Whether you are a finger following reader or one of the intelligentsia you can't help but get information and entertainment from The Iowan.

Everybody is praising The Iowan this year, I3's of Des Moines as well as A1's of What Cheer or Lost Nation. It is a good paper, that's why.

GRAIN GROWERS WANT CANADIAN WHEAT BANNED

Serious Car Shortage Throughout Grain Belt Must be Relieved

(By United News)
Chicago, Oct. 31.—A demand for an immediate embargo on Canadian wheat which is spreading rapidly among American grain interests in the middle and Northwest was revealed here Tuesday when the American Farm Bureau Federation was asked to join other Middle West interests in requesting the Interstate Commerce Commission to place an embargo on all Canadian wheat shipments through this country.

Farm Bureau officials are investigating the alleged strangling of American grain movements by Canadian shipments carried over American lines to eastern seaboard points for export, and are expected to decide within the next two days whether to put a request for an embargo. United States grain growers are awaiting for complete statistics in Canadian and American grain movements and may announce its decision Wednesday.

The embargo must be levied at once it is argued, not only to provide American grain with transport to the seaboard in American lake boats and by rail from Buffalo to New York but also to relieve the serious shortage of grain cars throughout the grain belt.

Grain cars now carrying Canadian wheat from the foot of the lakes to New York would return to Eastern roads for the use of American shippers. The effect of the embargo in addition to easing the serious financial situation in the grain belt where farmers are now unable to sell their wheat to elevators already overflowing would be to simplify the railway situation now admitted as the most serious problem of the country according to embargo proponents. Eastern roads are now congested with "foreign bonded" grain. The Interstate Commerce Commission has already been requested to levy the embargo by the Milwaukee chamber of commerce and the Iowa State Railroad commission may declare itself in favor of the embargo this week. A member of the commission conferred with farm bureau officials here Tuesday.

PHI DELTA KAPPA WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEET AT DES MOINES THURSDAY

The annual meeting of the Phi Delta Kappa, Epsilon chapter, will be held Thursday morning at a breakfast in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at Hotel Savery, Des Moines. Mr. O. E. Klingaman of the extension division will be toastmaster.

The program includes talks by Mr. Homer H. Seerley, president of the State Teachers college at Cedar Falls, Dean W. F. Russell of the college of education here, Pres. Walter A. Jessup, Mr. Fred D. Cram, director of research at the Cedar Falls State Normal school, Mr. F. T. Vasey, superintendent of schools at Mason City, Mr. J. C. McGlade, superintendent of schools in Waterloo, and Mr. M. C. Del Manzo, principal of the University high school. Members of other chapters will also attend.

SERVICE BULLETIN ISSUES REFERENCE

The University of Iowa Service Bulletin has recently issued a list of references to be consulted by the debating teams which are members of the Iowa High School Debating League. The list includes all the material available in the form of books, pamphlets, magazines, and journals. The question for debate which has been selected by the league is: Resolved, that the State should by suitable and proper legislation provide for the immediate hard-surfacing of the primary roads of this state and provide for a bond issue therefor.

Anyone wishing a list of these references should see Prof. Glenn N. Merry, head of the department of speech.

"MUMMY" ISSUE OF FRIVOL OUT NOV. 10

The next number of Frivol which is to go on sale for Homecoming November 10 is to be the Mummy number. "If you liked the fresh fruit number, you'll like the dried fruit number better," said the editor yesterday. It is the Mummy number with all the colors of mystic Egypt but it is far from a dead issue in every sense of the word. The brilliant cover which will catch the eye of every passer-by on November 10 was designed by Reginald O. Mars A3 of Iowa City, business manager. This number coming out for Homecoming will be of especial interest to the alumni.

W. A. WILL ASSIST MEMORIAL UNION

Organization Will Work Under the Leadership of Fifteen District Captains

The Women's association, with other campus organizations, will aid the Memorial Union council this year in securing subscriptions for the Memorial Union building, according to Lois Jackson A3 of Machanicsville, the secretary of the organization.

"Representatives from the Women's association will be expected to attend the Union meeting at Close hall tonight at 7 o'clock," said Miss Jackson. "The Memorial Union will secure most of its subscriptions during the campaign on November 7 and 8," said Hubert H. Mott L3 of Lyons, chairman for the Memorial Union council. "At that time our workers will be expected to turn in all the pledges that they secure from the freshmen women and from the others who as yet have not subscribed at least $50."

For carrying on their part of the campaign, the Women's association plans to elect fifteen district captains, all under the leadership of Lois Jackson.

These women, each assisted by five or six other women to be selected by next Tuesday morning are to visit the fifty or seventy-five women in their territory. They may secure material for their canvassing at the Memorial Union building.

FRESHMAN WOMEN ELECT OFFICERS

Organization Plans of New Literary Society Now Completed

The freshmen women's literary society will be formally organized at a meeting in the liberal arts drawing room at 7 o'clock today. The constitution and by-laws will be adopted and officers elected at this meeting for all freshmen women interested in forensic work.

The plans were definitely completed at the meeting of the committee appointed by the Women's Forensic council, consisting of Pearl Davies A4 of Plymouth, Catherine Donica A2 of Cedar Rapids, and Lois Sensor A3 of Independence, in Professor Merry's office at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The faculty advisors to the organization are Prof. Glenn N. Merry, Mildred Freburg of the department of speech and Dorothy Prewitt of the department of English.

The women who are willing to serve as officers in the society must be freshmen. They must present a petition signed by twenty-five freshmen women commending them to office. The petition must have been taken to Mildred C. Freburg's office on the second floor of the natural science building before 12 o'clock Saturday, October 28. The officers to be elected are: President, vice-president, treasurer, corresponding secretary and keeper of the records. At the meeting on Wednesday, November 1, to which every freshman woman interested in joining is invited, the women whose petitions have been favorably passed upon by the committee will be elected to the offices. The constitution and by-laws drawn by the committee will be adopted, and the society will be thus formally organized.

At the end of the first semester, the five women's literary societies, Hesperia, Erodolphian, Octave Thonet, Athena and Whitby, will elect members from the freshmen society on the basis of literary ability and interest.

ENTIRE FORCE UNION WORKERS MEET TONIGHT

Enthusiasm for Homecoming Drive to be Instilled in Workers

Two hundred workers for the Memorial Union drive beginning next Tuesday will meet in Close hall tonight at 7 o'clock to prepare to put the campaign over the top. The big purpose of the meeting is to instruct the workers on the Union situation and work up enthusiasm for the drive. This drive will be in charge of and put over entirely by the Union council, which is composed of students who realize the importance of the Union and are willing to help in the campaign. Numerous short sketches of the Union proposition and short snappy talks on how to solicit for pledges will be given by different students, besides impromptu talks from council members.

Everyone who is going to help in the drive is expected to be present. The meeting will be short, starting at seven o'clock sharp and will be over by eight o'clock.

Union Center of Activities

The Union building as planned will become the center of the extra-curricular activities of the whole student body and adequate provisions will be made for literary, debating, dramatic and religious organizations. By the coming here of the students of all the colleges a wholesome democracy will be promoted throughout the student body. The reading rooms and game rooms will provide recreation for leisure hours; the great assembly hall and grill room will insure the success of the dancing parties. But the Union will serve more than the social needs, or else it would fail in its mission of commemorating the spirit of sacrifice and service. It is the aim of the Union to arouse the student to a realization of his duty and relationship to his community, so that, when he shall have finished his work here and taken up the business of life, he may render his best services to this community.

FASCISTI HEAD OUTLINES NEW ECONOMIC AIMS

Mussolini to Institute Policy of Commercial Welfare for Italy

(By United News)
Rome, Oct. 31.—The new Fascisti government now officially installed is already engaged in a business-like effort to straighten out Italy's disordered affairs.

