20 CANDIDATES FOR 17 OFFICES IN L. A. COLLEGE

Many Irregularities in Petitions, Election Committee to Meet Today

Very little interest will be displayed in the University election tomorrow in the college of liberal arts if the number of petitions presented to the election committee last night can be used as a criterion. The committee found so many irregularities in petitions that it will meet again today to decide upon the names to be placed on the ballots.

In all, twenty petitions were presented for the seventeen vacant offices, six of which may go by default since no candidates presented themselves. Four of the remaining offices have just one candidate and the four who presented positions for these will be declared unanimously elected providing no discrepancies are found by the election committee this afternoon.

The vice-presidency of the freshman class is the most hotly contested position with four candidates. The officers for which there were no candidates are as follows: vice-president of the senior class; vice-president, secretary, and treasurer of the junior class; treasurer of the freshman class; and representative to the student council from liberal arts college.

The candidates, with their records are as follows:

Senior Class President
Eric C. Wilson A4 of Iowa City. Wilson is captain of the track team, and was connected with the Daily Iowan in his sophomore year. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

Senior Class Secretary
Louise Jerrell A4 of Oskaloosa. Miss Jerrell attended Ward Belmont two years. She is on the Y. W. C. A. council, secretary of Hesperia literary society, secretary of the women's forensic council, President of Gamma Epsilon Pi and a member of Delta Gamma sorority.

Senior Class Treasurer
Emily Hartman A4 of Junction City, Kansas. Miss Hartman is a member of the glee club, physical education club, and music study club. She is also a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

Junior Class President
Jack H. Funk A3 of Fort Dodge. Funk attended Ames a quarter, and Wisconsin university a year. He received his numeral in basketball last year. Funk is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity.

Sophomore Class President
Leland Parkin A2 of Waterloo. Parkin is a member of the varsity football team. He won his freshman numeral in football, track, and baseball. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Vice President Sophomore Class
Lorraine Luthmer A2 of Summer. Miss Luthmer is a member of University players, Hesperia, freshman commission, W. A. A. and Y. W. C. A. She is a member of Delta Zeta sorority.

Secretary Sophomore Class
Margaret E. Sayers A2 of Jefferson. Miss Sayers is treasurer of the Y. W. C. A., vice-president of the Freshman Commission, a member of Erodolphian literary society and Delta Delta sorority.

Secretary Sophomore Class
Margaret Smith A2 of Granger. Miss

LAND MARINES IN CHINA TO QUELL REBEL DISORDERS

London, Oct. 16—American, British and Japanese marines have been landed as a result of a rebellion in Fukien province, according to reports to the foreign office from Chican. The rebels, presumed to be remnants of the Sun-Yet-Sen forces, seized Soochow Oct. 12, and proclaimed an independent government. No disorders have been reported.

MCADOO SCORES ADMINISTRATION

Claims Budget System is a Failure; Denounces Tax and Tariff Bills

Denver, Col., Oct. 16—In a speech bristling with denunciations of numerous acts and alleged omissions of the republican administration, William G. McAdoo, former secretary of treasury and frequently mentioned by democrats as a strong presidential possibility, opened the state campaign of Colorado Democratic party here Monday.

McAdoo charged the administration with failure to reduce taxes and failure to have any money despite the budget plan.

"Deflated property for both farmer and laborer has resulted," McAdoo declared, "and the taxation bears heavily on middle classes while the surtaxes of the wealthy class have been reduced.

"Intolerable internal revenue taxes are making savings of the people and grinding the very ambition and enterprise out of the country manhood."

McAdoo termed the tariff bill the "most infamous and indefensible in history," and said it would destroy American foreign trade. He urged a policy of international cooperation and abandonment of "the present stupid policy of isolation."

He scored the administration for recent labor troubles and declared that a democratic congress could wage the fight for repeal of the obnoxious Cummings bill, one of the worst pieces of legislation yet forced upon people."

McAdoo is now enroute to Wyoming where he will make another speech.

ILLINOIS FARMERS PLEAD FOR MEN TO HUSK CORN CROP

Chicago, Oct. 16—Illinois farmers are pleading with employment agencies here to send them hundreds of corn huskers at once, to husk a record corn crop now standing in the fields, according to Charles J. Boyd of the state free employment bureau.

But with building operations increasing and road work through the state being rushed to completion before cold weather, there are few applications for farm jobs, according to Boyd, because of the higher wages and shorter hours obtainable elsewhere. The minimum scale for huskers is 3 cents a bushel with room and board. Huskers average 80 to 100 bushels a day.

EXPECT AT LEAST 250 STUDENTS TO ATTEND URBANA GAME SATURDAY

At least 250 students and interested fans will make the trip to Urbana to see the Iowa-Illinois game. This is the number guaranteed by the athletic department to the Rock Island railway. Reservations are coming in every day and those planning to go on the special must get their reservations in at once. The exact fare has not been determined, but it will be about $10.70 and pullman accommodations will cost about $3.00 extra.

The train will leave Iowa City between 9 p. m. and 10 p. m. on Friday night and will leave Urbana on the return trip between 7 p. m. and 8 p. m. Saturday night. The game will be played before an Illinois Homecoming crowd, and will give all those who make the trip a chance to see the University of Illinois and her team at their best.

PREMIER FACES CRISIS AS ALL ENGLAND WAITS

Developments are Fast in Political Muddle; Many Conferences are Called

London, Oct. 16—What promises to be a fateful week in British politics has opened with an intense situation that changes hourly. Busting activity in political circles has created the general feeling that important changes are impending.

The atmosphere as Lloyd George approaches the crisis of his career is charged with an intensity comparable to that in the United States on the eve of a presidential election.

Whether Lloyd George intends to resign, and quit cold or whether he intends to dissolve parliament and appeal to the voters for a new lease of power is still a secret which the little premier hangs to tenaciously.

Developments came fast Monday.

1. The unionist party unexpectedly called a meeting to decide whether it will stick with Lloyd George and the coalition, or break with the liberals and strike out alone.

2. Premier Lloyd George called his leading advisors, Austin Chamberlain, government leader in Commons; Lord chancellor Birkenhead; Minister of colonies Churchill; and Chancellor of Exchequer Horn to conference.

3. Lloyd George has arranged to speak at Newcastle Saturday.

4. Four unionist members of the cabinet met to consider the policy regarding Lloyd George and the coalition which they will recommend to the meeting of the party Thursday.

Numerous other conferences between political leaders were held during the day. Announcements were made of a dozen political speeches to be made during the week.

"WEST IS OFFERING CHALLENGE TO EAST IN CULTURE"—RIENOW

"The West is offering a challenge to the East, in culture as well as in athletics. Saturday's victory demonstrates our progress in athletics. This places the West in the limelight. Once there, our advancing culture will be recognized," is the statement Dean Robert E. Rienow made yesterday while the celebration surged to and fro across the campus.

"At present," the dean continued, "the West overestimates the East and the East underestimates the West. Western men are dazzled by the traditions of the older universities. As the Western universities accumulate their own traditions this prejudice will disappear, and the true values of the Western universities will be recognized."

Dean Rienow made few comments upon yesterday's celebration. "Of course," he said, "I compare this affair with those of former years. When I think of all the board walks, porch furniture, and window lights that were sacrificed in honor of a victory over Ames, I must admit that the present students are celebrating a victory of national importance with considerable respect for personal property. The celebration was to be expected, as the victory merited it."

LIBRARIANS TO COME

The Iowa Library association will hold a convention at Cedar Rapids, October 23 to 25. Monday evening, October 23, Edwin F. Piper, an English professor of the University will give an address on "Recent Poetry."

COMMITTEE CHAIRMAN OF STATE 'FORGET-ME-NOT' DAY ACTIVITIES

C. F. MULLEN L3

TAG DAY PLANNED TO AID VETERANS

National Forget-Me-Not Day Will be Observed in Iowa City November 11

A proclamation issued sometime in the near future by Governor N. E. "forget-me-not" tag day, Friday, Nov. 11. Money received from the sale of tags on this day will be used in obtaining more satisfactory medical attention for those disabled American veterans of the World War who are not receiving sufficient attention from the government.

