General French Advance Expected January 15

NO STRIKE WILL BE TOLERATED, SAY GERMANY

Will Not Allow Men At Ruhr To Hinder Advance of French

By Ferdinand Jahn (United News Staff Correspondent) Berlin, Jan. 8.—The German government declines to sanction any strike in the Ruhr valley as a measure of protest against French occupancy, it has been learned on the highest authority. Germany thus far views the impending invasion by France with complacency.

Pressure has been exerted from certain quarters on the German government to stir up a strike of miners to limit or prevent the use of railroads to haul French troops, but Chancellor Cuno refused to sanction such procedure.

The government has decided to offer no resistance to the French invasion and people in Ruhr have been notified to remain calm and bear the new bitter pill.

Germany plans to inform the world that the German people consider the invasion unjust, especially after the latest reparations offered by the government was turned down as were efforts to obtain an anti-war pact with France.

SCHROEDER PLANS SKATING TOURNAMENT

Races, Fancy Skating, and Stunts To Be Featured In Novel Meet

Students of the University of Iowa interested in skating will probably have an opportunity to participate in a tournament if the matter receives the favorable attention of the athletic board of the university.

"Considering the great interest that is being taken in skating by students of the University, there is no reason why a tournament cannot be staged on the Iowa river," said E. G. Schroeder director of physical education for men. "Some sort of races at least can be held, with an exhibition of fancy skating. Such an event would undoubtedly prove very popular."

There are many skaters among the students who are experts on the ice and there is no doubt that a tournament would be popular. Mr. Schroeder says that the matter will be taken up and definite announcement of such a proposed event will be announced shortly.

POLITICAL SCIENCE CLUB TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

Arrangements have been made by the Political Science club to observe the twenty-sixth birthday anniversary at the meeting which will be held at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Shambaugh tomorrow evening. For some years it has been the practice of the club to take notice of the founding and the founders of the organization.

One of the features connected with the observance is the placing of wreaths on graves of the members buried in the Iowa City cemetery. This year wreaths will be placed on the graves of Pres. Charles A. Shaffer; Chancellor Emlin McClain; Prof. Isaac A. Loos; Dean Amos N. Currier; Dean L. G. Weld; Dean W. C. Wilcox and Mr. Joseph W. Rich.

STUDENTS CROWD LOCAL CHURCHES

Response To Appeal of Purpose of "Go-To-Church" Day Is Very Satisfactory

If Iowa City ministers are to answer the question, "Shall Go-to-church Sunday be a University precedent?" their response will be in the form of an emphatic "Yes."

With increases in student attendance ranging from 75 to 100 per cent, the students stamped their approval to the setting aside of the first Sunday of the new year as "Go-to-church" Sunday. Of the four churches from which student attendance statistics are available, the Congregationalists report an increase of 100 per cent, the Presbyterians an increase of 75 per cent the Baptists an increase of 80 per cent, and the Methodists an increase of 100 per cent.

In the Methodist church alone a student attendance of 720 is reported in a total congregation count of a thousand persons. "Every seat was taken and a large number of chairs were carried up from the basement to accommodate the visitors" is Rev. S. E. Ellis' comment on his Sunday morning service.

"Every Sunday a Go-to-church Sunday" is the suggestion of Rev. Ira J. Houston of the Congregational church who also spoke before a large audience.

In the Christian church audience, students predominated with a majority of approximately 60 per cent. The Lutherans had an exceptionally large student turnout while the Unitarian audience averaged 75 per cent students to 25 per cent townspeople, conservatively speaking. "A church full" is expressive of the large audience of students who heard Rev. Robert R. Reed at the Presbyterian church.

The rush to 8 o'clocks can only parallel the parades of students as they flocked to the houses of worship on the first day of the week. Despite the snow which kept many a regular church-goer home by the fireside, coeds and college men attended the church of their choice.

Though the repeating of Go-to-church Sunday is still a matter of conjecture, the decided success of this week's experiment no doubt will leave lasting impression. Both students and Iowa Cityans are asking that the first Sunday of each year be set aside as all-University day at the churches.

University Women Eligible To Enter Swimming Meets

A forty yard dash for women is included in the list of events of the swimming meet which is to be held at Omaha Nebraska, January 18. The entries for the event must be in before Thursday, January 18.

Any women who can make good time in swimming a re requested to make appointments for the tryouts which will be held Wednesday, January 10. Miss Taylor and Miss Boillin will time the women who tryout. On February 1 a tank meet will be held at Iowa in which a hundred yard dash for women is included. Any University woman is eligible to tryout for this.

On Wednesday evening the Seals club will have a meeting and a dinner at the women's gymnasium. Plans for these swimming meet will be discussed and two women will probably be selected to represent the University at the Omaha meet.

U. S. PREPARED TO WITHDRAW RHINE TROOPS

This Government Views French Advance With Apprehension, Is Claim

(By United News) This government is prepared to withdraw its troops from Germany if there is any likelihood of their being involved in Franco-German trouble.

By Raymond Clapper (United News Staff Correspondent) Washington, Jan. 8.—France has decided to advance into the Ruhr Basin notwithstanding informal representations from the United States making the claim that this government viewed the action with apprehension, it was learned officially late Monday. These representations, it was understood were made formally through Ambassador Herrick in Paris.

While the United States recognizes that France may be within her treaty rights, the United States believes that a less harmful means of collecting reparations is practicable. The American proposal for an international commission of experts to examine the German capacity to pay is still open but officials here have given up hope of its being accepted, until after France gives her own methods of force a trial.

Information reaching this government convinces the authorities that France has decided to override all obstacles and go ahead with the occupation of industrial centers in Germany. Hardly had this been made known when press despatches began arriving from abroad detailing advanced movements of French troops towards Essen.

With France thus determined, further protest by the United States would be useless officials hold. They made this government's attitude known positively and forcefully and France did not see fit to abide by it. Officials predict the French effort will fail of its purpose.

Piper Collects Folk-Lore Songs for Two States

A folk-lore composed of five to 600 ballads, songs, proverbs, and riddles is the property of Edwin Ford Piper, poet and associate professor in the department of English. The collection started twenty years ago has grown through correspondence, travel, class research, and the contributions of In some cases, the collector has learned old ballads orally transmitted for generations.

The collection is valuable since certain ballads are unparalleled by printed copies and others are without duplicate. Tunes accompany several ballads.

"Some day when time permits, I shall publish a syllabus of the collection," says Professor Piper. A number of such syllabuses by Louise Pound "Folk Songs of Nebraska and the Central West", Hubert Shearin "Kentucky Folk Songs," E. S. Hartland "Folks Tales", and others are current.

The many subjects dealing with former generations include love-songs, number-songs, dance-songs, play-songs, counting-out-songs, broadsides, rhymes, jigs and ditties. Most of the material has been collected in Iowa and Nebraska.

An article on this folk-lore collection by Professor Piper appeared recently in "The Journal of American Folklore".

