives, to swim the length of the pool (sixty feet) in at least eighteen seconds, to do three standard strokes in good form, and to plunge twenty-five feet. Inability to do the above feats may be offset if the candidate excels in one particular branch of swimming.

The club has an active membership of twenty women. Membership has no number limit since qualifications alone are the deciding factor.

Among the girls who will try out are the following: Catherine Richter, Davenport; Clara Larson, Nevada; Hortense Hartsock, Clarion; Scioto Heffron, Des Moines; Eleanor A. Chase, Clinton; Delia Larson, Thompson; Millicent Bush, Iowa City; Martha Mount, Iowa City; Marjorie Kay, Iowa City; Bernice Purell, Hampton; Helen Everett, Iowa Falls; Mildred Kenyon, Des Moines; Sylvia Jensen, Lake View; Adelaide Dutcher, Iowa City; Helen T. McConaughy, Flandreau, S. Dak.; La Fontaine Lust, Iowa City; Madge Bryson, Iowa City; Marjorie Buhler, Atlanta, Ga.; Janet Walker, Chicago, Ill.; Doris Green, Des Moines; Verne Shaw, Watertown, S. Dak.; Evelyn Byrne, Dubuque; and Gladys Brooker, Omaha, Nebr.

PHYS. ED. EXAMINATIONS COMPLETED NEXT WEEK

Regular physical training classes for freshmen and sophomore women will not begin until the latter part of next week. Appointments for physical examinations extend through Wednesday and it is possible that the work might be completed until the end of the week. The physical training electives are field ball, soccer and swimming. The pool is now open for recreational swimming.

DISHONESTY RULES WILL BE ENFORCED

Penalty Determined by Gravity of Offense; Protects Honest Students

The faculty of liberal arts recently adopted regulations affecting dishonesty.

Dean George F. Kay of the college of liberal arts imposed fifteen penalties during the second semester of 1921-22 for dishonesty. The names of the dishonest persons are being withheld at the present time, but no assurance is given by Dean Kay that in the future the names of the persons receiving the penalties will not be disclosed.

List of Regulations

Following are the complete regulations:

1. Instructors, or proctors appointed by them, shall remain in the class room during the whole period of a test, and shall exercise due care in the supervision of the examinations.
2. Students shall be seated in alternate seats when possible. Otherwise it is recommended that alternate sets of questions be provided.
3. (a). Each case of apparent dishonesty, involving written tests or class work of equal importance, should be carefully scrutinized by the instructor in charge of the course, and if evidence seems to establish guilt, the case shall be reported to the staff of instruction of his department.

(b) The staff of the department shall, when the evidence warrants present to the dean of the college a formal charge of dishonesty.

(c) The dean, if he adjudges the student guilty, shall impose either a minimum penalty or a more severe penalty. A minimum penalty shall involve the following three features: (1) exclusion from the course for the semester with a grade of failure; (2) the addition of the number of semester hours so failed to the standard number of semester hours required for graduation; and (3) notification to the parents or guardians of the offender. Penalties shall be graduated according to the nature and gravity of the offense. Heavier penalties than the minimum shall be imposed when the dishonesty shows evidence of the result of premeditation or when the offense is not the first offense.

(d) In every case of dishonesty the nature of the offense and the penalty inflicted shall be made public to the student body, it being understood that the names of the offenders may be withheld at the discretion of the dean.

(e) A student shall not be penalized for dishonesty except through the procedure here provided.

4. These regulations shall be printed in the student's handbook, and an effort shall be made each year to give them wide circulation among the student body in other ways.

115 Penalties in 3 Years

In a letter to the members of the staff of instruction last March, Dean Kay stated that from the beginning of the academic year 1917-18 to the end of the first semester of the year of 1921-22, 115 cases of dishonesty had been penalized by the University. Twenty-four of these failures and seven of the suspensions were imposed during the first semester of last year.

