Impeachment of Attorney General Sought

PEACE PARLEY 'FROWNS UPON GREEK KILLING

Chance for Granting of Concessions by the Allies Lessened by Murders

(By United News)
Rome, Nov. 29.—Displaying bitterness toward the former Greek Premier Venizelos, the Italian press unanimously condemns the execution of the five ministers in Athens.

(By United News)
Lausanne, Nov. 29.—Greece has lost all that she might have gained in the Near Eastern peace parley through the execution of the five cabinet ministers in Athens, according to views in diplomatic circles. The task of former Premier Venizelos, whose principal object is to restore European confidence in Greece, has been made most difficult. The position of Greece, who has been asking the powers for many concessions among which is relief of payment of war indemnity to the Turks, has been decidedly weakened.

NEW PRODUCTION WILL GO ON ROAD

University Theatre To Present "Merchant of Venice" At Decorah

Iowa University's theatre will be the first university theatre in the United States to take a Shakespearean play upon the road.
Widespread interest in the University theatre's production of "The Merchant of Venice" is being shown throughout the state and bookings are being made to take the play on the road. Supt. C. C. Gametstfelder, of the Decorah schools, has requested that the production be presented there on January 20, and some leaders in the community drama in Cedar Rapids have expressed a desire to have the production there if suitable arrangements can be completed.

"The Merchant of Venice," as it is being presented here on January 18, promises to be one of the most interesting and artistic productions of Shakespeare in this community. The script of the play which is to be used has been specially prepared by Prof. E. C. Mahie, of the speech department. It is an arrangement of the first folio which was published in 1623. Available acting editions have so rearranged the scenes and cut many of the especially fine lines that the University theatre has adopted the idea of "back to Shakespeare" as a guiding principle for the arrangement of the text for the coming production.

Seventeen of the twenty scenes which appear in the folio will be presented in the order in which they appear. Only such cuttings will be made as are necessary to bring the play within reasonable acting time and to make it suitable for a present day audience. By using this arrangement of the text Professor Mahie believes that the production will be made very much more effective and interesting than it would if any one of the available acting editions was used.

The play is to be presented on a stage draped with velvets and so constructed that alternating deep and shallow scenes may be used. The most careful attention is being given to costumes and all details of lighting and properties.

TO HEAR FOOTBALL RESULTS

Results of the Nebraska-Notre-Dame game at Lincoln this afternoon will be received on the newly purchased Grid-Graph board at the men's gym. These reports will start at 2 p. m. Admission will be 25 cents.

Penn Must Stop Kaw To Wallop Cornell, Claim

(By United News)
Philadelphia, Nov. 29.—When the Pennsylvania football team takes the field on Thanksgiving day against the big Cornell crew the cry will be to "stop Kaw", the backfield giant of the invading squad. Cornell outscored every other team of the east this year with 330 points, and Kaw has played a mighty part in the winning of the seven games so far disposed of. California is the only big time school in the country which has scored more than Cornell; however this is Cornell's first test of the season against a first class team.

Pennsylvania has defeated Penn State and the navy, but lost to Alabama and Pittsburgh.

LOYD RECEIVES PARDON TODAY

Millionaire Communist and His Followers Released By Governor Small

(By United News)
Springfield, Ill., Nov. 29.—William Bross Lloyd, millionaire radical, will eat his Thanksgiving dinner at his palatial Winnetka home.

Governor Len Small late Wednesday commuted the sentence of Lloyd and the sixteen other communists who began to serve their sentences last week. Lloyd and six others were sentenced from one to five years at Joliet prison for violating the state anti-sedition law during the war. The other nine were sentenced to a year each in the Cook county jail on the same charge.

It took four years for the state to put Lloyd, who fought his sentence in every legal way, in prison. It took eight days to get him out.

The self-styled "reddest of the reds" and his associates were granted a complete pardon and will be released when the Governor's pardon is officially transmitted to their warden's early Thursday. The dissenting opinions of Justice Carter of the Illinois supreme court, who held that the state anti-sedition law was unconstitutional and the fact that the men were convicted under a war-time law at the time when war feeling ran high, were mentioned by the governor as the inspirations of his pardons. Small, however, makes no attempt to condone the alleged seditious utterances of the prisoners. It had been rumored ever since Lloyd entered Joliet that he would soon be pardoned by Small and that a pardon for the millionaire must almost necessarily be accompanied by pardon for the associates. Besides Lloyd they will pardon Jack Carney, Arthur Proctor, Edgar Owens, Ludwig Lore, L. K. England, and Niels Kjar. Those whose one-year jail terms were commuted are Sam Kankas, James Messenger, Carl F. Sandburg, Charles Krumbin, Harry Shipman, Morris A. Stolar, John Vogel, N. J. Christianson, Samuel Ash and Oscar Jesse Brown.

MATRICES TO MEET MONDAY AFTERNOON

The Matrices will hold their regular monthly meeting Monday afternoon, December 4, at 4 o'clock in room 15 of liberal arts. The program consists of a talk by Edith Rule A3 of Mason City about May Robson. Miss Rule visited with Miss Robson in Des Moines about a week ago. Another number on the program will be a talk by Maurine Sandahl A2 of Des Moines, on short story writing.

PRESBYTERIAN SERVICES

Union Thanksgiving services will be held this morning at 10:30 in the Presbyterian Church. Rev. Ray E. York of the Baptist Church will deliver the address. His subject will be "Thanksgiving and Thanks-living."
Special music has been arranged. A double quartet will sing "Praise Ye the Father," by Gounod and Mrs. Carl Hohn will sing "A Song of Thanksgiving" by Alletsin.
The offering will go to the social service league.

(By FRANCIS J. WEBER)
Not satisfied with any of the conference teams that have been picked so far by some of the sport writers, we have decided that we can choose just as good a one. Our opinion has been justified by some of the players who have been given places on these mythical teams. For instance, Pixley of Ohio State was given a place on at least three of the elevens that we have seen. In both the Minnesota-Ohio and the Iowa-Ohio games he was the easiest man on the Ohio line to get through, and Iowa made use of this fact to push through for gain after gain.

