GERMAN CABINET RESIGNS; PEOPLE NOW IN CONTROL

Chancellor Wirth Quits After Political and Economic Internal Complications

(By United News)

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The German cabinet which resigned Tuesday night follows: Dr. Joseph Wirth Chancellor and minister of foreign affairs. Adolph Koester, interior. Gessler, defense. Robert Schmidt, economics. Andres Hermes, food. Johann Giesderts, posts and telegraphs. Heinrich Brauns, labor. Radbruch, justice.

(By United News)

Berlin, Nov. 14.—The German cabinet resigned Tuesday night.

The fall of the government of Chancellor Wirth was due to internal political and economic complications.

Wirth's cabinet, which is the second which he headed since the establishment of the German republic at the end of the war, has been in office since October 27, 1921.

The fall of the Wirth government followed closely the demand of the German people's party which Hugo Stinnes, multimillionaire, is leader, that it be granted participation in the present government on equal terms with the coalition.

The center and democratic parties supported the demands of the people's party which made the fall of the Wirth government inevitable.

Coincident with the announcement of the government's downfall came word from Dusseldorf that four persons had been killed and many wounded in new food riots there.

The resignation of Chancellor Wirth and his cabinet is considered a victory for German reactionaries who have been at odds with Wirthian liberalism for over a year.

The social democrats joined with the people's party of Stinnes in order to force the Wirth government to modify its economic and financial program which caused much unrest throughout the Reichstag session.

NATHANIEL HILL DIES SUDDENLY

Liberal Arts Sophomore Dies Sunday Night of Blood Poisoning

Nathaniel Hill A2 of Austin, Texas died suddenly at the University Hospital Sunday night at 11:45 of blood poisoning. He was taken ill very suddenly Sunday morning and in spite of every medical attention he passed away late that same day.

Hill was a sophomore in the college of liberal arts. In the spring of his freshmen year he was initiated into Kappa Alpha Psi, colored fraternity. His parents, five brothers, and two sisters survive him. His parents were notified at once of the death of their son and the body was sent to Austin yesterday afternoon. The funeral will probably be held the last of this week.

TO TRY NEW DEVICE FOR TELEGRAPHIC REPORTS

On the day of the Iowa-Ohio State game a new device for receiving telegraph reports will be tried out. It is called a Grid-Graph board. It is an electrical apparatus with a diagram of a football field shown by colored lights. Each move by the offensive team will be followed by watching the lights. The board can be read at a distance of 300 feet. If the board proves successful the Athletic Board will purchase

FORMER IOWA ATHLETE KILLED

KEEP CLEAN TO EVADE FLU SAYS McDONALD

The first rule to obey if you would evade the "flu" is to keep clean, according to Dr. William J. McDonald, director of student health department. Other rules which must be kept if one is not to be a victim, as many students were last year, are scrupulous care of the teeth, plenty of sleep, good food and a careful avoidance of people who are infected.

Colds and sore throats should be given immediate attention. "Too great stress can not be laid on keeping the hands clean. They are great carriers of infection," said Doctor McDonald.

150 WOMEN TO BE INITIATED BY W.A.A. TONIGHT

Each Student Required To Have Earned 50 Points; 75 Took Hiking

About 150 women have won their required 50 points and will be initiated into W. A. A. tonight at the Women's gym at 7:30 p. m. The mock initiation will begin at 7:30 p. m., but all initiates will present themselves at 6:45. They will be quizzed upon the revised W. A. A. constitution, which may be procured at the women's gym for ten cents.

The mock initiation consists of stunts put on by groups of the initiates for the amusement of the old members. These are usually "take-offs" on some phase of physical education. After the stunts, comes formal initiation. The pledge of loyalty to the association is taken, dues are paid and the women are taken into the association.

This year hiking has been the most popular way of winning the W. A. A. points. About 75 women have hiked and the rest have either gone in for recreational swimming or horseback riding.

W. A. A. is an organization which promotes interest in athletic activities among University women. Meetings are held once each month. After the business meetings all join in the games, stunts, and dancing.

Wednesday night's initiation is the biggest event of that kind during the year. Women who have not entirely completed their 50 points are also invited to be present as there will be no further opportunity to join the association until the W. A. A. Christmas party is held.

The board of control for this year is composed of the physical education staff; Mrs. Marion L. Schwob, Miss Miriam W. Taylor, Miss Mary L. Bollin, Miss Rachel D. Sickman, and Mrs. Bess M. Baker. W. A. A. officers; Gladys Taggart A4 of Spencer, president; Ruth Frerichs A3 of Danville, vice president; Helen Spencer A3 of Des Moines, secretary; Francis Johnston A3 of Danville, treasurer; and Pauline Davis A4 of Osage, historian. Class Representatives: Senior—Josephine Daus A4 of Aitkin, Minn.; Junior—Esther Flynn A3 of Iowa City. Sophomore—Isabel Kime A2 of Fort Dodge. Heads of sports—Soccer: Anna Doornink A2 of Sioux Center; field ball, Gayce Dyke A3 of Iowa City; basket ball—Thelma Whippey A2 of Swimming—Amy Benner A3 of Keokuk. Hiking—Almeda Cutting A4 of Decorah. Baseball—Marjorie Barfoot A4 of Decatur. Horseback riding—Evelyn Harter A2 of Keokuk. W. A. A. committee chairmen; membership—Leone Wiggins A4 of Prairie City. Finance—Paline Spencer A4 of Des Moines. Meetings—Emilie Hartman A4 of Junction City, Kansas. Publicity—Lynette Westfall A4 of Cedar Rapids. Iowan reporter—Emily Withrow A3 of Mount Pleasant.

SHIP SUBSIDY TO DETERMINE "THE MASTER"

Harding Will See Who Is Master; Progressives Are Opposed

Washington, Nov. 14.—Threats of revolt from republican progressives have drawn a prompt challenge from the White House.

President Harding has decided to find out at once, who is master.

Immediately upon the reconvening of Congress next Monday, he will begin a fight with the obstreperous progressives within his own party which will have a vital effect upon his own personal fortunes and those of his party in the 1924 presidential elections.

This was foreshadowed by two significant developments Tuesday.

A declaration by Senator Borah, the most powerful individual in the progressive wing, that an attempt by the administration to jam through the ship subsidy measure would be a second attempt at "political suicide."

2. Positive word from the White House a few hours later that President Harding was calling Congress two weeks earlier especially to put through the ship subsidy measure and that he will make every effort to obtain action.

With both sides firmly committed to oppose the procedure the men in the White House is headed straight for one of the most crucial struggles of his administration.

If he wins, he will have achieved a great moral victory, which will brace him tremendously for the inevitable travelling when the new congress comes in. If he loses, the progressives will tuck away a fine large scalp and sharpen their tomahawks for still bigger game.

President Harding is taking this course in face of the warning of his many advisers who are extremely doubtful whether the administration should risk such a blow to its prestige as defeat of the subsidy would be.

KING OF SWAT IS SORRY; PROMISES TO LEAVE "IT" ALONE NOW

(By United News)

New York, November 14.—Repenting his wasted opportunities of the past season and full of a new determination to "play the game" on and off the field, Babe Ruth checked his furniture out of the Ansonia hotel, his Broadway home, Tuesday, and hid himself to the farm at Sunbury, Mass. There he will work all winter erecting a house and reducing the bulge about his waist line.

Before leaving, Ruth made a promise to the kids of America, "If I fall down every kid ought to be ashamed of me," he said. "And I hope every kid is ashamed of me, if I don't make good my promise not to take another drink till next season is over, but I won't fail."