In Iowa City, it is planned to secure the aid of University women to sell tags on the campus, down town, and in the high schools. Any amount of money will buy a tag on that day; but C. F. Mullen L3 of Waterloo, state chairman of the national "forget-me-not" day activities, says he will expect everyone to give without restraint.

Of the funds received, fifty per cent will be used within the city, fifteen per cent will be utilized by the state department, and the rest, thirty-five per cent, will go to the national headquarters to be spent partially in publishing "The Disabled Men's Weekly," with a portion used for general running expenses.

Local organizations supporting Mr. Mullen in his drive are: American Legion post, Legion auxiliaries, Women's clubs, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Knights of Columbus, boy scouts, and campfire girls.

The Disabled American Veterans of the World War is a national organization with headquarters in Cincinnati, Ohio. The Iowa state commander is W. W. Phelps L1 of Central City. The Old Gold chapter of Iowa City is commanded by Louis Zapf S1 of Littleport.

The "forget-me-not" day committee of the Old Gold chapter is: Leslie Boatman, T. J. McCabe, and C. W. Sheeley.

GRADUATE CLUB TO MEET

The Graduate Mathematical club will hold its first meeting of the year Thursday afternoon at 4:10 o'clock in the physics building, the exact room to be announced later. This club includes in its membership all of those who are doing graduate work in mathematics as well as the instructors and professors in the mathematics department. A paper entitled, "Distance and Angle in Dimension" will be read by Prof. Richard P. Baker at this first meeting.

COMMENTS ON WORK

In the Current issue of the Union Signal, official organ of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, a page and a half is devoted to an account, "Progress in Child Welfare work at the Iowa Child Welfare Research Station" contributed by Dr. Bird T. Baldwin, director of the station here.

GRANT EIGHT HOUR DAY TO RAILROAD TRAINMASTER UNION

(By United News)

Chicago, Oct. 16—An eight hour day with pro rata overtime said to be the approximate equivalent of a twenty-per cent wage increase, was awarded 2000 yardmasters on 26 class 1 railroads and six switching terminals by the United States labor board Monday.

The Delaware & Lackawanna, the Pennsylvania and the Illinois Central railroad were not affected by the decision, which also provides that yardmasters working seven days a week shall be given two days off a month.

W. L. McMenimon, a labor member of the board, although contending that the three railroads were properly before the board in the matter, voted to exclude them in order to obtain a decision which otherwise would have failed for lack of one vote. Twelve other railroads have agreements with their yardmasters already enforced which will govern working conditions, according to J. S. Eldridge, of the Railroad yardmasters of America. This organization is said to have more than 400 members in the United States and Canada.

TROUBLES ARE FORGOTTEN AS TEAM RETURNS

Cheering Throngs Block City Streets While Bands Blare the Way

The University, classes, work politics, the Grecian trouble, fraternity grades, and the campaign of Andrew Gump, all were forgotten yesterday when over 6,000 students of the University and hundreds of others joined together in celebrating Iowa's great victory at New Haven Saturday; and Iowa City went wild, simply wild, in its demonstration.

IT Began in the Morning
The celebration of probably the greatest victory in the history of Iowa athletics was started in the early morning hours and ended late in the afternoon.

Marching, singing, yelling, cheering and dancing, the entire student body welcomed back the victorious gridgers in a manner which has never before been paralleled at this place. Everyone entered into the spirit of the celebration and the demonstration was sometimes near being riotous, although no property was demolished.

The spirit of a great, loyal student body broke loose in all its power, and changing last week's slogan of "Beat Yale" to that of this week, "Beat Illinois," the march towards the conference football championship was started off in real fashion.

Jones Sets Time
While numerous improvised bands and orchestras played every selection in their repertoire, every few minutes the celebrating students brought forth some new stunt to aid in the demonstration. Their inventive genius was still in strong evidence late last night.

In order that the team might not be awakened at the early hour, for which the morning's homecoming meeting was scheduled Coach H. H. Jones requested in a long distance telephone conversation from Chicago Sunday night, that there be no demonstration at the station until 6:30. Hundreds of students, not knowing that the mass meeting at the station would not be held immediately upon the arrival of the train, went to the station at 4:30 and gave a big cheer, but returned to town as soon as they were informed of the change in time.

The Band Started it Off
The University band started off the morning's celebration with a number of selections at the corner of Washington and Clinton streets and the parade lines formed there to march to the depot. Singing and cheering, the thousands of students in mass formation descended upon the station and opened the great demonstration.

The cheering crowds rushed to the team's sleeping coaches which were on a siding, and as the members of the team left the cars, they were royally welcomed by the rosters. With difficulty, they made their way through the dense crowd and came to the city.

Preceded up Clinton street by the band, the hilarious students again met at the corner of Clinton and Washington streets, where another cheering rally was held.

By the time that the liberal arts students were parading on the streets, dental students led by a band which formed on north Clinton street were forming in a parade line in front of the dentistry building. Preceded by their band the dents, dressed in their clinical uniforms, marched down the streets of the city in one of the most impressive parades of the morning.

Variety of Signs
Students of all the other colleges were also marching by this time. Students carried many banners and board signs. "Keep Off the Grass," "Use the Walks," and other similar signs were quite frequently displayed. The engineers carried a banner carrying their special slogan, "Iowa's Got It." Beside this was carried a huge Yale key.

The streets of Iowa City had been

SOUSA, "THE MARCH KING", WILL APPEAR HERE WITH HIS BAND THURSDAY

Among the soloists who will appear with Sousa and his band at Iowa City Thursday October 19, will be: Miss Marjorie Moody soprano, Mr. John Dolan cornetist, Miss Caroline Thomas violinist, and Mr. George Carey, xylophonist. Miss Moody was formerly of the Boston Opera company. She will sing, "Ah Fors e Lui from La Traviata by Verdi.

From the days of the Marine band John Phillip Sousa has been a firm believer in soloists as a feature of all band concerts. The public is in agreement with him; but he is often asked by the economists of the amusement field why he goes to the extra expense and labor of having soloists when, after all, he and his band are the real attraction. His answer is that of the true musician.

"Where is the young player to get his chance?", asks Sousa, in replying to the oft-asked question. "For a number of years in my youth, I sat in the ranks in the orchestra of a theatre in Philadelphia. I didn't get much pay; I gave lessons on the violin in my spare time to eke out my income; I desired to get married; I needed money to buy other instruments, so that I might master them all. But my mood was such that all other considerations were swept aside when I got a chance, now and again, to play a small solo or a bit of obligato. Those opportunities gave me the direct appeal to the public; and the response of an audience to my efforts gave to me the confidence which every musician must have if he or she is to be a successful soloist."

Taught Famous Musicians

The March-King, in arranging music for his band, invariably takes into account special opportunities for each group of instruments, so that every man in the band in the course of any Sousa concert gets his chance to do something individual in a musical way, even if the special opportunity be not one which catches the ear of the layman.

Some of the most famous musicians in the United States took their schooling with Sousa and his band. There was the late Maude Powell, the violinist, who died in 1919, lamented by what was, perhaps, the largest permanent clientele ever possessed by a violinist in this country. When, new from her years of study in Germany, she came home to this country, she was engaged by Sousa as a soloist with his band, and after three tours under him set forth on her brilliant career as a recital-giver. She never forgot to explain that she owed all the attributes that made her a successful recitalist to the seasons she spent with Sousa on tour—"and I," she would add, "the only woman in an entourage of seventy or more!"

Two Iowans in Band

At the present time there are two from the state of Iowa in the band. They are John Linde of Creston who plays the bassoon and William Bell who plays the Sousaphone the largest instrument in the band.

"I never stand in the way of a player's leaving me," said Sousa. "Indeed, every offer made to one of my men is a high compliment to me and to my organization. If this flutist or that trombonist or such-and-such an oboe-player of traps-man gets an offer, I say: 'Take it, my boy, and God bless you!' When he comes back, as he often does, there is always a job for him; if he doesn't come back, I know that he has found satisfaction in being resident with an orchestra rather than itinerant with me, and I know that he, in turn, has given satisfaction to his new employers."