REPORT SHORTAGE OF LABOR IN 1923

Nationwide Building Boom Is the Prediction of Building Construction Employers

(By United News) Chicago, Jan. 8.—A nationwide building boom in 1923 and a corresponding shortage of skilled building trades labor is forecast in a national survey of building construction employers.

Although in some cities there has been a shortage of common labor, the most acute shortage is that of bricklayers, plasterers and lathers. Some of the replies received from builders' associations in the various cities queried are:

Cleveland—"values of building construction during September totalled $9,500,000. Cleveland expects banner year in 1923. Shortage of plasterers, bricklayers and lathers."

Milwaukee—"Shortage of mechanics prevailed in most building trades which necessarily forced contractors to pay premium wages."

Cincinnati—"Building situation is in a bad state. Doing 100 percent more building than normally. Shortage of workmen pyramids wages. Building boom expected to continue next year."

San Francisco—"Building boom on. All work done under American plan conditions. San Francisco appears to be permanently on an open shop basis insofar as building trades industry is concerned."

St. Paul—"This has been our best building year. Plenty of work in sight for next year. Efficiency of men increased materially."

Boston—"Great deal of work in progress, but not much new work offered. Shortage of bricklayers and plasterers."

Pittsburgh—"Slight shortage of laborers and bricklayers. Plasterers' wages are $10 a day, and some are getting $15 a day from outside contractors."

St. Louis—"No let up in building boom. Shortage of bricklayers."

Denver—"This city is experiencing the biggest building boom in its history. Bigger season expected next year."

Memphis—"Building construction for 1922 totals in value between $16,000,000 and $18,000,000."

EX-SERVICE MEN SHOULD APPLY FOR BONUS NOW

Former service men at the University of Iowa who have not yet filled out their applications for the state bonus are urged to do so at once. Former service men of Iowa City gathered at the club rooms of the Roy L. Chopek post at 210 1/2 East College street last night and filled out their application blanks for the bonus. It is best to bring discharge papers as they are necessary in answering questions pertaining to the bonus. Attorney LeRoy Rader is commander of the Iowa City post.

FRENCH PLAY TRYOUTS SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Tryouts for the French play "Le Voyage e Monsieur Perichon," which is to be given by the French club on February 20, will be held tonight at 7:30 in room 119 of the liberal arts building.

Olive K. Martin, who is in charge of the play, requests that the following persons be present: Tyrrell M. Ingersoll, F. Lowell Otte, Henry Hamm, William B. Baird, Dell M. Fuiks, Gregory Foley, Mr. McGill, Josephine Daus, Erika M. Meyer, Eleanor E. Waldschmidt, Melba B. Carpenter, Florence E. Altman, Corinne G. Meyhaus Iness E. Straight, Mary F. Finlayson, and Nora A. Thoen.

Class Committees To Be Appointed Soon By Officers

William D. Vogel A1 of Hartley, president of the freshman class, will appoint his committees for the freshman party within a week. Sophomore committees will be named by the sophomore president, Leland C. Parkin A2 of Waterloo in a few days. To be eligible for these committees the work of last year must have been kept up to standard as well as this year's work. The Seniors will take action as to their committees for the senior hop at the meeting of all senior presidents tonight (Tuesday). Lehan T. Ryan L2 of Winthrop, who was elected all-senior president, has charge of these appointments.

OMAHA PLANS TO ENTER MEET HERE

Iowa Women and High School Swimmers Also Training for A. A. U. Tourney

Final arrangements are being made for the A. A. U. swimming meet to be held here on February 1. The meet will be held in the men's pool on the evening of February 1. Spectators will be charged admission. "I" books will not be accepted.

The meet is attracting the best swimmers in the mid-west. The Omaha Athletic Club has signified its intention of entering four men and three women. Several high school stars will also enter.

Iowa will enter three or four men in all events for men and probably three women in the 100 yard free style for women. The women who will swim probably will be Katherine Wright, Marguerita McGovney and Amy Benner. Katherine Wright last year took first in the women's state inter-collegiate meet.

In the 220 yard senior free style it is doubtful who will swim. It is Coach Armbruster's intention to enter three and possibly four men. At present Klingaman is the only one who is sure to swim. The other men who are the best in the event are: Griffin, Sheakley, Anderson and Killebrew. Killebrew is a freshman swimmer.

In the 100 yard free style Klingaman, Clark, Stover and Rich are the ones who will represent Iowa. In the plunge Bane and Hickox will be men from the home squad.

"Main Street" Will Prove Most Popular of Lewis' Novels

Although "Babbitt," by Sinclair Lewis, is showing good sales, it will never equal in popularity, "Main Street" by the same author. "Main Street" has undoubtedly proved itself to be the best seller among college students, during the past year, said one bookseller yesterday. Indications are that the sales will continue large well into the present year. Among other books most frequently asked for are "One of Aurs" by Willa Cathers, "The Breaking Point" by Mary Roberts Rinehart, "oRugh Hewn," by Dorothy Canfield, "Where the Blue Roberts Rinehart, "Rough Hewn," by "This Freedom," by A. S. M. Hutchinson. Fiction is always foremost on the list, although James Harvey Robinson's "Mind in the Making" and H. G. Wells' "Outline of History" have also been popular.

SECRECY MARKS MOVEMENTS OF FRENCH TROOPS

Quarters asked by High Officials; Think Ruhr Basin Must Be Taken Over

(By United News) Cologne, Germany, Jan. 8.—Movements of French troops now filtering into the Rhineland, are surrounded with all the secrecy of war time.

Commanders of the French army expect momentarily orders from Paris to advance into the rich Ruhr basin. Advance contingents of French engineers and customs officials already have arrived at Dusseldorf and other cities in the Rhineland, en route to Essen, home of the Krupp munitions factories, which will be the first city to be occupied in the new movement. Essen will be used as the base of French operations in the Ruhr.

The increasing number of Poilus in cities in the path leading to the Ruhr basin gives the impression that the actual occupation is largely a matter of the issuance of the formal order from Paris.

French officers have requisitioned quarters for regiments at Mulheim and have promised not to move beyond the present occupied area before January 15, the date on which Germany is expected to default definitely on her reparations cash installment.

Fifteen hundred French troops, equipped with all accoutrements of war, are quartered in Dusseldorf, ready to advance to Essen on a women's notice. All preparations for a trip through the area have been made. Motor transports are on the ground waiting to carry the troops into the rich industrial sector.

French Are Advancing

It is anticipated that the order of advance will be issued at Paris at night, and that dawn of the following morning will see all strategic points occupied. The troops, it is expected, will have advanced before the French government gives the announcement to the world. Small detachments of Poilus are coming up from the interior of France. Secrecy surrounds these movements and the forces themselves do not know their exact destinations.

French members of the allied commission in Essen have completed preparations for the reception of French troops as well as the engineers and customs officials who will take over the control, production and distribution of coal until Germany pays her war debt to the allies.

Orders Leak Out

Despite the secrecy, several orders for troop movements have leaked out. The thirteenth Dragoon regiment stationed at Melun has been ordered to move into the Ruhr. On Wednesday one regiment of infantry and one regiment of artillery are to leave their station at Epinal. A detachment of marine engineers have been ordered to leave Dolon and report at Paris for instructions.