Standing in his place at a dinner which he gave for the baseball writers, who had panned him last season, Ruth made a speech admitting his mistake and declaring his intention to lead a new life.

SISTER OF LATE LORD MAYOR OF CORK SPENDS NIGHT BEHIND BARS

(By United News)

Washington, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, widow of Terence MacSwiney, late Lord mayor of Cork, who died in hunger strike in a British prison, spent Tuesday night behind iron bars within a block of the White House.

The had attempted to picket the British embassy for relief of her sister-in-law, Mary MacSwiney, who was on the tenth day of hunger strike in an Irish free state prison.

EDWIN SHRADER KILLED FRIDAY IN PLANE CRASH

Held Four University Records and One State Record in Track

(By United News)

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 14.—Lieutenant Ed. G. Shrader, an aviator from Fort Sill, Okla., was killed, and Lieutenant March of Edgewood arsenal, Aberdeen, Md., was seriously hurt when an aeroplane crashed to earth at Dundalk, near here, shortly before noon today.

Lieut. Edwin G. Shrader of the Aviation Corps stationed at Fort Howard, Maryland, one of the best all round athletes the University has had, was reported killed in an airplane accident at Logan Field, Maryland, according to telegram received by his father, W. E. Shrader, yesterday afternoon, from Gen. Henry A. Smith. No details of the accident were given.

Only this summer he had visited his father for one day, flying from Coast Field Oklahoma, in an army machine.

He took a prominent part in athletics during '13, '14, and '15, being according to "Dad" Schroeder, one of the best athletes the University has ever had. He held four University records, one of them being also a state record, while he was here. His records were as follows: Pole vault, 11 feet and 6 inches; high jump, 5 feet and ten and one-half inches; 120 high hurdles in fifteen and four-fifths seconds, which was for a while a state record; 220 low hurdles in twenty-six and one-fifth seconds.

1916, he went to West Point, and in the same year, played end on their football team. Because of the World War, his class was given the usual four year training in two years, graduating in the fall of 1918, just before the Armistice was declared.

For a while he was in the Engineer's Corps, but then he was changed to the Aviation Corps and stationed at Coast Field, Okla. Just a few weeks ago he was ordered to Fort Howard, Md.

Edwin Shrader was a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity while in the University. He is survived by his father, who owns the Shrader drug store on Washington street; by a brother, Dr. John Shrader, who is an intern in the University hospital; and by a sister, Helen Shrader, a member of the Delta Gamma sorority. His uncle, Charles Shrader, is the Johnson County treasurer.

HERAS WILL ADDRESS SPANISH CLUB TONIGHT

A talk by Prof. Antonio Heras will be the main number on the program to be presented by the Spanish club at a meeting tonight in the liberal arts drawing room at 7:30.

The remainder of the program will consist of the following: A short dialogue by Eunice Tolander A2 of Olds, Gladys I. Hovendon A2 of Shenandoah, and N. E. Bickel A3 of Anamosa; Althea James will express her sentiments upon Homecoming day in Spanish; Jose Hinojosa A2 of Bolivia, S. A., will give a talk; and Leona M. Hambrecht A3 of Iowa City, Irene B. Shenkie A2 of Colo, and Agnes A. Kelleher A2 of Des Moines will present a drill.

The president of the club, Mildred A. Keller A4 of Iowa City, invites all persons desirous of practicing Spanish to come to the meeting.

LEGION CONVENTION DISGRACE, SAYS GROS, EUROPE COMMANDER

(By United News)

Paris, Nov. 14.—Calling the recent convention of the American Legion in New Orleans "a disgrace" and saying many in the convention used it for "selfish political ends" Dr. Edmund Gros, commander of the European department of the Legion who has returned here declared the organization was dying. "Mob rule is supreme" Dr. Gros said disgustedly.

UNIVERSITY TO AID IN PUTTING ON BOOK WEEK

Department of Speech To Build a Tom Thumb Theater During Book Week

The University department of speech, under the direction of Helen Langworthy of that department, is to help the Iowa City Public Library in observing national children's book week by constructing a Tom Thumb theatre in which the children of the city will produce a fairy tale fantasy Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, November 17 and 18. National children's book week is a nation-wide movement to use this entire week from November 13, to Sunday, November 19 in helping the children of the country to select better books to read. With the aid of the University, a fairy play, "The Hags and the White Peacock," is to be acted out by the children of the city in the children's room of the library, to visiting librarians, guests and parents Friday evening, and to the city children Saturday afternoon.

The Tom Thumb theatre is a small portable theatre with a proscenium arch not higher than 9 feet in which very small people or children can act. This theatre, which is under construction now in the University theatre work shop, was designed and worked out by the class in stage craft under the supervision of Miss Langworthy. The proscenium arch is 8 feet high by 12 feet wide, and can be set up in any small hall or large drawing room. Behind the arch are built standards in such a way that drapes may be arranged to produce scenic effects. There are to be two sets for the play to be given this week—a forest scene and the cave home of the Trolls. A portable switch board that may be attached to any common light switch will give the special lighting effects for that type of play.

Janette Hunter A4 of Wellman is chairman of the committee on settings and Marjorie Meardon A4 of Iowa City is chairman of the costume committee. The play is the usual type of picturesque fairy tale recounting the adventures of a prince who is searching for his sister who has been captured and bewitched by the Trolls. He finds her through his perseverance and his strength of purpose. The children who were chosen from the reading lists of the library are: Kathryn Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ball as Helga; Calvin Kay, son of Dean and Mrs. George F. Kay, as Olaf; Ruth Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Jones, as the Spider Woman and Helen Jones, as the Peacock. The Troll Mother will be Mildred Williams, daughter of Mrs. Rebecca Williams, and the youngest Troll will be Robert Merry, son of Prof. and Mrs. Glenn N. Merry; Wilma Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Bailey, is to be the Gray Goose and the West Wind, is to be Ellen Ford, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Arthur H. Ford, who will also give two dances.

60,000 FLEEING IN PANIC; FEAR ANOTHER ACADIA

Allies Present United Front To Turks In East; Situation Is Cleared

(By United News)

Paris, Nov. 14.—A million Christians in Antolia have been ordered to evacuate in thirty days by Kemalists, according to near East relief despatches reaching here Tuesday.

According to the despatches another Acadia is being reenacted in Anatolia where 60,000 refugees are fleeing in panic, fearful that the victorious Turks may vent their rage against them.

London, Nov. 15.—The allies presented a united front in the Near eastern situation Tuesday night.

In face of the blusters of the Turkish nationalists, Premier Poincare of France, notified the British foreign office that his country would stand by Italy and Great Britain in the crisis, which was precipitated when the Turks took over Constantinople and demanded the withdrawal of allies.

This assurance from Poincare clarified the Near East situation to a great degree and the British foreign office is less apprehensive of peace in the Near East.

Poincare furthermore notified Great Britain that France will not make any effort to formulate a Franco-Turkish agreement in advance of the Near East peace conference to be held at Lausanne. The French premier specifically promised that details of the Lausanne peace would not be discussed with Ismet Pasha, Turk delegate, even though the latter who is now at Lausanne for the conference, journeyed to Paris.

EEL SEAL REVUE FEATURES STYLES

Color Scheme To Produce Palm Beach Effect; Tickets Limited

The Eel-Seal Aquatic Revue promises to be bigger and better than ever this year. The committee in charge of the decorations plans to have something new and different this year. The pool room will be decorated to represent a Palm Beach scene with an Hawaiian orchestra furnishing music and atmosphere.