Works on Percentage

There will be an additional war tax on the first performance of the concert course of ten cents on the season ticket and fifteen cents on the single tickets. This will be necessary on only the first concert since Sousa is the only one in the course who works a percentage basis.

O. L. Hall, who for many years has been a drama-critic and topical commentator of great popularity for the Chicago Daily Journal, recently wrote some words in that newspaper about John Phillip Sousa and his varied and contrasted interests and activities. Thus:

"The march-man of a thousand tunes naturally gets his name into the columns devoted to music; for he is, in the minds of hundreds of thousands throughout the land, the foremost American musician.

"Sousa gets himself into the columns devoted to drama by reason of his being librettist of two of his comic operas, 'The Bride-Elect' and 'The Charlatan.'

"Further, he goes into the sports-pages through his prowess as a marksman; for J. P. is, when he puts them all on, encrusted with medals won by accuracy at the traps with his gun; while his cups and other trophies would fill a baggage-car.

"When, in an earlier day, horses were given special space in the newspapers, Sousa's name was involved, also; for he has bred and raised many fine animals, and to this day denies that the automobile will ever displace the horse.

"The book-pages, too; for Sousa is the author of three novels—'The Fifth String,' 'Pipetown Sandy' and 'The Transit of Venus.'

Is a Politician

"Politics? Yes; for, although a showman and, therefore, a man who should make a slogan of non-partisanship, Sousa is an old-fashioned, 'red-hot' Republican, and takes in every campaign when at his home, Port Washington, L. I., N. Y. Incidentally, he and President Harding are warm friends—a friendship of musical origin; for the President from Marion, O., was a member of the city's cornet band.

"And, then, in both divisions of the pages devoted to news of the Army and Navy. As an enlisted member of the United States Marines, Sousa was at once soldier and sailor; and he went back into the navy when he enlisted at Great Lakes in May, 1917, for the world-war."

So, one may say that the March-King has led a full and active life since the days when he played the violin in the Philadelphia theater of which the late Mrs. John Drew (mother of John Drew and grandmother of Ethel, Lionel, and John Barrymore) was manager, and gave lessons in his spare-hours to eke out his wage.

CADETS WILL APPEAR IN NEW UNIFORMS AT PARADES THIS FALL

When the University band sounds the first notes for battalion or regimental parade this year, all cadet officers in the military department will be seen with new serge uniforms.

Through arrangements with the Lillie company of Cleveland, Ohio, made by Lieut.-Col. Morton C. Mumma, commandant, a representative of their firm will be at the armory today to measure the cadets for their new clothes. A government allowance has been passed which provides for uniforms for members of the advanced course of military departments in universities.

Another provision allows Colonel Mumma the privilege of ordering uniforms for the basic course cadets at their own expense. These uniforms will be of the same grade as those for the cadet officers, but will have to be purchased for the cadet officers, but will have to be purchased at the cadet's own expense. The cost, it is estimated, will be about $20.

Measurements will be made as early as 8 o'clock, and will continue throughout the day.

ENGINEERS FIND KEY TO YALE'S LOCK AND DISPLAY IT IN PARADE

A huge display size wooden key, the picture reply to the lead sign "Iowa's Got It", graced the signboard at the top of the engineering building after the game Saturday. The key represented the obvious truth that Iowa had the means of opening the Yale machine.

The mock key was featured very prominently in the engineers' part of yesterday's endless parade. The next sign is now being prepared by the junior students of the college of engineering.

MAKE POCKETS LARGER IN VIENNA TO CARRY WORTHLESS SHEKELS

Vienna (By mail to United Press)—Any one single American possessing as much as $180,000,000 could buy the entire banknote output of Austria—A, 200,000,000,000 kronen.

Naturally, a great money shortage has developed in Austria. The printing presses, working day and night at full capacity, are unable to overcome the shortage.

In Vienna alone the two million inhabitants need at least 600,000 kronen each in their possession at all times for their daily life—a sum equal to the entire Austrian output to date. In other words, if the people of Vienna alone possessed the money they need, the rest of Austria would be penniless.

The smallest note in Austria today is the one crown note—worthless for any practical purposes. Recently a new issue of 1,000,000 kronen notes was put out, and this will aid in keeping the bulk of money from becoming so great as to make it impossible to carry.

The bulk already has become a great bother. Vienna tailors have seen the need for a change in their styles and today are making the pockets of new clothes much larger than in the old days. Counterfeit money is practically unknown in Austria due to the fact that the cost of printing it often exceeds its actual worth.

Glove Sale Extra Ordinary

ON TUESDAY MORNING at 9 o'clock, we will place on sale a very large selection of KID GLOVES. The offering consists of very choice values, styles and colors.

RETURNS FROM CONFERENCE

Miss Miriam Taylor, of the department of physical education, has returned from the National recreation congress, which convened at Atlantic City during the past week. Miss Taylor is enthusiastic about the conference.

What impressed me most, she says, was the fine spirit of cooperation, and the vital interest which everyone connected with the congress, showed. The program was arranged so as to draw inspiration from men representing every recreational interest in the country.

Specialists in dramatic art, community music, craftsmanship, winter sports, gardening and other branches, were speakers. The most prominently known lecturers were perhaps George Pierce Baker, Litt B. professor of dramatic literature, Harvard university, Lorado Taft, sculptor of Chicago, Ill., John H. Finley, LLD, associate editor of the New York Times, Joseph Lee, president of the play association of America.

On Saturday Miss Taylor went up to New Haven for the Iowa-Yale game. Iowa was wonderfully well represented, she says, and did real rooting. I wouldn't have missed the game for anything.

REVISE CONSTITUTION

The revision of the W. A. A. constitution is underway, and is soon to be presented in its new form. The officers are working on certain changes which will be discussed at the board meeting called for Wednesday night at Currier hall. ENTHUSIASM HAS REACHED ITS HEIGHTS
We surely enjoyed the celebration yesterday. It proved that Iowa is on the Map.

ENTHUSIASM

Enthusiasm is the attribute that has made business, commerce and industry, the servant of mankind; the force that has brought within easy reach of the mass, the luxuries of the few; the agency that has raised the standards of living.

Without enthusiasm, progress would wear leaden shoes. It is the FIRE of YOUTH—the blaze which sweeps away old views, old methods, old ideas. The power that makes new paths, tries new ways, cultivates new faiths.

Every great movement in the annals of the world is the triumph of enthusiasm.—In BREMERS ORGANIZATION the flame of enthusiasm is kept ever burning.

Congratulations, Team!

Congratulations, Coach Jones!

Congratulations, Captain Locke!

It was a victory worthy of Big Ten Champions and is a wonderful opening for a great season.

In recognition of the victory we invite the team and its coaches to be guests at the opening performance of The University Theatre. We are presenting an enjoyable satirical mystery farce, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," by George M. Cohan. We will arrange hours of the performance so that the team can attend.

VARSITY RUNS OFF SIGNALS IN SLEET

Regulars Appear to be in Good Shape After Yale Battle; Heldt Rests up

Rain that sometimes turned to sleet did not prevent Iowa's football team from running through a fairly long signal practice last night. The "Bulldog Tamers" worked out in heavy sweaters on the main field, while the second and third strings snapped through their work on the freshman field.

Locke Shows Pep

All the members of the varsity, with the exception of Heldt, were out in uniform. Parkin directed the running of the team, and the bump received at New Haven seemed to have disappeared, for no limp was noticeable. Engeldinger still has his hand bound up, but it has been bandaged for several weeks. Locke had words of pep, sprinting through plays as if he had never received a hard while McIntyre passed the ball in his place. Johnny will be back in the game in plenty of time for the Illinois game.

Coach Howard H. Jones started the practice period by a short talk emphasizing the necessity of continued fighting if the season is to be brought to a successful ending. He warned the men against underestimating any of their opponents.

Jones Watches Seconds

After a few moments spent in watching the varsity, Coach Jones transferred his attention to the second team. Special efforts are being used to bring up the second team so that the men upon it will be fit to take the place of varsity men if they are needed. The seconds warmed up by running signals, during which Coach Jones often pointed out faults in the execution of different plays.