Then there is another man, who will be placed on many conference teams. John Thomas of Chicago. After the Princeton game, his name was spread all over the country, but as the season grew older, instead of increasing his reputation, it has diminished. Statistics show that he has not made a touchdown against a conference team. Both Ohio State and Wisconsin had lines that did not give before his charges. It will be remembered that Locke had no trouble plowing through the Buckeye line, and that McCreery of Minnesota also gained consistently against the same group of forwards.

Invite Criticism
Our team, despite the number of Iowa men who are placed upon it, we believe to be as fair a one as possible. Like all the rest, it will be criticised. Where places were doubtful the man who looked best to us was given the preference.

Two better ends will not be found than Kadesky of Iowa and Kirk of Michigan. Kadesky may be surpassed by some in size, and by a few in speed, but there is not a headier man in the conference. Moreover there is no end in the conference who has had fewer yards gained around his wing. He is a potent factor in Iowa's defense against passes, as his judgment

NO ALL-UNIVERSITY CELEBRATION PLANNED FOR THANKSGIVING AS IN THE DAYS OF '68

There is no need to say that students are thankful for dismissal of all classes today, especially 8 o'clock. Sleeping and eating compose most programs for the holiday besides a few hours of dancing and a hasty glance at the old note book before Friday morning. Since Christmas vacation begins December 20, three weeks from yesterday, many students remained in Iowa City. At least, that's the explanation they sent home, forgetting to mention the Wednesday night date and chapter house dance.

Within the recollection of several professors and alumni associated for many years on this campus, there has been no all-University celebration in recognition of the day. However, the "University Reporter" for November, 1868, states: "The students of the University had this year, as usual, a grand social gathering on Thanksgiving evening. All were filled with joy and merriment and the efficient labors of the committee resulted in an excellent supper for all."
Thanksgiving day in the United States, the last Thursday in November, originated in Massachusetts, 1621. Since that time, the day is annually set apart by proclamation of the president and the governors of the various states. After their first harvest in 1621, the Pilgrims at Plymouth observed a day of Thanksgiving with religious services. President Washington appointed such a day, November 26, in 1789 and again in 1795. Certain southern states opposed the custom, arguing that it was a relic of Puritanic bigotry. However, in 1858, proclamations naming the day were issued by twenty-five states and two territories. President Lincoln, in 1864, appointed the fourth Thursday of November and succeeding presidents have recognized this decision.

A union service of all Iowa City churches, will be held this morning at 10:30 when Reverend York, Baptist minister, will speak at the Presbyterian church, Clinton and Market streets. Each year it is customary to hold this union service at a different church and to secure a minister of some other denomination.
Student pastors announce no special recognition of the day except the union service. Conference houses will be open as usual. The Young People's religious union of the Unitarian church will serve a Thanksgiving dinner in the church rooms.
Few fraternity and sorority houses announce special affairs for the day. The majority of houses will serve only to the chapter members and alumni. The Acaecias will serve dinner at noon to their guests and will dance in the afternoon. Delta Chi and Phi Kappa Sigmans will entertain at informal parties.

Young Rajah Gets Free Shave From Angry Vigilantes

Oh, girls! They're off! A group of horrid cadets mobbed the safety razor man as he came from his 1 o'clock military training class yesterday and completely destroyed his sideburns. The freshman Valentino, who has strutted about the campus with his visage engulfed by facial hirsute adornments not heretofore intended for the male physiognomy, got what many think was coming to him.

It was a case of sophomore Delilahs shearing a freshman Samson. The Samson struggled but to no avail. A pair of ordinary horse clippers, wielded by willing hands, overcame the resistance and the dirty deed was done. Eye witnesses report that the premature sheik promised to remember the perpetrators of the crime and even threatened never to speak to them again.

All concerned were unanimous in agreeing that, much to their surprise, they succeeded in uncovering a face almost human in aspect. Resolutions are reported to have been adopted on the spot to the effect that forehead sideburns, ultra-bell-bottomed trousers and trick vests must go.

ORCHESTRA WILL PRESENT CONCERT

Will Accompany Glee Clubs and Chorus in Xmas and Easter Music

The University orchestra, under the direction of Prof. F. E. Kendrick, will present a concert the latter part of the semester, and accompany the glee clubs and chorus in their production of Christmas and Easter music.

There is still an opportunity for good string players (violins, violas, cellos, basses) to enroll, according to Professor Kendrick. He says, "While the number of orchestra players is fifty-seven, the organization will welcome any new material which shows promise. The orchestra owns four double basses, only two of which are in use at the present time."

Violins—Adolph Herzberg G of Connellyville, Penn.; Helen Roberts A4 of Marion; Elmer A. Larsen A1 of Iowa City; John W. Scott A2 of Ottawa; Robert Barkley A1 of Des Moines; Allden E. ### TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES FILED BY REPUBLICANS

Capitol Will Consider Five Points Brought Forward As Basis of Complaint

Washington, Nov. 29.—Specific charges on which three republican congressmen are seeking the impeachment of Attorney General Daugherty are prepared and will occupy the attention at the Capitol after Thanksgiving. Impeachment is sought on the following grounds.

1. Alleged failure to prosecute war frauds vigorously.
2. Issuance of sweeping injunction against the railway shippers.
3. Approval of teapot dome transaction by which the government oil reserves were opened to private exploitation.
4. Failure to prosecute certain trust cases such as those involving the United Gas Improving Company and the Wellsback Company.
5. Appointment of William J. Burns as chief of the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice.