Must Protect Students

Other parts of Dean Kay's letter were as follows:

"As a result of my experience of many years as an instructor, and of five years in administering penalties to students who have been dishonest, I am convinced that no instructor can escape the serious responsibility of protecting the students in his classes. In protecting the many students who are honest he will discover the few who are dishonest. This is a principle involved in all good government.

"It is unfortunate but nevertheless a fact that at the present stage in the development of society there are a few persons who are ever ready to take advantage of the many. This is as true among business men, professional men, and other groups as it is among students. Why should we expect a higher degree of honesty among students than among other cross sections of society.

"In my own classes I have never hesitated to state to the students the reasons why I thought it best for them that I be present during an examination and I believe that practically all students in these classes preferred that I stay in the room rather than leave them alone.

"If the students come to understand that the instructor, upon whom falls the responsibility at the end of each semester of reporting his estimate of class, is endeavoring to protect the honest students against the few who might take advantage of them, they will not feel that they are being treated unfairly.

"When society advances to the stage where all persons are honest, there will be no need of regulation. Until such a time, let us by all proper methods protect the students. This is the purpose of our new regulation."

HEAD OF DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY WRITES CRITICISM OF WORK

In the "Mississippi Historical Review" for September appears an extensive review of "Civilization in the United States", written by Prof. Arthur M. Schlesinger, head of the department of history. Several quotations follow.

"In this bulky volume thirty American intellectuals and three foreigners have banded themselves together for the purpose of passing judgment upon the essentials of American civilization of the present day. The enterprise is a worthy and a significant one, but the actual accomplishments of the thirty and three fall short of their ideal.

"The outlook of the commentators is essentially that of the city bred people, who have given us a series of reflections, supercilious for the most part, upon certain selected phases of American life.

"It is probable that the future historians of American life will find this volume valuable, not as a criticism of present day civilization, but as an aid to understanding a certain type of intellectual activity and outlook which is well represented in the persons of the authors."

REMODELING NEARLY DONE IN MEN'S GYM

There have been extensive repairs and changes made in the men's gymnasium during the past few weeks. The basement which last year served as an indoor track and as a drill room for the R. O. T. C. has been concreted and changed into the main locker room.

Entrance is gained to the main room by a stairway which has been built down from the northwest corner of the gym floor. Along the west wall of the basement is the towel window and showers. These showers will do away with a great deal of the congestion which was experienced last year, in that fourteen of them can be used at the same time.

At present there are twelve hundred lockers installed and, according to E. G. Schroeder, director of physical education, eight hundred more lockers are on the way to Iowa City. In other words this new locker room will take care of at least two thousand lockers.

It has not yet been decided what will be done with the two north rooms from which the lockers were removed. Mr. Schroeder stated last evening that it all depended on their size as to what use they would be put. Tentative plans now afoot are to turn the northeast room into a handball court, although nothing definite has been set.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB WILL CONSIST OF 10 QUARTETS

"The Men's Glee Club will be run in a slightly different way this year," Prof. Walter Leon reported yesterday. "Since it now has forty members, we consider it best to divide the men into ten quartets. In this way each man's voice should be developed far more than it would if the entire club practiced together."

New men entering the organization since the first tryouts are:

Henry Fisher, first tenor; Ross A. Rathbone, second tenor; Paul Linder-meyer, Carl Seashore and Dillard W. Bray, first bass; Carl Kringel and H. G. Reuschlein, second bass.

THREE BIG SENSATIONS THAT LIVE

The first one comes when the girl guides a canoe through turbulent waters—a narrow gorge pounding swirling rapids—Her father in hands of the police makes a leap for life down from the high rugged cliffs to the water below, to be rescued by his daughter. THE SECOND the trip through the pass just as the heavy snow breaks loose at the top, rushing down the mountain side taking with it everything in its path of destruction. The pass blocked which means the return to the cabin for the winter—THE THIRD the greatest of them all, never anything like it, the FOREST FIRE, a reality that one can picture as if he were actually the camera man.