After the men were thoroughly warmed up, they took on the third team in a short scrimmage. The seconds were able to plow through the scrubs line practically at will, making gain after gain. Rich was at the helm, and ran the team with good judgment.

Illinois Reported Strong

Two of Iowa's coaches, Berry and Jenkins, watched the Butler-Illinois game, and brought back a number of Illinois plays that will be given to the freshmen to use against the varsity. Both of them reported that Butler was exceptionally strong, with a punter that was able to boot the ball for long distances whenever it was needed. Despite Illinois' defeat, they both spoke of her strength, denying rumors that the Illini are woefully weak. Starting today, hard practice periods will be spent in learning how to solve the Indian attack.

Governor Small to See Game

The men on the team are expecting a hard game next Saturday, because they realize that Illinois will uncover everything that she has in an effort to win before the homecoming crowd. Besides all the old alumni Governor Len Small will be at the game, adding incentive to Illinois' desire to win. Practically every seat has been sold, and an immense crowd is expected.

Due to a mistake on the part of telegraphers, Kriz was reported to have played the Yale game in place of Meade, while as a matter of fact, Meade played the entire game.

AMERICAN COLLEGES WILL BE ASKED TO AID Y. M. C. A. ABROAD

That American colleges will soon be called upon to raise part of the $1,200,000 fund required for the furthering and development of Y. M. C. A. work in foreign fields was the decision made at the central university Y. M. C. A. conference held in the Reynolds club of the university of Chicago Sunday, according to R. L. Fitzgerald, secretary of the local Y. M. C. A.

Seventy-Five Men Needed

It was shown to the delegates of the fourteen colleges and universities represented that the present foreign staff of 200 operating in the colleges of China and in some cities of India needs the aid of seventy-five additional men.

"One or two years are required to teach the language and social customs to the average new worker," said Dean William F. Russell of the college of education who was a speaker at the conference. Dean Russell, who himself has toured China, recommended that American universities exchange professors with Chinese schools.

Doctor Burton of Chicago Speaks

Other important lecturers were: Prof. E. A. Ross, of the university of Wisconsin; Dr. E. C. Burton of the university of Chicago; E. C. Jenkins, executive head of the foreign department of the Y. M. C. A.; and Professor Swamados, a native of India.

Mr. Fitzgerald stated that Iowa students will be asked to contribute to this fund at a later date, but the time for such a drive has not yet been

UNCOVER PHI BETA KAPPA TIMBER; SET RECORDS IN L. A. AND COMMERCE

Statistics show that not all the brilliant students are to be found in the professional colleges. High scholastic records achieved in the liberal arts college bring to light a great many "A" students. Among last year's freshman especially, are to be found a large percentage of "A" students.

Thirty hours of A, one hour of B, and one of C, out of thirty-two hours of work, was the record of Harold Verrall A2 of Britt, during his freshman year. Edwin Baker A2 of Iowa City, gained twenty-five hours of A, and nine hours of B out of thirty-four hours. Mr. Baker entered the university two years ago, staying out last year to teach school at Tarrant, Iowa. He is a member of Irving literary society and during his freshman year won the freshman oratorical contest. He has lately been elected into University Players. Esther Van Cleave A2 of Iowa City, produces a record of nineteen A's, five B's, and eight C's, out of thirty-two hours of work in all. Miss Van Cleave is a member of Delta Zeta sorority. Eighteen hours of A, eight hours of B and six hours of C, out of thirty-two hours of work during her freshman year; as well as being a member of Octave Thanet literary society, Y. M. C. A. and W. A. A., and taking an active part in basketball, baseball and soccer, is the record of Evelyn Harter A2 of Keokuk.

Fifty-four hours of A, eleven and eleven tenths hours of B, and two hours of C, out of sixty-seven and one tenth hours work in all is the brilliant record of Marian A. Anderson A3 of Waukon. During her sophomore year she corrected freshman English themes; at present she reads papers for Prof. Samuel Sloan of the English department.

Grace Appleton A3 of Lost Nation has a record of forty-two A's, fifteen and five-tenths B's, and five and five tenths C's out of sixty-three hours of work during the past two years.

William H. Moore A4 of Fort Madison, acquired twenty-four A's, six B's, and two C's during his junior year. Mr. Moore is president of Beta Gamma Sigma, honorary commerce fraternity.

Louise Jerrel A4 of Oskaloosa, received twenty hours of A, eight hours of B, and 4 of C, out of thirty-two hours of work in her junior year. Miss Jerrel entered this University from Ward Belmont school two years ago. She is a member of Delta Gamma sorority, of Hesperia literary society and is a council member of Y. W. C. A.

Hale P. Shirley A3 of Algona, has forty-eight hours of A and seventeen hours of B out of sixty-seven hours of work during the past two years.

"YALE" AND "KNOX" FIGHT TO SCORELESS TIE IN LONG, LISTLESS GAME

Two freshman teams battled for nearly forty minutes to a scoreless tie, last Friday on the north field. Neither team showed a strong offense and failed to do much better on defense. It was a pretty ragged exhibition of the fall classic. The one bright spot was the playing of Cohen at center for the "Knox" aggregation. He smeared play after play before it got under way and was a bear on defense. The heavy "Yale" line could not hold him out and he sifted through and nailed the man with the ball before he could move. He blocked a punt early in the game and if his teammates had been on the job they would have had a touchdown. Cohen was a star center for East Waterloo a few years ago.

Griffin, right guard, and Krasuski, right tackle, played a good game but did not have much to do as most of the plays were sent against the other side of the line. When called upon to open a hole in the opposing line they usually did, but the backfield was too slow to take advantage of it. Both of these players are big fellows and likely-looking candidates for a line job next year.

The game started with "Knox" kicking off to "Yale". "Yale" could not gain and punted to Lutz, "Knox" quarterback who returned ten yards. "Knox" failed to gain on straight bucks and punted out of bounds on "Yale's" 25 yard line. Here "Knox" lost an opportunity to score. On the first play Nelson, "Yale" fullback, fumbled and Cohen, "Knox" center, recovered. After making fifteen yards on three plays they lost the ball on a fumble. For the rest of this half the ball was fumbled and punted around in the middle of the field. Numerous penalties for offside marred the play in this half.

The second half did not bring a much better brand of football, although both teams fought hard for a touchdown. Numerous passes were tried but few were successful. Fry, "Knox" fullback, looked good on a couple of line smashes, but was substituted just when he seemed to be getting started. Schirmer and Bradfield, who took Clendennings place at quarter, made some pretty runs, but were handicapped by lack of interference. Neither goal was in danger in this half and the whistle blew with ball in "Yale's" possession in the middle of the field.

JUDGES WILL PICK DEBATERS TONIGHT

Eight Men to be Selected for Iowa-Minnesota-Illinois Debate December 8

The final tryouts for the Iowa-Minnesota-Illinois debate will be held tonight in the liberal arts auditorium in the form of two debates on the proposition, "Resolved: That the Right of Employees to Strike Collectively Should Be Declared Illegal." In the preliminary tryouts on October 10, twelve men from the twenty-six men competing were selected by the judges to argue in the final test which will decide the six men and two alternates that are to debate Minnesota and Illinois on December 8.

Personnel of Opposing Teams

In the first debate, scheduled for 7:15 o'clock, the affirmative team made up by Robert E. Birchard A3 of Davenport, Paul C. Bucy A2 of Hubbard, and James M. Stewart L1 of Runnels, clashes with the negative team represented by Harold F. Fristedt A3 of Burlington, Lawrence I. Brierly A3 of Independence, and Robert W. Cooper A3 of Newton.

At 8:15 o'clock in a second debate, the affirmative upheld by Kenneth M. Dunlap L1 of Jefferson, Max Livingston A2 of Waterloo, and Buel G. Beems A3 of Anamosa attacks the negatives maintained by Harold D. Read L1 of Des Moines, George O. Hurley L1 of Rolfe, and Harry S. Stevenson A2 of Council Bluffs.