The picturesque side of the bloodless revolution reached a spectacular climax with a triumphal parade of thousands of black shirted Fascisti through the streets of Rome on Tuesday. This demonstration satisfied the desire of the Fascisti to proclaim the complete success of their coup and they are now expected to melt away and return to their homes throughout Italy in accordance with the order of the new government.

Benito Mussolini, the new premier has already committed himself to a policy of commercial welfare for Italy, at home and abroad. His foreign policy will have two aims, both tending to promote a new era of prosperity for Italy. These aims are: First, development of friendship with foreign nations which can furnish raw materials for Italian industry; second, establishment of outlets for Italy's surplus population through emigration to South America and Australia chiefly.

Intending his policy, both foreign and domestic to promote commercial prosperity, Mussolini recognizes that Italy's basic trouble is economic. He realizes that unrest which has seethed in Italy since the Armistice can be traced back to the fact that the Italian working man is having a hard time to find bread for his table. He knows Italy can never become stable until there is plenty of work for the whole population.

In two interviews, Mussolini outlines the following policies:

1. The Fascisti government will be a friend to those who treat it as a friend.

NO WEDDING TRIP FOR EX-KAISER BILL

(By United News)
London, Oct. 31.—There is to be no wedding trip for the ex-kaiser. King Doorn on the occasion of the former kaiserine's funeral holds strictly upon the occasion of his marrying the princess of Reuss. It is learned that England and France have taken the position that Wilhelm's honeymoon must be enjoyed in the high fenced domain of his enforced exile. Naturally the bridegroom-to-be would like a change of scenery upon the occasion of his wedding particularly since it would appeal to him strongly as well as to the princess to take that trip which might have been taken under different circumstances.

150 NEW MEMBERS HOWLING 300 AIM

Men's Pep Organization Will Start Membership Drive Tomorrow Morning

The Howling 300 will stage a membership drive on the campus tomorrow in an effort to raise the membership of the organization to at least three hundred staunch supporters of the university activities. "This means that we will have to secure at least 140 to 150 members," Melvin P. Winters A4 of Iowa City, acting head of the Howling 300 stated yesterday in announcing the drive.

Present members of the Howling 300 are asked by Winters to volunteer to assist in the canvass of students. "The Howling 300 needs a full membership, if we are to do any worthwhile work here," Winters stated. "This university should certainly be able to support an organization like the Howling 300 with a membership of 300 men. We extend a welcome to any man in the university to join our organization, if he is interested in supporting the university athletics, and other activities."

The Howling 300 will hold a rousing meeting at the natural science building auditorium Thursday evening at 7:15. Plans for Homecoming will be discussed and yells will be rehearsed.

Committees will report on the part, which it is proposed that the Howling 300 will play in Homecoming activities. These committees have made some definite plans which are to be kept secret until the meeting tomorrow night.

EUROPE MUST PAY WAR DEBT TO U.S.

Government Will Pursue Helpful Policy But Will Not Consider Modifications

(By Clayton Whitehill)
(United Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Oct. 31.—American participation in any world economic conference must be withheld should such a conference be contemplated for the near future if the subject of allied debts to the United States is slated for consideration. This, it was learned at the White House Tuesday, is the answer of the White House to the constantly growing popular sentiment in this country and the suggestions of European officials that America assist actively in working out the European financial muddle.

To the latest suggestions that America be included in a scheme for general moratorium to embrace both reparations and allied debts, the answer comes that while the government of the United States will pursue a helpful and considerate policy with regard to the debts owed this country by European nations any proposition looking to the modification or cancellation of the debts is untenable.

Debt Commission to Meet

The debt funding commission as announced by Mellon is expected soon to meet the British delegates and later Rumania and Servian delegates and it is even expected that the French representatives, Jean Parmentier, will return by the first of the New Year. Therefore, President Harding is said to regard the situation as encouraging at least so far as

PRENTISS DIES AFTER GALLANT FIGHT FOR LIFE

Funeral Will Probably be Thursday Morning at Trinity Church in Iowa City

Henry J. Prentiss, jr., 1922, aged 24, newspaper man, athlete, and one of the best liked and most promising men graduated at the University in recent years, died at 11:20 yesterday morning at an Iowa City hospital as the result of injuries sustained in a fall at Cedar Rapids on the morning of October 19. The funeral will probably be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at Trinity Episcopal church at the corner of East College and Gilbert streets in Iowa City.

Rev. William Bridge of Grinnell, acting pastor of the Iowa City church, will officiate. The body will be cremated, and the burial will be in Sleepy Hollow cemetery, Tarrytown, N. Y., where Mr. Prentiss's mother was buried last spring.

Won Many University Honors

Mr. Prentiss was the son of Dr. Henry J. Prentiss, head of the department of anatomy, histology, and embryology in the medical college. His wife, to whom he was married September 2, 1922, was Miss Marion Chase of Clinton, a member of the sophomore class at the University last year. His three sisters, Cornelia, Lillian, and Lue, were all graduates of the University and all were members of Staff and Circle, senior women's honorary society.

"Hank", as he was better known while an undergraduate, was the best type of athlete and University man. While in the University he was a member of the football squad, won an I-2 in basketball, and in 1921 was champion boxer in the 135-pound class. He was a reporter and night editor on The Daily Iowan, was graduated "with distinction", was a member of the student council, was president of the Order of Artus, honorary economics society, and was a member of Sigma Nu, social fraternity.

After his graduation, Mr. Prentiss was a reporter for the Des Moines Tribune where he ran a column, "Seen and Heard by Prentiss," and was the author of many of the best news and feature stories in the paper. On October 16 he started work for the

FORMER ALUMNA TO LECTURE TODAY AT 4 IN L. A. DRAWING ROOM

Mrs. Marcia Jacobs Stevenson, who is to lecture this afternoon in liberal arts drawing room at the regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. at 4 o'clock, took her degree from this University in 1898. "Who's Who" lists Mrs. Stevenson as a lecturer on "Bible Study," "The Lumberman and Miners of Western Canada," and "Woman's Work." Her subject at the meeting today is "How to Obtain Wealth."

Mrs. Stevenson has lectured before many leading colleges in the middle west, also before state conventions, and Chautauquas. She is a member of many clubs including Dickens' Fellowship (London) and National Arts (New York). At present, she is a patroness of the Alpha Tau Omega sorority.

Tea will be served following the lecture. All University girls whether members of the organization or not are again invited to attend the meeting.

SHERMAN TO MEET WITH IOWA SUPERINTENDENTS

J. J. Sherman, graduate assistant in the department of political science has gone to Des Moines to confer with the county superintendents of Iowa City who are holding a special meeting in the capitol city this week.

Mr. Sherman is engaged in preparing a monograph on the office of county superintendents of Iowa. His research covers the history of the office, its organization, functions and actual administration. Mr. Sherman is also interested in various suggestions advanced toward the reorganization of that office as a part of the educational machinery of the commonwealth.

UNIVERSITY AND LEGION TO PUT ON BIG PARADE

Business Men and Local G. A. R.'s Will Also Participate in Parade

The University and the American Legion are to participate with Iowa City in a big Armistice day and Homecoming parade at 9 a. m., November 11, according to statements made yesterday by Prof. E. C. Mabie of the department of speech and a member of the parade committee. Disabled veterans of the World war, the Roy Chopok post of the American Legion, and the local G. A. R. are all to take part as well as the University military department, and the University band. All the colleges and departments will march and the fraternities, sororities, and literary societies will be asked to decorate floats in such a way as to make them suggestive of either Armistice day or Homecoming. Business firms in the city are also to make floats for the occasion.

Plans have been made to invite four other legion posts in the county to participate. These will be the posts at Hills, Solon, Lone Tree, and Oxford. All the legion men are to be in uniform and have full equipment, medals, and decorations. Several bands besides the University band will play for the parade. Following the parade an Armistice day program will be held in the natural science auditorium at 10:30 o'clock. Detailed plans for the program have not yet been completed.

Friday evening, November 3, at 7 p. m., representatives of all the University and city organizations will hold a general meeting in liberal arts building. Detailed plans for each organization will be presented and discussed at this meeting.