DARKNESS HALTS SECOND GAME OF SERIES

ing and said in intense disdain, "So this is tall." Babe Ruth turned a grounder down to Kelly to put him out like the cat at bed time, and Dugan jogged along to third. Then Wally Pipp banged one at Kelly's nose. Kelly has a good pair of hands but does very little fielding with his back, so Pipp was safe and Dugan scored the Yanks' first run.

In the fourth inning, Ward, the Yanks' second baseman took a wild swipe at a vagrant slow ball and dropped it into the left field bleachers near where Emil Meusel had dropped that other one. Ward jogged around to the noise of large and impartial acclaim, and the Yanks had two runs.

And so along came the eighth inning and brother Bob Meusel of California. Joe Dugan was easily removed on a grounder to Barnes. Babe Ruth, the prominent parent, came up and, of course, the entire Giant outfield, on receipt of instructions from John McGraw, drew over to right, as Babe usually slaps them to the handy side. Emil Meusel in left field for Giants walked the length of a car ride almost to center field and took his station there, then Ruth smashed the arrangement by pasting a two-bagger down the left foul line, forty yards from Meusel, in the vast unprotected zone. Pipp sent him to third as he flied Cunningham, and up came another Meusel. Brother Bob's bat went bang, and by the time brother Emil could pick it out of the grass Babe Ruth had scored and Bob was counting the house at second. The smash tied the score and left it in a knot from which, to the discomfort of Judge Landis, Hildebrandt, Klem and others, it never can be extricated. That score will stand forever as a Jersey decision. An impartial draw.

PARKIN DRIVES TEAM IN LAST NIGHT'S BATTLE

Meade, Varsity Guard, Bruises Hand, Will be Out of the Knox Game

Lec Parkin, regular varsity quarter, was out last night and went through the scrimmage against the second team. He showed his usual shifty style and displayed even greater speed in side stepping and open field running. Parkin will be in fit shape Saturday to play in the Knox game. His passing, with Kadesky on the receiving end, was successful, Kadesky nabbing the only one attempted for a thirty yard gain. Otto replaced Kadesky who was badly bumped at end and went through the rest of the scrimmage with the varsity in fine style. Locke gained on off tackle plays and shuffles, while Parkin made the only touchdown of the short ten minute scrimmage on a smash over left tackle. Shuttleworth kicked goal from the 5 yard line. Although Shut missed a drop kick from the 35 yard line, his kicking is improving and is usually accurate.

Men Wear New Uniform

Fifteen men turned out for practice last night in new black jerseys with leather fronts and large gold block figures on the back. The following men received the new jerseys; Captain Locke, Miller, Shuttleworth, Kadesky, Thompson, Meade, Hancock, Parkin, Kriz, Heldt, Nugent, Thom, Jaqua, and Rich. Minick was the only man on the first team who did not wear his new jersey.

Wayland Hicks, Paul Frank, and Duhm were out in civies because of injuries. Hicks will not be out for football again as he has decided not to take chances of being unable to pilot the basketball team this winter.

Meade out With Bad Hand

Meade, first string guard, did not scrimmage on account of an injured hand which was stepped on in Wednesday's practice. It will probably keep him out of Saturday's game, but he should be in shape for the Yale game. Kriz took his place last night at guard and worked well.

After the ten-minute scrimmage, the second team mixed with the third string in a stiff workout. The third team smeared many of the second team's plays and held them for downs more times than the seconds made them. Roberts showed up well, as did Thom, who got away for a nice gain on a pass.

During the first part of the evening, Coach Jones sent the backs through some stiff blocking practice. He showed them how to block correctly and then put them through their paces. Blocking an offensive end is no easy job, but Jones is determined not to let up on this drill until all the backs can do it.

Minick Punts for Long Distances

Minick, in punting practice, booted the ball easily fifty and even as far as seventy yards with no wind to aid him. His kicking should make it possible for Iowa to break in an exchange of kicks against the best punters in the conference.

Selling was out again in a suit after about two weeks' layoff because of an injured leg. Fischer, a promising backfield man from last year's freshman team, is not eligible until he passes an examination.