Four Minutes Rebuttal

Each debater will give a five-minute constructive speech and four-minute rebuttal. On the basis of argumentative skill, with special emphasis on ability in rebuttal, the judges will select the I-M-I debating teams. The judges will be Prof. Glenn N. Merry, Prof. Herbert C. Weller, Lee R. Norvelle of the department of speech and Abram O. Thomas of the geology department.

The debates tonight are open to the public.

WILL ADDRESS CONVENTION

Prof. P. W. Whiting, of the Child Welfare Research Station, will speak before the state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at Oskaloosa October 26, on the subject of eugenics.

MAY PRESENT COMEDY

The department of speech is making arrangements to present a farcical comedy in the near future at Anamosa.

ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT OF DANTE'S DIVINE COMEDY NOW SHOWN AT LIBRARY

The library is now showing in the exhibit case, one of the most unusual volumes in the country, the original manuscript of Dante's "Divine Comedy" reproduced in exact fac-simile with all its colors and shades, by the means of heliographic art, or color photography. It is one of seventy-two reproductions of the celebrated Codice Trivulziano in this country, forwarded from Milan, Italy, to the leading universities of the country, to the White House library, and to the library of Congress.

DID YEGGS TAKE CUB-SOX MONEY?

Rumored That Sunday's Receipts Gone; Theft Denied by Club Secretary

(By United News)
Chicago, Oct. 16—The entire Sunday gate receipts of $28,872 for the last game of the Cub-White Sox city baseball series may have been stolen by safe blowers who wrecked the White Sox office at Comisky park early Monday, according to rumours which persist in the face of denials by Harry Grabiner, secretary of the club. Late Monday, club officials admitted that the yeggs who cracked the safe secured "something more than $2000." Grabiner at first announced that the safe blowers took nothing, a little later he said $100 had been taken.

The sum was raised to $1000 by noon. The secretary's assertion that the $33,000 admission gate, "the largest of the season", had been deposited immediately after the game in a bank, brought no comment from the bank officials who cited a rule against giving out information on the accounts of depositors. Stanley Wilson, caretaker, who is said to have contradicted himself in telling the story of safe cracking is held by police. Wilson said he was ambushed shortly before midnight and held under guard until 6 a. m.

Mr. Stauffer of New York City will address the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. cabinets this afternoon at 4 o'clock in liberal arts drawing room.

YOUNG men like the smart touch of style in clothes "Tailored to Measure by Born".

Good style depends upon skill in adapting a fashion model to the lines of the individual figure; it can best be done in made-to-measure clothes.

You will like our way of carrying out your own style ideas; you will like the fit, the clean needle work, and the price of your Born Tailored Suit.

Why, then, accept a suit of the common "die cut" variety?

DOPING THE DOPE

Well, we done it. That practice game was a wee bit harder than them fellers figured. The fodder boys had quite a kick in them, but then corn fodder silage has a punch when it gets soured a bit. Maybe, all that cackling about early season games made our boys ferment a little. Anyway, when they spilled over, it was behind those Bulldogs' goal line. It sure is funny what a tiny bit of raisin' will do. If you don't have a tight enough stopper it will sure blow things up. You can't half close it, like Yale did Saturday, expect to find things the way you left them.

"Yale Loses Practice Game," will be the old story that all the eastern papers will be spilling out. It is funny what those papers get away with.

If Yale had won, they would have told all about the Eli victory over the best team in the West.

Somebody told us Saturday that if Aubrey Devine had been in the game, the score would have been about 30 to 0. We agreed partially, but then we told them that if our ears did not deceive us there wasn't any mention made about Parkin having any broken legs.

He was a cripple when he left Iowa City, but he did not seem to have anything the matter when it came to playing.

Saturday's game was the second brother against brother contest that the Eli's have lost. In 1920, Tim Callahan was captain and center on the Bulldog eleven which was defeated by the Princeton team led by Mike Callahan, his brother. Mike also played center.

"Chicago has a big bulge over Northwestern," writes a scribe in one of the Chicago papers. That "bulge" did not grow as large as Maroon fans expected. Chicago had a hard time winning by a score of 15 to 7 in a game marked by a number of penalties. Northwestern was outweighed ten pounds to the man.

How's this for figures, which they say can't lie:
Miliken defeated Knox 3 to 0. Purdue beat Miliken 10 to 0, making Purdue 13 points better than Knox. Iowa defeated Knox 61 to 0, therefore, Iowa is 48 points better than Purdue.
Q. E. D.

"Little hope for Butler," said W. V. Morganstein, Herald-Examiner sport expert in Saturday's paper. Butler took advantage of that little hope and came out on the long end of a 10 to 7 score. Illinois was outplayed throughout the game with the exception of the last few minutes of the fourth quarter when they managed to slip over a touchdown.

Zupke had better stay at home after this.

Harry Breene came in and scared the Iowan editorial offices Saturday. He threatened death unless the right price on the trip to Urbana was stated. The new cost of a round trip ticket is $10.70 instead of $12.15. Harry recommends that all who are going should get their reservations in early so that he would be able to arrange for enough cars.

Ames redeemed itself Saturday by holding the team from the University of Missouri to a 6 to 3 score. Missouri has one of the best teams in its history, so Ames must have made some recovery. We would hate to play Ames about the middle of next month.

Michigan got tangled up in the hot weather down south, and was held to a scoreless game by Vanderbilt. It was a good opening game for the Commodore's new $1,000,000 stadium.

Conference contenders have been reduced to eight. Northwestern lost to Chicago, and Indiana was defeated by

HILL AND DALE SQUAD TAKES STIFF WORKOUT FOLLOWING 4-MILE RUN

The varsity cross country squad went through a fairly stiff workout last evening on the track. All the men seem to be in good condition with the exception of N. L. Ashton, who suffered a sprained ankle last week. This injury kept him out of the tryout last Saturday. He was working out last evening but took the practice lightly and did not strain the ankle.

In Saturday's tryouts, which were run over a course of about four miles, some good material was uncovered. Phelps, who at one time last spring held the University record in the two mile, finished second to G. C. Ashton. Third was H. H. Murray who has had two years experience in cross country running. A. A.

Minnesota. Martineau was the big star for the Gophers. Minnesota should be about right to give Iowa a good battle in the Homecoming game on November 11.

The Wake missed it again. It picked Yale to defeat Iowa, and Illinois to win from Butler.

All the men on the football team who are in the law college attended classes yesterday. The rest of them went to bed.

"One of the best young football players the writer has seen in any game," is what Davis J. Walsh, New York sport critic, calls Parkin. He goes on to say that he promises to be a worthy successor to Aubrey Devine, and that it is seldom that a university is able to find two such able quarterbacks in successive years.

Some of the eastern papers in pre-game stories about last year's Iowa team speak of it as defeating both Notre Dame and Chicago. We beat Notre Dame, it is true, but we did not get a chance to play the Maroons.

All of the boys on the squad speak of the great time given them at Cleveland. Nothing was too good for them, and they left feeling that all the west was behind them.

"They sure charge on the dinners," one of the players said yesterday. "Why I only ate a little bit for breakfast, but when I looked at the menu, I found that breakfast cost $1.50."

That must have been SOME BREAKFAST.

"Duke" Slater played defensive end for the Rock Island Independents in the game against the Evansville Independents on Sunday. That is a new position for the "Duke," but according to reports he filled it well, blocking one punt, and making several tackles behind the opponents line of scrimmage.

Glenn Devine drove all the way from Des Moines Sunday evening in order to be on hand when the team came in. Glenn's boy is getting bigger every day, and Glenn is training him to follow in his daddy's footsteps and gain fame for Iowa one day in the future.

Among the many telegrams of congratulation received by Coach Jones, following the victory over Yale, was one from Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, and an alumnus of Iowa.

What do you think of an Iowa alumnus who finds fault with the kind of interference that Iowa uses, and thinks that we ought to use the kind that Luther college does? Well we have such a letter, and for the benefit of many we are going to print it, especially as it was addressed to an Iowa football player. It follows:

"The trouble with the IOWA TEAM seems to be on returning punts and kickoffs and also getting down under them to get the man with the ball. 'Duke' used to have to do it. Why can't the fellows to as LUTHER did last year in their important game—take out 9 men on the kickoff and go for a touchdown for the runner had to dodge but two men. LUTHER—a college of 280 here, at Decorah won its game yesterday against the Miners 58 to 0 an aggregation which held Champion 3 to 0 and Columbia 14 to 0. Answer—perfect interference. Get the fellows under those punts and Yale is beaten.