The Ruhr basin upon which France has fixed her eyes as a last resort to extract the reparations payment from Germany is the richest industrial area in the world—and the industrial heart of Germany. Statistics prepared by mining experts indicate that coal deposits alone underlie an area of 18,000 square miles

STUDENTS REVEL IN WINTER SPORTS

Skiing, Sliding, and Skating
Popular Pastimes of Lovers of Outdoor Sports

Iowa City, covered with a blanket of snow, offered University students the first opportunity of the year Sunday of engaging in the full program of winter sports from skiing to the more youthful pastime of sliding down hills on sleds.

Bob-sled parties were numerous—that is, to the limit of the number of bob-sleds to be found in Iowa City. Parties of merry-makers, snow-covered and yelling loudly, drove through the streets of Iowa City to the tune of sleigh-bells. One party had a long sled attached to a Ford, and both carried capacity loads. Bob-lads carried merry-makers the usual snow-fights and other jollity was pursued.

Skiing parties were numerous. The hills north of Iowa City provided spots for falls and the otherwise close contacts with mother nature. The snow was fairly good for the sport and the weather was ideal. Skating was the chief divergence of most the students, Fitzgerald's winter skating rink was the center of the sport and the usual carnival spirit prevailed there.

Then, too, some University students cast dignity to the winds for the grand old sport of sliding, "the common ordinary hill sliding of their earlier days. Sleds mysteriously came into possession of "medics" and staid "laws" and together, with larger bob-sleds, Iowa City hills did a rushing business. However, the small owners of the sleds sought diligently to recover their lost property.

Not alone were there active winter sports the chief amusement of the day. At some fraternities and societies, the houses were appropriately decorated with huge snow men or snow women, which is which. The Tri-Delts built an imposing gentleman which beckoned to their door.

The first real snowfall of the year was truly taken advantage of by most University students in some form or other, so much, in fact, that many were unable to carry out the go-to-church program of that day.

Zet-Philos Clash for Sophomore Debate Title

The Zetagathian and Philomathean sophomore debating teams will come together Thursday night, January 11, at 8 o'clock in Close hall to settle the inter-society sophomore debating championship. The proposition to be argued is "Resolved, that a federal court similar to the Kansas industrial court should be established to settle disputes in essential industries." The constitutionality of the proposal is waived. The Zetagathian team, Paul M. Dwyer A2 of Oelwein, Ernest G. Linder A2 of Oakland, and Floyd O. Racker A2 of Waverly, uphold the affirmative. Vernon L. Sharpe L1 of Rolfe coaches them. On the negative side, the Philomatheans, Harold F. Fristedt A2 of Burlington, Daniel W. Holcomb A2 of Iowa City, and Charles R. Sellers A2 of Davenport, trained support the negative.

The Philomathean team has already won the affirmative from the Irving Institute sophomores on the same question. By virtue of this victory, in the preliminary contest, the Philos earned the right to debate the Zetagathians in the final contest. The Zetagathians won the sophomore championship last year by defeating both the Philos and the Irvings. The debate on January 11 decides this year's sophomore championship.

Drys In Congress Ask Increase In Violation Penalty

(By United Press)

Washington, Jan. 6—A drive to make the United States really "bone dry" began in congress today.

Drys answered the wets' threat to liberalize prohibition enforcement by initiating legislative moves to increase the penalty for violation of the dry laws.

At the same time Wayne B. Wheeler of the antisaloon league attacked the proposed liquor tasting commission to determine what is intoxicating liquor branding it a creation of the brewers and their supporters. He announced the drys would unite in opposing the measure.

Senator Shepard, Texas, author of the 18th amendment announced that he is working on legislation to increase the severity of prohibition laws while representative Upshaw, Georgia, introduced a bill to make the purchaser of illicit liquor equally guilty with the seller.

YOUNG PEOPLE PLAN SERIES OF MEETINGS

The January calendar for the activities of the Young Peoples' Religious union of the Unitarian church has recently been published. An interesting series of discussions have been planned for this month, to take place at the 7 o'clock Fireside Hours on Sunday evenings. Members of the Child Welfare Station will begin the series of discussions this month on problems of morality in relation to recent Child Welfare research work.

Today Dr. P. W. Whiting will speak on "Genetics and Morality." Dr. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell college will deliver an address on January 14. On January 21 Dr. Amy L. Daniels will talk on "The Relation of Physical Fitness to Morality," and on January 28 "The Influence of Recent Work on Mental Measurement" will be the subject of a discussion by Dr. Lorle I. Stecher.

The Bible Study class which was discontinued through vacation will be resumed again January 14. This class is under the auspices of the Religious Work and Social Service committee whose chairman is Vincent Allaben A4 of Goodell.

HAWKEYES REST BEFORE TAKING UP DRILL AGAIN

With Three Year Hoodoo Broken Basketball Men Hope for Good Year

With Chicago trounced 35 to 23 in the opening game of the conference season Saturday, the Iowa basketball team was given a light workout last night before settling down to intensive drill again in preparation for the game with Michigan here next Monday. In the absence of Coach Sam Barry, who attended the Ohio-Illinois game at Columbus, Ohio, last night, the Old Gold practice period was in charge of Dr. Walter R. Fiesler, medical supervisor. No scrimmage was held work being concentrated on out of bounds plays and basket shooting, particularly free throws. Funk and Janse both displayed good form the art of free throwing and dropped in five straight on numerous occasions. By beating Chicago last Saturday, the Iowa basketball team broke the hoodoo which has persisted in defeating the Old Gold team in her first conference game for the past three years. In 1921 Minnesota and in 1922 Wisconsin beat the Hawkeyes in their opening conference game.

In previous years the Iowa team has dropped most of their practice games and the first three or four on the conference schedule. One of the main reasons for these losses was due to the fact the best teams in the Big Ten were matched against the Hawkeyes in the early part of the season.

Chicago, although weak, had the advantage of the crowd and the home floor which gave them added fight. The Iowa quintet scored from the tip off right after the game was called and soon had the Maroons playing a defensive game. Iowa kept the lead until about the middle of the first half when Captain Yardley, Chicago forward, hooped one from center and Barnes of Cedar Rapids threw a free throw, making the score 13 to 12, putting Chicago in the lead. Yardley and Barnes were much superior to their teammates. Burgitt, Iowa center out-jumped his man consistently and dropped in three counters. Janse starred throwing seven baskets.

Funk, Laude, and Captain Hicks also deserve credit for their game.

Barry Scouted Game
The Hawkeyes will have all week to perfect a defense and offense which will stop the Wolverines who play here next Monday. Michigan has won four games, winning from the strong Illinois team last week by the score of 30 to 10. Last year the Wolverines defeated the Hawkeyes twice, the first time here, by one field basket and at Ann Arbor by six points, winning on field baskets. Coach Barry scouted the Illinois-Ohio game at Columbus last night.