YALE DEPENDS UPON SMASHING ATTACK TO WIN GAME WITH IOWA

Straight football will probably comprise the greater part of Yale's offense against the Iowa team on October 14 in the Yale Bowl. Judging by the plays which have been secured by scouts, the eastern team relies upon hard hitting backs smashing through the ends, tackles, and guards, for gains.

Frosh Use Yale Plays

The Iowa Freshman-Yale team has been working out with the Yale plays for the past few nights, but were unable to make any long gains through the varsity line in scrimmage.

The Yale style of play is decidedly Eastern. Unlike Western football mentors, Coach Tad Jones, does not build his plays with an eleven man offense idea, for on a number of plays, the ball-carrying back hits the line without any interference and in others only one man leads the play through the offensive wall.

Have Trick Plays

Although the freshman squad has not yet been given any plays which could be classed as tricky, the Yale team uses several plays which rely upon the deception of the defense for successful execution. In most of the plays, the quarterback handles the ball and he must fake his pass to the carrying back if the full effectiveness of the play it to be secured.

True to the traditions of eastern football, the Yale mentor has avoided all direct passes of such length as to make them dangerous. A number of forward passes are included in the list of plays secured by scouts, but they are all of the conservative short pass type.

Guards are Heavy

Guards get into the interference in several plays, but because of their size, Yale has nearly always had heavy men around center, they cannot be expected to have the speed that is necessary to make their assistance worth while.

CUBS TAKE SECOND GAME OF CHICAGO CITY SERIES

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 5—The Cubs clawed three White Sox pitchers for 14 hits and ten runs here Thursday winning the second game of the Chicago city series 10 to 3. Ernie Osborne, the Georgia hurler, went the full route for the Cubs allowing the Sox 9 scattered hits only two which were for more than one base.

HILL AND DALE MEN START ROAD WORK

Large Number of Freshmen Practicing Daily for Freshman Meet

The varsity cross country candidates took their second workout on the road Wednesday evening under the leadership of N. L. Ashton. Coach George T. Bresnahan, who followed the squad in a car, was pleased at the way the men kept together. Last evening's practice was confined to the track. R. H. Seashore acted in the capacity of pace-maker. The workout was devoted to speed work over short distances.

The coach has been stressing the necessity of keeping feet and legs in good condition. L. H. LaDage has been working each night in rubbing down the men and keeping their legs in good condition.

An article received from the Wisconsin "Daily Cardinal" reports that the Badgers expect an unusually strong team in the field at the Conference meet November 25. This team no doubt will be the favorite at the "Big Ten" race.

The freshmen seem to be responding in large numbers for the freshman meet October 14. Brandmill, varsity broad jumper, has reported and is assisting in the instruction of the freshmen. Eric Wilson, who has been giving the freshman sprinters instruction on starts, reports that there is some very good material out.

The high school cross country meet, which has been scheduled to be run off here on October 28, is the first affair of its kind ever held in the state. Letters have been mailed to superintendents of various high schools over the state urging that they enter teams to compete for the trophies. With these letters have been enclosed tentative schedules of practice covering a period of four weeks preceding the day of the meet. The work consists of a series of jogs and short runs increasing in speed and distance up to the day of competition. As yet no answers to these letters have been received, but it is expected that many schools will take enough interest in the meet to send a team of five contestants.

PSYCH. TESTS BEGUN HERE

Class experiments in Psychology, which are now used so widely, were first tried out in this university.

IOWA SHOULD DEFEAT KNOX BY LARGE SCORE STATE FROSH COACHES

The showing of the Knox team against Iowa Wesleyan last Saturday indicates that Iowa's opponents on Saturday are below their usual strength. Football men about the university believe that the Iowa team will be able to pile up a big score against the visitors on Iowa Field Saturday afternoon.

Aubrey Devine, head coach of the freshman squads and captain of last year's team, believes that the Iowa eleven should be able to score an easy victory, and was also of the opinion that the Knox team did not measure up to the standard set by teams of former years.