The distinctive feature of the review this year will be a style review. The costumes will be of the latest style. They will be furnished by Younker Brothers of Des Moines. The models will be reviewed by father Neptune, who will be seated on a float in the center of the pool, surrounded by his mermaids.

The color scheme will be green and yellow, with a large number of palms scattered around to give the Palm Beach effect. The Hawaiian orchestra will play during the style review and the whole scene will be flooded with colored lights.

The number of tickets has been limited to 900, a good number of which are already gone. These remaining will be placed on general sale today at Whetstone's corner drug store and the Iowa Supply store. They will also be sold in the halls of the liberal arts building. The price of the tickets will be fifty cents. Tickets are limited so that they should be purchased today.

MEMBERS OF A. F. I. TO HAVE BANQUET

Thursday evening of this week, the members of A. F. I., men's honorary senior fraternity will have a dinner at the Burkle. After the dinner, a business meeting will be held and plans will be made for the coming year. John J. Dondore A4 of Iowa City, is in charge of the arrangements.

SPONSOR SYSTEM CALLS FOR FROSH

Temporary District Captains Manage Organization of Women in City

The sponsor system, under the direction of Elizabeth Ensign A4 of Iowa City, is a big sister movement, the aim of which is to provide for each freshman woman an upperclasswoman who will assist her during her first year here. During the summer, a list of 350 freshmen women was secured at the registrar's office. Letters explaining the sponsor system and telling the freshmen that sponsors would be assigned them after registration, were sent to each of them. This is the third year for the sponsor system. The other two years definite assignments of sponsors were made during the summer. The plan was changed this year, because it was found that under the old system, many women who had planned to return, did not.

Helps Freshmen

During the registration period, the sponsor system took charge of a booth in the natural science library. Here freshmen were given help in finding rooms, employment, and in registering. The booth also served as a rest room. The real help during the registration period was to assist freshmen in finding their way around for the first few days.

"The real success of the sponsor system depends for the rest of the year on the individual girls, and on whether there is any agreement between the upper classwoman and her sponsoree," said Miss Ensign.

On October 4 and 5, sponsorees for the year were drawn by upperclasswomen at a table placed outside the liberal arts drawing room. On the evening of October 5, a sponsor-sponsoree party was held at the women's gymnasium. After Thanksgiving another party will be given.

City Divided Into Districts

In order to keep every woman in touch with, and interested in the association, Iowa City is divided into fifteen districts. Until a few weeks ago, there were twenty-nine districts, but since this plan was not working well, the districts were enlarged and the number cut down. At present, each district has a temporary captain. The temporary captains will call meetings of all women in their assigned districts to elect permanent captains. The captains elected will then act as representatives from their respective districts, and will be on the Women's Association council. The various captains are to keep their districts informed of council meetings and proceedings. Lois J. Jackson A3 of Mechanicsville, is chairman of the district plan.

Captains Take Charge

Temporary captains of districts are: Bernadine Wened A3 of Smithland; Esther Oltrogge A4 of Tripoli; Helen J. Wylie A2 of Iowa City; Lois L. McAdow A3 of Webster City; Ruth K. Benson A2 of Iowa City; Margaret Decker A3 of Davenport; Gladys E. Steele A4 of Sioux City; Hortense Finch A2 of Davenport; Malinda Geis A2 of Iowa City; Grace F. Dyke A3 of Iowa City; Helen F. Stearns A4 of Des Moines; Mildred A. Schump A2 of Iowa City; L. Salome Fisher A4 of Iowa City; Beatrice D. Wade A3 of Iowa City; Carroll Thompson A3 of Davenport.

The Women's Association is helping the Union drive this year. This work is also under the direction of Miss Ensign. Last year, the campaign for the Union among the women was carried on through the sororities, clubs, and Currier hall. Since it was found that only two-thirds of the women belong to any organization, it was thought a better plan to carry on the drive this year through the Women's Association, because it touches every woman in school. The fifteen districts are used as units in the drive, with the district captains of teams. Each captain with her helpers will see that every woman in her district is canvassed. This plan excludes Currier hall, the sororities, and the nurses' homes.

Give Parties

To further social life among University women, the association plans to give a party every month. Verda I. James A3 of Boone, is in charge of the parties. Parties already given this year are the sponsor-sponsoree party on October 5, the district captain dinner on October 18, and the party in honor of upperclasswomen on November 2. In December, there will be a nurses' party, in January a landladies' tea, and in February a co-ed hop with the Y. W. C. A. Parties for the remaining months have not been decided on. The landladies' tea is a new idea and has never been tried here before. The purpose of the tea is to win the co-operation of the landladies with the Women's Association and the dean of women. The last event of the year will be the representative women's banquet. Invitations to this are sent to all presidents of women's organizations and to women presidents of both men's and women's organization.

Conduct Afternoon Dances

Besides the parties, the association puts on Saturday afternoon dances, the purpose of which is to provide social opportunities for young men and women. These dances are held whenever the time is favorable, and no dance is put on when there is a football game. The association especially emphasized the point that the purpose of these dances is not financial, but social. Four dances have been given this year. Gertrude Shanklin A4 of Toledo has charge of this work, with Emily J. Withrow A3 of Mount Pleasant in charge of the hostesses and chaperons.

The executive board of the association handles cases of discipline which the dean of women prefers to leave in the hands of students. The board is composed of three faculty women, two Staff and Circle members, the president of house presidents and president of districts captains.

LITERARY SOCIETY TELL THEIR PLANS

Six Societies Are Treating Various Subjects at Bi-Weekly Meetings

A very busy and profitable year is anticipated by the six women's literary societies on the campus in view of their previous progress and attainment. These organizations are Athena, Erodelphian, Hesperian, Hamlin Garland, Octave Thanet, and Whitty. The place which these societies play in the life of the University is recognized by these especially interested in the women and their activities.

Opportunity to Address

Mrs. Adelaide Burge, dean of women says: "The literary societies here round out a certain type of girl in a way in which no other organization can. In them, and in them only, does she have the opportunity of training in public address and parliamentary law among other women who understand her special difficulties, and sympathize with her."

Societies Gain Importance

Miss Alvida Buck, secretary of the University Y. W. C. A., thinks these societies are now even more important than in former years. "Today women are taking positions in which it is necessary to have public speaking ability. The fact that they are just as capable as men along this line is not as yet a recognized fact, but the truth remains that they are so gifted and can, in fact, appeal to some people who would be indifferent to the words of a man. In University life, the literary societies are the one place to gain the training to be able to do this."

Teaches Literary Appreciation

From the literary point of view, Miss Grace Wormer, acting University librarian, feels that it should be one of the aims of every woman in the University to become a member of one of these societies. "For practical work in literary appreciation, I can think of no other place in which there is such an opportunity. The literary societies are filling this place admirably."

Provides Way of Meeting

"Marjorie Turner A3 of Corning, says, 'I think the real value of the literary societies here is not in giving women training and educational programs, but in providing a way for all of them to meet and know each other.' The programs of these organizations, for the coming year, are especially interesting in their scope and the variation of material presented. Athena, the only national literary society on the campus, plans to have those in its membership who are majoring in special lines, give programs about their own interest. Other members on their program are comprised of the study of modern poets, dramatists, and novelists. Their annual pan-Athenaic banquet will be held in the spring. This society, in collaboration with its sister organization in Washington, publishes a magazine, "The Gavel." Last year this society gave up one of its parties in order to donate $50 to the student loan fund. Miss Irene Boughton A4 of Sioux City, is president.