The remaining basketball games for the year are January 15, Michigan at Iowa; January 20, Ohio State at Iowa; January 27, Northwestern at Iowa; January 29, Iowa at Minnesota; February 3, Chicago at Iowa; February 10, Iowa at Northwestern; February 12, Iowa at Ohio State; February 22, Indiana at Iowa; February 26, Minnesota at Iowa; March 3, Iowa at Michigan; March 5, Iowa at Indiana.

HELDT'S ILLNESS HANDICAPS TEAM

Captain Unable To Practice; Tryouts for Positions Held Soon

Johnny Held, captain of the Hawkeye wrestling squad, has been on the hospital list for the past few days, suffering from a severe attack of lumbago. The husky captain will probably not be able to report to Coach Mike Howard for several days. This is a blow to Iowa wrestling prospects, since the first conference meet is hardly three weeks away. Heldt will have a short time to get in condition before the Hawkeyes meet Minnesota on February 3.

Semester exams, and the ability of certain varsity prospects to reduce their weight, are the subjects that are causing the wrestling coach much worry at the present. Right now, the indications are that James, star middle-weight grappler from last year's squad, will be unable to make the 158 pound limit, in which case Thom, from last year's freshman team, is the most likely aspirant to be moved up to this division. The coach was planning on using Thom in the 145 pound class until the possibility appeared that James would be forced to wrestle in the light heavy-weight division.

No definite date has been set for the tryouts, but they are certain to be held within the next two or three weeks, since the first meet is only four weeks away. Men that are sure to be heard from during the season are: Pfeffer and Barnes, in the 115 pound class, and Bloome and Alberts in the 125 pound class.

Comstock, a powerful sophomore, is showing up well in the 135 pound division, and although without experience, is rapidly developing into a valuable man. Jacobson, who got in several matches last year, seems to be the class of the welter-weight division. He is a hard man to pin to the mat as he has had some experience, is a clever all round wrestler, and should have little trouble in disposing of all comers in the try-outs. With Thom in the middle-weight class, this division will be well taken care of, since he is a grappler of some experience, and considerable ability. James, Roberts, and Kriz are the best in the light heavy-weight division, with the dope favoring James since he is an "Iw" man from last year, and has the edge in experience.

Captain Johnny Heldt is the leading contender for the heavy-weight berth. He displayed good form in this class last year and should be even better this season than last. With this material on hand, Iowa should enjoy a fairly successful season.

TRACK MEN BEGIN INDOOR TRAINING

Indoor Season of Four Meets Opens With Wisconsin Here February 24

Coach George T. Bresnahan is losing no time in getting his track squad in condition for the coming indoor meets. The past week he has been giving his men drill in calisthenics and other light gym work as a starter for the strenuous workouts to come. With the first meet scheduled for late in February Coach Bresnahan hopes to have his squad in good shape. Most of the other Big Ten schools have their track squads working out daily and keen competition is assured.

Many of last year's stars have been taking daily workouts in the men's gym along with a number of promising stars of last year's freshman squad. Those who have reported are: Captain Eric C. Wilson, star furlong, quarter mile and relay man; Charles R. Brookins, Iowa's sensational dash man of last year; Gerhard B. Noll, crack middle distance runner and a member of the one mile relay team; Lloyd A. Meder, who broke the university pole vault record only to have the former holder, Aubrey Devine, smash it again; John F. Jaqua, pole vault and broad jumper; Harry C. Munson, promising weight man; Harold D. Read, dash man; Glenn Miller, captain elect of the 1923 football team, who specializes in the dashes.

Among the members of last year's freshman team who reported are: Harold R. Phelps, who is expected to make it hard going for the long distance men; F. L. Otte, a member of this year's football squad, who shows promise of being a good middle-distance man; Henry Daine, weight man and N. Ashton, miler, who has been showing up in good shape.

Coach Bresnahan has announced a schedule of four indoor meets. On February 24 Iowa will meet Wisconsin in a dual meet here, March 3, the squad will journey to Illinois to take part in the relays; March 10, Illinois will come here to meet Iowa in a dual engagement; March 17 the Hawkeyes journey to Evanston where the indoor conference will be held.

The list of events for the Wisconsin dual meet should be an interesting one for track followers. They are: 50 yard dash, 60 yard high hurdles, 440 yard dash, 880 yard dash, high jump, pole vault, mile run and the mile relay comprise the afternoon events. The track has been thoroughly gone over and is faster than last year's.

The De Laval Continuous Clarification System

We have just installed this wonderful new invention, the greatest improvement of modern times in dry cleaning methods. An examination of the cut will show how it operates. Clean, pure, cleansing fluid flows continuously into the top of the washer where it is sprayed over the garments and passes out at the bottom to be pumped up into the De Laval Centrifugal Clarifier, the bowl of which makes 6,000 revolutions per minute, where the tremendous centrifugal force removes every trace of grit and dirt, even to the germs, delivering the clean, pure dry fluid back to the top of the washer to be again circulated through the garments. It is like washing clothes in a rapidly flowing mountain stream. No wonder your garments come out clean and fresh, absolutely free from dust and lint. The pockets and linings are WHITE and your whole garment has the nice, fresh look of new goods.

You are invited to call and see this machine in operation any morning between 9 and 11. And see how your clothing is handled and cleaned in our plant. It will be a revelation to you.

FRIVOL TO REVIVE HAPPY MEMORIES

Fun Magazine Ready Thursday Dedicated To Condemners of Study System

Students who loafed during Christmas vacation will have a chance to repeat some of that delightful experience by reading the "Loafers" number of Frivol on sale Thursday.

"Anyone who has ever been lazy will enjoy this issue," said Margaret Wilson A3 of Iowa City, editor-in-chief of Frivol. "It contains plenty of idlers—every variety, from those who loaf only once a year to those who loaf all the time."

The number is in keeping with that post-vacation feeling, that remembrance of pleasant idle hours of the holidays. The one last chance to be idle until after final examinations is to loaf with Frivol's loafers. Artists and contributors have been busy with pictures and features about loafers which will be of direct interest to every student on the campus who has ever loafed at all.

The cover, in three colors, represents the only monument in the world for the exclusive use of loafers. It consists of a pair of idlers and a statuette of Rip Van Winkle, the world's most famous idler. The cover artist is Jane P. Coventry A4 of Des Moines and instructor in the department of graphic and plastic arts.

In "super-education" a series of pictures, representative of the different phases of a loafer's education are given. Every idler will be able to recognize himself in at least one of the pictures of these pages. "Later Day Loafers" shows what evolution will do to idlers if they keep on in their present ways.

"For the Rest of the Year" is a picture of a very prominent character of the Christmas season in sport clothes in which he will remain until next Christmas, when he must cease to be an idler and again become a busy man.

A half tone page picture shows workers putting the finishing touch to Old Capitol. Also, there is a full page sketch of a new and interesting branch of intra-mural athletics, and two other pictures entitled "Idol of the Idle" and "Time Out."

"The Perfect Letter Writer" for the benefit of those who habitually write home for money, consists of a series of forms for use when writing to the different sorts of fathers. Each letter is so written that it is guaranteed to be effective in bringing a check by return mail.