WOLLMAN PICKS 15 FOR 1924 HAWKEYE

Will Assign Individual Duties To New Staff Members Soon

The staff of the 1924 Hawkeye was announced yesterday by the editor in chief, Stefan Wollman A3 of Council Bluffs. Wollman picked fifteen juniors to form his staff, but as yet has not assigned the specific duties of each. The fifteen juniors are:

- Buel G. Beems, Cedar Rapids, Zeta-gathian; Victoria M. Boyles, Iowa City, Theta Sigma Phi; Bernice M. Capion, Mechanicsville, Theta Sigma Phi; Persis M. Carney, Greene, Alpha Delta Pi; Ruth Kromer, Union, Theta Sigma Phi; Harry L. Jones, Burlington, Sigma Phi Epsilon; Fred M. Lazzell, Cedar Rapids, Sigma Delta Chi; Alexander M. Miller, Des Moines, Beta Theta Pi; Charles S. Ramsey, Oskaloosa, Phi Gamma Delta; Robert W. Record Glenwood, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Maudine Shoemith, Guthrie Center, Alpha Delta Pi; Henry E. Wageck, Council Bluffs; Margaret Wilson, Iowa City, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Emily J. Withrow, Mt. Pleasant, Gamma Phi Beta; and Lorenz G. Wolters, Waukon, Sigma Delta Chi.

As yet no extensive work has been done on the Hawkeye. Offices have been opened in close hall and an effort made to secure as many junior pictures as possible. The covers for the book have been ordered and are now being made. The reservations for junior pictures will close December 1, and the staff will then begin active work on the various departments of the issue.

CO-EDS MAY DANCE TILL EIGHT O'CLOCK

Because of numerous inquiries which have come into the office of the dean of women regarding permission to dance on Thanksgiving Day, the following announcement is made.

Dancing will be permitted on the afternoon of November 30 at all chap-eroned, reported parties. All dancing will be ended by 8 o'clock in the evening, because of the fact that regular classes will be held on Friday. The closing hour for all houses will be at 10 o'clock as usual.

SOCCER GAME POSTPONED

The final soccer game between the juniors and the sophomores and the field ball game between the freshmen and the seniors have been postponed because of the weather. These games will be played off before the end of next week. Basket ball practice will begin about a week before Christmas vacation.

To All Buyers of Men's Clothing:

In this store you will find we are all for Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. They are the cheapest clothes made in America. That's why we sell them.

A lot of retailers who handle well known lines do so merely as an advertising asset, using the name to attract prospective buyers and then selling them "something just as good". That's not our idea of honest merchandising.

Hart, Schaffner and Marx clothes are made to sell at $35 and more. We prefer to tell you the facts rather than lead you to believe they can be had in seasonable styles in unlimited selections around $25 and $30.

You will find in our store as large a selection of these famous clothes as you can see in any store located in a town of 35,000 population. The prices attached are as low or lower than other stores ask for the same goods made in the same styles.

We'll go farther and let you make the test. Call at the store and select a suit you like. Then take the lot number away with you and shop for identically the same goods any where you wish. If you can beat the price call again with your evidence and we will make you an interesting proposition.

Yours very truly,

This letter was written with the idea of personalizing one to every man who buys clothes in Iowa City. Realizing that about ninety out of every hundred go to the waste-basket we are putting it before you in this way so that you will be sure to get it.

Mumma Approves New Officers of Transport Corps

The Motor Transport unit advanced course officers for the first semester were approved Monday by Lt. Col. Morton C. Mumma, head of the local military department.

Students in this unit are chiefly mechanical and electrical engineers, with a few commerce students who intend to take transportation, and four dental students, according to Captain John N. Douglas, in command of the unit.

"The appointments to office for captains were made principally by promoting those men who were first lieutenants last year," said Captain Douglas. "Lieutenants this year are entirely first year advanced course men."

Hayne Commander

The lieutenant colonel, Raymond E. Hoyne L2 of Clarinda, the commander of the unit battalion, was chosen for this office because of his exceptional military abilities, in addition to his being president of the Officers' club.

William G. Wood S4 of Vinton, major, will be battalion adjutant. Ralph C. Woods S4 of Des Moines, commands headquarters company. He received his majorey because the headquarters company voted that he command them.

Twenty-five captains, twenty-three of whom are in the headquarters company, have been selected:

Robert A. Barker Cm4 of What Cheer; Donald E. Croyl A3 of Waterloo; William D. Crosier S4 of North Liberty; Eugene K. Derr G of Clarion;

Raymond F. Ebert S3 of Iowa City; Phillip C. Englert S3 of Iowa City; Lansing B. Dill A4 of Sanborn; Spencer T. Foote S4 of Iowa City; John S. Holbrook S4 of Onawa; Donald L. Hains S4 of Mount Auburn.

ANNA CASE WILL BRING NEW SONGS SELECTED ABROAD

It is estimated that Anna Case, the American soprano, who will appear in Iowa City on December 8 to present the third concert of the winter concert series, has in her repertoire over 500 songs, exclusive of operatic arias, which would give an idea of the enormous work required of a musician of her standing, according to Prof. Philip G. Clapp, of the music department.

Her principal reason for her trip to Europe during the past summer was to secure personally new manuscript material for use on the programs of her tours in America this season. Miss Case sings in English, French, Italian, German and Scandinavian, being noted for her clarity of diction in all these tongues. In arranging a program she rarely groups songs in chronological order or according to the nationality of the songs. She has, according to the Metropolitan Musical Bureau, always tried rather to build a musical mood, to bring out what might be called the harmonious contrast with light and shade in each group.

In speaking of programs, Miss Case said in a recent interview: "The hardest task of a singer is to find really good songs and enough of them to make a program of interest and variety which at the same time appeals to the public and a high musical standard. Songs must not only suit one's voice, but one's temperament, for unless I can feel myself into the atmosphere of a song, I simply cannot sing it. Plaintive songs, dramatic songs and songs with a note of melancholy are not rare; it is the bright songs which throw these others in contrast that are not so easily found. And then you have to avoid as much as possible what other singers use. The further problem of appearing before the same public for a second, third and fourth time complicates matters still more. By the hardest sort of work I have discovered a number of new songs in Europe this summer which I hope my public will like."

STUDENT PARSONAGE WILL BE DEDICATED NEXT SUNDAY EVENING

The dedication program of the new Baptist student center parsonage will begin Friday evening with a reception for Iowa City people and end with the ceremony of dedication at 9:00 o'clock Sunday evening. The B. Y. P. U. shop meeting to be held Saturday at 2:30 o'clock will be in charge of the Rev. V. N. Witter of Des Moines, state director of religious education, and the Rev. C. A. Carman of Grinnell, state B. Y. P. U. president and international B. Y. P. U. vice president.