Eros to Have Varied Program

Erodelphian society will work in women's forensics and will follow its program plan of debate, extemporaneous speaking, book-reviews, and entertainment along musical lines. Their social side, though not emphasized, will be attended to by special committees to give spice to this year's work. Miss Frances Smith A4 of Montezuma, is president.

Hesperian Has Most Points

Hesperian society, with Margaret S. Altman A4 of Livermore, as president is now working on the Hep-Zep play. Their work for the coming year is almost entirely to be on Iowa people who have become famous. On November 28, their annual dinner will be given at the Pagoda Tea Shop. After this, they will hold their initiation. Last year in women's forensics, Hesperian received the highest number of points in the Forensic Council point system.

Collect Songs

Hamlin Garland plans to use one act plays in his programs to carry on the practice for women's forensics in each meeting. One of its tasks this year is to collect those songs, for use in meetings, which were popular in Iowa at the time of Hamlin Garland's residence here. The last two years they have had the opportunity of entertaining Mr. Garland in person. The one feature program of the year is to be in his honor, and is open to the public. Their annual Founder's banquet will be held in the spring. Miss Flossie Meier A4 of Iowa City, is their president. In their work in women's forensics, the Octave Thanet society is planning a play with the Philomathean to be presented in February. This will be "Too Many Cooks."

They are planning three parties to be given either for, or, with, the Philomatheans. Their regular programs are to consist, chiefly of extemporaneous speeches, debates, farces, and musical numbers. The pledges are to put on a three-act play the twenty-first of this month. Their president is Leona White A4 of Council Bluffs.

Develop Individuals

One of the distinguishing characteristics of the work of the Whitty literary society is its annual meeting at which, not only its history, its present plans, and its future outlook are given, but also the forensic activities of members of other societies. Their programs this year are to deal with various phases of life, which are interesting because of their picturesqueness. It is the aim of the organization to develop a society with closer organization so that the gifts of its different members can be discovered, and can be used in the various programs. At their annual spring banquet, the senior girls will be presented with pictures of the Old Capitol. Florence Castle A4 of Shenandoah, is president.

TO SELL ALUMNUS ON NOVEMBER 20

Six Major Articles, Including Homecoming Features, To Be In Next Issue

The November issue of the Iowa Alumnus, to be on sale about November 20, will contain stories of Homecoming as well as many other interesting features.

It will contain six major articles, including, "Education for Journalism," by Nelson A. Crawford, "The University of Padua Its VII Centenary," by Prof. Hardin Craig; "Five Hundred Pages of Pleasure," by Jeanne O. L. Welch; "Olden, Golden Days," by P. D. Van Osterhout '93; "Yale bowl," by Bruce Gould '22, and the "Eleventh Homecoming," by the editor, Mrs. Grace P. Smith.

Mr. Crawford, who will write the first article mentioned, is head of the department of journalism at the Kansas State Agricultural College at Manhattan, Kansas. He is also secretary of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism, and a contributor to the Nation, Dial, Midland, and other magazines and newspapers. Professor Craig, who writes on the "University of Padua," was the University of Iowa's representative at the seven hundredth anniversary of the University of Padua. He received an honorary degree and a medal in commemoration of the event.

Mrs. Welch in "Five Hundred pages of Pleasure," reviews Vilhjalmur Stef-anson's book, "My Life with the Eskimo." Mrs. Welch was a classmate of the famous explorer.

"In Olden, Golden Days," Mr. Van Osterhout, who played football at Iowa in the '90's gives some interesting reminiscences. Mr. Van Osterhout has a son who is now a student at the University. Bruce Gould gives a very interesting story of the Iowa-Yale game.

Besides the major articles, there will be shorter stories by students and alumnae. Mrs. Lois Griffen L3, recent winner of the $50 prize offered in the college of law for the freshman of that college having the highest average, tells what it means to be a law student. Roger Sanders '24, gives a brief sketch of his father, James C. Sanders. Tom Irvin, editor of the Stanford Daily Palo Alto, writes a special article for the Alumnus on the late "Dad" Moulton, former trainer at Iowa. There will be other articles on athletics and the Victory Celebration, all illustrated with special Homecoming pictures.

Further interesting notes will be contained in the columns, "With Iowa Writers," "On the Campus," together with several pages of alumni notes.

PHILOS PLAN TO MAKE A NATIONAL ORGANIZATION SOON

Philomathean literary society of the University in conjunction with a like society at the University of Illinois, is the prime mover in building a national Philomathean organization.

During November 17 and 18, a national convention representing eight colleges and universities will assemble at Urbana, Illinois, by invitation from the Philomathean society of the university of Illinois. The convention will consolidate the independent local societies into a national organization, according to the plans of the Iowa and Illinois promoters. George O. Hurley L1 of Rolfe, president of the local chapter, and James M. Stewart L1 of Bunnells, are the delegates from the Philomathean Society here.

To Strengthen Societies

"The national organization," declared Mr. Hurley, "will strengthen the now scattered societies. It will promote the exchange of programs and competitive contests between the chapters in different schools. All men's Philomathean groups in colleges and universities of accredited standing will be eligible for membership in the national society. The convention at Urbana will decide the details of organization and formulate the constitution of the national society."

Delegations, each possessed of one vote in the convention, will represent the Philomathean societies at the university of Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Illinois, Iowa, and Iowa State College, Monmouth college, and Morningside college.

Old Society Dissolved

At one time, a state Philomathean organization existed in Iowa, which promoted intercollegiate contests between the societies of the member schools, but its failure to cover this function adequately led to its dissolution. Philomathean societies are distributed widely, both because of this previous organization and also because the name, Philomathean, from the Greek meaning, "seeker of truth" has been regarded as expressive of the aim of any literary society. The present tentative national organization, with its emphasis on the exchange of programs among the member institutions, promises to strengthen all its chapters. The society at the University of Iowa, is largely responsible for the present plans, which resulted in the national convention.

CONGREGATIONAL YOUNG WOMEN TO ENTERTAIN

Congregational young women of the University are to be entertained at dinner Friday evening at the church parlors. The purpose of this dinner is to permit the women students and the women of the church to become better acquainted with each other. Dean Margaret Taylor, of the Congregational Training School for Women, located near the campus of the University of Chicago, is to be the speaker of the evening.

As head of this school, Dean Taylor occupies a place of prominence in the work of training women for positions as directors of religious education for congregational churches, and as teachers in foreign mission work. Students who may be interested in these types of life work may have the privilege of personal interviews with Dean Taylor during her stay here. Arrangements can be made through Mr. Schafer, the Congregational University pastor.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS WILL PRESENT PLAY

Le Cercle Francais, in conjunction with the Department of French of the University, will put on a French play again this year. It is hoped to fill the leading roles from the membership of the club.

Le Cercle Francais, a French club made up of members of the University interested in speaking French, wishes to cordially invite anyone who would like to become either an active or associate member to its open meeting next Thursday evening, Nov. 16, in the Liberal Arts drawing room at 7:30.

To be an active member, it is necessary to have had two years of college French, or the equivalent, and to be majoring in French. To be an associate member, it is necessary to know enough French not to find it a bore to spend an evening trying to understand and talk that language. Only active members take part in the business sessions.