Another page is dedicated to those who have failed to return because of the fatal "Fd." Jokes, short sketches and editorial comment in the same tone complete the issue.

The contributing staff consists of: Sherman J. McNally A4 of Marshalltown; Anne M. Lichty A4 of Des Moines; Orville B. Weis A4 of Mason City; Laurence Williams; and Gordon Johnston A2 of Des Moines. "Seventeen," the Daily Iowan columnist has added an extra bit of wit as a member of this staff.

Those on the art staff are: Irma Bratton, Harry E. Stinson, Alma M. Held, all instructors in the department of graphic and plastic arts; Robert O. Barkley A4 of Des Moines; John F. Sunstrum A2 of Oskaloosa; and William B. Baird A1 of Des Moines.

Volcanic Heat Used for Cooking In New Zealand

"What to cook?" is a much simpler problem for the New Zealand woman than for the modern American housewife, according to Mrs. Dayton Stoner, wife of Prof. Dayton Stoner, of the zoology department, who accompanied the University of Iowa expedition to the Fiji Islands and New Zealand last summer. In the thermal or volcanic regions of New Zealand, the woman simply places her "taro" pot containing the dinner, in a box fitted in the ground and covers it with a gunny sack. In a few hours the dinner is cooked by the volcanic heat. Potatoes, fish, vegetables, and boiled and mashed pumpkin are the chief articles of food.

In the Fiji Islands the native do their cooking somewhat on the socialized plan. Three or four families do their cooking in one house, which is consequently usually full of smoke. Their menu is not very elaborate, but they are easily satisfied, said Mrs. Stoner.

Part of the time the party had a Hindu cook who had several conflicting ideas as to cooking. His own favorite articles of food were rice, curry and "gee," a sort of rancid butter. The rest of the time the members of the expedition made their headquarters at hotels, or boarding houses, of which some were quite modern, particularly one in the Fijis.

The dress of the Fiji and New Zealand women is as plain as their food. They wear the long, one-piece, draped dress made in the "Mother Hubbard" style, and go barefooted. Their hair might not be called "bobbed," but is short and their idea of beautiful hair-dressing is to have each hair stick straight out from the head.

The children of the Fijians are sent to the Methodist elementary schools and other schools, where English is taught, but the work is carried on in Fijian. There the boys learn manual training, gardening, and building, and the girls learn sewing.

Mrs. Stoner assisted Professor Stoner in his work of gathering the insects and birds, getting them ready for shipment, and packing them. Mrs. Stoner was especially impressed with the courteous treatment which they received from the natives and the British officials.

ACCURACY OF WOMAN GEOLOGIST REMARKABLE

Identifying 204 species of fossils in a series of rock strata in Ohio and doing it so well that the Ohio Geological Survey accepted her work as standard is the unusual accomplishment of Miss Helen Morningstar, of the Ohio university, according to a review of her article by Miss Louise Fillman, instructor in the department of geology, before the geology club yesterday afternoon. Miss Morningstar distinguished and correlated these fossils only after a great amount of field work in which she gathered and took pictures of them from the rock series averaging 225 feet in thickness, in ninety-three localities in the state of Ohio. To Miss Morningstar goes the credit also of discovering twenty new varieties of fossils.

ARMBRUSTER SEES CHAMP SWIMMERS

Weismuller, Howell, Ross, Bauer, O'Connell and DeVry Are the Stars at Meet

David C. Armbruster, swimming coach, witnessed the swimming meet at the Illinois Athletic club at Chicago on January 4, and brought back some new pointers which he is giving to the varsity and freshman squads.

A new method of making the turns on the back stroke and a quicker arm movement in the crawl stroke are the most notable changes.

Six world's champions took part in the meet: Johnny Weismuller in the 220-yard free style; Dick Howell, a high school boy, in the 440-yard free style; Norman Ross in the 440-yard; Sybil Bauer, a freshman at Northwestern university, in the 100-yard back stroke for women; Edna O'Connell in breast stroke; and Miss DeVry in the 100-yard free style.

The feature of the program was the defeat of Norman Ross by Dick

Howell in the 40-yard swim. This lad is six feet three inches tall, weighs over 200 pounds and is nineteen years old. He will be graduated from school at the end of this semester and will enter some university immediately, but he has not definitely decided which one. He swims the 40-yard dash in 19 1-5 seconds, the 100-yard dash in 56 1-5 seconds, and his best time last year in the 220-yard swim was 2 minutes and 22 2-5 seconds, which is two seconds better than the conference record. He also plunges the length of a 60-foot tank in less than 20 seconds.

THE DAILY IOWAN PLATFORM FOR A GREATER UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

1. Curtailment by the social committee of all inactive organizations.
2. Maintenance of Iowa traditions and customs.
3. A strong student council.
4. Recognition of the cultural as well as practical background of education.
5. Broader democracy and greater unity of the student body.
6. The University of Iowa above all fraternities, sororities and other groups.
7. A change in student attitude which will make an honor system possible.
8. Every student and alumnus a member of the Memorial Union.

CHEATING BY NECESSITY

With semester examinations but two weeks away, the attention of the student body might well be directed to the problem of cheating. As far as the University administration is concerned the matter is settled; the faculty quite properly has adopted a set of penalties for every case which is reported to them. But at best only a few are reported and until the student body is ready to cooperate with the administration, and they never will be as long as the prevailing attitude toward cheating exists, the number will not be increased.

If cheating is ever to be entirely eliminated, it must come about through the growth of a strong student sentiment against it. Faculty regulations, student proctors, or any of the other expedients to which instructors resort, will not cure the evil; they merely augment it by placing the wrong interpretation upon it. Under his present state of mind, the student believes that the only wrong in cheating lies in being caught. He has no moral scruples against cheating in itself.

It would be folly to say that there is more cheating at Iowa than at other universities, yet when one knows the attitude students take on the problem here, it is not surprising to find a majority of them cheating or willing to cheat under favorable circumstances. The only one who refrains, generously speaking, is the student who is not by necessity compelled to cheat. If he is in a position in which he must either cheat or receive a grade of failure in a course, he chooses the former, knowing at the same time that he is doing wrong but selecting, as he believes, the lesser of two evils.

As long as our educational system is based on grades and degrees it will take years of training to change the sentiment of the student body. For the whole constitutes an artificial standard and since the student is compelled to meet it, he will do so by fair or foul means. The blame can be laid upon human nature. Whenever the time comes when students realize that in resorting to cribs and unlawful aid, they are not cheating their professors but themselves, then and then only will the evil stop.

In the meantime, we can make the best of the situation by burning the mid-night oil and thereby guarding ourselves against the necessity of cheating. One can accomplish a lot in two weeks of hard study. The good student seldom cheats; he isn't compelled to.

DISTRIBUTING THE HONORS

The senior class presidents have an organization which has done much to unify the work of the various colleges of the University. It gives each college an opportunity to share in the responsibilities and honors of senior activities.