PART OF SKULL OF EXTINCT TYPE BISON DISCOVERED IN IOWA

Part of a skull of a type of bison now extinct that roamed the country tens of thousands of years ago has been found at Galva, Iowa, and sent to the University for study. The bones were well preserved, being in blue clay. The specimen was discovered by men while digging a town well, and was forwarded to the University by H. H. Williams, a resident of Galva.

University geologists believe that this particular bison survived until the glaciers spread over the land, and that it is probably due to the glaciers that the skull was so well preserved. Cleaning showed the most delicate parts are well preserved.

This type of bison had a much greater spread of horns than does the American bison of today, some of the extinct type measuring as much as four and one-half feet from tip to tip of horns. Parts of its skeleton have been found in Iowa, Kansas and Alaska.

TO HOLD TRYOUTS FOR SOPHOMORE DEBATERS

Irving Institute will conduct tryouts for the society's sophomore debating team at the meeting Friday night, November 9, at 7:30 o'clock in Close Hall. At the business meeting last Thursday night, eleven men declared their intentions of trying out. Each contestant will deliver a prepared five minute constructive argument before the society on either side of the proposition, "Resolved: That a federal court similar to the Kansas Industrial Court should be established to settle disputes in essential industries." The constitutionality of the question is conceded for the purposes of debate. By means of this tryout, three debaters and one alternate will be selected. The Irving team will meet the Philomathean team in the preliminary sophomore debate on November 30. The winner of the clash will debate the Zetagathian team on January 11 for the final sophomore debating championship.

BOWIE DESCRIBES LIFE AT OXFORD

Iowa Holder Rhodes Scholarship Begins Work After Pleasant Voyage

Charles C. Bowie '21, Iowa winner of the Rhodes Scholarship in 1922, has begun his work at Oxford University, England enrolled in the department of Jurisprudence. His trip to England was pleasant, and he was especially interested when the ship stopped at Charbourg, France, for a few hours, during which time he saw that French city.

He writes friends now in the University that he is very pleasantly located, is fond of Oxford, its men and its traditions, and is hopeful of holding a place in its athletic activities in the coming year. The following extracts interestingly present some of the phases of his college life in the famous English university.

"Oxford is superbly beautiful. I have not the adjective vocabulary to do justice to a description of the medieval surroundings in which I find myself. The atmosphere is heavily laden with the days of yore."

Describes "Rollers" A Tradition
"Rollers" begin soon, that is, roll call, which must be attended forty times a term. It simply means going across the court with the gown on, signing your name, and returning to your room. Just another college tradition which we must live up to because of the standards of the past.

"I am well located here in Merton, which is the oldest college in Oxford. Its very walls breathe of antiquity. Adjectives worthy of describing Merton and Oxford have not been framed in the English language.

"A former Princeton instructor called me today and invited me to have tea with him. There are teas and teas here every afternoon. I even had to buy a tea set myself. But don't think that because of so many teas the men here are tea hounds in the popular American sense of the word. Far from it."

One Bath Tub for Hundred
"We have but one bath tub to accommodate the whole college of over one hundred twenty-five men, which means that the whole outfit will be lined up for a bath every Saturday night or the first of each month. I used to think the frat. house facilities were inadequate; I don't now.

"Today I went out and played my first game of rugby. I was green, but maybe I will learn. The game may prove very interesting. I have a chance to make the second team of Merton if I stay out and show any form at all. I have also a chance to run the half mile."

A. E. F. ORGAN RENEWS ATTACK ON DEMPSEY

By GUS OEHM
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Berlin, Oct. 31—America's fighting men in Germany charge Jack Dempsey with being "afraid to fight."
"Jack Dempsey today is the Jack Dempsey of 1918, so far as courage is concerned," the "Amaroc News" the newspaper published by the American Army of Occupation in Germany, declared in a recent issue.

That the fighting men in Uncle Sam's army still remember that Dempsey did not don the khaki back in "them days" is witnessed by this attack.

The sporting editor of the News does not mince words. He says:

"Four years ago a dark cloud hung over Europe and Jack Dempsey then hid himself in America. Right now a dark cloud overhangs America, so far as the fight game is concerned, and Jack, to be consistent, is preparing to hie himself to Europe where things have again become serene. It is a long fall from the heavyweight championship of the world, the recognized peer of all fighting men to that of an artful dodger, slinking behind flimsy subterfuges to avoid a real combat, but Jack is more artful now than he was in the days of 1918, when he didn't cover his trail with such excuses as he has in the last few months.

"And the longer that dark cloud hangs on the horizon of the fistie world, the darker and more threatening it becomes, for every time it breaks loose in minor spots, it shows a violence which sweeps all before it. Some day Harry Wills and Jack Dempsey must meet and some day when they do meet, Wills will probably have rheumatism, lumbago or a smashed foot as the result of his menial intimacy with bootleggers' baggage and other mystifying packages which go to make up his day's work on the Hoboken docks.

"The mills of the gods alleged to be grinding slowly, are turning out their grist entirely too fast for Kearns and Dempsey to frame alibis to meet them and it is beginning to look as though the "Manassa Mauler," the two-fisted fighting champion of all fighting men, who brought the world to his feet in Toledo a few years ago, is finding it mighty hard to keep the same world in subjection by filling them full of fairy stories of just how powerful he is, just how magnificent his prowess and just how easily he can rise again to the heights to which his Willard battle carried him.

Jack Today, Dempsey of 1918

"Jack Dempsey today is the Jack Dempsey of 1918, so far as the courage is concerned, and whether he can beat Wills in a single punch or wear him down in a dozen rounds, the paramount thought is that he must fight Wills soon or suffer the ignominy of being the only heavyweight champion in modern history who flinched in the face of a real fight. Where would the fight game be today if Terry McGovern had refused to meet "Little Chocolate" or if Fitzsimmons had run away from Peter Jackson; or if Burns had gone as far as Dempsey has in his refusal to meet Jack Johnson; or if Kid Lavigne had permitted Joe Wolcott to go unchallenged?"

CURRIER HALL GIRLS ENTERTAIN ANNEXES AT A COSTUME PARTY

Hallowe'en spirits reigned supreme at the costume dinner and party given by the Currier hall girls, in honor of the women living at the annexes on October 27 at 6 o'clock. During dinner the girls at each table sang an original song and performed stunts in keeping with the characters which they represented.

The ghosts told gruesome ghost tales, the soldier boys marched about the dining room in regular military style, singing "Tramp, tramp, tramp," lustily as they marched. Ice cream was served for desert. Place cards, nut cups and other table decorations carried out the Hallowe'en idea, while the cookies and ice cream were in bat and owl shapes.

After dinner, entertainment was provided in the parlors, where fortunes and ghost stories were told. The committee in charge of the party was directed by Lois L. McAdow A3 of Webster City, Marjory Barfoot A4 of Decora, S. Catherine Donica A2 of Cedar Rapids, Camilla E. Sperati A2 of Decora.

Staff and Circle is to hold its annual Homecoming breakfast at 8 o'clock Saturday, November 11, at the Burkley hotel. All the arrangements are in the hands of a committee of which Jean Speirs Helgesson, '22, now living in Fargo, North Dakota, is chairman. The other members of the committee are Katherine Hamilton A4 of Pasadena, Calif., and Maurine Yaggy A4 of Davenport.

Every member of Staff and Circle is invited to be there and cards have been sent out to each alumna who belonged to this honorary organization. Although the chairman has conferred extensively with her committee by mail definite arrangements and the program for the breakfast have not as yet been arranged.

Monticello Seminary Students Organize
Seven former students of Monticello Women's Seminary, Godfrey, Ill., held a luncheon in the private dining room of Hotel Jefferson yesterday noon and formed a University of Iowa Association of Monticello students.