Saturday night the Iowa City B. Y. P. U. will put on a minstrel show which promises to be a very good entertainment. This will be followed by a good time social as a demonstration of what the University young people can do in a social way. The Sunday school hour Sunday morning will be given over to class work directed by the out-of-town speakers. Doctor Witter will have charge of the University class to which all young people are invited, and Dr. G. W. Cassidy, of Des Moines, of the Brotherhood class to which all laymen and out of town ministers are invited. Doctor Mitchell, of Des Moines, will lead the ladies' Good Cheer class.

Open house will be held at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the student center parsonage for all University young people and all out of town guests. Following this at 5:30 o'clock the regular B. Y. P. U. luncheon will be served in the church rooms. The young people in their meeting at 6:30 o'clock hope to have an exchange of ideas as to the working plans of various unions over the state.

The evening worship will be in charge of Doctor Cassidy, of Des Moines and following the service the congregation will adjourn to the student center parsonage, where a short formal dedication will be held.

Building Held Up

The program of building construction in the University has been brought to a standstill because of lack of funds in state coffers. There will be no further work done, other than construction of the chemistry building, until after the beginning of the new year. At that time the legislature will meet and make building appropriations for the coming year. It is expected that the first fifty thousand dollars of the new appropriation will be used for the completion of Old Capitol.

Sudhindra Bose, lecturer in the department of political science, has just returned from Northwood, in Worth county, where he delivered several addresses to a teachers' institute. Mr. Bose's next lectures will be given at Marshalltown.

FIND BIG DOPE RING ON PACIFIC COAST

(By United News)

San Francisco, Nov. 27—Federal narcotic agents are on the trail, they believe of the principal big ring of smugglers who yearly import millions of dollars worth of "dope" from China.

Although large quantities of cocaine and morphine have been seized in the past year by customs inspectors and narcotic agents, most of it on Chinese passenger liners, such officers have realized that they were only getting a small part of the contraband.

Through a recent confession of a Chinese steerage cook on a large Chinese passenger liner, who was arrested when found in possession of $75,000 worth of cocaine and opium, the federal agents believe they have found the key to the smuggling.

The Chinese in question confessed that he had been approached by an agent for a large Chinese "dope smuggling" concern. For a good sum of money, the cook agreed to receive the consignment of "dope" consisting of 90 five-oz. tins of opium and 116 ounces of cocaine from an agent who was to smuggle it past the inspectors at the Hongkong and Yokohama piers.

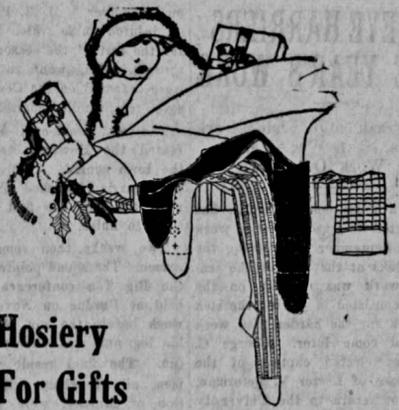

He was to turn the "dope" over to an agent of the ring when the liner touched at Honolulu. This agent was responsible for getting it ashore at Honolulu, where it would be transferred to a freighter running between the Hawaiian islands and San Francisco, and, not having been to the Orient, would not be as closely combed for "dope" when it arrived in this country.

The Chinese cook stowed the contraband away under the false floor of a storeroom. The agent of the ring was unable to get aboard into the steerage quarters when the liner docked at Honolulu and hence the cook was left with $75,000 worth of opium on his hands.

When the vessel arrived here, federal agents made a search of the ship, discovered the dope, and arrested the cook. His confession was obtained by the steamship company, which is interested in preventing "dope" to get aboard, if for no other reason than that the vessel is libelled with federal penalties automatically.

FALLS ON STAIRS

Gladdis A. Burrell A2 of Woodward became unconscious as a result of falling on the stairs at the north entrance of liberal arts yesterday. Dr. William J. McDonald, of the department of student health, was called immediately and soon restored her to consciousness.

"Have I Missed My Chance?"

A shadow— and a light

"I'm twenty-eight, and I begin to wonder. Have I missed my chance? I have had responsibilities, and little time for pleasure. I've let myself sag, I guess. My freshness seems gone, and my hair is the worst thing about me. Won't you help me 'come back'?" —MARJORIE.

DON'T wonder! Act! Use a shampoo containing a touch of henna, and you will give your hair a silken luster, a fresh sparkle, that will be the dominant note of your personality. There's more life and light in your hair than you dream of, and "a touch of henna shampoo" will bring it out.

HENNAFOAM SHAMPOO will bring back the full beauty of your hair safely and quickly. In the subtly fragrant liquid of HENNAFOAM, a touch of henna is blended with pure vegetable oils that make the hair clean and fresh. The touch of henna has been treated scientifically to make every woman's hair glow. It will work its magic whether you are blonde, brown-haired or brunette.

HAWKEYE HARRIERS CLOSE YEAR'S WORK

Indoor Track and Field Work Begins Next Week; Men To Work Outdoors

The Iowa cross country squad has just completed its season. Actual work started on September 25. During the warmer weeks at the first of the season, the work was entirely on the track and consisted in getting the men in condition for the harder road work that would come later. George C. Ashton was elected captain of the team in place of Lester V. Peterman, who did not return to the University this year.

In the tryout preceding the Cornell meet which was held at Mount Vernon on November 4, H. R. Phelps suffered an injured ankle which kept him out for the rest of the season. The team, thus crippled, went to Cornell and were defeated on the Cornell four and seven-tenths miles course.

The next week-end, Minnesota defeated the Hawkeye team 15-40 on the Iowa course. All five of the Gopher harriers finished ahead of Ashton, who was the first of the Iowa team to finish.

Two weeks then remained in the season. The squad pointed its work to the Big Ten conference meet to be held at Purdue on November 25. A week before the run, Ashton injured his leg and was unable to start the run. The final result was that six men, all of whom, with the exception of Murray, were inexperienced, started in this run. The Iowa men who finished are: Payne, 38th, Zacher, 41 st; Sheldon, 43rd; Senshore, 46th; Murray 49th.