Best of luck to you and the team.
Sincerely
He means well, but not far.

Harry Bremer says that Yale fathers are telling their sons "go west, son, go West".

KNIGHT'S FATHER DIES SUDDENLY IN BOSTON

Prof. F. B. Knight, of the department of education and psychology, has left for Boston to attend the funeral of his father who died at that place quite suddenly. Professor Knight's father was here visiting last week and was at that time in good health.

VICTORIOUS HAWKEYES ENTERTAINED ROYALLY BY COMMERCIAL CLUB

Yelling, singing, and cheering with all the pep of their college days, the Commercial club welcomed Iowa's fighting eleven at a luncheon yesterday noon in their club rooms.

Coach Howard Jones and his bull dog fighters were placed at the head table. Each player was introduced by Coach Jones, and greeted with cheer after cheer by the business men. When Parkin stood up the noise was deafening.

Coach Jones Corrects Error
At the beginning of his speech which was the first on the program, Coach Jones corrected an error made in the lineup as published by most of the newspapers. Meade played right guard throughout the game and deserves the credit.

Jones said that after the game one of the Yale players told him that the Iowa team come on the field as if they were there to win, and not once throughout the game did they lose that spirit. He also voiced the danger of such a great success so early in the season, and continued "A team after winning an important game either becomes over confident, or retains just the right amount of confidence to finish a successful season." But he added that he believed the Yale victory would better the team as the Notre Dame victory did last year's team.

Dean Russell Speaks
While Coach Jones was glad of the victory, yet he was reluctant about talking of a game that was, as he said, both against his alma mater and his brother.

Dean W. F. Russell as the representatives of President Walter A. Jessup, was the main speaker. He made a plea for a greater Iowa City and commended the business men on their efforts in that direction. He said that a better city made a better University, so the townspeople and the faculty and students should combine to make Iowa City the best city in the state.

MARRIAGES MORE POPULAR
From the county's clerk's office comes the remark that marriage among students has lately become quite a fad. The largest number of such social unions seems to be before school starts in the fall, during Christmas vacation, and at commencement time.

THE VICTORY CELEBRATION

Yesterday the University of Iowa witnessed a display of enthusiasm which many say has been unequalled by anything of its kind for years. The spirit of the occasion, as spontaneous and sincere as it was ardent, would not be quelled until the student body had given visible proof of its appreciation to the team that defeated Yale. For this reason, and for this reason only, should the cutting of classes without the sanction of the administration be condoned.

Enthusiasm, as all other high emotional states, in time, runs its course. When it reaches a point where it becomes forced and artificial then it not only fails to accomplish its purpose but reacts on the individual. By 10 o'clock the real, and sincere enthusiasm was at low ebb or at least to such an extent that the ordinary student could contain his ebullitions in the class room.

In every large group of people, on such an occasion as yesterday's, there are to be found a few who let enthusiasm run away with their good sense. Provided a number of such individuals gather, a nucleus of a mob is formed and anything from simple violation of University regulations to a Herrin massacre may happen. Fortunately nothing serious did. A few reports came of classes broken up and students prevented from attending, by these same zealots. If students want to attend a certain class and remain until the hour is over, that is their personal privilege and any infringement of this rule is not to be countenanced under any circumstances.

Yesterday's demonstration was a wonderful and spectacular display of Iowa spirit. The great mass of the student body is to be congratulated on the part it played.

VOTE TOMORROW

Sixteen class officers and one student council representative in the college of liberal arts will be elected at the all-University election tomorrow. The number of votes will serve as a test of student government at the University of Iowa. It will show whether students care enough about managing their own affairs to go to the polls.

If students will not expend the small amount of physical energy to go a few feet out of their way to show their interest in an affair which concerns them as students, then little interest in an affair which concerns them as students, then little hope can be held out for any form of student government in which the initiative must come from the student body.

On another page of this issue of the Daily Iowan will be found a complete list of the candidates, a record of their achievements here, their platform, and their fraternity, if any. It is your duty to look them over and then vote for the best man.

THE FORENSIC GRIDIRON

Under the spectacularity of line plunges and forward passes, quieter but no less intense inter-collegiate battles may miss the headlines and the heroics. But brawn is not always at a premium, for tonight the six men who are to uphold Iowa's superiority on the forensic gridiron are to be selected. Against Illinois and Minnesota in the annual triangular debate, these men must stand representative of the brain and wit nourished out in the state where the tall corn grows.

In the clash of ideas on the debating platform, every moment is fraught for the deft word or gesture that turns an opponent's rhetoric into glaring fallacy. Every argument is ordered; a block for every possible opposing attack is devised. Two carefully planned offensives meet. With minds aroused to the exactitude of definition, nerved to the keenness of logic, fashioned to the hammer stroke of emphasis, the forensic battle is fought. Out of the walter of attack and counter attack, point and counter-point, argument and rebuttal, gradually the clear cut issues stand out. A team, to win, must, by the strength of argument and intensity of spirit, overthrow the structure of his opponent's logic and establish his own beyond negation. That, Iowa teams can do.

Iowa fights on the debating platform as well as on the gridiron. One does not have to go to New England to eat sea-fish for mental food; Iowa corn grows forensic brains as well as football shoulders.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION (Michigan Daily)

PERSONALITY PLUS

At Northwestern university they are instituting a course in the improvement of personality, which every student will be encouraged to take.

As to whether personality is a thing which can be dealt with successfully in the classroom, much difference of opinion exists. The authorities at Northwestern are apparently certain that the course will be of great benefit to students.

Personality is more or less an abstract thing, which can quickly be discerned in persons who possess it, but which is more or less difficult to analyze. Many people believe that this personal quality is born into an individual and rarely acquired through instruction. Few would deny, however, that personality can be developed immeasurably through proper association with persons of natural magnetic qualities.

The claim is advanced that the course should show many students how to improve their personal appearance, their dress, and their manners. If it does this, no doubt a real end will be served. A considerable number of students have slovenly habits and manners which could be corrected to advantage. Often their friends notice these deficiencies, but dare not mention them, fearing that they might be misunderstood. If an expert along these lines were to inform them of these deficiencies they would probably not be offended, and might correct habits which if allowed to continue would be a serious detriment to them in later life.

There are certain elements in an individual's personality which could not profitably be tampered with. But nevertheless, an idea such as this which if successful will add considerably to the polish of university graduates, is worth experiment.

Geraldine Farrar is selling at auction 876 items of her personal effects and furniture. Mr. Tellegen was not among those present at the sale.

Although we searched the Sunday issue of the Iowan diligently, we were unable to find the customary article under a box head, explaining that the result of the game was known here an hour before the game was over, due to the difference in time, etc., etc.

The pillars that support Old Capitol are 70 years old, we read. But does anyone know how old the scaffolding is?

A new suggestion for noise-making was put forth during the celebration Saturday night. One enthusiast, having taken the tires off his flivver, ran the car over the brick pavements on the rims.

There is agitation in Kansas against the use of Well's "Outlines of History" as a text book in the state normal school. We shouldn't object to reading the book if we didn't have to carry it to and from class.

Ben Hecht's "Gargoyles" is a best seller in Chicago. Proving that sometimes people know a good book when they see one and sometimes they don't.

Down in Mexico City they're wearing overcoats, while in Illinois they're picking a second crop of pears and raspberries, and in Wisconsin a cherry tree is reported in blossom. What's the answer?

Bonfires were lit following the victory over Yale, according to the Iowan.

We don't believe we ever saw so many bonfires, unless perhaps at Homecoming.

CONTRIBUTORS' COLUMN

Editors note—All communications addressed to the editor and not exceeding 200 words will be published in this column. Articles must be signed, not for publication necessarily, but as evidence of good faith.

To the Editor:

"The effectual fervent prayer of the righteous man availeth much," but, it may be added, it seldom, if ever, wins elections. That idea seems to pervade the mind of the political Jeremiah who writes the editorials of The Daily Iowan. The glory has departed from Israel—in other words "elections are not what they used to be", and as a result fraternities are blamed for this unfortunate condition of things.