The members of the organization are Lydia Tilden A4 of Ames, Edith Rule A3 of Mason City, Virginia Ayres A2 of Des Moines, Lorraine Jacobs A3 of Rock Valley, Bernice Capion A3 of Monticello, Bernice Harrison A3 of Hampton, and Elizabeth Loomis A1 of Fort Dodge.

The purpose of the organization is to keep the members in touch with their former alma mater and with other Monticello students and alumnae. The new club plans to contribute to the Senior Professorship Endowment fund of Monticello, and also to participate in the seminary's custom of sending dressed dolls to missions in St. Louis, Minneapolis, and Chicago, by sending dolls back to school at Christmas time.

The association will meet every other Tuesday for luncheon at the Jefferson.

Women's Association Dance

The Women's association has planned a particularly attractive afternoon dance for Saturday, November 4, at Varsity hall. The regular varsity orchestra is to play and as there is neither a game nor reports everybody is expected to come. The admittance price is 25 cents for women and 55 cents for men. Hostesses for the occasion volunteer their services. Those for this Saturday have not, however, been announced as yet.

THETA SIGMA PHI WILL SELL CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Theta Sigma Phi is taking orders for chrysanthemums for Homecoming day from the sororities and fraternities, and any others who wish flowers at that time. There will be a stand at the corners of Washington and Clinton streets Homecoming day where single chrysanthemums may be obtained.

All who wish to buy chrysanthemums through Theta Sigma Phi may do so by sending their orders in to the Iowan office, Room 14, liberal arts building.

DOPING THE DOPE

BY "PEST"

In looking over the scores since the beginning of the season, we find that Michigan holds the honors for having the least number of points scored against her. So far not a team has been able to cross the Wolverines goal line. A pretty good showing for a team that has been up against some strong opposition.

Next to Michigan stands Wisconsin with but five scores made against her. Unlike Michigan, however, Wisconsin has not met a first class foe, making the Badger showing much less impressive.

In the next row come Iowa, Minnesota, and Lafayette. Each of these have had their goal line crossed once.

Coming to the other end of the game we find that Cornell and California are tied for the lead with 203 points each. Neither of these teams have been up against strong contenders, and their scores should not be figured strongly. Centre college is next with 200 points, with Carnegie Tech trailing after having scored 175 points. Iowa comes in quite a way down the list with 131 points.

We received a letter the other day from one "Bud Weiser" containing poems about the Yale game. While we admire "Bud's" style, we can't use anything about games so old. If "Bud" would try his hand again and send us some poems about Minnesota or Ohio State, we will try them out. Results not guaranteed.

The following story reminds us about what happened several years ago when a famous athlete, playing on one of Iowa's basketball teams against Cornell college, dribbled down the wrong way and threw a basket that counted for the Purple. Old timers will remember that great occasion.

The fullback for the Rutgers football team picked up a West Virginia fumble and ran twenty five yards in the wrong direction before two of his teammates caught up with him and brought him down. He would still be running if he had not been so slow.

In all the papers that we looked over before the Purdue game, we did not find a single one that thought Iowa would get beat. Some of them did not think we would win by a large score, but all figured on an Iowa victory.

Here are some of the good ones, "Purdue pointed for Iowa game" declares a headline. Saturday night they'll be pointed home with enough Iowa to last them at least a year." Indiana Daily.

"Purdue will go to Iowa to take her annual defeat from the Hawkeyes." Daily Illini.

The only sheet that had an optimistic note was the Purdue Exponent. This paper said that while Purdue had been licked twice, it was by the two best teams in the West, Chicago, and Notre Dame.

We wonder what they think now.

Pi Phi's use their back yard for boxing over at Illinois. All the girls are said to be going in strong for box fighting. We bet the cigar stores in Champaign are deserted.

We picked up an editorial out of an eastern newspaper the other day and found it was all about the advantages of the west in football. Among the things this paper claimed gave the west an advantage was that "As a usual rule the eligibility rules are not as strictly enforced."

We would just like to tell that editor that he doesn't know his stuff. The Western Conference has always had stricter rules than any body of universities in the country. Some of the rules just adopted by the big three have been in effect in the conference for a number of years. Nearly all the western conferences have rules modeled after the rules of the big ten. They are strict, we'll tell you.

Just because Iowa ran over Purdue doesn't give us any leave to talk about conference championships until after the rest of our games have been played. There are still three good teams to be licked.

Anyone who tells you that Minnesota is going to be a pipe to beat has the wrong dope. Assistant coach Albert P. Jenkins, who scouted the Minnesota-Ohio State game, told us that Minnesota had the strongest offense he had seen this season. He has seen several good teams play, including Chicago and Notre Dame.

Against Ohio State, the Gophers drove down the field with a varied attack of line plunges, end runs, and passes, until they had scored nine points. After that they laid back and played a defensive game.

They are strong defensively too. Once, and only once, Ohio State got real close to their goal, somewhere inside the ten yard line. When their four downs were over they still needed a foot to go to make a touchdown.

CAGE MEN SPEND TIME PRACTICING

Hicks Drills Squad in Workouts at Gym on Wednesday and Friday Evenings

Basketball practice for the past two weeks has been held at the old armory on Wednesday and Friday nights, under the direction of Captain Hicks. These early workouts have been spent perfecting the passing, dribbling, pivoting and basket shooting of the candidates. It is the hope of all, that the Hawkeye shooters improve during vacation, as several games were lost last year because of the inability of the Iowa forwards to gage the baskets.

It is rumored around the campus that "Buck" McGuire, former famous Iowa City High School athlete, will be eligible after the first semester. Should McGuire be declared eligible, he would only have to display the form of his high school days, that placed him on the all-state team, and caused the critics to name him star of the 1920 state tourney, to give somebody a game fight to keep him off the team.

The old men that are out include: Captain Hicks, cue of the best guards in the conference last year; Burgitt, the elongated center; Barton, forward; and Voltmer, guard.

Those reporting from last year's freshman team are: Laude, Duhm, Swenson, forwards; Jansse, center; Schiek, the scrappy little forward from Davenport, is still in doubt, as his eligibility is questioned, but it is hoped that he can fix this matter up by the end of the first semester.

More men are expected out after the football season, as there are several cage men of ability out for the fall sport, including Parkin.

Plans are being made for several pre-season games to get the men in shape for the conference race.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION HEADS AT CONFERENCE

Ernest G. Schroeder, Director of physical education for men will be in Des Moines this afternoon where he will attend the conference of the Physical Education association of Iowa, of which he is president. This association is composed of physical directors and athletic coaches from all over the state and is in session this year for the first time at Des Moines. Others from this University who will attend the conference are Mrs. Bessie M. Baker of the department of physical education for women, and Dr. William J. McDonald of the department of student health, who will speak on "Health Examinations."

WORKOUT IS OPEN AS VARSITY RESTS

Bruised Muscles Keep Seiling and Shuttleworth out of Practice Last Night

Another light workout marked last night's practice for the Iowa football squad. Since there is no game on the schedule for this week, Coach Howard H. Jones is not driving his men through the usual strenuous workouts that characterize the practices before an approaching game. The hard work will no doubt start towards the end of the week, pointing toward the invasion of Minnesota, November 11.

Most of the squad seemed to be in A-1 condition and romped through the signal drill with a world of speed and pep. A few minor bruises and sprains are still in evidence, but with nearly two weeks to go, these should all be cleared up by the time Homecoming day rolls around.

The varsity line-up last night was the same that started the Purdue game. Kadesky and Otte, ends; Thompson and Kriz, tackles; Minick and Meade, guards; Heldt, center; Nugent, half, and Locke, quarter. Shuttleworth was not in uniform last night, but his place was filled by Kelley and Thom, who have been playing on the scrubs. Shuttleworth's absence from the line-up was due to sore leg and muscles, but he will no doubt be able to take part in tonight's practice. Seiling, substitute quarterbackback, who showed up so well in the Purdue fracas, also did not report for practice, due to a wrenched back received in the game.