The constitution of the organization reads: "We, the elected representatives of the senior classes from all the colleges of the University, in order to create a more friendly relation among the different colleges, to perfect a closer union, to promote the general welfare of the senior classes as a whole, and to develop an all-University senior class spirit, do ordain and establish this constitution for the direction and guidance of all senior class activities at the State University of Iowa."

An organization of the same nature would unquestionably accomplish as much for the junior, sophomore, and freshman classes of the University. It is true that the activities of these classes are more limited, yet there is no end of good things which they could accomplish, and the fact that such organizations existed would serve to bring the colleges into closer bonds.

The liberal arts college now holds an unfair advantage—the power to appoint the members of the junior prom, sophomore cotillion, and freshman party committees. These are all-University functions and the personnel of the committees should be representative of the whole University, as the senior prom committee under the senior class president's constitution.

Such a distribution of honors among the colleges would be a benefit to the college of liberal arts regardless of the fact that its number of party representatives would be less for it would remove a source of evil in liberal arts elections. A place on a party committee has always been considered the reward a successful candidate owed his henchmen. This has fostered machine politics.

SPORTING

Thirteen defense witnesses in Herrin trial all testify they saw none of the defendants on day of massacre.

Numerous complaints have reached our ears concerning individuals, supposedly male, who flit about in golf suits and galoshes. To make the offense more heinous, they wear no head-gear whatsoever.

We have not seen these specimens personally, but those who have recommend all sorts of remedies, from taking up a contribution for buying them hats to appointing a committee whose duty it shall be to see that they are destroyed.

"Go to Church Sunday," it is reported, resulted in the disinterment of one old favorite who had been buried for 10, these many years. We refer to our old friend "cesspool of iniquity," whom we had almost given up for lost.

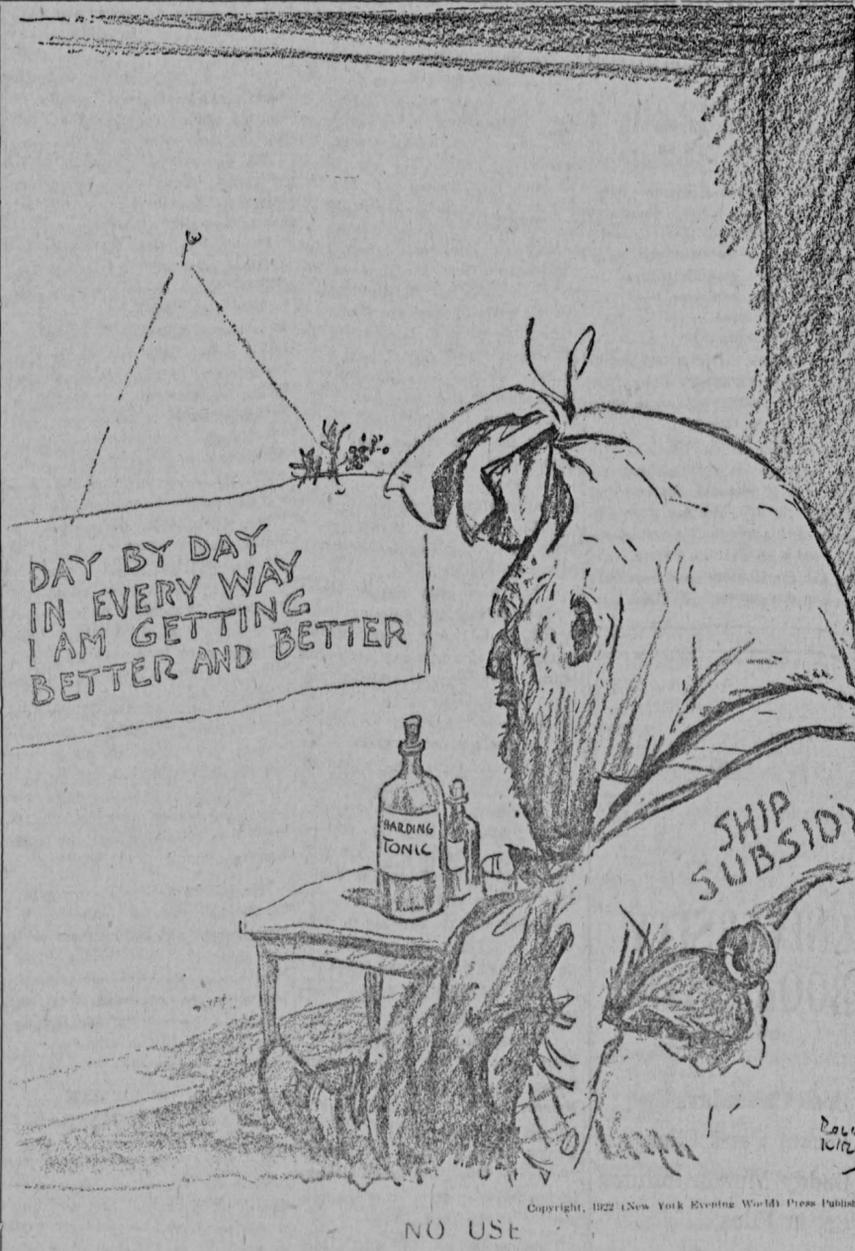

Down at our (rooming) house there is a certain freshman whose capacity for correspondence is practically unlimited. He receives so many special deliveries that the landlady saves herself a lot of footwork by only bringing letters without the blue stamps up to his room.

Dr. Emile Coue, the famous auto-suggester, is paying the United States a visit. If he should happen out this way, we know a fellow who will pay him well to work on his flivver.

Have you seen the exam schedule? Read it and weep. Everyone we have talked to has a final on Saturday.

Speaking of an honorary fussers' organization reminds us of another project as yet still in the air. This is a conference on limitation of dating, similar to President Harding's notorious conference on limitation of armaments, with the object of regulating wasteful competition among social lions.

State Papers Laud Rockefeller Gift

News of the $2,250,000 Rockefeller award to the state of Iowa for the use and benefit of the college of medicine was released for publication on December 27, and since then there has been much favorable newspaper comment. The gift, which comes from the General Education Board and the Rockefeller Foundation, will be immediately available upon the formal acceptance by the General Assembly and the appropriation by this body of a similar amount over a period of five years.

The response of the people of Iowa seems to have been prompt and in no uncertain terms. Hundreds of newspapers "stories" and editorials have been published and administrative officers have received many letters. Here are a few typical expressions, taken at random:

Sioux City Journal:—The state of Iowa thus is presented the opportunity of creating a great medical and surgical school at Iowa City. It is such an opportunity as Iowa in no other time has had. The terms of the gift are so easy of fulfillment that the general assembly may be relied upon to accept it without hesitation.

Council Bluffs Nonpareil:—It is clear to those familiar with the facts that a rejection of this gift would mean a much larger expenditure for expansion of the university to keep pace with the growing needs of the state than will be required if we accept. Business conditions alone will compel our acceptance of these gifts. The interests of humanity and pride in the state make the case overwhelming. This gift means the greatest medical school in America is to be developed in Iowa. . . . Nothing has taken place in the state since the civil war of greater moment than this proffer.