SCRUBS SMASH SECONDS USING BUCKEYE PLAYS

Rich Expected To Start Against Ohio State as Iowa Field General

Although the practice field was still rather wet and slippery last night, Coach Howard H. Jones took his varsity football squad out for their first out-of-doors workout this week. The varsity eleven composed of Otte and Wade, ends; Hancock and Kriz, tackles; Miniek and Meade, guards, Heldt, center; Nugent and Miller, halves; Captain Locke, fullback; and Rich, quarter; engaged in a long signal drill while the seconds and thirds mixed it in scrimmage. Kadesky replaced Wade at end later on in the drill.

The thirds, using Ohio State's weird attack, mixed up line plays and passes on the seconds with good success, and managed to get away for many nice gains. Later the varsity replaced the thirds, and the seconds and the regulars went to it for another thirty minutes. The varsity carried the oval for the most of the time, and had little trouble in marching up the field for two touchdowns. Backfield coach Major Hill has given the team some new plays and these formations received their first trial last night.

Quarterback Parkin was out in civilian clothes again last night, but Rich seems to have fully recovered from his blow in the Minnesota game. Seiling ran the varsity for a while in the scrimmage and looked mighty good. Seiling utilizes his speed for gains, and several times he circled the seconds' wings for nice gains. It is a toss-up as to whether Seiling or Rich will start the game against Ohio State next Saturday, as Lee Parkin will be unable to start.

Two large searchlights have been installed on the field and received their first workout last night. They seem to have solved the problem of practicing late in the evening, and will no doubt see a great deal of use before the season closes.

The men who will make the Ohio State trip will be named tomorrow.

TWENTY MEN OUT FOR BASKETBALL

First After Dinner Practice Held Last Night

Only twenty men reported to Coach Sam Barry for the first after dinner cage practice held last night at the old armory. The workout consisted entirely of fundamentals, which the coach deems most important. Although the practice was light, it was snappy and full of pep, this means that competition and the fight for positions will be keen, no position will be held without it being thoroughly contested, as the men are displaying that old fighting spirit. The squad has been exceedingly small this year, during the early practices as compared to former years. But now, as practice has begun in earnest, all men wishing to tryout for varsity basketball must report by tomorrow night as this will be the last opportunity to report for the cage sport. Practice will be held every Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Coach Barry drilled his hopefuls on pivoting, dribbling up to a guard and pivoting free, and dribbling down the floor; in these respective departments of the game, Hurlburt, Captain Hicks, Voltmer, Rankin, and Burgitt showed up well.

Later in the evening, the coach had a guard dribbling down the floor with the forward following to shoot at the basket. Swenson, Land, and Funk were successful in caging baskets from this formation, while Hurlburt on the defense was good in breaking up this play.

In the search for a deadshot point getter from the foul line, to replace Shimick last year's foul shooter, Ted Swenson, the flashy blonde from Cedar Rapids, seems to have the call. In practice last night he managed to cage seventeen baskets from the foul line without a miss. If Swenson is consistent Iowa may win several games with the aid of these extra points.

All men in the University with any basketball experience, or ability, are urged to report to Coach Barry by Thursday night, as this is the last night to report and the coach wishes to have more men out.

RIFLE CLASSES STARTED MONDAY

Best Among 1200 Who Have Begun Work To Try Out for Rifle Team

Shooting classes started Monday in the Armory under the direction of Captain Thomas E. Martin. A number of men are detailed to fire in the gallery one hour each three weeks in place of his regular class work. This work will not interfere with the practice of the rifle team because the gallery is reserved to them except for four or five hours each week when the class will need the entire gallery.

Classes of fourteen to thirty-five men can easily be handled by Captain Martin. He will be assisted by Warrent Officer James J. Gibney. Captain Martin will devote his entire time from now on to class work and to the rifle team. Men who show up especially well in the class work will be given opportunities to try out for the rifle team and will receive special attention in their work in the gallery. Men are still encouraged to practice shooting in the gallery on their own time whenever they have an opportunity.

Martin Supervise Practice
All freshmen and sophomores of the three different units are scheduled in these classes. This system involves a heavy schedule, realizing that approximately 1200 men are given an opportunity for class work under the personal supervision of Captain Martin at least once every three weeks. Records are kept of the scores of all shooting done in the gallery, both voluntary and class work.

Teach Marksmanship Points
The instructions in these classes cover all the various points to be observed in rifle marksmanship. They will begin in how to handle the rifle carefully, how to adjust the body in the sling, loading, aiming, squeezing the trigger, holding the breath while firing, and cleaning the rifle after shooting.

As the work advances instructions will be given in adjusting the sights and other points necessary for a good marksman to know. The work will be taken up in such a manner as to give the greatest amount of instruction possible in the short time that is allowed each class. At present all shooting will be done in the prone position, but later as the work advances, they will change to sitting, kneeling, and standing positions.

FEW WILL MOTOR TO BUCKEYE GAME

Road Is Paved Nearly All the Way Beyond Davenport

It is not likely that as many will motor to Columbus, Ohio, for the Iowa-Ohio football game at Columbus Saturday, November 18, since the recent heavy rains, which have caused the dirt roads between Iowa City and Davenport (60 miles) to be rough and muddy in the low places along the highway.

However with continued clear weather the road conditions will improve daily between Iowa City and Davenport. It is thought by Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning the route will be in fairly good condition, but rather rough.

It is recommended in traveling east on route No. 7 to Davenport, that after leaving Moscow (30 miles east of Iowa City) instead of following the road to the right, before crossing the railroad east of Moscow 2 miles, that the railroad be crossed and continue along the main road along the north side of the railroad into Wilton. Leaving Wilton, the detour to Durant should be taken.

The run should be made in three or four hours to Davenport. From Davenport east through Moline, Geneseo, Princeton, Peru, Ottawa, Joliet, Chicago Heights, Ill., the road is paved with the exception of a few short stretches and a section between Princeton and Peru, which is 20 miles, over good gravel roads. From Chicago Heights to Danville, Ill., the route is paved.

The distance, Iowa City to Columbus, is approximately 610 miles. The route from the Mississippi River to Columbus, is over paved, gravel and macadam roads all the way.

FRESHMAN HARRIERS START WORK FOR THE COMING HAWKEYE RUN

The Iowa cross country squad, despite its defeat by the Gopher team last Saturday, has been taking stiff workouts for the last two evenings in preparation for the conference cross country meet at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, on November 25. Yesterday's workout consisted of a run over the paved road between Iowa City and Coralville. Hill work was especially emphasized.

In Saturday's meet with Minnesota, none of the members of the Iowa team won "c" sweaters. These sweaters were awarded only to a man who places in the first five in a dual meet which Iowa wins.

The freshman harriers are now pointing their work for the Hawkeye run, which will be held either Tuesday or Wednesday before Thanksgiving. A traveling cup is awarded the winner which he is allowed to keep for a year. This trophy has been in the possession of H. R. Phelps of Davenport, who won the race last fall. The race last fall was over about one and seven-eighths miles course and will probably be over the same course again this year. Poultry prizes will be awarded to those who finish in the first five. In last year's race a turkey goose, duck, rooster, and a hen were given the winners. This race is an all-University affair and excludes only varsity cross country men who have won their "c's".

HOME COMING PAPER DECORATIONS WOULD REACH THIRTY MILES

The paper decorations used for Homecoming would reach from here to Cedar Rapids if stretched end to end in a straight line. This amounts to approximately 165,000 feet. The festooning alone would make a continuous line from Iowa City to Amana colonies. Twenty thousand feet of pennant streamers were sold by the New Idea Decorating company alone. The amount of bunting used exceeds this by about half a mile.