Captain Locke and Parkin spent a short period before the signal drill, polishing up on their passes, with Kadesky, Otte, Hancock, and Thompson, on the receiving end. Locke is improving his passes every night, getting better direction and getting them away quicker. The aerial attack was the only department of the game in which Iowa was outplayed by Purdue.

Last night's practice was open to the fans and the probabilities are that there will be no more secret practices this week.

FOOTBALL IS RAPIDLY DISPLACING BASEBALL AS NATIONAL SPORT

Attendance figures on various football games this fall show that football is increasing as a national sport in comparison to baseball and that interest in football is rapidly displacing baseball in all parts of the country.

Perhaps the most interest in the baseball world was centered on the world's series games in New York City. These games drew about 33,000 people on an average. The Yale bowl with a seating capacity of 80,000 was almost entirely occupied at the Yale-Army game Saturday. Ohio State's new million dollar stadium was crowded with 63,000 people at the Ohio-Michigan game recently. Thousands of football fans were turned away from the Chicago-Princeton game at Chicago. Forty thousand were able to see the game. Many paid exorbitant prices to scalpers for tickets, so great was the desire to see the game. Everywhere football is drawing large crowds, eclipsing all records of attendance at national baseball games.

Many of the large colleges and universities have found their athletic grounds inadequate to supply the demand for seats. Both the Universities of Illinois and California have drawn up plans for million dollar stadiums to be built next year. If the recent additions to the stands at Iowa Field are inadequate for the Homecoming game, the stands will be extended around the south end of the field in the form of a horseshoe. With this addition and the possible double-decking of the west stands the capacity will be raised to 43,000.

FRATERNITY LEAGUE'S FIRST BASKETBALL GAME PLAYED DEC. 1

The organization of the basketball leagues of the University is now in progress, Director Ernest G. Schroeder announced yesterday. It is planned to organize fraternity league including every fraternity on the campus.

Last year twenty-eight fraternities were represented in the interfraternity basketball tournament.

This year, besides the fraternity league, there will be organized a dormitory league composed of teams from each division of the quadrangle and a league which will include the teams representing the various classes and colleges. The number of teams from the quadrangle will depend on the interest shown.

The games will begin December 1, considerably earlier than the tournament started last year, and will allow more time for the development of teamwork. The floor of the men's gymnasium will be used for the games and also the floor of the new armory if it can be obtained.

CAPTAIN ASHTON WINS VARSITY TRYOUTS FOR MEET WITH CORNELL

Immediately following the high school cross country meet last Saturday morning at 11 a. m., the Iowa varsity cross country squad held a tryout over a three and one-half mile course. This tryout was supposed to have decided who would make up the members of the Iowa team in the meet at Cornell next Saturday. Due, however, to the fact that some members of the squad were unable to tryout because of their poor condition, another tryout for these men will probably be held next week.

The first eight to finish Saturday are as follows: First, Captain G. C. Ashton; second, H. R. Phelps; third, A. A. Payne; fourth, H. H. Murray; fifth, E. R. Zacher; sixth, J. H. Sheldon; seventh, R. B. Foster; eighth, R. H. Seashore.

The final cross country tryout for the Cornell meet will start about 4:15 this afternoon over the regular three and one-half mile course. Another man must be chosen to take the place of Phelps who injured his ankle in the last tryout. Besides, some of the men were sick last Saturday, and one of two of them may beat out runners who finished among the first eight.

Freshmen and sophomore cross country men will race each other next Saturday afternoon over the same course that was used for the high school runners last week. Captains have been chosen for both gangs; Van Ness for the freshmen, and Farrell for the sophomores. The winning team of six men will receive numerals.

RIFLE TEAM UNEARTHES NUMBER SHARPSHOOTERS

The sharpshooters have been working with such earnestness that the rifle team coaches are expecting to produce a champion rifle team for Iowa this year. Warrant Officer James J. Gibney says that if the men improve as they usually improve with practice the team this year will be superior to the one which he assisted in coaching last year.

Mr. Gibney's score of years' experience with rifle work in national competition will aid a great deal in picking a team from the great number of men who have been reporting steadily for practice. Men with no previous experience have been making a remarkable showing and promise good material for next year and possible men for the team this year. Several veterans of last year's team have been shooting bullseyes at nearly every practice.

FRESHMEN URGED TO COME OUT TO GALLERY PRACTICE REGULARLY

No charge is made for ammunition, rifles, or targets, whether the men make the team or not. Everyone is welcome to come to the gallery and shoot any time during the day between 9 and 4 o'clock. Freshmen are eligible for the team and are urged to get out for practice as soon as possible. They must practice on their own time, however, because this does not take place of their regular drill periods.

Col. Morton C. Mumma is expected here today and a schedule of inter-unit matches be arranged very soon. These matches will be held before and during the inter-collegiate matches which will be held immediately after the holidays.

TWENTY-SIX RIDING CLASSES FOR WOMEN NOW ON THE SCHEDULE

Riding classes for women are being scheduled for definite hours beginning this week. Twenty-six classes for beginners have been arranged and the prospects are that these will be filled before the end of this week. Women may ride daily, except Wednesday, when the horses are used exclusively for the cavalry men. Women of Iowa City who are not connected with the University but who are interested in riding may signify their intention of joining a class by filling out one of the application blanks at the women's gym.

Monday, 1, 2 and 3 p. m.; Tuesday, 6, 7 and 8 p. m.; Thursday, 6, 7 and 8 p. m.; Friday, 3, 4 and 5 p. m.; Saturday, 6, 7, 8 and 9 a. m. and 1, 2, 3 and 4 p. m.; Sunday, 7 and 8 a. m. and 1, 2, 3 and 4 p. m.

FIELD EVENTS ALONE TO BE HELD IN TRACK MEET NEXT SATURDAY

There is a great deal of interest being shown in the all-University field meet, which is to be held on Iowa Field next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The meet, which is to be directed by Captain Tom E. Martin will include the field events only. These are pole vault, discus, shot put, javelin throw, hammer throw, high jump, and broad jump.

Anyone in the University is privileged to compete. This means "I" men or freshmen, or anyone who desires to enter. However, men who are out for varsity football will not be allowed to compete according to Captain Martin. "I don't want to encourage the men who are out for varsity football to enter Saturday," said Captain Martin, "as I wish them to devote all their time to that one sport in the fall. However, I do want to see a good number of freshman football men out Saturday enter the events.

A large number of men have been working regularly on Iowa Field for the last two weeks in preparation for this meet. The warm weather up until lately has aided a great deal in getting the men in good condition.

OPINIONS VARY ON PUSHBALL FIGHT

Director Schroeder Does Not Favor Contest; Student Opinions Differ

The annual pushball contest between the freshmen and sophomores, in former years an event of Homecoming, will not be fought this year, according to Mr. E. G. Schroeder, director of physical education for men, unless the men of the classes contending make an insistent demand for a revival of the contest. Opinion upon the campus is varied, but the belief is quite generally expressed that there is little to be gained by renewing the class struggle, and it seems evident that there would not be any real enthusiasm shown were it staged.

Expressing his personal views, Mr. Schroeder said, "Ten years ago the first interclass pushball contest was held, and annually after that, on Iowa Field, at Homecoming. But two years ago, we couldn't get the men out, and only about twenty showed up, so last year we discontinued the game. It stirred up spirit, all right, but it was disrupting the two lower classes and stirring up antagonism. The spirit of the University as a whole is better now than it was in those years and, personally, I don't favor a pushball contest this year. As long as the dog is sleeping, let him sleep."

Students Give Opinions
Representative freshmen and sophomores interviewed upon the campus, gave the following opinions:

Donald T. Hines A1 of Cedar Rapids: "Pushball? Nothing doing. No good comes of it. Everybody gets hurt because they go out preparing for it, and it's rougher than football. The fellows go out with next to nothing on, and they come back with less than that, yet they had to play football, instead of stripping. Pushball is expensive, the clothes and doctor bills count up. Grudges are bound to result from the game, and a poor spirit is developed, not a good one."