Assistant Coach Macey, of the freshman squad and captain of the 1919 Grinnell team, is certain that the Hawkeyes will be able to score at least a 35 point victory over their opponents. "If Iowa is as good on the field as the team looks on paper, the minimum margin will be 35 points," Mr. Macey stated.

Gordon Locke, captain of the team, stated that he did not believe in forecasting the score of the game. "We are going to win. That, of course, is a foregone conclusion. I would not think of predicting the score of even the Knox game. A football game is never over until the last whistle has blown."

Clyde Charlton, assistant freshman coach, said that he, too, would hesitate in making a prediction of the outcome of any football game, no matter how certain victory seemed.

CAPTAIN MARTIN ADDED TO STAFF OF TRACK COACHES

Another name was added to the staff of University athletic coaches yesterday when it was announced that Captain Thomas E. Martin, of the military department, had been appointed to the staff of track coaches.

Captain Martin is an "I" man himself having been the best hammer thrower in the University during the years 1913, 1914, and 1915. He was also a distance man of some ability. Last spring he had charge of both the freshman and varsity weight men.

The call has already been issued for weight men to report at the weight field, back of Old Capitol, and Captain Martin will again work with the hammer throwers, shot and discus candidates.

WEST VS. EAST

With the season of inter-sectional games comes the usual amount of discussion as to the comparative merits of eastern and western colleges. This in itself is a good indication for it shows that western colleges are beginning to doubt that superiority which prima facie has been accorded the East.

Undoubtedly there is not the same intense bumpiness in the Middle West as at some of the older eastern colleges. The word, "Iowa", to a student, does not mean anything so distinctive as the names of some institutions which had a crop of traditions before Iowa even had a corn crop. But the lack of some of these trimmings which grow themselves in the course of time—does not mean lack of college personality or spirit. For that matter some of the things that go with traditions and ivy-covered walls are not necessarily beneficial. What does it get any one to sing

Harvard was old Harvard

*When Yale was but a pup,
And Harvard will be Harvard
When Yale is swallowed up!*

Undoubtedly there are advantages of age, in college as in wine. But the eastern colleges seem sufficiently proud of themselves, even if they can not point to the initials of Lord Byron in the window-sill, or show the stairway down which Doctor Johnson threw the shoes which some charitably inclined person had left at his door. The English schools which can do this no doubt "get a kick out of it" but it is nothing so essential that Harvard can not get along without it. And, in the same way, if western universities have no Longfellow House or Lowell house, they have enough of an Acropolis to struggle along with and never know what they missed.

Undoubtedly there are disadvantages which hinder the growth of one kind of college spirit in the West. Lack of a past to brood over, co-education which works better than at the institution farther east, the very size of the student body—if college spirit is the only desideratum, these may be things to regret. But these things do not so much stifle spirit as spread it out. College spirit, in proportion as it is intense, is apt to be narrow. That kind looks well to a visitor, but it may not be so good to live in for four long years.

When all these things are considered, the wonder is that institutions of the West are as solid and responsive as we know them to be. There is no reason why, as the years go on, western universities should not develop something just as keen as that of the old colleges which talk about the "indefinable something" in the air of their quadrangles. In addition it will probably be accompanied by a sense of humor.

RECKLESS DRIVING

College authorities are right when they say that automobiles are a nuisance in student life. They are not only a nuisance but an actual source of danger when students with more daring than judgment drive them.

Reports of reckless driving on the part of students come every day from every part of Iowa City. Dubuque street, and especially that part of it opposite the campus, seems to be especially well fitted to the purpose of those who wish to draw attention to themselves and to their cars by fast driving. If one runs the gauntlet at the Iowa avenue intersection successfully, he can, without hesitation, offer a prayer of thanks.

The time is near at hand when the administration will compel students to leave their cars at home. To the man or woman who can't "get by" without one, we can say that the University of Iowa has no room for you.

54 YEARS AGO TODAY

The following excerpts appeared in the Daily Iowan (University Reporter) fifty-four years ago.