The largest quantity was in crepe paper streamers which were in evidence in practically every place where there were any decorations at all. They totaled over 60,000 feet. Balloons, to the number of 3,000, completely outnumbered the negligible amount of flags. It seems almost unbelievable that there were 750 of the "Welcome Home-comers" banners used. From the New Idea Decorating company, twenty men worked almost continuously from Thursday morning to Saturday noon putting these decorations up. Aside from their labor there was all of that of the various sorority and fraternity members. Preparation for all this was started two weeks ago before any sign of such activity was apparent to the student body and citizens of the town. This is only one indication of the extent of the celebration for Homecoming.

PLAYERS TO GIVE PROBATION PLAYS

New Members of University Players Present 3 One Act Plays

The first of the one act plays which the new members of the University Players are giving as probation stunts for that organization are to be given in the natural science auditorium tonight at 7:30. Only members of the University Players are invited. Two plays will be given tonight, two tomorrow night, and the final play Wednesday night, November 29. All the newly elected members of the players were divided into five groups with a sponsor over each group. This sponsor helped them select a one act play, appointed the characters and coached them in their parts.

The first play to be given tonight is "The Antick" by Percy MacKaye. It has been under the direction of Persis Carney A3 of Greene and the cast is as follows: The Rev. Jonas Paul A4 Smith A4 of Cherokee; John, a young farmer—Forrest Roberts A4 of Lamoni; Mrs. White—Gene Fitting A4 of Dexter; Myrtle White, her daughter, Lucile Morford A1 of Iowa City; and Julie, the Canute girl—Clara Levy A4 of Pueblo, Colo.

The second play is "The Florist Shop," by Winifred Hawk Bridge, under the direction of Frances Smith A4 of Montezuma and Vivian Gray A2 of Onawa. The cast is as follows: Maude the shop girl—Mildred Walker A3 of Corydon; Henry, the shop boy—Islea Olerich A4 of Rolfe; Mr. Slavsky—Eddie Baker A1 of Cedar; Miss Willis—Edith Freburg A1 of Pomeroy; and Mr. Thomas—Gordon Johnston A2 of Des Moines.

WOMEN'S LITERARY SOCIETY TO INSTALL OFFICERS TONIGHT

The freshmen women's literary society will hold its regular meeting tonight at 7 p. m. in the liberal arts assembly hall. The following officers will be installed: Dorothy Tebay of Hampton, president; Gayle Knox of West Union, vice president; Alice Davis of Iowa City, secretary; Margaret Carter of Glenwood, treasurer; Hortense Hartsock of Clarion and Esther Harding of Des Moines, sergeants at arms.

Committees will be named by the president and the young women will be divided into groups. Each group will be assigned a definite line of work. There will be music, dramatic, extemporaneous speaking, debating, and reading divisions. Each will elect a woman to represent them on the program committee.

The membership of the society is already well above 100. Now freshmen women will be welcome at this evening's meeting.

The sponsor committee is composed of Pearl Davies A4 of Plymouth, Lois Sensor A3 of Independence, Catherine Donca A2 of Cedar Rapids and Mildred Freburg, Dorothy Prewill, and Professor Glenn D. Merry of the faculty.

LOYD GEORGE TO FIGHT TO FINISH

Establishes Precedent By Plans To Speak While Polls Are Open

(By United News)
London, Nov. 14.—David Lloyd George, admittedly fighting a losing political battle with his back against the wall, flung all precedence into the discard Tuesday night when he decided to take a final fling at the voters by speaking at Bedford on election day, Wednesday.

Even his most ardent supporters were shocked when they learned that the coalition liberal leader, who was unsaddled from the premiership by Andrew Bonar Law, planned to carry his fight on even after the polls had opened.

Is a President

Such a procedure has never before occurred during a general election in England.

Premier Bonar Law's speech on Monday night in which he declared he would recommend, if elected, a tribunal review of the decision of the House of Lords that landlords must give notice before increasing the rentals of tenants has noted as a boomerang. It was reported Tuesday night from Glasgow, where the premier is standing for election, that his election is endangered as result of wrath of tenants.

Law Not In England

The decision of House of Lords has never been embodied in the law of Scotland. It affects all rent increases since 1920, and under the decision landlords may be made to repay all rent increases since then.

Impartial political observers predict that conservative party headed by Law would be victorious. Leaders looked for the card up Lloyd Georges sleeve. It is believed he has something more in view that th immediate election. His followers were proceeding on the assumption that the parliament to be chosen Wednesday would be shortlived and then Lloyd George would come into full power once again.

HATTIE TAKES FOUR QUARTS OF RUM AND RECOVERS RAPIDLY

(By United News)

New York, Nov. 14.—Hattie, the forty-five year old lady elephant in Central park is feeling much better since head trooper, Jim Coyle, gave her a wee nippe of Scotch—four quarts to be exact. The old girl refused to get up for breakfast Sunday morning. Her illness caused disturbance at the Zoo until the surgeon doctor went over tummy with a sledge hammer, tapping lightly for the tell tale sounds which mean various things to a doctor.

"Tammy ache is all," said the veterinarian, "get her a light diet—about six quarts of bran mash. Then give her a little snifter of rum—not more than a gallon—she'll get well."

Hattie was wobbly and a little sick in her speech for the next hour or so, but she is recovering.

MEMORIAL UNION RAISES $40,000

Homecoming Interfered With Last Week's Drive

The student council of the Iowa Memorial Union will meet in Close hall tonight at 7 o'clock to plan a clean-up drive for securing pledges to the Union. This clean-up will be the means of finishing the work of the big drive last Wednesday and Thursday, which was not entirely completed on account of Homecoming activities. The council has invited representatives from all the professional colleges to be present at this meeting, and plans will be made for the best means to make each of the colleges 100 per cent in their support of the Union. The dental college has held such a record since a year ago last spring.

"It is the hope of the Union council," says Hubert H. Matt L3 of Iowa City, "that every student will have a chance to make a pledge to the Union before the year is up." It was found on checking up on the results of last week's work in the drive that a large number of the women students had never been asked for a pledge. In view of this fact, plans are being made so that before the drive is officially closed every freshman and sophomore women on the campus will be approached by a representative of the Union. The freshmen are responsive to the Union proposition if some way can be devised to reach them, as was shown when the freshmen men in the military classes pledged $16,000 of the total $40,000 raised during the drive.

The organizations which obtained the best results last week in the drive were the sororities, in charge of Catherine Wright A4 of Des Moines. The military classes, which were visited by the entire Union council, and Currier hall, under the direction of Martha Althaus A4 of Muscatine and Leona White A4 of Council Bluffs, also responded well in pledges to the Union.

A PERIL IN NAME ONLY

The Supreme court's decision that Japanese cannot be naturalized in the United States and cannot become citizens of this country will be far reaching in its effect. It is certain to bring back a discussion of the "yellow peril" and attendant problems regardless of Justice Sutherland's statement that the court's ruling in no way implied—either in the legislation or in the court's interpretation of it—any suggestion of individual unworthiness or racial inferiority.

If the court succeeded in evading these in handing down its judgment, it is hardly to be expected that the members of the two races will look upon the question in the same unprejudiced light. For back of the whole question—the reason which prompted Congress to confine the right of naturalization to white persons (with the addition in 1870 of those of African nativity and descent) in every naturalization act from 1790 until 1906—lies this same old bugbear of race antipathy—the intangible and not wholly justified fear of the white man that his yellow neighbors are encroaching upon his domain.