Edwin Baker, A2 of Iowa City— "There is no class spirit here. The freshmen don't even wear their caps, and the sophomores don't try to make them. Pushball would bring back the spirit of competition, and every man of the two classes would be in on it. This would tend to give a better school spirit, also."

Geiser Not in Favor
Karl G. Geiser, A2 of New Hampton — "I don't care much one way or the other. I'm certainly not enthusiastic about stirring it up, but if a pushball game comes off, I'll go out for it hard. I'm pretty indifferent. Aren't most of the men?"

John L. Peterson, A1 of Iowa City— "I used to go down and watch the pushball contests when I was still in high school, and they were great stuff. Everybody had the old fight, then. Pushball is a lot of fun, and I'd like to see it brought back. It's rough stuff, but we're not sissies down here."

Stanton Marquardt, A2 of Des Moines — "I don't favor a contest. Any such fight between classes only hurts the united spirit, and it is pointless. There's no use starting pushball again. Find some better inter-class activity, to promote good will."

Favors Struggle
Clarence Nelson, A2 of Lake View— "I'd like a pushball contest, personally, just for the sport. But I think the faculty is down on it, and I don't believe the fellows would get out for it as they would have to put it over."

Abe J. Friedman, A2 of Fontanelle— "It's a mighty good idea, to have a pushball contest this year. That would keep up the old customs and traditions of the university, and a school needs that. But the rivalry between classes might bring hostility which is not good for the school as a whole."

Link Kelly, A1 of Savannah, Mo.— "There's so little spirit between classes here that something ought to be done. But the freshmen don't want to rouse the ire of the sophomores. Pushball is the thing if it doesn't go too far. We've got a healthy bunch of freshmen and it would unify them to fight together once."

Robert E. Chaffee, A1 of Iowa City — "Pushball is a good thing for developing class spirit, but it may tend to bring about the wrong school spirit. I think it would be a better thing for all the freshmen and sophomore men to get behind the Howling 300."

TRI DELTS SEARCH FOR MISSING NAME PLATE

Someone always suffers from the pranks intended to portray the spirit of Halowe'en. We hear and read of fences being torn down, windows soaped, weird-looking jack-o-lanterns staring boldly in at our windows, but who ever heard of a name-plate being taken from your very door?

This sad little scene was evidently well enacted at dusk Monday night, for today the Tri Delt house is very ordinary-looking and to the stranger in town would not reveal its identity. The name plate bearing the name of Delta Delta Delta was very carelessly removed from its proper position. Reward for its return has been offered and the reward will well repay the embarrassment of returning it, besides relieving a guilty conscience.

Henry J. Prentiss, Jr.

The death of Henry J. Prentiss, jr., leaves a touch of sadness on the campus. His friends—and he had many among the student body and faculty—realize that in his death the University has lost a loyal son, and the community a promising young man. The Daily Iowan staff, with whom he was connected two years, does not need to eulogize him; his achievements at the University bespeak his qualities.

Prentiss was graduated from the college of liberal arts in June "with distinction"; he was a member of the student council; a night editor on the Daily Iowan; president of the Order of Artus; a member of the American legion, having served in France during the World war; and a member of Sigma Nu, social fraternity. Prentiss took a marked interest in athletics; he was awarded freshman numerals and an "I-2" in basketball; won first place in his class in the University boxing tournament in 1921 and was runner-up in 1922; he was a member of the football squad three years. Above all he was a University of Iowa man, sincere and broad minded. The campus mourns his death.

THE FASCISTI COUP

What press dispatches call the "most amazing bloodless revolution" in modern times has been completed in the overthrow of the Faeta government of Italy by the Fascisti, a nationalistic group lead by Benito Mussolini. The new ministry which Mussolini has formed will be, he asserts, "not only a ministry but a government as well."

Italy is fortunate in having a man with the qualities of leadership possessed by Mussolini and a party with the patriotism of the Fascisti. The war left Italy in a greatly weakened position, at the mercy of Communists frankly preaching Bolshevism and using violence—seizing industries and local governments at will—and operating in close alliance with Lenin. The Fascisti organized as a protest against the Reds. They were the younger veterans of the war and they formed a semi-secret military government.

Steps which the leader of the Fascisti took immediately upon his appointment to the premiership show him to be a man of candor. He has ordered his troops to lay down their arms and to remain loyal to king and country.

But in spite of the new life which the Fascisti coup must infuse into a broken-down Italy, still it must be regarded as an act of lawlessness, accomplished by force and threats backed by an army of 800,000 men. It was not by a majority vote in the Chamber, but by the armed march of the Fascisti on Rome that Premier Facta was intimidated into resigning and Mussolini given his place at the head of the government.

The most damning fact against such acts of lawlessness is that they breed more lawlessness. If the Communists had been checked in their violence two years ago by the Italian government there would be no question of a Fascisti gun at its head now. An endless succession of lawlessness has been bred and where it will strike next, time alone will decide.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

(New York Tribune)

ELEPHANTS VS. DUCKS

The duck hunter who sits frigidly in a battery, with the cold waves occasionally splashing over him and his decoys bobbing about him, is sure to feel that the British colonel who insists on having sixteen elephants to hunt a pink duck in the Indian jungle is unreasonable in his demands. It is true that the flivver has recently crept into duck hunting, just as it has into the chase of the African lion. Many a sportsman nowadays will spend the night comfortably in his home and roll down to the beach before dawn in his flivver, there to take his place behind a blind, prepared to blaze away at the unsuspecting ducks.

But even this innovation is nothing compared to the use of elephants. Not even Mr. Ringling or his brothers ever thought that they couldn't hunt ducks without elephants. To use an elephant to hunt tigers is one thing. But for hunting ducks, even if the duck's head is pink, an elephant seems a vulgar display of might.

As usual, however, in such matters, the point of view of the duck—who is the one most poignantly concerned—is not obtainable. After all, it is the two-barrel shotgun that does the work, and to a happy-go-lucky victim, winging his way across a marsh at dawn, with mind set upon breakfast, it can make little difference whether the sportsman adds to his equipment a dozen Fords or forty elephants.

RESTAURANTS

Just at present we are engaged in the very interesting diversion of trying out the eating houses of Iowa City. This fruitful field offers far greater opportunity for research than one would suppose, for as a freshman beginning a theme would say, the restaurants of Iowa City are many and varied. Almost every known variety may be easily recognized and classified—hot dog emporiums, doughnut foundries, candy kitchens, hotels, cafeterias, tea rooms and just restaurants. It may interest you to know that there are 25 eating houses in the downtown section of Iowa City alone.

Thus far in our researches we have hardly scratched the surface of the great field which awaits our investigation, but nevertheless one fact has been impressed strongly upon us: In order to run a successful restaurant nowadays one must have music. It is, indeed, the sine qua non of the restaurant business. Formerly a restaurant was distinguished by the excellence of its pies, the aroma of its coffee, or the relativity of its eggs. Now it is known by the technique of its violinist, the weirdness of its clarinet player, or the enthusiasm of its trap drummer.

These departures from the order of things were at first disconcerting, but we are gradually becoming accustomed to them. We are catching the spirit of the thing. Only yesterday, as evidence that we are learning, we requested the orchestra leader to play a stirring, martial air as we moved to attack an indestructible steak.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate"

A Criticism
by
Philip G. Clapp

This year's season of University plays opened with two productions, last Wednesday and Thursday evenings, of George M. Cohan's "Seven Keys to Baldpate". Coming within a week of the concert by Sousa and his band, the production suggests that we might re-christen October the "National Institution month," for surely both Mr. Sousa and Mr. Cohan have expressed, for better or for worse, the American temperament in its casual daily relationships and reactions.