If the charges made are correct, fraternities conspire together to elect inferior men to the various class offices. The editor for his own purpose has made such an assumption—an assumption as erroneous as his theories of government prove themselves to be. The various officers who were elected at the general election of last year were elected by a majority which in nearly every case approached the proportion of two to one. Comes now the editor of the Daily Iowan, a member of the 25 per cent minority and stubbornly argues the superiority of the defeated candidates. He does not need to be told that the burden is upon him to prove that his opinion is the opinion of the majority of the electorate.

The editor's attack against organized politics is only an old and recognized method of minority attack. It is inevitable that, in representative governments, a majority in power must ever contend with a struggling, slashing, abusive minority. It has been truthfully said that the political struggles of our government are the struggles of the "outs" against the "ins". Driven by the sting of defeat, the unsuccessful minority elements gather together, mutually sympathetic, and attack the successful office holders.

The simple truth is that no ticket will win without a certain amount of organization. Such a statement is axiomatic whether the question of national, state, or university politics is under discussion.

If the editor of the Daily Iowan supposes that Right, merely by uplifting a hand can summon the angels to her side, then any street urchin can give him instructions in the fundamental principles of government.

The way to meet organization is with organization. If inferior men are being groomed for class offices, by all means organize to elect good ones. Otherwise milk and water liberalism of the editor is as futile as it is impudent. No fraternity and no group of fraternities can control the majority of the potential votes in any class of the College of Liberal Arts. If the members of the class do not cast their votes, they are hardly entitled to complain of the results, and certainly the editor of The Daily Iowan is not entitled to complain for them.

FOUR SPORTS

To the Editor:

The law college is the only one of the nine colleges of the University which failed to show its appreciation of the Old Gold team yesterday morning and to give vent to a little enthusiasm over the victory of Saturday. It seems a shame that that college should spoil the record of the others. Reports coming from the law students, indicate that the freshmen were really loyal enough to enter into the festivities and would have done so had not a few of their senior brothers cowed them into staying.

Just another thing while we are talking about the laws. While they seem to lack enthusiasm over an Iowa victory they haven't lost their enthusiasm to corrupt a liberal arts election. The men connected with machine politics are almost invariably law students. Why they should take such an interest in the elections of another college besides their own, is beyond me. We all know how they run their elections over there and how the men now in office were elected.

If it is my place to give vent to a criticism, I should think the liberal arts students would arouse themselves from their Rip Van Winkle sleep and give battle to these trespassers. Dirty politics may be the only thing for the laws but they ought to keep them at home.

J. H. DUNLAP WILL SPEAK TOMORROW

Former Iowa Professor is Now Touring Country as Speaker on Engineering

On the last lap of a nationwide tour, John H. Dunlap, secretary of the American society of civil engineers, will deliver an address in Iowa City tomorrow. Mr. Dunlap will come to Iowa from Minnesota, where he has been speaking before the civil engineers of St. Paul, Duluth and Minneapolis.

He will visit Des Moines on Wednesday, proceeding to Iowa City on the same day, and leaving for Chicago early next Thursday morning. Mr. Dunlap's tour will end in New York City on Friday, October 20.

Mr. Dunlap, until recently a member of the faculty of the University, is returning East from San Francisco, where he attended the fall meeting of the American society of civil engineers, October 4-8, which attracted engineers from all sections of the country. This meeting is one of four general meetings held by the Society during the year. The annual meeting takes place in New York City the third week in January, followed during the summer by an annual convention. Spring and fall meetings in rotation are held in different sections of the country.

Discuss Coming Activities
"The Water Power Problem"—described as one of the most vital which confronts the nation—was the principal topic of the San Francisco convention. Papers were read by prominent engineers of the United States and Canada.

In addressing the society's local sections of the West, Mr. Dunlap is discussing the activities of the society for the coming year and is dwelling upon the growing participation of the engineer in American life, particularly, the engineer's influence in public affairs.

This is the first time that Mr. Dunlap has visited the West as secretary of the American society of civil engineers, the oldest national engineering society in the United States, being organized in 1852, for the purpose of advancing engineering and architectural knowledge and practice, maintaining a high professional standard among its members, encouraging intercourse between men of practical science, and establishing "a central point of reference and union for its members."

Describing the society's history and purposes, announcement issued at the national headquarters in New York says:

"During the seventy years of the Society's history the record of its accomplishments is a tribute to the devoted service of a great company of eminent engineers who have sought to give rather than to receive. The roster of its past-presidents, of the members of its board of direction, of the members of its committees, and of the contributors of technical papers, contains the names of the men to whom is principally due the progress of the Civil Engineering Profession in the United States, and its maintenance as a learned profession.

Engineers Change World
During this period of seventy years the nation has experienced an industrial revolution, and the world has been transformed into an engineer's world, with the public dependent to a surprising extent for its comforts, conveniences, and necessities upon the genius of the engineer. In this transformation, the members of the society have rendered distinguished service.

"The past contributions of the society to human progress augur well for its future activities. In its membership are represented all branches of the profession. By rigid insistence in the future, as in the past, upon high qualifications in those entering its ranks, the Society will endeavor to maintain the highest possible professional standards of public service. To help in maintaining, and in elevating, these standards, is the highest professional reward and privilege of the Civil Engineer."

Was Iowa Professor

Mr. Dunlap, who is being entertained by the civil engineers of the cities in which he speaks, graduated from Dartmouth college in 1905, and received the degree of C. E. from the Thayer School of Civil Engineering in 1908. He has been identified with numerous engineering projects, and since 1908, until he recently became secretary of the American society of civil engineers, he had been a member of the engineering faculty of the University of Iowa, resigning with the rank of professor of hydraulics and sanitary engineering.

RACQUET MEN SET FOR COE MATCHES

Return Games Will Start at 2 p. m. Tomorrow on Gym Courts. Team is Fit

The Coe college tennis squad will probably arrive in Iowa City Wednesday noon to compete in the return matches with Iowa. According to physical director E. G. Schroeder, Iowa's tennis squad is in the best of shape to enter the tournament. The courts also are hard and dry today for the event.

The first matches in the singles' group will begin at 2 p. m. and will be played on all of the courts adjoining the old armory. The finals will take place on number two court, probably late enough in the afternoon to be witnessed by students. The tourney should be ended about 5 o'clock.

The Coe squad is made up of Beeson, Mateith, Balls, Norton, Waring, and Rook. Iowa is to be represented on the courts by Swenson, Janse, Dorsey, McLaughlin, Cooper, and Marquardt.

The doubles will be played in the following order: Swenson and Janse vs. Balls and Beeson. Dorsey and McLaughlin vs. Mateith and Norton. Marquardt and Cooper vs. Waring and Rook.

Last week, Tuesday, Iowa's tennis squad opposed these same Coe racquetmen, winning all of the contests. "There was nothing slow about the pace that Coe set," said Mr. Schroeder in commenting on the matches of last week. In the return games, however, Iowa will face a higher trained and more experienced group of players and the tourney tomorrow should prove no such walk-away as the first games of the series.

PASTOR ENTHUSIAST OF NEXT VESPER SPEAKER

A pronounced enthusiast of Rev. Henry Sloane Coffin of New York City, the next vesper speaker here, is Rev. Herbert L. Searles student pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city. The Iowa City pastor was one of his students at the Union theological seminary of New York City.

Rev. Dr. Coffin will give an address at vespers the afternoon of October 20 when the vesper choir will make its first appearance.

Coming back to the Yale game, we are glad that man Cochrane did not get in the game any sooner than he did.

Frank Gettie, United Press correspondent, says that Iowa won a clean cut victory, and at times the Hawk eyes played like demons.

THE DAILY IOWAN IS SETTING THE PACE

It is not often that the editorial staff of a newspaper has an opportunity to talk about itself, but today is different. So many Iowa City merchants were celebrating something or other yesterday morning that the advertising department gave us this space to fill with chronicles of our past achievements and with advance notices of the glory that we expect to win in the future. We do not even have to ask you to subscribe. The circulation manager said that every subscription taken now meant a net loss to the paper. Of course, we would rather have you read our paper than not, but orders are orders.