Indoor track and field work will start with the first call to both varsity and freshmen pole vaulters on Monday, December 4. Weight men will continue their workouts out of doors.

The indoor work will be carried out on a different plan this winter, according to the coach. He intends to spend the first two weeks in giving instruction to only pole vaulters. This instruction consists in developing correct form for the pole vault on the horizontal bar.

The weight men, with the exception of the shot putters, will work outside the entire winter. This outdoor work will be made possible by the issuing of warm clothing to all prospects. Both Captain T. E. Martin and Coach Bresnahan urge that all weight men, both varsity and freshmen, report immediately for the workouts.

Freshmen Answer First Call for Basketball Squad

Only about twenty-five men have answered the call for freshman basketball thus far. This is rather surprising, as the squad of yearlings reporting for the first week's practice usually numbers around a hundred. It is expected that the number now out will be greatly increased before the first cut is made in the squad.

In the absence of Albert Jenkins, head freshman coach, the squad was under the supervision of George Frohwein, Iowa's star forward last year and the year before. The men were sent through a short practice on dribbling the ball the length of the court at the beginning of the drill, and later were divided into four teams. The remainder of the period was spent in scrimmage.

Some of the candidates looked exceptionally promising for the first real scrimmage, and although it is rather early to get an accurate line on the players, it should not be a very hard matter to develop a strong aggregation to mix it with the varsity later on.

The following men reported for last night's practice: V. B. Froehle of St. Paul, Minn.; F. P. Falvey of Albia; H. J. Carter of Shellock; N. W. Carman of Buffalo Center; G. Schafbusch of Marengo; V. La Porte of Keokuk; B. T. Agard of Goldfield; W. E. Grimm of Iowa City; W. E. Brown of Boone; R. T. Line of Whiting; M. C.

Mix of Eureka, S. Dak.; C. C. Kirchner of Peterson; A. C. Olson of Buffalo Center; R. E. Chaffee of Iowa City; Dan Speed of Knoxville; L. Lechy of Iowa City; J. Hanthorne of Council Bluffs; W. Larrabee of Clermont; C. R. Poole of Diagonal; H. C. Baldwin of Cascade; P. Hergesheimer of Rochester, Minn.; and A. Grother of Omaha, Neb.

The next freshman practice will be held Friday afternoon at 4:30.

Iowa Basketball Squad Takes Long Work At Armory

After the basketball men had warmed up last night, Coach Sam Barry divided the squad into three teams, two gold sweater teams and one from the white sweater squad. These teams scrimmaged two ten-minute halves.

The first gold sweater team to play and the baskets each man made were: Barton 1, Swenson 2, Duhm, McGovney 3, and Viquain. They scrimmaged Gibbs, Stover, Griffith, Scanlon and Treneman. The second team, which played the same white sweater team, with the exception of Boyesen for Griffith, and those who scored were: Laude 2, Burgitt 3, Voltmer, Janse 4, Funk 3. The two gold sweater squads then scrimmaged each other, Emmert and Rankin taking the place of Janse and Laude. Barton made one basket for his team. The other team scored as follows: Burgitt 1, Voltmer 1, Emmert 1, and Rankin 2.

The squad will not scrimmage tonight but will practice Friday afternoon.

BETA THETA PI TEAM STILL LEADS GREEK BRIDGE TOURNAMENT

The Beta Theta Pi teams increased their lead Tuesday evening in the bridge tournament by beating the Phi Psi teams both games. The Alpha Tau Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi and Phi Delt are ahead of the remaining teams.

Tuesday evening the Betas won both of their games from the Phi Psis. The Tau Delt beat the Phi Delt both games. The A. T. O.'s and the Sigma Nus split their games. The Sig Alphas won one and lost one game to the Sig Chis. The Kappa Sigs drew the bye.

Games for next week, the sixth week, are: Tau Delt play the Phi Delt; the Kappa Sigs play the Sigma Nus; the Betas play the Sigma Chis; the Phi Delt play the A. T. O.'s; and the Sig Alphas drew the bye.

UNIVERSITY LAUNDRY CLEANS 65 BASKETS OF CLOTHES DAILY

Operating from 7 a. m. until 11:45 p. m., the University laundry cleans sixty-five baskets of clothes every day including Sunday. The big proportion of this laundry comes from the women's and men's gymnasiums; the dormitory and the various hospitals.

Four huge cylindrical washers and three wringers are required to handle the towels, table clothes, and soiled clothing from University buildings. Towels are checked in and out of the plant, but despite this precaution there is an immense shortage each year. More towels are lost each year at the men's gymnasium than at all other sources of loss put together. Twenty-three women are kept busy in the ironing department, while five men are employed in the washing room. The laundry has its own heating plant, which is aided by University heating plant number one. They are so arranged that either may be used without the operation of the other. An indicator is attached to show the number of pounds of steam which each plant is furnishing.

ADD 13 NEW COURSES IN EXTENSION DIVISION

Thirteen new courses have been added to the University correspondence curriculum, according to the list published in the latest catalog of the extension division. This addition swells the number of courses to 101, including work in six departments—economics, English, history, romance languages, music and education. At present 300 people, representing twenty-six states, are taking work through these correspondence courses.

In economics the new courses offer a three-hour course in corporation economics, a course in corporation finance, and a course in American immigration. There are five additional subjects in English—the poetry of Tennyson and Browning, argumentation, the English bible as literature, technical writing for use especially in the engineering profession, and business English, a course emphasizing the fundamental principles common to all writing. Only one new course is given in history, recent contemporary American history.

In romance languages a course in old French is given in an effort to make the student familiar with the French of the middle ages and study it in its development from the Latin. Another course in this department is in Spanish literature.

Prof. Charles L. Robbins, of the department of education, has just written a course in methods of high school teaching for those who are actually engaged in teaching. The largest enrollment is in the departments of education and English.