The co-education of both sexes is making remarkable headway in this country. Four colleges in New England, among them the University of Vermont, Cornell university in New York, and Swarthmore college in Pennsylvania, Oberlin and Antioch colleges in Ohio; the state universities of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Kansas, make no distinction on account of sex.

One hundred and fifty years ago, a Massachusetts school committee refused to permit girls to study arithmetic and grammar, and a little later a teacher in Plymouth county was discharged for instructing girls to cipher on the ground that their heads were too weak to stand the strain of mathematics! Can we wonder that woman has been such a cipher when men were such vulgar fractions.

The senior class consists of twenty and their University life has averaged four and one-half years. Doubtless this long class experience will furnish the best evidence of what may be expected with common advantages and reasonable efforts and without special privations. Their board, room rent, lights, fuel, tuition, and books cost them an average of $115 annually above their earnings while the highest extreme was $170, and the lowest $21.65.

The Sounding Board

ON RECEIVING A LETTER

The postman, trudging daily past my door,
For many days had disappointed me;
I swore I never wished to see him more,
He turned me down with such persistency.

But yesterday I gladly raised that ban,
For in an hour when I was feeling blue
He came again—O host delightful man!
And handed me a letter, dear, from you.

German marks are now selling at 2130 for a dollar. This is just a trifle more than we'd care to pay for them.

The new marking system, as explained in the Daily Iowan, is very interesting. "The mark C," it is stated, "should be given to the middle EJ per cent of a great number of passing students."

A woman from Georgia has been appointed United States senator—until the November elections. "Simultaneously in announcing the appointment of Mrs. Felton, Gov. Hardwick announced himself a candidate for the unexpired term of the Senator Watson."

"Southern chivalry," what?

George Beban recently aroused the ire of several Hollywood favorites by saying that a good percentage of movie stars would qualify as "the beautiful and dumb." "Who is this Beban person, anyway?" inquire the stars, in tones of utmost scorn. For their information we would say that George Beban is an actor who could teach most of the stars of the silver sheet a few things about acting.

What is your prize goat-getter? Ours is to ask the telephone operator for three-nine-two and have her say, "Thurrree, nigh unto!"

HISTORICAL FACTS YOU MAY KNOW

The modern flapper is not an innovation, but existed as a distinct species long before the Christian era. A Babylonian co-ed's vanity case, filled with Djer-Kiss, has recently been discovered.

Ben Hecht's play, now running in Chicago, is called "Under False Pretenses." We have seen a good many shows that took our money that way.

TUESDAY SET FOR DEBATE TRYOUTS

Opportunity for New Contestants to Make Team; Upper-classmen are Eligible

Preliminary try-out for the Iowa-Minnesota-Illinois triangular debate will be held next Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock in the liberal arts auditorium. Prof. Herbert C. Weller, instructor of speech, believes that there is a wealth of good debating talent on the campus, and the only way that it can be utilized is for everyone who is at all interested in debating to try out Tuesday night. All undergraduate men in good standing, except freshmen are eligible.

Two Triangular Debates

This year there will be two triangular debates: one with Illinois and Minnesota, December 8; the other with Nebraska and South Dakota, March 16. Each contestant for a place on these teams will appear at the preliminary try-out and deliver a prepared five-minute argument on either side of the proposition announced. The proposition for the tryout Tuesday night will be, "Resolved: That the Right of Employes to Strike Collectively Should be Declared Illegal." This is not the proposition for the I-M-I debate, which has not yet been selected. Judges will select on the basis of keen analysis, clear organization, and effective delivery; and in the final try-out on ability actually to debate.

To Use Judging System

A number of the experienced debaters have graduated so that there will be a great opportunity for new contestants. "A number of the men who tried out last year, but did not make the team, showed some wonderful ability," said Professor Weller, "and those who do not make the team the first year should not be discouraged."