Six to nothing may be a good score in a football game, but The Daily Iowan is not satisfied in its daily contests with the other college papers of the country unless the score is at least sixty to nothing in our favor.

You may have missed C. Bruce Gould's report of the Yale-Iowa football game in Sunday's Iowan. If you did, get hold of a copy now. We have not yet seen the accounts of the game carried in all the newspapers in the country, but we have seen a good many of them, and Mr. Gould's was the best of the lot. Here is what Prof. Edwin Diller Starbuck has to say about it:—

CORN AND CULTURE

I wonder if Bernard Shaw could have written up the big game as cleverly as did Bruce Gould. That gift or attainment is possible only to one who has fed on the strength of corn and the cream of culture. So long as we can have not only a Parkin to play the game, a Coach Jones to show him how to do it, but a Bruce Gould to tell us about it, the country is safe.

—Edwin D. Starbuck.

The Iowan's Yale football extra was on the street with the final score of the game some minutes before the radio reports or those coming by wire were given to the thousands who were eagerly waiting to know the result of the last fierce Yale assault on the Hawkeye goal.

For the rest of the football season The Iowan will issue an extra after each Iowa game with not only the final score but a complete play by play account of the game up to and including the last blow of the whistle. The Iowan's sports editor, Francis J. Weber, will be at the Illinois game Saturday and will endeavor to show the world that all the University's writing talent has not yet moved East.

Next Sunday The Iowan will issue the first of its Sunday literary supplements. Ruth Cromer, who was the chief writer of special articles for the Des Moines Sunday Register last summer, is editor of this section. Arrangements have been made to get the best literary work of undergraduates at the University in prose and verse. Book reviews, theatrical comment, and critical articles of various kinds will be carried. Some of the best known writers now in America have promised to contribute to the literary supplement during the year. Only one other college paper in the country, as far as we can find out, issues such a literary supplement.

For the past two years The Iowan has issued the only rotogravure section among college papers in the country in connection with its Homecoming number. This year at Homecoming The Iowan plans for a still bigger and better rotogravure section than ever.

More than fifty reporters are writing campus news for The Iowan this year. The Iowan is also carrying about four columns of world news each day from the United News and the United Press.

There are not more than three or four college newspapers in the United States that are in the same class as The Iowan; the rest are distinctly not so good. You can back The Iowan to win every time in any sort of comparison with undergraduate newspapers anywhere.

TOMPKINS WILL HEAD GYM TEAM; PRACTICE STARTS NEXT MONDAY

Gervase W. Tompkins A4 of Garrison was elected captain of the gym team yesterday afternoon. He was on the team two years ago but did not come to school last year. Thomas P. Treynor M4 of Iowa City is the retiring captain. Gym team practice will start next Monday afternoon and will continue every night until the conference meet at Ohio State next March. "All freshmen who are interested in this kind of work should report to me this week if possible," said Coach Harold E. Briceland. "Those who show up well will be excused from physical training classes."

COPIES OF THE IOWAN "EXTRA" NOW AVAILABLE

Additional copies of the "Extra" edition of the Daily Iowan of Saturday afternoon telling of the victory of the Hawkeye eleven over Yale may now be secured at the Iowan office, 121 E. Iowa Ave. The rush for the papers following the victory soon exhausted the supply of 3,000 copies that had been printed. Returns from newsboys and dealers yesterday brought 100 copies back to the office.

Students wishing to send the papers to relatives or friends will be wise to secure their copies at once, for judging by the repeated inquiries made for the "Extra" Monday, the supply will not last long.

LAW MEET TEAM AND GO TO CLASSES; 100% ATTENDANCE ALL DAY

During a demonstration which threw order to the winds, the law students put theory into practice and remained through all their classes yesterday.

"The students came of their own will and without coercion. Every self respecting student in Iowa City should have done likewise," said Dean Jones of the college of law.

All classes were held throughout their hours except the 3 o'clock, which was excused early. Attendance was 100 per cent. The five members of the first team who are law students—Locke, Shuttleworth, Engeldinger, Thompson, and Minick—were in their classes.

MORGAN PAYS U. S. WAR LOAN INTEREST

(By United News) New York, Oct. 16—J. P. Morgan and Company handed over $50,000,000 to the United States government Monday without comment. The banking firm, acting as fiscal agent for the British Government, deposited the sum with the New York Federal Reserve Bank as part payment on the interest on loans of over $4,000,000,000 borrowed by England during the war. The interest fell due Monday. For several months England has been shipping gold to the Morgan firm with which to make the payment.

UNION HEADS PLAN TO SELECT NEW DIRECTOR

The executive committee, composed of Carl F. Kuehne, of Denison, John M. Grimm, of Cedar Rapids, and Charles M. Dutcher, of Iowa City, met Sunday morning to consider matters pertaining to the Iowa Memorial Union. No formal action was taken with regard to the resignation of Director Ralph G. Grassfield, but it was proposed that a competent person be employed at the earliest possible date. For the meantime, they agreed, on the recommendation of Prof. Charles H. Weller, to ask Mr. Grassfield to continue with the immediate work on hand.

At the present time, $454,000 has been pledged. They expressed the hope that it could be brought over the half million mark by Homecoming.

ANNOUNCEMENT

No meeting of Erodolphian society will be held Tuesday Oct. 17. Party at 7:30 Wednesday, Oct. 18. Frances Smith, president.

Hep-Zet play tryouts will be held in the building tonight at 7:30 p. m. This will be the last opportunity to make the cast.

heavily decorated with flags and bunting for the I. O. O. F. convention which is in session, and this aided greatly in furnishing a background for the carnival effect of the celebration. Confetti was thrown about freely, and streamers were hanging thickly on telephone wires, trees and flag ropes. A large number of students participated in a pavement dance at the corner of Clinton street and Iowa avenue in the morning.

Build Huge Bonfire

A huge bonfire was built on the Washington street brick pavement near the engineering building in the morning. A large number of old wagons, boxes and all the loose wood in the immediate vicinity of Iowa City helped to make a huge blaze. The heat, for a time, was so intense that the circle of students about the fire, was forced to keep fifty feet distant.

The parading of the different colleges was continued for several hours in the morning and the crowds started disbanding at about noon, for throats were too hoarse and limbs too tired to continue longer in celebrating.

Many an automobile will not be recognized by "dad," when it is brought home, provided that some of them can make the trip. Every vehicle which could be pressed into service was on the streets; everything from a horse and buggy to two-ton trucks, classy touring cars and sedans were in the different parades.

The students of Iowa City High school joined with the university students and the "I. C. H. S." cheers mingled with those of "Iowa Fights."

A group of about twenty students, men, clad in white, pink, and blue uniforms paraded the streets and rode about in automobiles and played a football game in Clinton street.

Medics Provide Features

Dressed in the white garb of the operating room, the students of the college of Medicine provided the feature parade of the day yesterday afternoon. On a large truck was carried an operating table on which was lying the "cadaver of Yale," undergoing some furious operations by Doctors Parkin and Locke.

In large letters on the sides of the truck was the legend: Patient—Yale; Operation—Success; Patient—Died. The patient was covered with blood and several "surgeons" were "working on him" with a varied assortment of saws, hammers and knives.

The Laws Were There

The medics also carried a large number of cleverly worded banners, sarcasms on the Eastern culture, the Yale team and dire predictions for the fate of Bob Zuppke's eleven next Saturday. One banner read; Yale's dose. 6-0; Illinois' dose, 60-6.

The students of the college of law introduced the funeral hearse of the Yale team, and carried several dozen of corn stalks, labeled; "Planted in the Yale Bowl." The lawyers also had a well organized parade and gave a good demonstration.

Enthusiasm Wanes

The engineers were out again in the afternoon in large numbers, and showed several good additions to their already large list of parade features. A large number of other students also paraded in the afternoon in various organizations, but the high pitch of enthusiasm displayed in the morning was beginning to wane following the strenuous day.

And finally, when a stiff wind blew up a chilly rain, the celebration was over.