We have wasted an infinite amount of time in interminable controversies over the relative superiority and inferiority of different races. The Japanese no doubt are satisfied with the superiority of their race over the mushroom growths of western civilization. The Chinese do not waste their time in idle chatter over the relative status of their race as compared with the white barbarians who have intruded themselves upon them with their grotesque customs, their heathenish ideas, and their childishly new religion. Only the white man writes volumes to establish on paper the fact of a superiority which is either self-evident and not in need of demonstration, or is not a fact and not demonstrable.

Why should we discriminate against the Japanese? Surely they have reached a stage of culture as high as the European peasant whom we offer the right of citizenship. Behind the term "yellow peril" lies a mass of unwarranted and irrational hate and apprehension. Anti legislation does not correct the evil. It only serves to make the problem more acute.

Race antipathy, since it is instinctive, will never be entirely obliterated. It is impossible to conceive of a time when the races will be united. But if our antipathy for the yellow race can never be entirely dispelled, it can be converted into a less antagonistic channel. One seldom speaks of the "black peril," yet the black race is a much more potent factor in the United States than the yellow race. The difference lies in the fact that we have reached a stage when we can co-operate with the negroes; when blind hate has been supplanted by an understanding view of the situation. Our problem, then, is not to enact legislation which must arouse the enmity of our Oriental friends, but to inaugurate a period of enlightenment.

A SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY

At numerous times in the past it has been suggested that the University of Iowa include among its constituent colleges a school of theology. From a suggestion, the idea of a theological school has grown until today it is one of the more important issues of the University. Its advocates hope that within the next few years the state and the University will see fit to establish this much needed department of study.

The University of Iowa is ideally situated for the favorable growth of a school of theology. In this state we are not hampered with deep rooted religious prejudices; the Middle West is becoming the theological center of the country as well as the cultural; and the University has a man on its staff well fitted to take charge of the instruction in religion.

Such a school would add much to the mental and moral development of the student body. Religion is as great and as broad a subject as any department of study in the University—perhaps in the long run its influence would be felt more keenly. Religion need not be treated in a sectarian way any more than history or philosophy. The objection, and probably the one which will be most common, based on sectarian grounds, then, should carry little weight. The New York Tribune, discussing theology in Universities, says:

"There would be, or certainly should be, a far closer correlation and harmony between the teachings of the pulpit and the teachings of science. There would be an introduction of spiritual teaching and of active religious life into the university, which might otherwise incline too much toward hard materialism. There would conversely be an infusion of scientific learning and general culture into the minds of clergymen, who otherwise might lack such endowment. There would be an adjustment of the supposed points of difference between science and religion, effected in the very place where it could best be done.

"Centuries ago the theater and the school were both intimately and apparently inseparably associated with the Church. In time the theater and the Church were separated, and antagonism arose between them, to the detriment in some respects of both. Similarly the school and the Church fell more or less apart, and in recent years there has been developed some measure of antagonism between the highest teachings of the former and a large part of the latter; and this, too, is to the detriment of both.

"It is not, of course, to be suggested that institutions of learning should all be subject to ecclesiastical control, any more than that the churches should be under the dictation of the colleges. But it would seem to be rational and profitable to give to the clergy who minister to the spiritual needs of the people the same broad culture and catholic outlook upon science and upon life that are had by the physicians who minister to the needs of the body, or to the lawyers who minister to the civic and commercial needs of the people. To say that contact with and participation in university life and culture would be detrimental to the clergy would be an intolerable plea of weakness. On the contrary, it may be confidently assumed that such a system would be greatly to the benefit of the church and would tend to avoidance of those occasional 'heresy hunts' and controversies over supposed conflicts between science and faith, which are far from being edifying or profitable to anybody concerned in them."

NEWS FROM THE COURT OF ST. JAMES

The introduction of modern dance steps in London society has had an unlooked for result. So pronounced are the tremors of the ladies that they are continually losing parts of their dangling earrings. There seems to be a difference of opinion as to which should be changed—the contortions of the dance or the weight of the ornaments.

In describing the attempts of motorists to get from Iowa City to Cedar Rapids after the game, the only legitimate figure of speech which a valued contemporary did not use was the w. k. "baptism of fire."

Due to the depreciation of German currency, a Bavarian editor says he prefers payment of subscriptions in produce. Six pounds of flour, a pound of butter or two dozen eggs will pay for a three months' subscription.

Do you remember 'way back when country editors accepted payment of this kind in our own U. S.?

"THIS FREEDOM"

Reviewed by Alta Vare Ribyn

This Freedom has the distinction of being one of the six best sellers and at the same time an excellent book. In many respects it is even better than If Winter Comes, which is indeed high praise, for If Winter Comes had one of the best delineations of character to be found in any book of recent years. This Freedom is stronger in that, in place of one outstanding character, there are several outstanding characters and each one is abundantly alive. Even the type characters are individual, if such a paradox may be permitted. These characters live as we live; they are overwhelmed by keen and devastating emotions; they suffer, pay a penalty greater than they deserve and make a new start. They in no sense of the word are "wicked"; they merely do not have a big enough vision. Herein is the sermon. Mr. Hutchinson steps aside in one place in the novel and says, "One comes to know the only true and ideal happiness is happiness tintured with the faintest and vaguest hint of tears. It is peace, and who knows peace that has not come to it through storm, or knowest storm ahead, or in storm past hath not lost one that would have shared this peace?" Mr. Hutchinson allies himself with Galsworthy, Hardy, Poole and Mrs. Wharton in painting not the sunshine of life but the more abundant shadows.

We have heard so much about the new woman that it would seem there is nothing more to be said, but Mr. Hutchinson has gone beyond most authors and shown the rather sensational climax in the lives of two who lived a new life. Rosalie Oeclve, who first appears as a tiny tot in a torn pinafore, notes and wonders at the supremacy of men in the world. She, in time, becomes a successful woman in business, but is swept away in an impetuous love affair. The latter part of the book is an attempt on her part to reconcile her duties as wife and mother to her career as a brilliant woman. Her ambition carries her away from her everyday life. Throughout she is motivated by her early desire: "Oh, I don't want a goal I can win. I want a goal I can't win. One that's always just in front." But she fails in her place as mother, and her "house of cards" sweeps everything before it in the final catastrophe to her children. A story that might be harsh is saved by the permeating sympathy of Mr. Hutchinson and a final delicate lightness in the little Rosalie.

This Freedom differs radically from The Life and Death of Harriet Frean. The two books form an interesting contrast in the new woman and the old, but both are extreme types.

An English reader finished the book and asked, "What is freedom for women?" Mr. Hutchinson has not answered this, but he has shown what is not freedom for women, and it is here that he has made his greatest appeal and preached, rather too obtrusively and sentimentally at times, his greatest sermon.

The one great flaw in the book is in the latter half, when the story, for the sake of pointing the moral, becomes unreal. Here the characters are manipulated and face crises that do not consistently follow the premises of the story. The artificiality of this part of the book is especially apparent in contrast with the vivid reality of the first part. Nevertheless, This Freedom is worth any one's reading.

THE MR. WELLS THAT WAS

It is a long list to which Hugh Walpole adds his name in dropping a tear over the H. G. Wells that was. What lover of Mr. Polly would swap it for all the bulk of the "Outline" or a dozen Mr. Britlings? There is no more tragic moment in literary history than that twinkling in which Mr. Wells first looked within himself and saw what a marvelous thinking machine was turning out those sound and shining articles, his thoughts.