The fact that the judging system will be used this year instead of the forum which has been used for the last two years, should add incentive to those interested in trying out. A bulletin on debate, oratory or dramatics, giving all the information necessary to contestants has been published this year, and may be secured at Professor Weller's office in the natural science building.

45 NEW ELECTROLIERS TO ILLUMINATE CAMPUS

Forty-five new lamp posts have been received by superintendent of grounds and buildings, J. M. Fisk, to take the place of the old iron posts on the campus, according to information given out from his office yesterday afternoon. The new posts, one of which now stands at the southeast corner of the natural science building, will be set up as soon as possible, probably within two or three weeks. The post now standing on the campus is one of a series of several which were purchased as samples last spring and was chosen from the others on account of its beauty and utility. The choice was made as the result of the judgment of both students and faculty.

Points considered in making the choice were: color of the post which harmonizes with the University buildings, and its proportions which are modest enough so that not too much attention is called to the post itself. The locations have been plotted and most of the new lights will be placed on the campus facing Clinton street. There will also be several placed along Washington street and in the oval. When the new lighting system is installed the campus will be almost as light as day, say the authorities.

ORGANIZE POINT SYSTEM FOR W. A. A. MEMBERSHIP

The point system for women's athletic association membership is now in working order. Schedules for swimming, field sports, and hiking are posted on bulletin boards in the women's gymnasium. The first hikes are scheduled for Sat. October 7, 6 a. m. and Monday, October 9, at 4

p. m. Sign in the women's gymnasium now.

At present, there is recreational swimming from 4 to 5 o'clock daily. Those who swim fifteen times in six weeks for a period of thirty minutes each time, may earn fifty points.

Special soccer practice for those eager to make teams will be held for seniors and juniors at 2 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday, and at 4 o'clock for other girls. In this way selection for teams will be limited.

"We are delighted with the enthusiasm displayed for W. A. A. membership," Gladys Taggart, president of the organization, stated. "Old girls must maintain their membership by gaining more points."

UNIVERSITY TO OBSERVE OCT. 27, AS NAVY DAY

The Navy League of the United States, with the approval of the Navy Department at Washington, D. C., has established Friday, October 27, 1922 as Navy Day. That day is to be observed with appropriate ceremonies throughout the entire nation as a tribute to the American Navy.

As a part of the nation-wide program, Walter A. Jessup, President of the University, has been asked to aid in the observance of Navy Day on the campus. It has been suggested that the University administration, the military department, or the student council take charge of the observation of the date. No definite steps have yet been taken.

ENROLLMENT IN ROMANCE LANGUAGES SHOWS GAIN

Two hundred and twenty-four more students than last year are reported to be enrolled in the romance language department at this time. Mrs. Eleanor Douglass Robeson and Mr. R. B. Williams have been appointed as assistant instructors. Both are graduates of this University and are candidates for degrees. At present, the department of instruction in the Romance language department includes twenty-one instructors and assistants.

Fall Opening

The lore of the old world has inspired the foremost modistes of Paris and America, and by artistic adaptations of these age-old creations they have designed costumes of rare beauty and style distinction for this Autumn season. In viewing this inaugural of Fall fashions you will note that many blouses are brightened up with Russian embroideries, the smart chapeaux have pilfered eccentric Egyptain motifs, that frocks align themselves with Grecian draperies, that necklines hearken back to the Moyan Age in France, and even far off China puts in a word about monogolian sleeves.

Everything for Women and Misses

Formal Apparel

for Foremost Functions
As scintillating as their setting at the opera or in the ball-room are the new costumes designed for evening wear. Formal gowns of the new matelasse fabrics many of them glistening with a metallic thread are so decorative of themselves that a few deft drapings evolve a beautiful creation. Poinsettia, a gorgeous red and opal, a green with a Chinese cast, hint at their color gayety.
A comb set with brilliants to enhance your coiffure, a feather fan for you to wave with a charming nonchalance, earrings that are smarter the longer they dangle, hint at the feminine fancies to be found among Evening Accessories.