FIND OLD BOOK IN LIBRARY

The oldest book in the university library, to the best knowledge of the librarians was printed in 1511. Many facsimiles of older books are owned by the university and several older manuscripts. The book was written by Johannes von Kaiserberg Geiler, a preacher of the reformation, who was born about the middle of the fifteenth century. The title of the book is "Navicula Sive Speculum Fatuorum," which translated means "The Ship or Mirror of Fools." It is written in latin and contains many curious and entertaining woodcuts, in which the devil predominates. Sermons make up most of the contents of the book.

Unhappy Orphans Will Spend Day In County Jail

Thanksgiving Day is likely to prove anything but happy for Ralph Thompson and Harold Ware, two unfortunate Detroit boys at present in the Iowa City jail. These boys, both orphans, had been working on a farm in Minnesota, but received such poor pay that they left and came to Iowa City. Stopping at a house to beg for food and clothing, they discovered there was no one at home and broke in. They were surprised at their work by the return of the owner, who called the police.

Hearing of the case has been set for Friday, and only the leniency of the judge can save the boys from being sent to the reform school. If reliable parties signify their willingness, however, it is possible that the two boys may be placed on probation.

UNIVERSITY ALUMNUS TO TALK HERE TUESDAY

Irving B. Richmond of Muscatine will deliver an address next Tuesday afternoon at 4:10 in the rooms of the State Historical Society of Iowa, on "Prehistoric Geography and the Discovery of America."

Irving B. Richmond received the degree of B. A. in 1893 and the degree of M. A. in 1896 at the State University of Iowa. In 1904 he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Literature at Brown university.

Since being admitted to the bar in 1885 he has been practicing law at Muscatine.

Mr. Richmond is the author of "John Brown Among the Quakers and Other Sketches," "Pure Democracy and Pastoral Life in Inner Rhoden," Rhode Island Its Making and Making," "California Under Spain and Mexico," "San Francisco Bay and California Indian 1776," "The Spanish Conquerors," and many other books.

This lecture will be of usual interest to graduate students in the departments of history, political science, economics, sociology, and commerce.

THANKFUL FOR WHAT?

Thanksgiving offers an excuse for retrospection; it is a day on which the world pauses in its onward rush to look backward over the road it has journeyed with perhaps an occasional survey of the present surroundings and a glance into the future. It is a day for philosophers. The serious minded, careful lest their philosophy transcend the bounds of logic, will find imperfections but counterbalancing them, signs of wholesomeness; Pollyannas will prate of the things to be thankful for; Babbitts will assume masks of cheerfulness at existing conditions; and the rest of us will be thankful that things are no worse than they are.

None will be disappointed in his analysis of life's journey for evidence is not wanting from the year now nearing its close, and from past years to support his claims no matter how far-fetched they may be. Optimism and pessimism, however, are becoming antiquated as stock frames of mind into which to fit our lives. An illogical optimism, or a forced optimism is quite as dangerous as prompted pessimism.

Today one may hear enumerated at great length the things for which to be thankful, and thankful for them because they have contributed to our happiness or to the happiness of others. In that list one undoubtedly will find material things which have come into our lives since Puritan forefathers met on this day over three hundred years ago to give thanks for their well being. Happiness is a relative thing and within broad limits is entirely independent of events or conditions. The sum total of happiness in the life of one individual seems to equal that of another.

Since the day of the Puritans, inventions, changes in government and new methods of procuring food have contributed to the ease and well being of the nation but have not increased happiness. Our serious minded forefathers made up in quality of happiness what we may possess in quantity. If we give thanks today, then it should be without material things in mind.

A TEAR FOR GREEN CAPS

What was commonly known about the campus as the green cap "tradition" has passed on into the great realm of the forgotten. It died a lingering death. Warnings of the serious state into which it had fallen went unheeded and at its demise last Saturday night not a mourner was present and not a tear was shed.

Here is indeed an unparalleled example of cruelty. Brought into this world of conflicting interests, by a foster father, the Howling 300, and totally disregarded by its real father, the Student Council, the "tradition" had a hard struggle to exist, especially since it seems never to have been suited to the rigors of an Iowa climate.

The community of organizations took upon itself last year the rearing of this foster child, but as the case always is, one thought the other should take the responsibility, and as a consequence, all forgot this puny babe. In the two fitful years which it was suffered to live, it gained a few friends but none of the lasting type. When calamity threatened they deserted the babe to a hard, unsympathizing world. Some repent of their coldness and even talk of resurrection, but many think that the babe will never again live upon this earth.

This, in short, is the life history of our beloved "tradition." It is a lesson to those of us who still live. The moral is that a tradition grafted on the student body must have a sponsor, someone who will take the responsibility of disciplining it and who will also administer antidotes in case of a decline. We are all to blame for the Green Cap's death, but after all perhaps it is better dead than alive.

CONTEMPORARY OPINION

(New York Herald)

A PLOT FOR HERGESHEIMER

Life can never resist the temptation to come to the rescue of the novelist. She will speak out in defense of him whether his fiction take the form of a book, or mimic life on the stage or pass before its enthralled observer in the swiftly changing pictures of the cinema. Maybe she is jealous of the reputation in the proverb that life is stranger than fiction.

The imagination of the writer who told as fiction the story of Mrs. Viola Cook of Provincetown, Mass., would have been praised anywhere; few would have detected reality in the dark folds of the web he spun. Pathos dwelt in the picture of the demented wife staring with longing eyes through the windows of the deserted cottage toward the sea, which was destined never to return the husband she passionately awaited. Tragedy spoke in the mad language of the woman, who did not know that the waters from which she expected all life held for her to come back again had cheated her forever.

Yet there had been a little mercy in the sea's way of subjugating a woman's life to the invincible powers of nature. Two years in the ice bound north took from her, along with the ability to think and understand, also the faculty of realizing that her former husband, Captain John Cook, had left her. Devotion had taken her on the whaling trips that carried his boat to the realms of ice. Long imprisonment there had bereft her of mental powers. She could no more understand that he had for this cause divorced her than that, by taking another wife, he had condemned her to be always alone.

That was the mercy of nature. Mrs. Cook could still strain her eyes for a sight of his boat coming back to her over the sea that had been so cruel. She could still prepare for the day when they would meet. She could die alone in the empty house with the sound of his voice and maybe the splash of the icy spray alternating in her ears. Yet she was never to learn that she was deserted. To that degree life had spared her.