Mr. Cohan calls his play a farce, which is a wise precaution. There is, of course, nothing essentially farcical in the idea of a popular author producing a "best seller" in twenty-four hours, on a bet,—one had always wondered not only how such masterpieces were produced, but why, and this play thus enlightens us both as to method and motive; but, with the melodramatic unfolding of the plot, the play rapidly becomes much too "good", in the story-telling sense, to be true, with the result that the fairly sophisticated witness is relieved to observe the initial vein of that sort of devotion to battle, murder, and sudden death with which Broadway intrigues the visitor from beyond Jersey yield to the exuberantly unblushing mendacity of the Saturday Post, in which the story first appeared. When the first pistol pops, at about eighty-three, we are still slightly worried for fear that Mr. Cohan may expect us to treat his piece as "serious" melodrama; but when, at about a quarter past nine, the marksmanship of the cast has improved with practice to the point where somebody is hit, we have detected and enjoyed the "long bow," and are already chuckling in anticipation over the moment when the hoax is exposed.

The play has been presented over the country by several companies, not the worst of which by any means was another college troupe,—the Dartmouth Dramatic Association, in which male students had to play the fascinating heroine, the love-sick dowager, and the wily "vamp," and very well did they do it, too. Our own Iowa company may well be proud of its performance; on all sides favorable comparisons with professional companies were to be heard emanating from persons who had seen the play elsewhere. It would be too much to call Mr. Cohan's characters "real," for they savor too much of the theatrical stock-in-trade of types and not enough of any human beings ever seen off the stage, but at least he handles them so cleverly as to make them seem real for the moment; so it would be a high compliment to say that all the parts were well cast and convincingly acted. To list individual merit would be too long a task; suffice it to say that both the veterans and the newcomers not only filled their parts well, but kept up that rapid and supple action which is essential to a Cohan play. The highest praise is due to Professor Mabie, whose power of vision and capacity for organization and hard work have in an amazingly short time raised our dramatic productions to a superior, even a professional standard.

Thus a new season opens auspiciously with the accomplishment of a by no means easy task,—the convincing presentation of a light but brilliant piece of the type which each hearer may dub a tour de force or a "stunt," according to his vocabulary. The performance promises well for the rest of the season; and our only regret is that Mr. Cohan did not allow his hero to save a real Mary Norton out of his dream. But possibly even she, after the five thousand dollars had gone, would have been jealous of William Magee's next heroine.

NEW RELATIONS OF COMMERCE COLLEGE

Figures released this week by Dean Chester A. Phillips, head of the college of commerce, indicate that the number taking work in that college is now the equivalent of 1375 students pursuing two three-hour subjects a week. This includes 129 juniors, 117 seniors who are taking full work in the College and who are candidates for the degree of bachelor of science in commerce. The enrollment of 117 seniors this year compared with 77 for last year shows an increase of 55 per cent. Last year the college of commerce, which was a direct outgrowth of the school of commerce organized in 1914, was established as an independent unit of the University. Under the new regime, a great impetus has been felt and the student body of this college of the University has become more united as evidenced by the increased spirit of co-operation among all members.

The college of commerce proper includes only those juniors and seniors who intend to take the bachelor of science degree in commerce and who are fulfilling all requirements for that degree. The pre-commerce student must take two years of liberal arts during which time certain required subjects for entrance to the college of commerce must be completed. The college of commerce this year has drawn a distinction between courses in commerce and those in economics. About ten of these courses overlap and are properly regarded as both commerce and economic subjects. It is now possible, however, for the student to know just what subjects are included under commerce.

A liberal arts student now wishing to register for one of these distinctly commerce subjects as enumerated in the college of commerce bulletin must secure the consent of the dean of the college of commerce and the dean of his own college before being permitted to do so. According to present plans a fee of $1 per semester hour will be charged, beginning next year, for every such course in which the student registers. The tuition in the college of commerce, it is expected, will also be raised to $80 next year. However, in the event that the commerce subject happens to be one of those ten courses which are on the borderline between commerce and economics, the student may register without additional charge. Dr. Chester A. Phillips is dean of the college of commerce as well as head of the department of economics and sociology in the college of liberal arts. This department is in every way similar in organization and nature to other departments in the college of liberal arts except that it has an independent budget. From the budgetary or financial standpoint the department of economics and sociology is integrated with the college of commerce. According to Dean Phillips, this arrangement, which is unique in American University organization, is an extremely happy one. The college holds its own faculty meetings, handling its own problems as they arise. It is interesting to observe that members of the commerce staff sit at faculty meetings of the liberal arts college inasmuch as these instructors also teach in the department of economics and sociology of the liberal arts college.

Prior to the establishment of the school of commerce, the department of economics, sociology and commerce functioned as other departments in the liberal arts college. The degree of bachelor of arts was conferred in connection with any of these subjects. With the advent of the school of commerce in 1914, the degree of bachelor of science in commerce was granted by the college of liberal arts. Then came the college of commerce in 1921 with its autonomy of control and its own degree conferring power.

CAMPAIGN NOV. 1-4, 1922

ANNUAL MEMBERSHIP BANQUET OF Y. W. C. A. TONIGHT AT BURKLEY

Three hundred reservations have already been made for the annual membership banquet of the Y. W. C. A. tonight at the Burkley. The banquet attempts to acquaint old and new members in the association.

Sororities in the majority are not serving dinner at their houses in an effort to co-operate with the organization.

The program of after dinner speakers is composed of Edith Freburg A1 of Pomeroy, representing the freshmen; Margaret Altman A4 of Livermore, representing the upper classwomen; Roberta Anderson A2 of Madrid, representing the officers of Y. W. C. A.; and Miss Alvida Buck, secretary, who will represent the general spirit of the association.

Miss Margaret Dolliver will speak as an alumna member. Halloween ideas will symbolize the toast program.

SPANISH CLUB TO MEET TONIGHT FOR PROGRAM

The Spanish club will meet tonight at 7:30 in the liberal arts drawing room. All persons who are interested in the club are invited to the meeting by the president, Mildred A. Kellar A4 of Iowa City.

club is. A talk will be given by Prof. R. E. House, of the romance language department. Dioscoro B. Bibit A3 of Pontevedra, P. I., will tell about the Spanish plays last year. A Spanish story, on the order of a picture story, will be given entirely in Spanish.

DARWIN M. STALEY IS ELECTED EDITOR OF JOURNAL OF BUSINESS

Darwin M. Staley of Perry was appointed editor-in-chief of the 1923 Journal of Business at a meeting of the board held last night. Staley is president of the Order of Artus honorary economics fraternity. Kenneth E. Griffin C4 of Iowa City was named associate editor. The rest of the officers included: Harold M. McCarthy C4 of Stockport, business manager; Alberta Wolfe C4 of Washington, assistant business manager, Raymond Peterson C4 of Council Bluffs, advertising manager; Loren Bane C4 of Pleasantville, circulation manager, and Robert A. Barker of What Cheer, assistant circulation manager.

Members of the board include Dean Chester A. Phillips and Floyd Walsh of the commerce faculty, Gehard B. Noll C4 of Waukon, Darwin M. Staley C4 of Perry, and Maitland S. Smallpage C4 of Eldora, from the student body of the commerce college. Plans were discussed relative to the first issue of the Journal, the date of which has not been decided. The Journal will contain articles written by students, faculty members, and outside business men and instructors and plans are already under way to have a larger magazine than last year. Beta Gamma Sigma and Delta Sigma Pi, honorary commerce fraternities are backing the Journal this year.

CHICAGO DOCTOR SAYS GLANDULAR EXTRACTS WILL CURE INSANITY

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Hope for hundreds of shell shock veterans of the world war and for approximately 300,000 victims of epilepsy in the United States was held out here Tuesday by Dr. William Held, a Chicago epilepsy specialist.

Dr. Held told physicians and students at the Illinois post graduate school clinic that he can now cure shell shock, epilepsy, and certain forms of insanity by the injection of glandular extracts, and declared that the usual administration of bromids as well as surgery in such cases is futile.

"Insanity," the physician explained, "whether due to shell shock, epilepsy or whatever cause is no longer looked upon as well nigh incurable. Nor should it be regarded as a disgraceful thing in a family, for it is often due to the inharmonious functioning of the so-called ductless glands from which a toxin condition has resulted."