There are Exceptional Apparel Values in Every Aisle for Particular Women and College Girls

More New Suits, Coats, Dresses, Furs, Etc. Also Bath Robes, Corduroy Robes, Kimonas, Breakfast Coats and Negligees.—

THE NEW SILKS ARE GLORIOUS! AS NOW DISPLAYED

The eye is first fascinated by a riot of vivid colorings—glowing reds and radiant yellows—and gold—fuchsia, toreador and the rich new blues.

And then the sumptuous fabrics—the rich crepes, the gleaming metal cloths, the deep velvets and the crushed velours.

A hundred rainbows of plain colors—exquisite printed paisley roshanra crepes and brocades.

Note: All Apparel and Accessories displayed at our Style Promenade Tuesday Evening and all of the merchandise of every description on exhibition at the Store last evening, is now on sale. Besides, more new things are arriving daily. We'll expect you today and tomorrow to inspect them.

650 WOMEN ATTEND SPONSOR SPONSOREE PARTY LAST EVENING

Dancing featured the entertainment at the sponsor party last night in the women's gymnasium which was attended by 650 women students. The upperclass women escorted the freshman women to the gymnasium where both the sponsors and sponsorees were given corresponding numbers and tags bearing their names. Staff and Circle members acted as hostesses and assisted in the entertainment.

A get-acquainted game, a tag dance, and an elimination dance were some of the features of the evening. Gladys Taggart A4 of Spencer gave a solo dance. Light refreshments were served after the entertainment.

WINTER COATS

$69⁵⁰

An event in coats in which you will find a choice practically unlimited. Every style that is correct, every color that is new and staple greets you here.

The modes in Coats depicted in the fashion magazines, adaptations of the best French models, also the most pleasing New York designs are here in glorious array.

These actual sketches of some of the garments give you a hint of the pleasing diversity of styles.

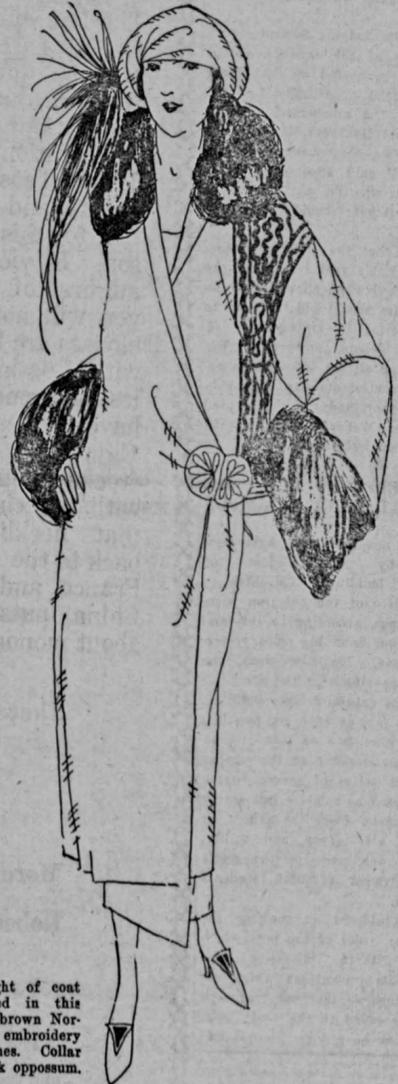

Fabrics of silken sheen, thick velvety weaves with a richness of quality that is conspicuous—of normandy, normango and lustrous, also the favored plush and pollyanna.

Sumptuous fur collars and deep muff-like cuffs trim some of the models, odd Parisian frog ornaments, dangling silk fringes, sleek arrow heads and novelty sleeve bindings trim other styles.

All the coats are richly silk lined.

Left—Note the large silk tassels at the elbow of sleeves. Coat is fashioned from rich brown Lustrous. Lining is of soft grey canton crepe. $69.50.

Right—The height of coat beauty is reached in this wrappy model of brown Normango. Heavy embroidery trims shoulder lines. Collar and cuffs are black opposum. $69.50.