The Sounding Board

TONSORIAL NOTE

News has just arrived from the armory that a committee of Vigilantes, with the welfare of the University at heart, gently but firmly relieved a budding movie hero of the sideburns which had been weighing him down. Good work, men! A freshman who habitually gets a hair trim instead of a shave has no place in our midst. . . . We might suggest that the same committee take under advisement the abatement of the bell-bottom trouser epidemic.

Our dramatic critic, we hear, refrained from frankly expressing her opinion of "Mr. Pim Passes By," lest this column make a scathing reply. She need have had no hesitancy on our account. Were we to make any such rejoinder we should be charged with having lost our sense of humor.

One is urged via advertisement to buy the "special Christmas gift presentation edition" of Mr. Post's "Etiquette." Sending a friend "The Blue Book of Social Usage" for Christmas would certainly be the height of tact.

Why is it that American insurance companies will not insure stocks of hooch against theft, but English companies will take a risk on the success of an author's new book.

ANAMOSIA KEEPS ABREAST OF THE TIME (Correspondence in Cedar Rapids Republican)

The city clock is installed and is shining forth by day and night, and striking the hours and half hours with its melodious chime. It is said not to vary one second in weeks, and will fill a real want in the life of the community.

W. G. McAdoo has been pinched for going fifty-one miles an hour in Los Angeles. He seems to have forgotten that the Wilson dynasty is no longer in power. And that Californians always require autoists to go slow and enjoy the climate.

STEALING ANDY GUMP'S STUFF

When questioned on his attitude toward anti-prohibition legislation, Senator-elect Edwards of New Jersey cried: "Just watch me when I get to Washington. Just watch me!"

Senators from the solid south have commenced a filibuster to kill the anti-lynching bill, claiming it to be unconstitutional.

Lynching, you may not know, is one of the pursuits of happiness guaranteed by the constitution.

MUSICAL TESTS BY SEASHORE ARE POPULAR

Experiments Show Ability To Become a Musician May Actually Be Measured

Prof. Carl E. Seashore, dean of the graduate, college and professor of philosophy and psychology, receives much favorable comment in the December issue of the Scientific American upon a series of musical tests which he has been conducting.

The article states that Professor Seashore has done more and gone further to establish certain particular abilities of the human mind than any other student. His musical tests do not deal with averages but with particular individuals. He is able to test any individual and say definitely how much musical ability that person possesses in relation to the average talent possessed by the group of persons already tested and numbering more than 5,000.

Professor Seashore can tell you whether you have the latent ability to become a great musician. Musical ability is made up of a number of talents which overlap one with the other. He has broken these up into their distinctive parts, and put them together intelligently.

Doctor Seashore believes that the best training possible will not improve the poor musical ear to any great extent.

Iowa schools are using his tests to rate the ability of children. Des Moines schools have installed these tests into their courses by means of phonograph records. These tests are for pitch, memory, rhythm, consonance and dissonance, and intensity. The sounds are reproduced on the phonograph while the student indicates on his paper whether the second is higher or lower than the first. The notes are gradually made more similar until only the finest ear can detect the difference.

The person whose ear is most perfect would probably make a good piano tuner but not necessarily a great musician. Great stress will be laid upon the application of these tests in the future; the people of this country spend millions of dollars each year upon musical training upon students who are not adapted to this kind of work. By these tests only those who are fitted for this work will receive it.

Professor Seashore has devised an instrument which is called the musical touch audiometer. This instrument records the difference between what the person wishes in obtaining results, and what he actually does produce in the way of results. Other instruments which are used in these tests are the tonoscope and the tuning forks.

Voice analyses of famous performers have been made. These include such personages as Melba, Gluck, Destinn, Alda and Eames. Melba and Gluck have the steadiest voices with the fewest and smallest fluctuations.

Professor Seashore says, "The gift of music is inborn, and inborn in specific types which can be detected early in life, before time for beginning serious musical education."

An example is cited of a boy who was about to be persuaded by his father to go into the hardware business. The boy was somewhat of a musician and preferred to follow that vocation. They resorted to the infallible tests of the noted psychologist for a decision. Today, the boy is giving a series of violin recitals throughout the country, and next year will go to Europe.

TRANSIT TO BE SOLD NEXT MONDAY IN ALL UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS

The December issue of the Transit with a leading article on the location of the Iowa Memorial Union, will be on sale in the different University buildings Monday morning.

The main article of this issue, "The Location of the Memorial Union," by Prof. F. G. Higbee of the engineering college, will be illustrated with a full page sketch by George Stout, instructor in the arts department, showing the Union building as it will appear in the proposed location. A map drawn by Prof. A. H. Holt of the engineering college, showing numerous improvements on the campus, will also accompany the article.

Other features of this issue are: "The Problems of Engineering Education," by C. M. Toyne G. of Davenport, the article which won second prize in the recent contest which the Transit conducted among the students of the college of applied science; "Electrical Engineering as a Profession," by Prof. A. H. Ford, head of the electrical engineering department; and "Broadcasting Station WHAA" by P. A. Stover S3 of Marengo.

Other regular sections of the publication include editorials, athletics, campus notes, engineering news and elections.

The Transit will be on sale at all the bookstores, and in the various University buildings by members of the "Sisters of the Howling 300", under the supervision of Pearl V. Davies A4 of Plymouth. A prize of two dollars will be given to the member who sells the largest number of copies.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS TO PRESENT BIBLICAL DRAMA IN DECEMBER

A Biblical drama, under the auspices of the Presbyterian church, to be given in December in the auditorium of the church, is one of a number of plays which are presented during the year for which any student in the University may try out. It affords the best of dramatic training to any student interested in dramatics.

"Jephthah's Daughter," written by Elma Lovenger and awarded a prize in the National Drama league contest recently conducted, is the play being rehearsed at present. The cast of the play was chosen and is being directed by Persis Carney A3 of Greene.