Waterloo Evening Courier:—Quite apart from any other consideration it would seem to be excellent business sense to accept so generous an offer. A business man who found his establishment too small and in need for additional equipment for urgent demands would consider himself very lucky should some outside friend offer to give him outright half the sum required, and he would promptly accept.

Clinton Advertiser:—It is now up to the state legislature to see that the balance of the money is forthcoming, and to put the Iowa College of Medicine up among the foremost and most efficient and useful in the nation.

Muscatine Journal:—This gift the coming general assembly should accept by appropriating its share of the money. The state can well afford to make this gift, for the benefits to be derived in future years are worth many times the amount asked. . . . It is to be hoped that the legislature will see its way clear to immediately endorse this great project by voting the necessary funds.

Davenport Democrat:—One cannot imagine any member of the Iowa legislature, with the interest of the people of his district at heart, doing otherwise than advocating and joining in a movement to make this gift immediately available—as it becomes on the promise of the state to do its part in the creation of the total sum which shall place Iowa in a commanding position in the great work for humanity which has already shown such great promise at Iowa City.

Waterloo Tribune:—Not particularly because of the money, but because the College of Medicine was able to attract the attention of these institutions as worthy. Well managed, these institutions do not make donations of funds except where the money will be used to the best advantage. A thorough investigation by them brought conviction that here in Iowa was a concern capable of much greater service to humanity—here was their opportunity to help. . . . There shouldn't be any question, but the Iowa assembly will hurriedly agree to make an appropriation of $450,000 per year for five years in order to complete this great improvement—an improvement which means so much to not only the state, but to humanity.

Boone News:—But we believe that Iowa cannot afford to turn down the magnificent offer of the General Education Board and the Rockefeller Foundation. . . . That Iowa ought to take advantage of this generous offer will be the consensus of opinion of a great majority of our people, we believe.

Osceola County Tribune:—It is not probable that the legislature will neglect the chance of extending the humanitarian work of the institution and gaining for the state this princely gift.

Cedar Rapids Gazette:—When the legislature approves the plan for enlargement—as it surely will—the eastern contribution will immediately be available and the work of construction will begin.

Ottumwa Courier:—With the addition of the facilities which will be made possible if the Rockefeller offer is accepted, the Iowa school will stand among the very first of its kind in America or in the world, and this state will be in a position to take the lead in measures for the physical well-being of the nation and the race.

Fort Dodge Messenger:—It seems a certainty that the legislature will make the necessary appropriation.

Cedar Falls Record:—That the Iowa Assembly will do its part at forthcoming session in January is the confident belief of all who have the interest of Iowa at heart. . . . The hospital and medical laboratories at Iowa University are so crowded at present that the need of a complete new plant is very apparent.

Atlantic News:—So much more worth while is this work than a lot of other work being financed by the state, that it should have the first call on the budget provided for state institutions. . . . Anything that helps to give a crippled or defective child an equal opportunity in the race of life is worth all that it judiciously costs.

Des Moines Capital:—We are confident that every community in Iowa will expect its assemblymen to accept this splendid gift to the state which comes to us utterly free of any selfish purpose. . . . The state has never received any higher recognition than this. We are not asked to take orders or advice. The gift is based on our own program and ambitions.

Cedar Rapids Republican:—Almost within our gates this great addition to the State University hospital facilities, where hundreds of trades unionists from this city have received the benefits of medical science means much in the years to come.

NEXT PRODUCTION IS CLEVER PLAY

University Theatre To Present "Famous Mrs. Fair," by James Forbes

"The Famous Mrs. Fair," the University Theatre production to be given January 17 and 18, is one of the most successful of modern comedies. It is a play of modern life—the situations being attendant on post-war conditions, written by James Forbes, and was first produced at the Henry Miller Theatre in New York with Blanche Bates in the role of the famous Mrs. Fair. Henry Miller played opposite her as Jeffrey Fair, her husband.

The production to be given in Iowa City is presented by the class in dramatic production, and is under the direction of Charles V. Brown, who co-operated with Prof. E. C. Mabie of the speech department in several productions last year.

When the play opens Mrs. Fair is returning from Europe, where she has spent four years in war work and has attained the rank of a major. Her son Alan is engaged to Peggy Gibbs; her daughter Sylvia has been allowed to run around just as she pleased with a very swift crowd. Her husband, Jeffrey Fair, has become infatuated with Angelica Brice, a neighbor, who is a great friend of Sylvia's and who has largely taken Mrs. Fair's place in the household.

Of course Mrs. Fair is known all over the United States and she receives constant requests for lecture tours.

One of the men who are most urgent in advising her to go on tour is one E. Dudley Gillette, who is in love with Sylvia and who has planned an elopement with her. Mr. and Mrs. Fair, estranged over the husband's affair with Angelica Brice, decide to separate. When the news of the elopement reaches them, they both realize their daughter's danger and forget their own troubles in heading off the marriage. Of course all is straightened out before the final curtain. The play is full of the most subtle and witty lines.

Zets and Irvings To Meet Feb. 1 In Debate for Prize

The Irving Institute and Zetagathian literary societies' debating teams, which meet on February 1 in the preliminary inter-society championship debate, will be selected by tryouts, the Irvings at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening in Close hall and the Zetagathians Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock also in Close hall. The proposition for the debate and for the tryouts is "Resolved, that the rules of the Big Ten conference should permit college athletes to participate in professional athletics during the summer."

In the tryouts of both societies, any undergraduate in good standing in his society and the University, including freshmen, is eligible to compete. Each contestant for a place should prepare a five minute argument on either side of the proposition. From the men trying out, the judges will select three debaters and one alternate.

The championship debate is the foremost inter-society contest. The members of the teams are recruited from the debating material which each literary society possesses. Last year the championship Philomathean team, consisting of James M. Stewart L1 of Runnells, Clement F. Mulen L3 of Waterloo, and Robert E.

Birchard A3 of Davenport, defeated February 1, and the winner of the both the Irvings and the Zetes. By argument goes against the Philomatheans to decide this year's championship.

What chance have you got against him?

IT was a cynic who said: "Some men go to college. Other men study."

A slander! But yet there probably are college men whose bills for midnight oil are not large.

And there are men who left school in the lower grades who, along with a hard day's work, put in long hours of study—spurred on by a dream and a longing.

Look out for them.

The achievements of non-college men in business suggest an important fact. Success seems to depend, not so much on the place where a man studies, as on the earnestness of the student.

But, granting equal earnestness and ability, it is still true that the college man has the advantage.

Regular hours for study and lecture, the use of library and laboratory, the guidance of professors, contact with men of the same age and aspirations—all these will count in his favor, if he makes the most of them.

A big "if." The new year is a good time to start making it a reality.

REGISTRAR ISSUES REGULATIONS FOR REPORT OF FINAL GRADE

The official regulations for the reporting of final grades, as given out by Herbert C. Dorcas, University registrar, are as follows:

1. Final grades are to be reported to students only by the registrar. Grades are not to be given by instructors before Wednesday, January 31, which is the end of the third day, Sunday excepted, following the close of the regular examination period, as officially announced.