He has never forgotten the glamour of that instant. Yet by some fatal law of creative work at such a moment of self-consciousness something dies, never to be reborn. It is hard to define exactly what is meant by this self-consciousness. It is not a question of conceit. Egotism is absolutely essential to creation. The trouble is not that Mr. Wells knows he is a wonder. Nor does the criticism that he has become a preacher hit the mark. John Bunyan was something of a preacher. Babelais criticized his times. Dickens plunged for reform.

Rather is the catastrophe like that of the Elsa and Bluebeard myths, of the wife who asks a fatal question and thereby loses all. A silly fable, looked at baldly. Yet take it as symbolism of a theory that the best that is in us is a secret beyond prying into, a source of power that we must trust and let flow serenely, and it bears on the problem of Mr. Wells. There was a serene reality about "Mr. Polly" and "Tono-Bungay" that was great truth and great art. They flowed out of Mr. Wells' unfettered imagination. Since then he has been restlessly yanking his imagination this way and that, taking apart his convictions to see how they worked and racing his mind over leagues of facts.

As a result Mr. Wells has stamped up and down every highway of the mind that our generations possess. He has thought more thoughts about more things in less time than any other man that ever lived. But he has ceased to be an artist for whom time is as nothing and truth all. That is why "Mr. Polly" may still be read and loved when the rest of Mr. Wells' output is but a line in an encyclopedia.

QUO WARRANTO?

By what warrant will our Government feel that it must continue to hold itself aloof? The seven million majority for President Harding was interpreted by some as an order by the people not to enter the League of Nations. But now that the ballots have flown in the opposite direction, what is the interpretation? A member of the Cabinet said on Wednesday that "international affairs had very little effect upon the average voter." Moreover, it was reported that "important members of the Administration" found little in the election to indicate that the voters were interested in the question of American participation in various movements which have been suggested for the solution of the economic and financial difficulties of Europe, and that there would therefore be no change in the American attitude.

At any rate, there can be no claim that Tuesday's vote is a mandate to remain in such a state of aloofness as that in which we find ourselves; certainly it cannot be construed as a rebuke for any activity in the way of undertaking international co-operation to promote peace. We have unofficially joined the League's Anthrax Committee and the Commission on Traffic in Women and Children, and are talking about joining the International Court some day. Moreover, we have reduced naval armament; we have adopted a cooperative peace program for the islands and atolls of the Pacific, which even the eremite, Senator Lodge, has sponsored; and we have called a conference of Central American States to consider land disarmament. But with Europe, which bred us and has within its borders about all the white people of the globe besides ourselves and our South American cousins, we have refused to enter into any sort of official co-operation.

It is not reasonable to assume, in view of the great protest that has gone up, especially from the churches in America, that there was down in the hearts of millions of voters a conviction that we have, after all, not played a man's full, brave part in the affairs of the world since we came back from France!—New York Times.

DENY RUMORS OF DEATH OF TWO AUTOISTS

But Hundreds of Autos Are Mired In Mud On Way Home From Game

In spite of the fact that persistent rumors were circulated on the campus Monday that two Iowa City people were killed in an auto accident on the road to Cedar Rapids some time Saturday or Sunday, long distance calls to the chief of police of Cedar Rapids, L. S. Morrison, the coroner of Linn county and a talk with Chief of Police Lorack of Iowa City failed to confirm any rumors of a fatal accident.

Although there was no serious accident, nearly 500 cars that tried to return to Cedar Rapids Saturday from the game slipped into the ditch alongside the road. Some of the people spent the night in their cars, but most of them stayed in the nearby farmhouses.

Cars Overturn

The rain that began falling immediately after the game did not deter many of the motorists from leaving the city, but as they traveled the road became worse and worse, and by the time they reached the long clay hill on the other side of North Liberty, they found they could go no further. For two miles cars were strung along the road on both sides, several being overturned in attempting to pass other machines.

Those that stayed in their cars, including in some cases old people and young children, spent a most miserable night and were chilled through by morning. Those that abandoned their machines had to wade through the slush and mud of the road and fields in order to reach shelter. Hundreds spent the night in farmhouses, sleeping on beds where they were available, otherwise on the floor. One party of about twenty-one stayed in a single farmhouse, while another party equally large took refuge in a small grocery store at North Liberty.

Ford Passes Big Cars

One man with a Ford that went through without any trouble said that on the way up the hill he could have traded his car for a dozen expensive machines.

Sunday morning the interurban was crowded with people returning to Cedar Rapids, leaving their stranded cars in the ditch to be brought in later. Thirty flat cars were sent to North Liberty yesterday to bring the stalled cars into Cedar Rapids. Thousands of dollars of damage was done to the cars as a result of being in the mud and rain all night.

On roads to Davenport and Des Moines the conditions were practically the same and many of the owners left on the train, leaving their cars in the garages and the New Armory. One garage has 130 cars, while all the rest report they are filled to capacity. Eighty-four cars are parked in the New Armory and requests are coming in for permission to leave still more there.

DIRECTORY SHOWS 39 STATES REPRESENTED

Smith Is Most Common Name; China Leads In Foreign Representation

The new student directory recently published by the University shows a variety of places all over the world that are represented at the University of Iowa.

While a large per cent of the students are from Iowa, thirty-eight other states, as well as several foreign countries are represented by one or more students. The number from each of the thirty-eight states is as follows: Illinois, ninety-one; Louisiana, seven; Missouri, thirty-three; South Dakota, fifty-nine; New Jersey, four; Rhode Island, one; Kansas, nineteen; Virginia, two; Tennessee, two; Michigan, eight; Nebraska, twenty; North Carolina, two; Massachusetts, four; Kentucky, five; Maine, one; New York, six; Indiana, nine; Minnesota, forty-one; Florida, two; Texas, six; Colorado, thirteen; Montana, six; North Dakota, six; Washington, two; Wyoming, five; California, six; Wisconsin, twelve; Idaho, one; Oklahoma, five; Pennsylvania, six; Arkansas, three; Maryland, one; Ohio, four; Mississippi, one; New Mexico, two; Georgia, two; three. Washington, D. C. has one representative.

China Leads

Many foreign countries are also represented by students. The largest delegation comes from China. The other countries which are represented are Japan, Java, Belgium, France, Argentina, Bolivia, Canada, Honolulu, Lithuania, and the Philippine Islands. There are more Smiths in the University than any other group of students with a common name. The number of Smiths is fifty-two, their nearest competitors being the Johnson group with a total of forty-one. Following are thirty-one Millers, twenty-nine Andersons, twenty-four Jones, twenty-one Davis, twenty Nelsons, nineteen Williams, eighteen Browns, sixteen Wilsons, fifteen Clarks, thirteen Thompsons, and thirteen James.

580 'S's' Appear

Names beginning with S exceed in number all other names beginning with the various letters of the alphabet by a large margin. There are approximately 580 students whose names begin with S, while names beginning with M follow next with a total of 470.

Among the several thousand addresses given in the directory, several stand out as having peculiar meanings. Among those in Iowa are Steamboat Rock, Morning Sun, Lone Tree, Lost Nation, What Cheer, and Buffalo Center. Panterverda and Soehaboemi are two foreign cities that are represented.

The distinction of having the shortest name in the directory goes to Liang Y. Hog of Hankow, China. Lloyd Peckenschneider M3 of Davenport has the longest name of the 6,800 students. Few students have over twelve letters in their last name and the longest name had fifteen letters.