Dr. Held said he had written to President Harding and offered to treat 100 former soldiers suffering from shell shock without charge.

CLASSICAL CLUB HOLDS INITIATION THURSDAY

The classical club will initiate its new members tomorrow evening at 7:30 in room 109 liberal arts building. The initiation will be in the form of old Greek mysteries. Those who will officiate are: Rex H. Hill A3 of Hanlontown as Daduchus, Lillian B. Lawler G of Pittsburgh, P. as Hierophant, Brandt H. Amble A2 of Peterson and Gerald R. Imbody A2 of Swen City as priests of the Temple of Echo, Mary A. Selkirk A2 of Lehigh, Alta V. Ribyn A4 of Keokuk, and Lester C. Wetherell A3 of North English as mystagogues. A large class of candidates met Monday afternoon for preliminary instruction.

HOMECOMERS

The alumni office at Close hall has already received letters from several graduates who plan to be here for Homecoming.

J. M. Hickerson, '20, of Mount Ayr, formerly business manager of the Alumni magazine and a member of the Daily Iowan staff, has written that he will be here. Mr. Hickerson is now in Cleveland, Ohio, in the Nela Park laboratories of the National Lamp company.

Paul V. Junger, Ph.G., '02, of Green, writes that he is bringing his son, who plays quarterback on the freshman team at Green, here "to see how Parkins does it."

There will be several Homecoming guests at the home of President Emeritus and Mrs. Macbride. Their son, Phillip D. Macbride, A '09, will be one of the guests. Mr. Macbride is engaged in practice of law at Seattle, Wash., and has been east on a business trip. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Macbride. Dr. Willis A. Lomas, B '94, of Villisca, and Mrs. Lomas, formerly Alice E. Calvin, B.Ph. '88, will be guests at the Macbride home, and also of their son, Arthur, a freshman liberal arts student.

Mrs. A. Wille will entertain her son, Dr. Otto V. Wille, '12, of Davenport, and her son-in-law and daughter. Dr. Geo. A. Biesbesheimer, M.D. '06, of Reinbeck, and Mrs. Biesbesheimer, formerly Frieda D. Wille, '09.

Arthur G. Pyles, A '20, of Clarksville, accompanied by Mrs. Pyles, formerly Mary H. Swift, A '21, of Marshalltown, will also be here.

FASCISTI HEAD OUTLINES NEW ECONOMIC AIMS

- 2. France and Italy must arrive at an entente.
3. Bonds of friendship must be formed with nations possessing raw materials.
4. Fresh lands for emigration must be sought out, especially in South America and Australia, and possibly Asia minor.
5. Law and order to be preserved at home, existing laws sufficient, if enforced.
6. "Superfluous branches of the tree of state" to be cut off.
7. Moderate socialists may be admitted to the government later, but not at present.

In discussing his hope for an entente with France, Mussolini said it would be first necessary to adjust the question of Tunis and one other problem the nature of which he refused to disclose. "The nationalist revolution is a lawful one since it succeeded in changing the regime without bloodshed and without derangement of public services or private property," Mussolini said. "We shall be friends to those who treat us as friends."

EUROPE MUST PAY ENTIRE WAR DEBT TO THE U. S.

The willingness of the several debtor nation's methods of discharging their obligations is concerned.

Just how a final settlement of the debt question will be affected is not known according to the White House spokesman but negotiations and adjustments will continue until a satisfactory solution is reached. Such a solution it was indicated might determine the future attitude of the administration toward participation in a world economic conference.

Not to Enforce Payment

Although it is admitted that there is no desire to enforce payment of Allied debts at the same time these debts are regarded as obligations which the American people expect to be discharged. The situation in Europe according to Secretary Hoover is better from the standpoint of productivity today than since the outbreak of war. Only the fiscal policies of Europe are seriously retarding the rehabilitation and recovery.

ENTIRE FORCE OF UNION WORKERS MEET TONIGHT

Here is what a few of the students who have been working on the campaign think of the Union proposition. William Goodell A4 of Davenport says, "The one big thing that Iowa now lacks is the unifying element that the Memorial Union would furnish."

Leone White A4 of Council Bluffs puts it this way, "The Iowa Memorial Union as a building is similar to a castle in the air so far, but with the students backing the campaign to realize the slogan, 'Put 'er through in '22,' we will be able to bring the castle down to earth."

These are only a few of the expressions to the effect that anyone who knows about the Union believes in it and wants to help make it a reality.

Fraternities Back it

"The fraternities are back of the Union proposition en masse," says Ben F. Martensen L3 of Lyons, chairman of the committee dealing with fraternities. Most of the fraternities have consented to take up the work themselves of carrying on the campaign among their own members. The freshmen pledges will be practically the only members whom it will be necessary to solicit as the fraternity organizations were practically one hundred per cent in the matter of pledges to the Union fund.

Last year was really the first attempt at working through organizations in the drive and something of the same plan will be used this year. It was not until last year that the campaign was carried on in such a way to make the students realize what it was, and it is thought that the student body as a whole are quite well informed on the Union proposition.

Mr. Martensen stated that the fraternities showed up splendidly last year in the campaign, demonstrating that the fraternities are solidly back of the Union. It is necessary that organizations as well as the individuals in them be consolidated in their support of the Union idea. The fraternities have agreed to postpone their regular meetings to next Monday night in order that the presidents can attend the big Union banquet, get the information on the Union drive and put the proposition before their own members the following evening and if possible secure pledges from all the members the same night.

PRENTISS DIES AFTER GALLANT FIGHT FOR LIFE

Cedar Rapids Republican of which Ralph G. Grassfield, 1915, is part owner. Mr. Grassfield said at the time of the accident that Mr. Prentiss was to be managing editor of the paper. When Mr. Prentiss was working in Des Moines, newspaper men there said he was the most promising beginner they had ever seen.

Enlisted Early in the Army

The accident happened October 19. Mr. Prentiss slipped while starting to run down a flight of stairs and fell to the bottom. Vertebrae in his neck were broken by the fall. He was removed to the Iowa City hospital a little more than a week ago, and some of the best surgeons in the country were called in in consultation. A proposed operation was found to be inadvisable, and a few days ago he took a turn for the worse.

Mr. Prentiss was in the war from beginning to end. He enlisted in B battery, 126th field artillery, which was then stationed at Davenport, and served a year and a half in this country before being sent to France. His unit was stationed at Castres, near Bordeaux, France, until the armistice. For six months after the armistice

Mr. Prentiss was on military police duty at Paris. He was honorably discharged from the service and returned to Iowa City in the summer of 1919. He was a member of the American Legion.

Mr. Prentiss was born at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., August 17, 1898, and had lived in Iowa City since he was six years of age. He was graduated from the Iowa City high school in 1916. In high school he played quarterback on the football team and was captain of the basketball team.

Members of Mr. Prentiss's family, besides his wife and father, are three sisters, Mrs. Harold Shrauger, 1915, of Atlantic, Miss Lillian Prentiss, 1919, who is now teaching at the State College of Industrial Arts at Denton, Tex., and Miss Lue Prentiss, 1922, a graduate assistant in the department of Romance languages, and a brother, Robert, who is now a freshman in the Iowa City high school. The exact time of the funeral depends on when his sister, Miss Lillian Prentiss, can get here from Texas.

"I Could Be Pretty, But—" An appeal and a secret

"I THINK I could be pretty, but my hair makes me just commonplace. It is the kind of brown hair that isn't even a good brown. It's just hair. It never catches anyone's eye. Is there any way I can make it attractive without dyeing it?"

HERE is the secret of hair beauty—a touch of henna in the shampoo. Women of fashion demand it of their hair-dressers. A touch of henna, properly prepared, will give your hair its own richest color. It will add the right note of radiance to your personality. You can have a "touch of henna shampoo" at home for a fraction of the price the society woman pays.