2. Reports of the final grades are to be deposited in the registrar's office by instructors, on or before Wednesday, January 31, which is the third day, Sunday excepted, immediately following the close of the first semester.

3. Within three weeks from the close of the semester the registrar is to report to each student who has deposited in the registrar's office his coupon I, all of his grades for the semester. It is important that each student should mail or leave at the registrar's office his coupon I, together with a stamped, self-addressed envelope, as otherwise the grades cannot be reported promptly to each student.

The new marking system, in which the grade E is eliminated, will be used for the first time this year. The marks that will be used this year are A, B, C and D. Failing marks will be denoted as Incomplete, Conditioned and Failed. The definitions of these marks are as follows:

1. The mark A should be given for the highest grade of excellence to be attained by not more than five per cent to seven per cent of a very large number of passing students.

2. The mark B should be given to the maximum standard set by the students whose mark is better than middle group (C), but not as good as the standard set by A; the number of students receiving the mark B should constitute at least 20 per cent of a very large number of passing students.

3. The mark C should be given to all students whose work falls within the middle portion of the range of accomplishment that should be expected of the middle per cent of a great number of passing students.

4. D is the minimum standard for a passing grade. D students comprise approximately the lowest 25 per cent of every class. D work is that work which is not up to average, yet slightly above the mark of failure.

5. Inc. (Incomplete). This mark signified in general a quantitative deficiency. The quality of the work accomplished admits of one of the passing grades, but some proportion of the work assigned is not complete.

6. Con. (Conditional). This mark signifies in general a qualitative deficiency. The instructor is uncertain at the time the mark due whether the student should have passed, or reported as having failed; but he judges that if the student can register during the first or second session following, for a virtual continuation of the course involved, he may be able to demonstrate through his subsequent work in such a continuation course, that he is entitled to credit for the preceding course.

7. Fd. (Failed).

MID-WEST TANK STARS OF A. A. U. TO SWIM HERE

Program Will Consist of Four Championship Events; To Give Medals

Official entry blanks for the swimming meet of the Mid-western association of the amateur athletic union of the United States to be held at the University of Iowa February 1 are being sent to prospective contestants in the meet at this time. All entries in the meet must be bona-fide members of some recognized organization and must be eligible to represent that organization at the championship meeting.

The program will begin at 7:30 o'clock. The following are the events for the evening: No. 1—Mid-western A. A. U. senior indoor 220-yard free style championship for men; No. 2—Mid-western A. A. U. junior indoor 100-yard free style championship for men; No. 3—Mid-western A. A. U. junior indoor plunge for distance championship for men; No. 4—Mid-western A. A. U. senior indoor 100-yard free style championship for women.

Special A. A. U. medals will be awarded for open championship events. Entries for the meet close Thursday, January 25, 1923, with D. A. Armbruster, University of Iowa swimming coach.

All contestants must be registered and registration cards may be obtained from G. P. Wendell, chairman of the registration committee of the Mid-western Association of the A. A. U., care of Omaha Athletic club, Omaha Neb. The fee for registration is twenty-five cents.

An entry fee of fifty cents will be charged for each of the open events. No entry will be accepted unless accompanied by entry fee and the registration number of the contestant must be stated. All entries must be filed by the closing date, the championship committee reserving the right to reject any entry in the meet. Full A. A. U. swimming suits will be worn.

Phi Deltas and Xi Psi Phis Win In Fraternity Games

The Betas did not play up to their usual form last night and were defeated by the Phi Deltas Chi 11 to 6 in the interfraternity basketball league at the men's gymnasium. Both teams missed many shots and there was a lack of team work on both sides, although the Betas did good guarding in the last two periods. Phi Delta Chi, Beta Theta Pi and Phi Epsilon Pi are now tied for second place in section two.

In the second game of the evening the Xi Psi Phis won from Theta Xi easily. Martindale played a good game for the Theta Xis, and Kadesky and Morrow were high scorers for the dentists who are now in third place in section four.

Games tomorrow are Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Nu at 7:00 o'clock and Delta Theta Phi against Delta Chi at 8:00 o'clock.

The lineups were as follows: Beta Theta Pi: Renecke and Gibbs forwards, Jeffrey center, and Anderson and DeSilva guards; Phi Delta Chi: Bailey and Shoemaker guards, Van Beek center, and Olson and Marchel guards.

Substitutions: Denison for Renocke, Schafer for Anderson, Clarke for DeSilva.

Field goals: Dennison 1; Jeffrey 1; Van Beek 2; Marchel 1.

Free throws: Jeffrey 2 out of 2; Bailey 5 out of 8.

Referee: Shimek.

Xi Psi Phi line up was:

Smith and Morrow forwards, Keele center, Kadesky and Ervin forwards; Theta Xis: Freyder and Coddington, Crawford center, Lindsay and Martindale guards.

Substitutions: Griffith for Smith; Stanhope for Freyder; Knowles for Coddington; Coddington for Martindale.

Field goals: Griffith 1; Morrow 3; Keele 2; Kadesky 3; Freyder 2; Martindale 3.

Free throws: Morrow 0 out of 1; Kadesky 2 out of 9; Freyder 1 out of 2.

SECRECY MARKS MOVE-MENT OF FRENCH TROOPS

and that the amount of coal in the territory would reach the enormous total of 55 billion tons.

Basin Rich In Coal

In addition it is estimated that the basin contains more than 4 billion tons of lignite. The incomparable richness of the region is shown by the fact that there are now operating 887 big corporations with a total capital of three and one half billion gold marks which includes many of the Stinnes' Thyssen industrial concerns.

With its position near the markets of the world, the Ruhr area is the most desirable bit of land in the world, and the most productive in raw materials.

Ruhr Made War Possible
The population of the Ruhr is 4,000,000 persons and it contains a dozen large cities connected by railroads and accessible to the sea by the Rhine.

French experts declare that possession of Ruhr made Germany the great industrial nation it was before the war and made war possible for Germany. Without the Ruhr it is contended that Germany would have her war claws clipped and would never again be able to engage in a modern war against any nation.

It is claimed that only by getting her hands upon Ruhr can France ever force Germany to repair her ten devastated departments.

The present situation has caused much discussion of the report, M. Dariau recently presented to Poincare.

Dariau, who was sent into Ruhr by his government, urges that France must keep a hold on the industries of the Ruhr and that the province must be made into an autonomous state under the protection of Belgium and France. The document which has not yet been published in France but has been given publicity in other nations of the world states that while Germany is unable to pay debts, the German industrialists such as Stinnes can be made to pay if proper pressure is brought to bear.

We can cut them in two and utterly disorganize their industries," Dariau declared. The report stated that as long as France maintained her hold on the Rhineland she would constitute a constant menace to the "10 or 12" asses of Germany.

In the conclusion of the report, the recommendation was made for financial reorganization of Rhineland, the dismissal of Prussian officials and convocation of elected Rhenish assembly.

It is not known whether Poincare and other members of the French government subscribe to the beliefs of Dariau.