The cast is as follows: Jephthah, son of Gilead—Gerhard Noll A4 of Waukon; Elad, his father—Forest Roberts G of Lamoni; Sheilah, his only child—

Marjorie E. Kay A1 of Iowa City; Dinah, Sheilah's old nurse—Ada Swolwell; Amasa, an elder in Israel—Dwight Kinsey A3 of Grimes; Nathan, his son—Roger Leech A4 of Tipton; Rachel, Amas' daughter—Lillian King A3 of Waukon; Zebul, the singer—George Crane A1 of Bellevue; Josiah, comrade of Jephthah—George Faust A2 of Dexter; Michal and Tirzah, young girls of Mizpeh—Evelyn Houck A2 of Bellevue and Helen Paugh A1 of Jefferson; soldiers and people of Mizpeh. The exact date of the play will be announced later and rehearsals are being held now.

W. A. WILL GIVE DANCE

After the turkey and the quasi-turkey have been consumed, Women's association will give a dance at Varsity hall to round out Thanksgiving day's festivities and give the name of the day a significance to those who do not get to go home.

The dance will be from 3 to 5 p. m., the regular orchestra will play, and the usual prices of fifty-five cents for men and twenty-five for women will be charged, according to Gertrude Shanklin A4 of Toledo, who is in charge of it.

Chaperons will be Miss Helen Williams and hostesses Margaret S. Altman A4 of Livermore, Eleanor Tummel A2 of State Center and Nora A. Thoen A3 of Northwood.

One Reason For Thankfulness

To those who have bank accounts, Thanksgiving day is an occasion for being truly thankful. Students at the University of Iowa who have accounts at the First National Bank also have something to be thankful for throughout the year since the money they have at their disposal for their college education is being cared for by a strong bank with a sincere interest in their welfare.

If you have not taken advantage of our service thus far, plan to start an account when you get back after the holidays.

FIND ANCIENT "VICTROLA" IN RANNEY LIBRARY

Few people have seen and fewer yet ever heard the quaint old music box which is part of the Ranney collection and is kept in the Ranney library. It is in the shape of a small casket having handles on the side and ends, and resting directly on the floor. The selections it plays are confined to the six on one cylindrical record about four inches in diameter and two feet long. On this record are "The Anvil Chorus," "The Lucia Sextet," and a wedding march. Little is known about the history of the box except that it was probably among the earliest to be made and bears a Swiss patent mark.

DAILY IOWAN PLACES 4 IOWA MEN ON TEAM

nois were the strongest and most versatile men in the conference. Minick made about half of the line tackles made by the Hawkeyes. He blocked up holes through his position, tackled off the ends, and was fast enough to get in Iowa's famous four man interference. Besides his stellar line work, he did the punting for the Iowa team, and his average will stand up against that of any kicker in the conference.

What Minick was to Iowa, so McMillan was to Illinois. He was shifted from side to side in order to head the Illini plays. He was drawn back out of the line, and frequently tackled off the ends. His work received a tremendous amount of publicity, but no more than it deserved. Among the many other guards were Steele of Michigan, Lewis of Chicago, Putman of Northwestern, and Holfeld of Wisconsin.

Heldt Outrivals Old Centers

Heldt of Iowa stands out easily as the superior of all conference centers. The stocky Hawkeye passer failed to meet a man whom he did not outplay. After the Ohio game, the Ohio paper told about his teaching the game to three Buckeye centers. His passing was almost perfect, his defense work was outstanding for he was in plays off tackle and off end. As of Minnesota draws the center position of the second team, with King of Chicago and Blott of Michigan as close contenders.

Hard To Pick Backfield

Picking the backfield was the hardest job of all, for how could anyone get Locke, Kipke, Martineau, Williams, Workman, Bahr, Uteritz, and Pyott, on the same backfield, and how could anyone leave them off? We tried solving this problem by shifting Williams of Wisconsin to quarterback, a position that he played last year, and picking the best of the remainder for the other places. This is an unsatisfactory arrangement, but it seems to be the only one that will work. Walter Camp did the same thing last year, when he shifted Kaw of Cornell to fullback on his all-American team. Kaw is a half-back whose specialty is running the ends.

We do not think that there will be any dispute over the assertion that Gordon Locke, Hawkeye captain, was the most valuable back in conference football. Not only could he hit the line like a pile driver, but he could run the ends with any back in the country. He scored nearly fifty points more than his nearest conference opponent, and except for some of California's backs, of whom we know nothing, is leading the country in total scoring with 96 points.

Kipke of Michigan wins second place just as easily as Locke won first. He was a large part of the Michigan running attack, he punted, he passed, and he received many of the Michigan passes. He was also a fine defensive back, and one scout told us that he seemed to be able to smell out his opponents' passes.

Minnesota had only a fair team, but they had in Martineau one of the best backs in the conference. Martineau would have made almost any team a good team. He was about the best passer in the big ten, requiring practically no protection, and getting away with many long runs when his receivers were covered. His punting was also up to the best in the conference, and his defensive work was spectacular.

Williams Best Quarterback

There were several backs of prominence on the Wisconsin team, but Williams was easily the best. His specialty was end runs and splits between tackle and end. Once loose, he was hard to bring down. He has been shifted to quarterback to make room for some of the other great backs that were so plentiful this season.

Cappon of Michigan, Pyott of Chicago, Workman of Ohio State, and Bahr of Wisconsin were given places on the second team. Each of them are stars, and most of them would have made places on conference teams in the past. This year, however, there were so many really great backfield men that they are forced to take places on the second team.

Our team would have a line that would be practically impossible to penetrate, and which would open the great holes on offense. It would have a pair of fast, shifty ends, excellent receivers of passes and strong defensive players. The backfield alone would make it a team to be feared. Martineau could do the passing, and could relieve Kipke in punting. Locke would plow through the line. All of them can run the ends, for all are very fast. Kipke is a fine punter, especially accurate in placing his kicks. It would be a team that would make easy going of nearly any opponent.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Cosmopolitan Club will meet on Saturday evening at 7:30 in the liberal arts drawing room. There will be a short program, and an important business meeting. All the members are requested to be there on time. Those who are interested in the club are invited.
